Proctor's Fifth Avenue has a veritable feast of vaudeville excellence for the Thanksgiving menu, every act, and there are twelve of them, being well calculated to spread the holiday spirit. Dual headliners honors will fall to jolly Eva Davenport and Christine Nielsen. The former assisted by a dandy little company will disport her buxom self in "The Ceiling Walker," a fresh humorous effort from the prolific pen of Edgar Allan Woolf, while the latter will render a repertoire of standard ballads in her beautiful soprano voice, displaying at the same time a wondrous array of gowns. Bird Millman and company from a season in the sawdust, returns to vaudeville, while another special feature will be the first Broadway appearances of Will Ward and the Matinee Girls, Gus Edwards' latest offering. Others in battle array ready for a bombardment of applause will be Claude and Fannie Usher in their new little playlet, "The Straight Path"; Dorothy Brenner making her debut as a single entertainer; Smith, Cook and Brandon, knockabout comedians; Schooler and Dickinson, two talented juvenile musicians and singers; Rinaldo, the wandering violinist; Canfield and Ashley, all around entertainers; LeRoy, Wilson and Tom, three crazy men from the West and the Two Bards, terpischorean wonders.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SOMERVILLE will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon after 4:30 by Jacob Gernert, the Main street newsdealer and stationer.

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD---CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely, dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleasing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Adv.

POACHERS IN AUTOS ON DUKE'S ESTATE

His Pheasants and Other Game Shot and He May Close Place to Public.

In murders, robberies, elopements and the flights of prisoners the automobile has been figuring in the news right along, but the latest is the poaching automobile, the victims being the English pheasants and other game that abound on the big estate of J. B. Duke at Raritan.

The parks are thrown open to the public. Recently several high speed automobiles have gone to the more remote parts, and shots have brought gardeners running to learn the cause. In one instance a group of men was seen hurriedly beating several dogs into an automobile bearing pheasants that the dogs had retrieved. The car dashed away. A second incident of the same kind occurred.

The hunters in both instances were disguised by motor goggles and low drawn caps, but the numbers of their cars were taken, although the lettering that would indicate the State was obscured.

The action of the poachers may result in the closing of the park to the public.

WHELAN GETS CONTROL OF RIKER-HEGEMAN CO.

George J. Whelan, formerly of East Front street, president of the United Cigar Stores Company, and his associates, have purchased control of the Riker & Hegeman Company, the announcement of which was made yesterday by a director of the United Cigar Stores Company.

The purchase does not mean that there will be any immediate change in the operation of the drug stores. They will continue under the present management. Mr. Whelan and his associates will, however, have representation on the board of the Riker & Hegeman Company.

COURT SUSTAINS JUDGMENT IN RAILROAD FATALITY CASE

Trenton, Nov. 21.—The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Justice Trenchard, has sustained the action of the Middlesex Common Pleas Court in awarding damages to Lawrence Reardon, whose son, Stephen, was killed in June, 1913, while employed on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. The damages were computed on the basis of twenty-five per cent. of Reardon's wages for the number of weeks permitted by the statute in the case of an employe survived by dependent relatives.

The railroad contended that, since Reardon left no widow, the compensation should have been limited to $200. The facts showed that Reardon died intestate, leaving a father and mother, two brothers and a sister, and that the father was actually dependent upon him. Justice Trenchard held that the trial court had properly construed the provisions of paragraph twelve of the compensation law of 1911.

TEACHER HELD ON CHARGE OF SLAPPING PUPIL'S FACE

Atlantic Highlands, Nov. 21.—Miss Irene Chapman, manual training and drawing instructor in the High School here, was held by Recorder Grover C. Williams in $200 bail for the grand jury Wednesday afternoon, charged with having violated the State school act prohibiting corporal punishment. It is alleged that she slapped the face of Rutherford Porteus, a twelve-year-old pupil of the eighth grade.

The boy's story of the affair is that he was cleaning the manual training room at the teacher's request. When the bell rang he quit and went upstairs, where, he claims, Miss Chapman scolded him for not carrying out her orders. Porteus says he told her the work was not up to him and that he wouldn't finish it.

Then, it is alleged, Miss Chapman slapped the youth in the face and shook him. She reported the case to Principal Casselboom, and later explained it to the boy's mother. The boy's father, however, decided Miss Chapman must apologize to his son before the school. When she refused, he obtained her arrest.

"DAUGHTERS" VISIT PANAMA.

Colon, Nov. 21.—After a delightful voyage from New Orleans 150 members of the Daughters of the Confederacy arrived here today on the chartered steamship Abangarez. The Daughters were welcomed by a delegation of prominent women from Panama. On their arrival in the capital tomorrow the visitors will be received by President Porras. After the chief points of interest in the Canal Zone have been visited the party will embark for Port Limon, Costa Rica, from which point they will take the train for San Jose. A day will be spent in the highland capital of the Costa Rican republic.

BRITAIN ALARMED AT U. S. POLICY

Is Disappointed Over Wilson's Failure to Act.

MARINES MAY BE LANDED.

Admiral Fletcher Is Ordered to Protect Plants—Huerta Ignores Washington In His Message to Congress—Lord Cowdray Appeals For Aid.

IMPORTANT POINTS IN MEXICAN SITUATION.

Huerta's new congress meets to hear his message and is expected to ratify his acts.

Rear Admiral Fletcher has been ordered to land marines at Tuxpan, Mexico, if he deems it necessary for the protection of lives and of the big British oil properties. He has three battleships and a gunboat.

Lord Cowdray, British oil concessionaire, appeals to the United States for aid.

President Wilson is still determined to adhere to the policy of an international financial blockade to starve Huerta out.

Huerta's recognition, once his administration is ratified, is reported possible.

Wilson's apparent break with the Constitutionalists is due to their refusal to compromise with Huerta and their demand for recognition.

London, Nov. 21.—In official quarters here there is a decidedly despondent feeling regarding the Mexican situation. Hope of a peaceful solution of the question disappeared when President Huerta's message to the new congress became known. It had already begun to wane.

While the sending of the British warships to Mexican waters is said officially to have been done to provide for "a case of necessity for the rescue of British subjects and the protection of British property," there is a growing belief that such a contingency is close at hand.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Increased interest in the Mexican situation was manifested here when it became known that Admiral Fletcher, in command of the United States warships at Vera Cruz, had been ordered to land marines and bluejackets at Tuxpan whenever in his judgment such action might be necessary.

This order preceded the receipt of a request from Ambassador Page at London, made at the instance of Lord Cowdray, that the American government furnish protection for the imperiled oil interests of the Pearson company, in which the British peer is heavily interested.

Thus far no word has been received indicating that it would be necessary for an American force to be landed.

The orders to Admiral Fletcher were of a precautionary nature, it was stated at the White House.

President Wilson, it was said, is still confident that the Huerta government is disintegrating and that all it is necessary to do is to wait patiently for the dictator's final elimination.

There are at Tuxpan the battleships Nebraska and Louisiana and the gunboat Wheeling. The New Hampshire, dispatched from Vera Cruz, will join them.

The meeting of the Mexican congress will probably have an immediate and most important bearing on the developments. It may act on concessions discredited in advance by the United States and force action by this government.

The president meanwhile is still satisfied with his policy for the starving out of Huerta. He has every confidence that foreign nations will approve this policy indefinitely.

It appears the negotiations with General Carranza were in part for the purpose of choosing a group of elder Mexican statesmen not connected with the recent unheavals to administer affairs temporarily in the event of Huerta's displacement.

This suggestion the Constitutionalists refused to consider.

Mexican Congress Meets.

Mexico City, Nov. 21.—The Mexican congress held a short preliminary session before the arrival of Huerta, and the second period of the twenty-sixth congress was declared open by Speaker Eduardo Tamariz.

In the message to congress, which he read himself, President Huerta practically ignored the relations with the United States, confining himself to a discussion of his action with respect to the old congress and the executive powers assumed by himself in the emergency. It is significant that the Mexican president informs the congress that if in its patriotic wisdom it sees fit to approve of his acts he will be gratified, while if the congress does not approve he and his cabinet ministers, Huerta declares, will accept the responsibility for anything that has been done and will abide by the decision of congress.

New Indianapolis Strike.

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—A strike of union teamsters in this city, long threatened, broke out with rioting at the Coburn warehouse in South Missouri street. Police reserves restored order. Many employers granted the union's demands for higher wages.

An Ideal Dinner For Thanksgiving

No matter what kind of a holiday dinner you may intend to have it will not be right unless it is properly cooked.

Good housekeepers know that they can get better cooking results with a gas range than with a coal fire.

With gas the heat can be thoroughly controlled and directed just where needed for roasting, baking, boiling or broiling.

Order a gas range now and have it installed in time for the cooking of the Thanksgiving dinner. The payments can be made later.

FURS OF QUALITY
FURS OF STYLE

At Charles Kurtzman's Fur Store
178 EAST FRONT STREET

Why shouldn't you patronize the furrier with whom hundreds of persons have dealt to their perfect satisfaction? We tried our best to assemble our stock from the finest skins in the market and made up by our own workmen, so that we can positively guarantee the work and quality. Prices are always the lowest because we made up our stock during the summer months, when our expense was much smaller than in other fancy stores, where you must pay for the looks of the establishment.

Six years in town in one location is the best guarantee to give you, that we keep our promises.

About remodelling and repairing—We always follow your instructions and we are specialists in up-to-date work. No connection with any other store in town.

SEN. HUGHES AND WILSON FALL OUT

Paterson Man Peeved at Limited Patronage.

WHITE HOUSE CALL SHORT

For Weeks It Has Been Evident That Trouble Was Brewing—Said Hughes' Ambition to Corral All New Jersey Patronage Caused Break With Administration.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 21.—The long promised break in the cordial relations between Senator William Hughes of New Jersey and President Wilson has come. For weeks it has been evident that trouble was brewing and, quite in line with expectations, the break came over New Jersey patronage. Senator Hughes paid a call at the White House, and the interview lasted a minute and thirteen seconds.

Senator Hughes' break with the administration has come, it is known, through his ambition to corral all the New Jersey patronage. Against the advice and expressed wishes of the Wilson leaders in the state he has insisted that his candidate, Mr. Duffy of Paterson, be made collector of internal revenue for the district of which Newark is the center; also he has been moving heaven and earth to obtain the advancement of United States Attorney J. Warren Davis to the federal judgeship, with the end in view of landing another of his personal henchmen in the attorneyship. In the instance of Duffy there rests a suspicion in the bosoms of the Wilson administration group in North Jersey that his Democracy is questionable.

Democratic leaders also resent Senator Hughes' action more than two years ago in making use of his patronage as a member of the ways and means committee of the house to land a berth for a Massachusetts Republican as assistant enrolling clerk, when there were plenty of hungry Jersey Democrats itching to serve the country in that capacity.

FRIGHT TURNS HER HAIR GRAY

Girl In Serious Condition From Shock Given by Snake.

Mendham, N. J., Nov. 21.—Miss Mabel Murdick, eighteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Murdick, who live on a farm near here, is in a serious condition at her home as a result of a fright she received a few days ago.

Her brother Harry went out with a large top basket to gather ferns to be used to decorate the dinner table. The boy gathered the ferns and went to a pond near by to spend an hour fishing, leaving the basket open.

After catching a few sunfish he returned to the basket, closed it and took it home. While Miss Murdick was filling the fern dish she pulled out a large fern from the basket, and from it fell a black snake.

The girl screamed and swooned. She has had attacks of hysteria for three days and refuses to eat or drink. Her hair above her ears has turned gray.

UNIFORM GAS RATE IN N. J.

Commissioners Advise Jersey City to Drop Fight For Lower Charge.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 21.—The board of public utility commissioners advised the authorities of Jersey City that a further investigation of the reasonableness of gas rates charged ultimately would harm consumers.

The Public Service Gas company, at the direction of the utility commissioners, put into effect a uniform state wide rate of 80 cents per thousand feet for gas. Jersey City wants a lower rate than 90 cents; urging in favor of such a reduction the consumption of gas there.

The utility commissioners stand firmly for the uniform rate throughout the state and are against the policy of a sectional rate. A sectional rate, the commission believes, within a few years would result in increased cost.

ON TRAIL OF HUSBAND.

Girl In Man's Clothes Comes From Chicago to Camden.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 21.—Alice Gratz, nineteen, of Chicago, dressed as a boy and with her hair cut short, is in custody here. When a policeman pulled her out of a dry goods box in a local store, thinking her a burglar, she said: "My husband deserted me and two children, first three years ago, then again six weeks ago. I'm here to find him, as I have a tip. I'll work in every store until I catch him."

She crossed the country on the bumpers.

GIRLS CAUSE ARRESTS.

Help Police In Crusade on Joy Ride In Trenton.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 21.—The campaign the police have been making against joy riders who have been taking young girls out with them resulted in four more arrests.

Miss Ethel Trainer and Miss Mary King, each sixteen and who figured in an election night ride, gave evidence to the police, as did Emma Whittaker, thirteen years old.

THE WILSON WEDDING PARTY IS COMPLETE

Sayre Arrives; Presents Swamp White House.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Francis Bowes Sayre, who is to wed Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson on Tuesday, arrived at the White House, where he will be a guest until Monday. His arrival marks the final stage of the wedding preparations and the White House family and the wedding party are complete.

Within the White House the decorators began the construction of the twelve foot square dais which will be set at the eastward side of the great east room, the scene of the wedding and upon which the wedding party will stand during the ceremony. The east room in consequence has been closed to visitors until after the ceremony.

The wedding present flood is now at its height and delivery wagons, furniture vans, parcels post packages, express wagons and messengers maintain a steady stream to and from the White House.

It became evident today that there would not be room for the display of more than a small fraction of the gifts.

The White House is swamped. Until today everything arriving for the bride was delivered at the White House stable. To-day itself. This morning orders were issued that the delivery men use the executive office building.

The diamond pendant presented by the house of representatives was delivered. Accompanying the exquisite pendant in its satin casket was a parchment which read:

"The representatives of the people in congress send this gift to Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson with their sincerest and best wishes as an evidence of the tender interest and hearty good will of all the people on the happy occasion of her marriage to Francis Bowes Sayre Nov. 25, 1913."

Andrew Carnegie's gift consists of a set of a dozen dinner plates in silver, richly engraved and appropriately inscribed. Mr. Carnegie is an old friend of Mr. Sayre's father and was formerly intimately associated with him in the steel business in western Pennsylvania.

ALL READY FOR BIG GAME.

Harvard a Favorite Over Yale In Contest Tomorrow.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 21.—The vanguard of the spectator army for the Harvard and Yale championship football match in the Stadium tomorrow reached here today. The main body will arrive in the morning. Already the demand for accommodation exceeds the capacity of the hotels and restaurants about Boston.

The Yale team arrived at Auburndale. The Harvard squad left Cambridge for hours of quiet at the island home of the Vesper Country club, near Lowell, where the Crimson players will have their last signal practice and steady their nerves for the final struggle of the season. The Stadium was given over to Yale for practice this afternoon, so that the visiting players may become accustomed to the lights and surroundings.

40 POUND TURKEY FOR WILSON

Members of Cabinet Will Be Presented With Twenty-five Pound Birds.

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Wilson, Secretary Joseph Tumulty and the members of the president's cabinet, with the exception of Secretary McAdoo, who is a widower, will be presented by South Trimble, clerk of the house of representatives, with a pure bred pedigreed bronze turkey raised on Kentucky blue grass for Thanksgiving. The president's turkey, it was announced, will be a yearling gobbler weighing about forty pounds dressed. The others will weigh about twenty-five pounds.

KING, AN AGED TROTTER, IS DEAD AT SOMERVILLE

Raritan, Nov. 21.—King, the aged trotter owned by W. K. Hope, is dead. King was over twenty-six years old. He was a son of Mambrino King, of Buffalo, and was formerly owned by Miss Eyeleshimer, of Somerville, but for the last fifteen years has been the property of Mr. Hope, who gave him a very easy life. He was related to a family of fast trotters, and his record at three years was 2:31, which was remarkable twenty-three years ago. In his prime he was a very handsome animal, and attracted a great deal of attention. King, it is claimed, had but one fault. He loved his chew of tobacco, and on being hitched up he did not want one to forget his chew of tobacco.

ANOTHER CHARGE AGAINST PINDELL

Senate Balks at Nomination to Russian Embassy.

WILSON DISBELIEVES TALE

It is Alleged That Publisher Wanted to Have Patronage Divided and Have Postmasters as His Agents—New Letter in the Case.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Another charge threatening the chances of Henry M. Pindell of Peoria, Ill., to be ambassador to Russia was informally lodged against him. By sending the nomination of Mr. Pindell to the senate the president already had set the mark of his disbelief on the story that Senator Lewis had bargained with Secretary Bryan to appoint Mr. Pindell for a short period on condition that he resign at a certain time.

Mr. Pindell is the publisher of the Peoria Journal and has gained considerable notoriety on account of an alleged agreement that he should have the Russian ambassadorship for a year, to enjoy a brief social regime and then surrender it to the state department.

It was to Mr. Pindell that Senator J. Ham Lewis of Illinois was alleged to have written, reciting with some details the circumstances under which Mr. Pindell was to have the Russian appointment. While this letter has been denounced as practically a forgery, the facts and letters involved in Mr. Pindell's case probably will prevent his confirmation.

Senator Burton of Ohio, a minority member of the foreign relations committee, has asked Chairman Bacon not to allow the nomination of Pindell to be reported to the senate until after Senator Burton can investigate it thoroughly. When the nomination came to the senate it was referred to the foreign relations committee, and it is certain to lead to a long fight.

The Latest Phase.

The latest phase of the Pindell matter is a letter said to have been written by the newspaper publisher to Representative Stone, Democrat, of the Peoria district. This letter is in possession of Mr. Stone and is likely to play a part in the consideration of Mr. Pindell's nomination by the committee.

Senator Burton, who learned of the letter a week ago and had a conference with Representative Stone, is probably familiar with its text.

It is said that Mr. Stone was on the point of making it public recently because of the attacks which have been made on him lately in Pindell's newspaper. It is probable that if the foreign relations committee asks the Illinois representative to produce the letter he will not hesitate to do so.

Mr. Pindell was formerly a close friend of Representative Stone. Both were original Wilson men. They fell out recently, and the Illinois representative is said to be somewhat piqued over the way in which Pindell has been treating him in the Peoria Journal after Mr. Stone had beaten a path from the capitol to the White House urging the president to nominate the Peoria editor to some important office.

The trouble is said to have originated in the letter that is now the subject of so much gossip. Persons who have read the letter say that Mr. Pindell proposed in the letter to the Peoria member of congress a plan by which they should collaborate in the matter of making recommendations for postmasters in that congressional district.

It is said that Mr. Pindell proposed that each postmaster recommended should be instructed to act as the agent practically of Mr. Pindell's newspaper in his particular locality, presumably to take subscriptions and forward them, to make collections and generally become useful in promoting the interests of the newspaper.

TRUCK KILLS BOY.

Driver Said to Be Going at High Speed. Homicide Charge.

New York, Nov. 21.—Paul Resnicoff, three years old, was killed by a United States mail automobile truck yesterday afternoon in front of his home, 529 East Twelfth street. The truck, driven by John Rubenstein of 342 East One Hundredth street, knocked the child down and ran over his neck. The little fellow was instantly killed.

The boy was playing in the street and, seeing the automobile approach, started to scramble out of the way. He apparently slipped, and as the car was traveling at a rapid rate the chauffeur could not bring it to a stop before hit the boy.

VATICAN'S BAN ON TANGO.

Is Declared an Immoral Dance and Is Therefore Prohibited.

Rome, Nov. 21.—Several bishops have addressed questions to the Vatican as to whether confessors should give absolution to Catholics who dance the tango.

The reply of the Vatican is that the tango must be considered an immoral dance and is consequently prohibited to Catholics.

Several bishops in Italy have forbidden women wearing slit skirts to attend religious ceremonies in churches.

HEARS M'GUIRE DID MEET GOV. SULZER

Whitman Expects Further Admissions From Witness.

New York, Nov. 21.—When George McGuire of Syracuse takes the witness chair before Chief Magistrate McAdoo he will be given a chance to say again whether or not he met William Sulzer in the village of Cooperstown on July 5 last. He said on Wednesday that he did not meet the former governor there on that date or at any other time during the summer.

Information came to the district attorney yesterday that there was a conference in Cooperstown on that date, which was attended by Governor Sulzer, State Highway Commissioner John N. Carlisle, George H. McGuire and James K. McGuire, the former mayor of Syracuse, who was for many years connected with the Barber Asphalt company and who, according to his brother's sworn statement on Wednesday, has since the first of this year received a commission on every sale of Barber Asphalt company products to New York state or the contractors employed on its highways.

Mr. Whitman was informed not only as to the conference, but as to its immediate results. He learned that the very day after it was held word went out from the highway commission to contractors that they must no longer use anything except the "natural solid asphalt" described in highway specifications. The specification asphalt so described is the product of the Barber Asphalt company.

This alleged conference at Cooperstown promises, therefore, to become the crux of the entire investigation which the district attorney started after John A. Hennessy had made repeated declarations that wholesale graft existed in the highway department.

CURRENCY BILL IS NOW UP TO SENATE

Amended Measure Will Be Received Saturday.

Washington, Nov. 21.—By a vote of seven to five the senate banking and currency committee agreed to report to the senate on Saturday the house currency bill, together with the Owen and Hitchcock amended drafts. The usual explanatory report upon these bills will not be made.

The principal features of the Hitchcock draft of the currency bill, framed by Senator Hitchcock and five Republicans, are the provisions for only four regional banks, for public ownership, for complete government control and for the redemption of asset currency notes in gold only.

The bill provides that the number of regional banks may after two years be increased to eight.

Stock subscriptions are open to the public for sixty days.

The minimum capital for a regional bank is $6,000,000.

National banks are to be given six months in which to decide to enter the system.

The federal reserve fund is to consist of the secretary of the treasury and eight members to be appointed by the president.

The federal reserve banks are to be controlled by nine directors, five to be appointed by the government and four by the member banks.

Senator O'Gorman warned the other members of the committee that unless they agreed to further conferences among themselves in an effort to unite on some feature of the currency bill a Democratic caucus would be called. The steering committee probably will recommend a party caucus.

When the two reports go to the senate Saturday one will be signed by Chairman Owen of the banking and currency committee and will recommend the bill which Mr. Owen and five other Democratic members of the banking committee have agreed on.

DIAZ'S SON-IN-LAW KILLED.

Gallardo Attacked by Two Bandits on His Mexican Estate.

Havana, Nov. 21.—Francisco Rincon Gallardo, son-in-law of General Porfirio Diaz and the owner of the hacienda Rincon, near Aguascalientes, was assassinated, according to advices from Mexico received by General Felix Diaz. No details were given.

Paris, Nov. 20.—General Porfirio Diaz received a dispatch from Mexico confirming the news of the murder of his son-in-law, Francisco Rincon Gallardo, who married Luz, his second daughter. He was killed on a farm near Aguascalientes by two bandits Sunday.

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

English Economy.

Whatever may be said in favor of a meatless diet and in favor of a diet that increases the amount of cereal and vegetable food at the expense of flesh, there is just this to remember: that the English are and have been the heaviest meat eaters of civilized races and, in one way or another, they have managed to dominate their neighbors. They have spread their language and laws and their form of government over an amazingly large portion of the earth. Perhaps this does not prove that a meaty diet is the best but it does mean that vigorous, active people can thrive on a diet that vegetarians would consider deadly.

So we must turn to the English housewife for good advice in cooking meat; meat that is savory not because of the addition of condiments—bay leaves and chervil and thyme and garlic, dear to the heart of continental cooks—but savory on account of the meat flavor itself.

The Method.

The time-honored national method of cooking meat in England is, of course, roasting. And by roasting meat the English housewife doesn't mean what most Americans mean. In America roast beef is usually beef that has been cooked in a closed oven. To the English housewife this method of cooking is simply baking. Roasting is more what we should call toasting or broiling and must be done in whole or in part before a brisk, open fire.

In the old days, before cooking stoves or kitcheners, as the English call them, had taken the place of the open fire, even the humblest housewife could roast meat easily and well by the use of a spit hung over or at the side of the fire. From time to time the busy housewife would turn the spit so that the meat could be done through and evenly on all sides. In larger establishments there was a special servant known as the turn-spit to attend to this duty, or sometimes it was the tantalizing task of a small dog who ran a sort of treadmill attached to the spit. So, in one way or another, the Englishmen of old times had their meat literally roasted to a turn—that is, to the point where one more turn of the spit would be too much.

But with the passing of open fires and old spits, roasting has not passed out of England. Most kitchens in England have open fires for roasting and broiling. The meat to be roasted is placed on a roasting screen which has previously been moderately heated. This is placed close to a brisk fire for five minutes, in order to coagulate the juices. It is turned, in order to coagulate the juices. Then it is drawn a little farther from the fire and allowed to roast slowly until it is done. The rule in England is a quarter of an hour to the pound for beef, with seventeen minutes to the pound for veal or pork. The experienced roasting cook can tell by pressing the meat with a spoon whether it is done or not. If the meat yields readily to the pressure of the spoon it is ready to serve. During the process the drippings are retained in a dripping dish and are used for frequent basting.

There are some complicated chemical reasons—which the English cooks who invented and improved the art of roasting never dreamed of—why this is, along with broiling, the most wholesome method of cooking meat and some equally scientific reasons why it is, next to stewing, the most economical. Too bad, therefore that there is so little real roasting done by American housewives.

The next time you have a roasting piece of beef or a leg of lamb try a modification of the original roasting process which English cooks without a suitable roasting fire often resort to. Instead of putting the meat into a cool or moderately cool oven and bringing it gradually to a high temperature—which is a reversal of the proper order of cooking meat—place the meat quickly over the fire on a broiler or gridiron until it has been seared on both sides. Then place it on a rack in a dripping pan and place it in a very hot oven, allowing the temperature to decrease rather than increase after the meat is in. Frequent basting with the drippings is, of course, necessary to keep the meat juicy.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR THE PRACTICAL

Things Ornamental and Useful That May Be Made at Home.

FOR the sternly practical member of the family something to wear never comes amiss as a Christmas gift. There are so many things in this line that one may give that one need never be in doubt what to present to those who prefer the useful to the merely ornamental souvenir. There are collars and trinkets of all sorts, handkerchiefs, gloves, etc., all suitable for this purpose.

Illustrated here is a sailor collar for a young girl. It is of tan linen, embroidered in blue and red. The pattern is a simple one, but any other that pleases the taste might be substituted for it.

As to slippers, they are always in demand, from the daintiest of boudoir creations fashioned of ribbon to the cozy knitted or crocheted ones which are the delight of the invalid.

Very easy to make are the crocheted slippers shown here. They are in double crochet, the work being done to give the familiar ribbed pattern. As each slipper must be shaped to suit the size of the foot for which it is intended, no directions in regard to number of stitches to be used would be generally useful. The size can be gauged by measuring. Select a color of yarn that you know the receiver of the gift to be fond of and do not economize on the ribbon for bows.

A nice gift for a little one is crocheted bootees. Winter bed socks may be made for the older children. The crocheting or knitting of a pair of slippers may be accomplished in the course of a few evenings. For a pair of really dainty slippers use mercerized worsted, which looks like silk floss of a very heavy quality and which works up so coarsely that the slipper grows with extraordinary rapidity. Having worked with hook or needles the strip that is long enough to cover the lower portion of the foot, overstitch one side of it to a silk lined insole, crochet a fancy finish to the upper side, run through its meshes a ribbon and have this drawstring terminate in a huge rosette at the instep, while the toe is decorated with a large round buckle of the mercerized worsted. Then make the slipper.

Even more quickly made is the "mule" type of bedroom slipper. This consists of merely a satin lined insole to which is attached a V shaped piece of woven mercerized worsted forming a toe section. When a pair of ribbon ankle ties have been attached to the sides of the insole's heel a quilling of ribbon trims it daintily.

A pretty bedroom slipper is made of satin ribbon, shirred up thickly to give the slipper "body" across the toe. Two thicknesses of the ribbon are used for the sides, elastic being run through a casing at the top. The sole of the slipper is lined with quilted satin.

If the gift giver really lacks the time to work for her friend she can at least buy a pair of inexpensive ready made worsted slippers, trim them attractively with big bows of satin ribbon matching quillings forming fluffy edgings and give a touch of daintiness to the inner side of the soles by covering them with a shaped sachet of fine batting and delicately colored china silk. Or she may take a pair of inexpensive "mules" of wadded silk, edge them with swansdown, marabou or fur and decorate their toes with big rosettes of ribbon or malines—in fact, rather do anything to make them different from the cheap looking, impersonal sort of footgear which the fastidious recipient will not wear.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Pet Bird of The Ward.

The Bird Sat on His Hand.

"WELL," said daddy, "I suppose you are ready for your story, and this evening I am going to tell you about a little boy I saw as I passed by a ward in a hospital I was visiting today."

Jack and Evelyn sat up and listened eagerly, as they loved to hear about other little boys and girls.

"This little boy," daddy continued, "was in the bed nearest the door I passed, and I noticed him particularly because on a table near his bed was a large cage containing a small yellow canary bird. I asked the nurse if pets were allowed in the ward and why this little boy especially wanted a bird. She told me that the little boy was an orphan and had been brought into the hospital one day, having been run over by a motorcycle. He was very much injured, and they expected he would die any minute. He was brave and scarcely moaned, but whenever the nurse would stop by his bed he would beg her to send for his bird, which was at the orphans' home. The nurse gently would explain that pets were not allowed in the hospital. One night his fever became very high, and in his rambling talk he begged for his canary. The doctor, who was a very kind hearted man, told the nurse to send for the bird, as the little boy would not live more than a few days, and if the bird would give him such great happiness they might be able to break a rule in his case.

"So the bird was sent for, and instead of dying the little boy began to grow better each day, and the bird's singing entertained and gave pleasure to the other patients in the ward. The bird was very tame, and when the little boy opened the cage door he would hop out and over the bed quilt and perch on the little boy's hand.

"The canary made friends with every one. He was not at all afraid of the grave doctors who came in every little while to see how the sick people were getting along. Especially was he friendly with the little boy's nurse, who fed him lumps of sugar.

"I stepped inside the room and asked the little boy how long he had had the bird. 'Oh,' he said, 'a lady who came to visit the orphans' home gave him to me when I was ill in bed with mumps. That was six years ago, and he has been such a friend to me ever since. His name is Mumps, too, as I thought his chest looked as fat as my cheeks, and the name has always clung to him. He likes flowers, and whenever a patient has any Mumps flies over and pulls off the petals and eats them.'"

"Oh," said Evelyn as daddy paused, "I wish I could have a canary!"

"Well, maybe I'll bring you one to morrow," replied daddy.

"And I'll help you feed him," said Jack.

DIES SOON AFTER WISH FOR 50TH BIRTHDAY IS GRATIFIED

Passaic, Nov. 21—Casper Terhune, a member of a family of early settlers in Passaic and Bergen counties, died at his home in Lodi after a six-weeks' illness.

Mr. Terhune's ambition was to reach the half-century mark in age. He passed his fiftieth birthday a week ago and after that told his family that he was ready to die. He lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he never recovered.

The funeral was held from his late home yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. A. Van Houten, pastor of the Lodi Reformed church, officiated.

OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Flemington, Nov. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stryker observed their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday at their home in Clover Hill. About fifty guests were present. Henry Case, of Three Bridges, and Mrs. Thomas Davis, of Montgomery, who acted as best man and bridesmaid at the wedding of the couple fifty years ago, assisted in the observance. The couple were presented many handsome gifts and Rev. C. W. Pitcher, pastor of the Clover Hill Reformed church, made a congratulatory address.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

CHILDREN'S frocks, as a rule, require very little fitting, but these long-waisted, loose dresses that are so popular just now require still less. They are of a necessity long and loose with the weight mostly falling from the shoulders.

7756 is one of the most attractive of these frocks. It would be admirable for serge, ratine or any of the novelty mixtures that are used so much this fall. A folded sash or a broad shaped belt may be used to finish the design. One of those new rough checks in bright, youthful colorings would be very practical for general wear, they are durable and do not soil easily. Blendings of red and green are effective with the girdle of figured silk.

This dress may be made in size 10 with 2¾ yards of 42 inch material and 1 yard of material for collar, cuffs and girdle. The pattern is cut in four sizes, 8, 10, 12 and 14.

This Is a Perfect Pattern

Be sure to state right size, passing the tape around the fullest part of the breast and well up under the arms.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

A Medici Collar With Revers For Your Suit or Blouse.

Pretty neckwear is always a necessity for no woman ever had too many dainty collars to wear with her blouses and one-piece dresses of serge or silk. This collar, 14658, includes several of the newest style features, and may be sewed together while the standing collar is worn separately, or the standing collar may be combined with the revers, and the turn-over collar worn separately. Fine lawn, net or handkerchief linen may be used for making this set and the embroidery is the simplest of solid work and button-holing. If you choose, the edge may be finished with narrow Valenciennes or Irish picot in place of the button-holing. The Medici collar may be worn alone on a suit or blouse, and this should be wired either with fine wires which come for the purpose, or with fine, white milliners wire to keep the back and corners in place. One quarter yard of lawn at thirty cents a yard or of handkerchief linen at one dollar a yard will be sufficient for making this set, which will require 7 skeins of number 30 embroidery cotton.

Transfer pattern 14658 can be supplied to readers at 10 cents.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CORNED BEEF.

BREAKFAST MENU.
Oranges. Cereal With Cream.
Corned Beef Hash.
Coffee.

THE brisket is considered the choicest piece of corned beef. The lower end of the brisket contains a larger proportion of fat than the other.

How to Make Hash.

Corned Beef Hash.—Take the skin and gristle from cooked corned beef and discard surplus fat. Add cold boiled chopped potatoes to an equal quantity of the beef. Put into a hot buttered frying pan after seasoning with salt and pepper, moisten with cream or milk and stir until well mixed, spread evenly and let cook slowly until it is brown underneath. Then turn and fold on a hot platter. Garnish with parsley.

Baked Hash.—Take three pounds of corned beef, six or eight potatoes, three eggs, one green pepper, two canned Spanish pimentos, one lemon, a little nutmeg, salt and pepper. Boil the meat until tender and put through chopper. Boil and chop potatoes and add to meat. Make a white sauce as follows: Take one-quarter cupful of butter, one-half cupful of flour, three cupfuls milk, salt and pepper. Cook until thick, stirring often. When ready to take from the fire add the well beaten eggs. Pour this over the meat and potatoes and stir thoroughly. Add lemon juice, chopped pepper and nutmeg, salt and pepper. Put in a large pan, cover with buttered cracker crumbs and bake a rich light brown.

A Boiled Dinner.

Corned Beef and Vegetables.—Take from four to six pounds of corned beef. Brisket is best. Cut one large cabbage into quarters, slice two turnips an inch thick, then slice six carrots, parsnips and potatoes. Put the beef over the fire in a large pot and cook five hours. An hour before serving add the vegetables and cook until tender. Put meat on large platter and surround with vegetables. Sliced beets in vinegar are nice with this dish.

Pressed Corned Beef.—The brisket should be used for this. Boil for two or three hours, changing the water at least twice. Take out, cut off the fat and shred with a fork as fine as possible. When done mix some of the fat with it. Cut in small pieces, place in a mold or other vessel with a weight on it and let press overnight. In the morning unmold and cut out as desired.

JEWELED TRIFLES.

There Are Inexpensive Ones That Make the Younger Set Happy.

A charming gift for a pretty girl is one of the small watches worn on bracelets. Some of these are very attractive, and the one illustrated here has the additional merit of being odd and convenient, for it is set into a square mount that fits neatly on the bracelet.

There are many inexpensive trifles in the way of jewelry that may be given to one's friends as well as relatives at this season. Trinkets of this sort are always valued by the younger set. Novelties are what appeal most to the taste.

Buying a last minute jewel gift? Perhaps you know just what she wants and the choosing is easy. And perhaps you don't. If so and the gift is for December's child, why not select a turquoise? The turquoise is the stone for December, and it stands for prosperity.

All told, though, the diamond and the pearl are the most desired stones. The pearl should have an article all to itself, though, summed up briefly, its characteristics are whiteness, softness of texture and purity of luster. As for the diamond, it must have what has been called liquid lusciousness—must be of the first water. In fact, the term "water" as applied to diamonds—"first water," etc.—is not a captious term, but is directly applicable to the characteristics of the stone.

This liquid appearance is the first dominating quality which denotes the real thing. The artificial one lacks it. Note here that the chief difficulty in judging is between good gems and imitations, not between poor ones and imitations.

HANDKERCHIEF CASES.

These Will Be Gifts Prized by the Dainty Woman.

Handkerchiefs are standard gifts for Christmas. Quite the nicest way to present them is in a fancy box or case. A folding case of woven ribbon in white and pale green is illustrated here. It is lined with plain satin, and between the covers is a thick layer of wadding sprinkled with sachet powder. A wreath of roses made from satin ribbon ornaments the front of the case, while ribbon ties attached to the front hold it securely together when the handkerchiefs are placed inside. Ribbon straps may be attached to the inner face of the handkerchief case or satin pockets as handkerchief holders.

A handkerchief case that will lie flat, that will not take up much room, yet perhaps contain not only handkerchiefs, but many odds and ends of lace, ties, etc., as well, that otherwise might tumble about and secrete themselves at the bottom of a trunk, as they invariably do, just at the particular moment when they are most wanted, will be liked by the prospective traveler.

HANDKERCHIEF CASE.

The cost of the handkerchief case is small, and when finished it will be durable and always look clean, as it can be washed as often as it becomes soiled—a desirable point in traveling accessories.

A very beautiful handkerchief box was covered with linen. The top of the box was adorned with a bird and a branch of a tree. The foliage was embroidered in satin stitch, but the bird was worked very evenly in long and short stitch. This stitch is particularly effective where used for the plumage of a bird.

The embroidery was further enhanced by a darned background. It really gives a most exquisite effect. The entire surface of the linen is darned with small stitches in the softest shade of blue.

A spray of cherries makes a pleasing decoration for the top of one of these boxes. The background should be darned with ivory floselle.

THANKSGIVING STYLES AND FANCIES

MID-NOVEMBER finds Paris fashions that were most eccentric a few weeks ago, establishing the general character of day and evening attire for the coming winter in America. The tunic overdress has become the rage for every possible use, whether or not it is stiffly wired. Report of the late October race meet at Longchamps calls attention to the number of velvet costumes which have the tunic overdress bordered with fur and adds that no well dressed French woman would be seen in anything except a fur trimmed dress or suit. It matters not what the fur may be, and so the economical woman may utilize any pieces of fur for trimming purpose which cease to be right for separate wraps.

The vogue of velvet is unprecedented. Chiffon velvet in black, dark and light colorings, good qualities of velveteen and wide rib corduroy are the popular weaves. Short loose jackets are gaining in favor and are effective in the accepted scheme of feminine attire whether they are made of a suit fabric, of contrasted material or of fur. They are smart adjuncts, barely more than a bolero in front, but cut longer in the back.

Snowy white fox is a favorite pelt for scarfs and muffs, as shown in the picture on the extreme right of this page. All white costumes of duvetyn or corduroy are being trimmed with white fox. Dark fur bandings are also featured on white gowns. Fur skins in their natural outlines adorn elegant evening wraps or are made into muffs. A new idea, and practical, is a muff with only the front side of fur, while that carried next to the body is of shirred satin or velvet. In the case of fur which wears off with slight rubbing this is advisable, at the same time that one-half the quantity is needed.

Barumduki is the name of a fashionable brown and tan striped fur—that is, the skin of a little Russian animal about the size of a chipmunk.

Muffs made of velvet matching a dress or a separate coat and trimmed with bands of fur are the newest accessories of the fashionable wardrobe. Buttons and balls of close furs find a prominent place among trimmings.

Delicate color embroidery on net and on chiffon is one of the newest and daintiest conceits for dresses and blouses.

Something of the Empire note is sounded in jaunty street suits with loose jackets, having a box cut and a vest feature. The combination of styles is splendidly carried out in the brown velvet walking costume illustrated, for it is more becoming than many models of the new season. It is designed for misses or small women in pattern 7898, which may be bought in 16, 17 and 18 year sizes. The vest is of tan and flowered tapestry brocade, and over it is a folded sash of brown satin. Fancy buttons and applied loop buttonholes are the finishing trimming. The accompanying skirt (7807) is one of the simplest of this winter's imported models, being made in two pieces, with fullness arranged in peg-top effect. In duvetyn or any of the many other soft woolen fabrics or in corduroy this smart little model would be worth copying.

CANDLES with artistic shades add much to the decoration of a room and its lighting as those know who have used them. Stenciled shades in the two designs here shown, and four other styles may be made from a group of cut patterns (No. 14159). Black bristol board is frequently used, with any light silk or Japanese paper for the lining. Color combinations may be made by tinting sections of the designs through the spaces, on the linings, using water colors or oil mixed with gasoline.

The peacock motif is graceful, not only for craftsmen shades, but for cushions and table runners of crash. The price of the pattern is 15 cents.

WHETHER one stays at home or goes visiting for the Thanksgiving holiday, the problem of dress is a most important consideration at this season. A single day's visit with its varied festivities calls for several changes, which the woman who is appropriately and comfortably attired wants to have.

A group of dresses and a suit which constitute a timely outfit for the short visit or week-end trip, with the addition of an outing coat beside, is shown. Happily for most occasions, save a very formal evening reception, the train costume is not worn to any extent this season. The craze for dancing is in a measure responsible for the round skirts as well as the silhouette of the type of figure into which fashion molds her followers.

There is no departure from the willowy and supple form with next to no corset for those who will not adopt the corsetless dressing. The materials for day and for evening are extremely soft and are usually draped without a foundation lining in the skirts.

The gown shown on the left of this page (7993) is a most graceful design carried out in an old rose silk poplin with a tunic overdress of brocaded poplin and other trimming of velvet placed as shown. The skirt is the favorite peg-top kind, with only two pieces, and has a bit of graceful drapery at either side. You will notice a new idea in the extension of the front plait above the girdle, and an arrangement of the girdle with butterfly ends on either side of the front of the bodice. The model is one which could be reproduced by the home seamstress with very little trouble and at a cost not exceedings $8 in the materials described. The pattern is cut in six sizes. It is 15 cents.

A MOST artistic evening gown of oriental beauty of design and coloring is pictured above (7997) as made with plain and printed chiffon in a double tunic skirt. The upper has an odd pattern in white on a scarlet ground, matching the plain second tunic, and it is wired to stand out in the minaret fashion. Cut jet beads border this and the skeleton bodice. Black footing frilled in the transparent sleeves, and a crush girdle of black chiffon velvet adds to the striking but effective contrast. This costume is one which may be easily duplicated at small cost. The pattern for it has a three piece foundation skirt and a separate guimpe. It is cut in six sizes. Fifteen cents.

ONE of the most appropriate and beautiful decorations for a Thanksgiving table decoration was used by a clever New York woman who arranged fruits and flowers as shown in this picture, with sprays of golden rod to give the yellow color note. Asparagus fern or tiny button chrysanthemums and autumn leaves may be used with a mound of fruit and vegetables, using a pumpkin shell as the holder.

Individual Souvenirs

Individual place favors and souvenir boxes are offered in quantities in novelty shops this year, with the emblematic turkey as the leader for the harvest dinner table. In place of these, one can make very dainty souvenirs from orange crepe paper twisted in ropes and wound around small paper cups, which are sold usually for biscuit tortoni. Put a standing frill on the top of the cup, also paste a piece of the rope on the sides to stand up for a handle, and then when the cup is well covered with photographic paste wind the rope around. The baskets may be filled with nuts and raisins or with candies.

Oyster Pie

Oyster pie is a fitting adjunct to the Thanksgiving home feast. A good recipe for it is this: Line a deep pie plate with rich puff paste. Fill it with bread crusts, to be removed after the paste shell with a fitted cover have been baked. Stew one quart of oysters five minutes. Make one cupful of white sauce, add pepper and the well beaten yolks of two eggs. Remove the crust and fill the pie with the oysters in the sauce and, after putting back the cover, set the pie in the oven five minutes before serving.

SENTENCE IS LIGHT FOR BICYCLE THIEF

Only Thirty Days in Jail for Colored Man Who Makes a Confession.

Although Robert Wilson, colored, according to Police Chief Kiely, confessed to a constable that he had stolen six bicycles, and attempted to "jump" his bail bond of $300 furnished by a friend, his punishment was only a sentence of thirty days in the county jail when arraigned yesterday at Elizabeth before Judge James Connolly. Following his arrest in this city, Wilson appearing before City Judge DeMeza was held for the action of the Grand Jury and that body promptly returned an indictment. A local propertyholder furnished a bond of $300 to assure Wilson's appearance in court when wanted. About three weeks ago this bondsman asked the local police to re-arrest Wilson and return the bond because he said he heard that the bicycle thief intended to make an attempt to escape justice. The local police immediately got busy with the result that Wilson was apprehended in Summit.

The theft of bicycles in this city has caused the police considerable trouble and much expense to the city and county. Many miscreants find bicycle thievery a profitable undertaking, because of the extensive use of this mode of travel which makes it a difficult matter to identify a stolen wheel or a thief.

The local police were notified to day that three wheels were stolen in this city yesterday.

HE PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO ATROCIOUS ASSAULT

Elizabeth, Nov. 22.—Clarence B. Brokaw, of North Plainfield, who got into difficulties for failing to satisfy a judgment obtained by Mrs. Blanche Beatty, of this city, whom he injured with his automobile, was arraigned in the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday on a charge of atrocious assault on Mrs. Beatty. The charge was a belated one and was due to the accident. Brokaw pleaded not guilty and was released on bail. He will be tried December 10. The judgment obtained by Mrs. Beatty in the Circuit Court also caused Brokaw to declare himself a bankrupt. The bankruptcy declaration was later nullified in Common Pleas Court and his arrest on the assault charge followed.

MISS GOUGH'S LUNCHEON IN MISS TIMPSON'S HONOR

Miss Gwendolyn Gough, of Franklin place, gave a luncheon at her home Thursday for Miss Ruth Timpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Timpson, of Hillside avenue. The color scheme was yellow. After the luncheon the young folks enjoyed bridge. Those present were the Misses Catherine Drayton, Elizabeth McGee, Eleanor DeGraff, Katherine Yates, Eleanor Iredell, Sylvia Curtis, Jean Wharton, Helen Joy, Kathryn Ginna and Elizabeth Wallace.

PENSION FUND OFFICERS.

DeWitt C. Irvins was elected chairman and City Treasurer W. F. Arnold was chosen secretary-treasurer of the Police Pension Commission at the first meeting of the commission in Mayor Percy H. Stewart's office, yesterday afternoon. Police Chief Kiely and Patrolman Arthur McGinley are the other two members of the commission.

GORDON—HEDGEMAN.

Miss Elizabeth Hedgeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hedgeman, of Scottsville, Va., and Harvey Gordon, of this city, were married at the home of the latter here last night by Rev. M. V. Vaughn, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church. Following a short wedding trip the newlyweds will reside at 616 East Third street.

OWEN McCARTHY INJURED.

Owen McCarthy, aged 66 years, of 219 Manson place, employed as a "chipper" at the Pond Machine Tool Works, narrowly escaped a serious injury to his eye this morning when a piece of steel hit the optic. He went to the hospital, where the injury was attended to. The sight of the eye will not be impaired.

IN A COLLISION.

When a Fourth street trolley car and an automobile owned by Dr. Ellis W. Hedges and driven by Anton Bates a chauffeur, collided at the intersection of Sycamore avenue and East Fourth street shortly after noon today, the five women in the machine and the occupants of the trolley car escaped injury.

LOCAL CONTRACTOR DIES IN 71ST YEAR

Bateman Thatcher Passes Away After a Long Illness.

Bateman Thatcher, aged about 70 years, one of the best known of the older contractors of the city, died last night at his home at East Fourth and Sycamore streets, following a long illness. About two months ago he underwent an operation in a New York hospital. He returned home a few weeks ago, but did not improce because of complications.

Mr. Thatcher was born in Hunterdon county, and had lived in Plainfield more than thirty years. Until quite recently he was always active in his trade and many fine homes in Plainfield and vicinity were erected by him. He was an attendant of the First M. E. church, a member of Washington Camp, No. 1, Patriotic Sons of America, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias.

There survives a wife, a sister, Mrs. Sallie Rapp, of Trenton, two nephews, W. W. Ulmer, of this city, and Herbert Thatcher, of California. The funeral service will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the late home. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

'CLARISSA HARLOWE' DR. PERRY'S THEME

Cambridge Scholar Gives An Absorbingly Interesting Talk Here.

"Clarissa Harlowe" was the subject of the first of a series of talks by Bliss Perry, the well known Cambridge lecturer, which was given yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, and to say that the audience which filled the room were delighted would be putting it mildly. Mr. Perry proved to be a gifted and highly interesting talker, with a gifted flow of English, making it exceedingly easy for those present to follow him.

The subject chosen, "Clarissa Harlowe," was a novel written in 1748 by Richardson, a well known English author of the middle class of his day. The speaker said that the book was written at a time when the people were ready for something new in literature, and that while the novel, consisting of nine volumes, was poorly written and long drawn out, it was one of the first, if not the first, to assert the individualism of its author, and to express a sentimental analysis. The heroine of the novel was one who asserted herself, a very uncommon practice in those days, and the story tells of her refusal to marry the man whom her parents had chosen as her husband. Possessing the will power to refuse to follow the parents' direction, the heroine was forced to leave home and went for protection to a man who later deceived her. Upon her death the deceiver was killed in a duel by her cousin.

At the conclusion of the talk Prof. Perry was warmly congratulated by a number of those present, and much satisfaction was expressed over the fact that he will give four more talks here. The next one will be in the Crescent Avenue church chapel on Friday afternoon of next week, when the subject will be "The New Heloise." Professor Perry was graduated from William College in 1881 with a degree of A. B. and in 1883 with A. M. He also studied at the universities of Berlin and Strassburg, and has honorary degrees from Princeton, Williams, Bowdoin and Lake Forest. He is at present professor of English literature at Harvard, has edited a number of editions, including "Little Masterpieces," in 18 volumes, and also written a number of books.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT RALLY MEETING

Members of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Department and Their Friends Entertained.

A record crowd of boys, numbering over 300, attended the rally meeting arranged for the Y. M. C. A. boys' department members and their friends by C. William Bingeman, the boys' secretary, this morning, and the session proved to be the most enthusiastic yet conducted in the association. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Bingeman and following an unusually interesting motion picture entertainment of Pathe weekly films the boys were taken to the gymnasium where E. C. Ostlin, the physical director, has provided a special mass drill which was participated in by members of the Indian League. Two picked teams from the College League played an exhibition game of basketball and the entire group played the exciting and noisy game of bombardment.

It was announced during the meeting in the auditorium that the members of the boys' department would be admitted to the Plainfield Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. basketball game in the association gym tonight as a membership privilege while the guests present this morning will be admitted upon the presentation of a coupon provided by Mr. Bingeman and the payment of five cents.

CHILDREN ENTERTAINED BY ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

"Our Comrades From Other Lands," was the subject of an illustrated lecture by Dr. Peter Roberts, of New York, for young people at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionary Societies. The auditorium was filled to overflowing with children.

There were two motion pictures, "The Child Who Labors," and "The Child of the Ghetto," and then Dr. Roberts exhibited a large number of slides, showing interesting scenes in foreign countries as well as in the United States, and explained them in an entertaining way. Dr. Roberts is secretary of the Industrial Department of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., and for years has made a study of his subject.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22.—An attendance of nearly 40,000 was estimated at the Harvard-Yale game this afternoon when the teams took the field and shortly before game time the betting strongly favored Harvard at 10 to 7. The day was ideal for football although a high south field wind continued to blow as the game started. The gridiron was in excellent condition and when the Yale team came on the field a mighty cheer went up from both stands. Harvard won the toss and chose to defend the south goal, giving Yale the kick-off.

FIRST PERIOD.

Brickley caught the ball just back of the Harvard goal line and ran it back to the 24-yard line. Harvard punted to Yale's 25-yard line. Yale returned the kick to Harvard's 30-yard line. Brickley made the catch and carried the oval back 5 yards. Bradlee made a yard through left tackle and Brickley was thrown from a loss. He then kicked to Yale's 33-yard line. Knowles made a slight gain on a plunge at centre and Ainsworth made a yard around left end. Knowles then kicked to Harvard's 30-yard line. Mahan caught the ball and ran back to Yale's 45-yard line. Brickley went through right tackle for a yard and repeated on the next play. Brickley tried a forward pass but the play was uncompleted. The ball was brought back to the 40-yard line where Brickley tried a drop-kick but the oval went wide of its mark. Yale took the ball on her own 20-yard line. Ainsworth made a yard through left tackle and Knowles punted out of bounds on Harvard's 43-yard line. On a fake kick Mahan lost a yard and then punted over Yale's goal line. The ball was given to Yale on her own 20-yard line and on a double pass was nailed for a loss. Knowles kicked poorly into the air and Harvard got the ball on Yale's 43-yard line. Mahan failed to gain through left tackle and Brickley tried right tackle and also failed. A forward pass was grounded and the ball was brought back. Brickley kicked out of bounds at the extreme edge of the gridiron and the ball was brought back to Yale's 20-yard line. Knowles punted to Mahan in mid-field and Yale was penalized for foul tackling, Harvard getting the oval on Yale's 35-yard line.

Brickley made six yards through centre but Mahan failed to gain. Bradlee went through centre for 4 yards and Brickley dropped back and kicked a pretty field goal from Yale's 35-yard line. Harvard 3, Yale 0.

MURRAY G. HURLBERT TO DELIVER ORATION

And Rev. Dr. Neilson to Be the Chaplain at Elks' Memorial Services.

Arrangements are about complete for the annual memorial service to be held by Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., at the Plainfield theatre on Sunday evening, December 7. Murray G. Hurlbert, a New York lawyer, and past exalted ruler of New York Lodge, No. 1, will be the orator of the evening.

The program will include vocal selections by a quartet and instrumental selections by a symphony orchestra from New York, secured through the efforts of Townsend Fellows. Rev. Dr. William H. Neilson, of this city, will talso take part in the service. The stage will be elaborately decorated by Stanley, the florist.

The committee in charge comprises Clarence E. Teel, chairman; S. P. T. Wilbur, William Tallamy, William E. MacClymont and Dr. C. L. Crist.

ERROR OF ASSESSOR MAY MEAN BIG LOSS

Clarence LaRue, the First ward assessor, it is alleged, made an error in assessing the property of the Plainfield-Union Water Company this year, and it is said that the city will lose about $4,000 in taxes. Mr. LaRue, it is said, assessed the property at $200,000, when it should have been $80,000, and the County Board of Taxation having made its apportionment cannot now change the figures. The water company will appeal from the assessment.

SEALS AND SEA LIONS AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE

There are many animal acts in vaudeville today, but unique among them all is the remarkable performance of Captain Treat's seals and sea lions, which will be presented at Proctor's theatre, Monday. The animals, six in number, are considered to be the most intelligent ever presented on the vaudeville stage, possessing almost human knowledge in their work. Bouncing out upon the stage and taking their respective positions, the animals go through their performance, taking the cues from Capt. Treat with the slightest suggestion. They play upon every sort of band instrument, they juggle balls and do other remarkable "stunts." They will delight both yound and old. E. M. Favor and Edith Sinclair & Co. will present an Irish character comedy sketch, "Regan's Luck;" Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark will offer original character impersonations, a novel act; Luce, Bruce & May, clever comedy musicians, and Kola, "The Frog Man," will appear on the same bill.

MRS. MARTIN ROSE.

Mrs. Matilda Rose, aged 49 years, wife of Martin Rose, died at her home in Scotch Plains, yesterday after a long illness. The service and burial will be at Betholem Field cemetery, Brooklyn, at 1:30 o'clock, tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Rose is survived by a husband, several brothers and sisters.

WILL TEST BORO. ALARM.

Fire Chief McCullough, of the North Plainfield fire department, will test several of the boxes in the borough Monday night between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock.

PLAN TO REORGANIZE A REALTY CONCERN

Local Interborough Co. Bondholders Favor Raising Necessary Fund.

Bondholders of the Interborough Realty Company living in this vicinity held a meeting at 200 West Second street, last night, for the purpose of hearing a report of a committee regarding plans for raising money to assist in paying the interest and taxes on the company's holdings and to discuss plans of re-organization.

William Allen, of Westfield, explained the situation, after which it was voted to try and raise $5,000 toward the whole amount needed. There are ten different localities where it is proposed to do the same thing. It was stated that the company's property is worth about a million dollars, upon which there is a mortgage for $180,000. The mortgagee is willing to let the mortgage remain so long as they get the interest and taxes. In this way it is believed that the bondholders will fully realize on their investment. J. Fred MacDonald was appointed chairman of a committee to see if the necessary $5,000 can be raised among the bondholders here.

SALE FOR HOSPITAL PROVED A SUCCESS

The "Linen Shower" at Schwed Bros. Store Brought in $466.

Though the courtesy of Schwed Bros., who so generously tendered a part of their store to the women of the Auxiliary Board, the linen shower or sale of various articles, comprising sheets, pillow cases, blankets, towels, etc., for the furnishings in the new buildings of the hospital proved a great success. These goods were on sale during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week under the direction of a committee from the Woman's Auxiliary Board, and many friends of the hospital gladly took advantage of this opportunity to make their gifts to the hospital. The total value of the articles secured from a wholesale firm in New York, who make a specialty of hospital supplies, amounted to $532, and sales were made during the three days amounting to $466, distributed among 1400 persons.

The idea of this linen shower was promoted by a similar one being on behalf of the Flushing, Long Island, hospital, which has recently been completed as a result of a campaign in Flushing, which was directed by W. A. Bowen, who lead the Plainfield campaign two years ago.

"It was a happy thought to give Plainfield people an opportunity to give personal gifts to the 'linen chest,'" said a governor today, "and each article contributed, even of the smallest value, will be much appreciated."

THANKSGIVING APPEAL FOR CHILDREN'S HOME

It is hoped that the friends of the Children's Home who have so generously contributed to it on previous Thanksgivings may feel inclined to remember the children again this year. The management also takes this opportunity to cordially thank those friends of the Home who have assisted during the past summer with donationsof vegetables and fruits, as well as preserves and jellies for the winter's needs.

PRACTICAL TALKS.

To all Monday Afternoon Club members the program for Monday, Nov. 24, will be vitally interesting. "Plainfield Women In Industry" will be the subject and the summing up of the discussion of "What Is a Living Wage?" will be given by Miss Alice Jaynes, secretary of the Consumers' League of New Jersey. The meeting will be held in the Public Library lecture room at 3 o'clock.

"BULWARKS OF OUR HERITAGE"

Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will preach a special sermon to the members of Franklin, Somerset, Benevolent and Franklin Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., tomorrow evening, his theme being, "Bulwarks of Our Heritage." In the morning the subject of his discourse will be "Thanksgiving."

NEED MORE ROOM.

It is reported that the need of additional private rooms at Muhlenberg Hospital is clearly demonstrated in the fact that at the present time every private room is occupied and six reservations for rooms on file which cannot for the present be secured.

HETFIELD WOULD BE COUNTY JUDGE

Should Connelly Be Elevated, Plainfielder Will Be Candidate for Place.

NOW DIST. COURT JUDGE

He Has Served as City Clerk and Councilman and Has Made a Reputation as a Criminal Lawyer—Popular Here.

In the event of the appointment of Judge James C. Connolly, of Union county, to succeed the late Judge Joseph Cross, a Union county man, on the United States District Court bench, District Court Judge Walter L. Hetfield, of Plainfield, will be a candidate for the Union county judgeship. President Wilson is expected at any time to make the appointment to the Federal court.

Judge Connelly has been endorsed by the Union County Bar Association, but it is learned that former Judge Westcott, of Camden, stands the best chance of getting the plum. He is one of the few original Wilson "rooters" who has not been rewarded for his services. He stepped aside as a candidate for the Democratic party's nomination for Governor and also for United States Senator.

"Yes, I'll be a candidate for the Union county judgeship should it become vacant," said Judge Hetfield today. That is all he would say.

Mr. Hetfield, one of the foremost criminal practitioners in the county, has at times been a councilman and city clerk. He declined a nomination for appointment as corporation counsel. Two years ago, the then Governor Wilson made him a district court judge.

FIRST SERVICE OF THE TEMPLE SHOLEM

Rev. S. O. Kuhn, of New York, Preaches on the Future of Judiaism.

The first services of the Temple Sholem, the recently organized Reformed Jewish congregation, were held at the Young Men's Hebrew Association hall on Grove street, last night and this morning. Rev. S. O. Kuhn, of New York, was engaged to take charge of these services. Last night he preached to a congregation of nearly one hundred people. His subject was "Has Judiaism a Future?" and Mr. Kuhn gave a masterly discourse presenting the features in an instructive and interesting way.

There was a large attendance at the service this morning, when Mr. Kuhn spoke extemporaneously on the subject, "Preparing the Way," in which he told of the future for the young men of the Jewish faith. Mr. Kuhn is a young man and he has a pleasing appearance. Both of his sermons were well received by both congregations.

PARK AVE. CHURCH PEOPLE HOLD SUCCESSFUL SALE

The sale being conducted at a store in Park avenue, near East Fourth street, by the Loyal Daughters' Circle of The Kings Daughters re-opened this afternoon and will continue until late tonight. The proceeds will be devoted to the work carried on at the Day Nursery.

Mrs. John A. Peterkin, president of the circle, and Mrs. Harry B. Smith, vice-president, are in charge of the event, assisted by a committee composed of Mrs. George Bowman, Mrs. Edward E. Iremonger, Mrs. W. W. Coriell and Mrs. W. M. Alling. Other members of the society, numnumbering about thirty-five, also contributed largely to the success of the undertaking.

MO-JO White Chewing Gum

Talk No. 5

BEFORE a MO-JO is made the crude gum is thoroughly cleaned and purified.

The dirt is taken out before you are asked to chew the gum—that's why MO-JO is different. That's why it is pure white.

You are sure of getting a clean gum if you get a white gum, because no dirt can hide in anything pure white.

Some day all chewing gums will be clean—just as soon as people let it be known they are particular. Until that happy day insist on getting the dainty, delightful, pure MO-JOs.

Just fix in your mind the fact that you want a clean white gum. Make the dealer understand this and you will get MO-JO.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful— all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

MORE BOUQUETS

AN UP-TO-DATE-PAPER.

The Apollo takes pleasure this week in congratulating the Plainfield Daily Press on its booster number, containing many pages, in which it lands Plainfield and its merchants in a manner becoming it. The Daily Press, under the management of Messrs. Morrow and Fort, shows enterprise on every occasion, the edition this week, however, being its banner effort. The paper is interesting in every detail and clearly demonstrates the beauty and advantages of Plainfield, one of the prettiest and most up-to-date towns in New Jersey, and we are sure all those who had a hand in arranging the mammoth edition feel proud of their efforts and the management for the able and efficient manner in which it was gotten up. We again congratulate the Daily Press and its publishers and with them and their force, the merchants of Plainfield and all connected with it, abundant and life long success.—The Belvidere (N.J.) Apollo.

A NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT.

On Friday of last week the Plainfield Daily Press issued a thirty-two page supplement, printed on fine book paper, and containing a vast amount of readable matter concerning that lively town, describing its advantages and showing its beauties in excellent pictures of interest, historically and otherwise. Ever since the inception of the Daily Press, on May 10, 1887, its course has been carefully observed by the editor of this paper, possibly for the reason that it was started on an anniversary of his birth. The Daily Press has been a power for good in the advancement of the welfare of the town it represents, but too often its efforts have failed of appreciation by the citizens, many persons regarding a newspaper as a free channel for carrying forward pet projects and failing to give the support necessary to sustain the journal in its work. The Daily Press is to be congratulated in the ability shown to produce this splendid issue and has The Chronicle's best wishes for its continued success.—Bound Brook Chronicle.

The Plainfield Daily Press, of November 14 was a 48-page paper, of which 32 papers were illustrated, with special write-ups of the business men, factories and stores of that enterprising and progressive city. It shows up Plainfield for the year 1913 in a splendid way and altogether is a credit to its people and the publishers of The Press, of which ex-Governor J. Franklin Fort is the president, his son, Leslie R. Fort, its business manager and treasurer and Ralph L. Morrow, editor, vice-president and secretary of the Plainfield Press Company.—Dover Index.

CONGRATULATIONS.

We who are justly proud of our city can not but catch the spirit of civic pride evoked by the splendid boom-issue of the Plainfield Daily Press: "Do It For Plainfield." We congratulate the editors and the men behind the staff. While some of the managers of important industrial works may have applied too late for space, notices of the number who gained the exceptional advantage showed not only the great diversity of interests, but also that brawn as well as brain thrives within our city.

Nor was there better evidence of the healthfulness of friendly rivalry than the instant and well-merited tribute of the Courier-News, as graceful and courteous as it was worth doing "for Plainfield."

In booming Plainfield let noble minds and generous hearts lift us to the plane where intelligent confidence and fellow-feeling will attract and retain the only elements of genuine civic progress, for man's real estate is not in real estate alone. A high-toned contempt for smallness is not the least of the many resources worth developing "for Plainfield."—The Plainfield Messenger (Father Bogan, editor).

James McCreery & Co. To Close 23rd St. Branch

James McCreery & Co. have announced the permanent closing of their Twenty-third Street branch.

The growth in progress of James McCreery & Co., for the past fifty-six years has been in keeping with the steady advances of the retail business northward; from its location at No. 471 Broadway, the firm moved in 1868 to larger quarters at Broadway and 11th Street; in 1895, again in line with the trend, the Twenty-third Street store was opened in what was then the centre of the retail shopping district, and what is still a great shopping district for the popular trade. The Thirty-fourth Street store, which was opened in 1906, as everyone knows, is now in the centre of the great up-town shopping district, and James McCreery & Co. has decided, as its advertisements will state, to concentrate its business in this one locality. With this in view during the past year, a Fifth Avenue entrance has been opened and the elevator facilities increased by the addition of quite a number of new elevators, thus thoroughly equipping the Thirty-fourth Street establishment to handle the greatly increased business.

Not a home in this city but has its quota of discarded furniture, rugs, stoves perhaps, a wheelbarrow maybe.

A few cents for a Press want ad and some one who needs the very article that lies rotting in your garret will call and pay you for it.

You are better off—new owner is pleased—and the article itself is contributing to the reduction of the high cost of living.

THANKSGIVING

"This is a Christian nation," so the Supreme Court of the United States declared in 1892, and that legal declaration is not unwarranted in moral fact; for with all our defects and our lamentable lack of attaining the perfection we should attain, America is still nominally and far more than nominally a Christian nation, and Thanksgiving is the first American holiday. Different writers touching upon the origin of the day dwell one upon this date and another upon that, but past all doubt or discussion Thanksgiving is our first great holiday. The pilgrims of the Mayflower ushered in its observance on shipboard and shore maintaining it year by year, while the settlers on February 22d, 1630, proclimed the first formal Thanksgiving in Boston. The dinners that day were not plentiful and the boards did not groan beneath their load of good things. The only food upon one spacious table was clams, yet in asking the divine blessing the host thanked God "who had given them to suck the abundance of the seas and the treasures hid in the sands." On November 18, 1777, the Continental Congress proclaimed the first national Thanksgiving Day, and such were the beginnings which with intervals and breaks finally led to our present permanent observance.

But if Thanksgiving is the first American holiday it is also the pre-eminent American holiday. I do not forget Memorial Day, much less do I forget Independence Day and all these anniversaries mean to us, but still I say, Thanksgiving is the pre-eminent American holiday. It is the one that touches our heart-life and our home-life as not other purely American anniversary does, and not only the hearts of those who are Americans by long descent, but the hearts of those who ar ecoming to us from abroad. A government official whose work takes him among our foreign population says:

"Go into the foreign quarters of any American city and ask an Italian or a Slav whether he celebrates the Fourth of July and he may shrug his shoulder. Ask if he knows the meaning of Memorial Day, so significant to many of us, and you will likely get no response whatever, but mention Thanksgiving Day and his face lights up at once." A beautiful incident comes to my mind in this connection. It was a bleak November morning some years since when an old Roumanian Hebrew landed in New York from Ellis Island with his wife and three children. A mantle of fog wrapped the harbor; the statue of Liberty could not be seen; a drizzling rain swept the streets of the city; the scene was depressing indeed. The bustle and hustle of the great metropolis frightened the old man fresh from his quiet life in a little Roumanian village and his spirit sank; but his eldest son, who had preceded his father to America and who had sent the money to bring the family over, met him at the pier with a warm welcome and told him that it was Thanksgiving Day and explained its meaning as he saw the people going to the churches. The old man stopped in the street and raising his eyes in prayer thanked the God of his fathers that the Americans who moved so fast were yet not Godless but Godfearing.

What sweet and tender memories cluster about this day, how hallowed are its associations, how blessed its recurrence. It is one of the most potent rectifiers of living we can experience. It reminds us of past blessings, it gives us faith for the future; it lightens labor, it magnifies blessings, it cheers and inspires those about us as they see our own faith and catch our spirit of gratitude. What a nation God has given us as citizens! What mercies he has showered upon us as individuals; what positive good has come into our lives on the one hand, what misfourtunes have we escaped on the other. How many things we have which we really need and how many things that we have not we do not need at all. How can any man sit down at a time like this, before the bounty heaped upon his table (and the poorest among us today lives better than the kings of old) without a spoken or at least an unspoken grace. There is both humor and homily in the story of a young man, the suitor of a certain minister's pretty daughter, who had the very informal, not to say discourteous, habit of helping himself to food as soon as he was seated at the table. Calling one day and staying to supper, as they were seated at the board and before the clergyman could offer a word of prayer he reached out his hand to the plate of bread nearby and tested its quality by a liberal mouthful. The old minister looked at him and then folded his hands and closed his eyes in preparation of grace and this is what he said: "For what we are about to receive," and he spoke with slow distinctness, "and for what our young guest has already received, dear Lord, make us truly thankful." Surely this Thanksgiving Day of 1913 we might all properly say, for what we are about to receive and for what we have already received may Heaven make us grateful.

There hangs in my hallway an old "broadside," as they are termed, one hundred years old next month. It is a Thanksgiving proclamation by one who is highly honored in my own family and who occupies in American history no inferior place, Governor Caleb Strong, of Massachusetts, a personal friend of the Father of his Country and one of the framers of our Federal Constitution. It was issued during the war of 1812 and contains some statements with which the present writer would not be in perfect harmony because he never has supported the position taken by New England during that war, but with the general tone and tenor of that proclamation he is in heartiest accord, and I can do no better than to quote in closing a paragraph of that immortal document, as being strikingly timely and appropriate just now and as breathing the true spirit of Thanksgiving:

"While we thank the Author of our mercies for all the benefits we have received, let us confide in Him for all that we want; and entreat Him. * * * * * That by His former kindness to our Forefathers and to us, we may be encouraged to trust in His mercy and honor Him by our sincere and faithful obedience; and that a deep conviction of His constant and universal agency may afford us consolation amid these fearful and perplexing changes which are taking place in the world. That we may be grateful in prosperity, and resigned in adversity, and acknowledge the wisdom and goodness of God in whatever he bestows, withholds or inflicts. That He would save us from the power of the sword and from the ravages and alarms of war, and give us quietness and safety in our borders; and that the people may be at peace among themselves, and if it be possible ,live peaceably with all men."

PHILIP B. STRONG.

TRUST COMPANY AS EXECUTOR OF ESTATE WORTH $3,000,000

Under the will of the late Albert D. Smith of Orange, which was recently filed by the Fidelity Trust Company of Newark and Orville Oddie, Jr., as executors, for probate in the Essex County Surrogate's office, provisions are made for the care and ultimate distribution of one of the largest estates that has been handled in New Jersey for some years. It is estimated that the value of the estate will be close to $3,000,000 if not actually above that figure, and eventually most of it will go to the testator's two grand-children, Alice May Hallock and Louise St. John Hallock.

In addition to serving as co-executors with Mr. Oddie, a friend and financial advisor of Mr. Smith's, the Fidelity Trust Company is named in the will as trustee of half a dozen trust funds, which in all probability will amount in all to nearly $2,000,000. These funds are to be held and managed for the testator's widow and widowed daughter and also for a brother and sister of the deceased and the two grand-children. In the voluminous document the Fidelity, as trustee, is given specific directions for the payment of the income of these large sums and also for their eventual distribution.

Although half a dozen public institutions are named in the will, as beneficiaries, only the Boards of Home and Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church are likely to receive bequests. In the case of these two Boards they are each to receive $37,500 outright upon the death of Mrs. Smith. The other public institutions, however, will get nothing under the terms of the will unless the testator's two grand-children die without issue.

The will, which is dated December 6, 1911, specifically provides that neither Mr. Oddie nor the Fidelity Trust Company, as executors, nor the latter institution, as trustee, shall be required to furnish any bonds for the performance of their duties. The document was witnessed by Frederick W. Egner, Paul C. Downing and Edward A. Proden, respectively vice president, assistant secretary and assistant trust officer of the Fidelity Trust Company.

THANKSGIVING.

It is a very striking object lesson for the entire world to behold the President of these United States inviting the 80,000,000 of men and women of our country to give thanks to God for the very many benefits, which, as a nation, we have received from the Giver of all good gifts. In these days when almost all the nations of the earth refuse to acknowledge a Supreme Being towards whom, as nations, they have any obligations; in these days when the words of the Bible have a very special significance: "Why have the nations raged, and why have the people devised vain things against God and against His Christ?" In these days the example of the American people stands out in bold relief as a protest against so widespread an apostasy. We Americans still remember and may we never forget that the charter of our liberties, the Declaration of Independence, begins by those solemn words: "In the name of God, Amen."

We still remember that the motto which strengthened the sinews of the brave men who in the dark days of our struggle died that we might live, was worded thus: "In God we trust." And so as true and loyal Americans, every ready to defend our flag, we publicly and solemnly thank God for the many and great favors, past and present, conferred upon our glorious country. But let it be well understood we do not refer merely to our material prosperity. We are not thanking God only or primarily for the millions of bales of cotton which the Sunny South contributes annually toward the clothing of mankind, or for the tens of millions of bushels of wheat that the great West contributes annually towards the feeding of mankind.

There are far higher and more precious gifts than these; for nations no less than individuals, live not on bread alone. From the depths of our appreciative American hearts we are specially thankful for one very great boon which God has bestowed upon our country, the right understanding of that much misunderstood word—Liberty. For in our Republic of the United States the word liberty rings true to principle. We need not be deep readers of contemporaneous history to know that there are "free" republics where, upon municipal buildings, the word "Liberty" is inscribed as upon colossal tombstones, reminding the passers-by of but one thing—that liberty is dead and buried.

But while we have reason to thank God, still we must not be so dazzled by our country's prosperity as not to discern some very serious dangers ahead of us. We need not be pessimists to be appalled at the daily record of crime, or more appalled at the unrecorded gruesome happenings in our Republic's daily life.

Our country would fain raise aloft the beacon of true progress that all the other nations might follow in our footsteps. Yes, our flag spells defense of our nation and yet as regards the preservation of the home and family by the defense of the marriage bond we in America give to the world the worst example that ever has blighted the face of civilization. We say it with consummate sadness. True, we assemble national congresses and have inter-state conferences to talk the matter over and

ORATORICAL AND NERVY.

An Old Cobbler Who Won a Laugh and Favors From Napoleon.

On Napoleon's arrival at Mars-la-Tours the mayor, a farmer, tried in vain to make the speech he had prepared. Bowing and scraping, he stood fascinated by Bonaparte's scrutinizing black eyes—an unhappy squirrel in the gaze of the rattlesnake.

Close behind the trembling mayor stood an old shoemaker, in figure a true Don Quixote, clad in his working dress. "Why don't you speak, you fool?" he muttered from time to time to his leader. At last his patience gave way. He pushed the mayor aside, advanced, with his left hand removed his greasy cotton nightcap, with his right lifted the horn spectacles from his nose, made his bow and delivered the oration: "Emperor, you are on your way to thrash the Prussian rogues once more. I hope soon to see you return crowned with glory, and I have nothing more to say, but that Caesar and Alexander were botches in comparison with you."

The emperor laughed and inquired of the old man whether he had any sons. "Yes; four are in the army—two of these in the guards." Their names were taken down, and the honest shoemaker soon saw them raised to the rank of officers and found himself provided with a comfortable pension.

A CORNER IN WHEAT.

It Didn't Take the Usual Course of Deals of That Nature.

John Willer of Scarboro township had a good crop of spring wheat one year—almost the only good crop for miles round. He thrashed it out during the winter and cleaned it carefully, but did not sell it. "Seed wheat will be scarce in the spring," he said to his wife. "I'll keep it till then."

One day in April a man who lived several miles farther out in the country drove up to John Willer's barn and said he wanted to buy a load of seed wheat. The farmer did not answer him at once.

"You needn't be afraid, Mr. Willer," said the would be purchaser. "I've got the money to pay for it right here."

"Now, that's just what I wanted to know," said John Willer, and his face brightened perceptibly; "I'm glad you told me. Lots of my neighbors need seed this spring and haven't the cash to pay for it. If they can't get seed on credit they can't get it at all, and I want to help them out. But if you've got the money you can get seed wheat anywhere. So just drive on into town. You'll find plenty there."—Youth's Companion.

No Place For Postmen.

The new postman was called before the office superintendent for a reprimand

"You were seen loitering in the neighborhood of that big fire down the street," the superintendent said.

"I only stopped a minute," the man pleaded, "and I was already eight minutes ahead of schedule time."

"It is not a question of time, but safety," the superintendent replied. "The last place on earth a postman can afford to loiter is in the vicinity of a big fire. On the contrary, he ought to make a detour to avoid it.

"By neglecting that simple precaution more than one postman has had his leather bag drenched by a stream from the hose and a lot of ruined letters charged to his conscience if not to his pocketbook."—New York Times.

English Words In German.

Like the word "sport" and many other English words for which the German language has no adequate terms, the word "strike" has become one of common usage in Germany. "Start, finish, mutiny, trick, snob, smart, partner, detective, picnic, film, handicap and hundreds of other words," says a letter on the subject, "are used in their original form, with not a letter changed. Panic has been made into 'panik' and check into 'scheck,' record as 'rekord' when the German uses the word, and strike, in order to preserve the proper pronunciation, is written 'streik.' These words look English enough when you see them printed, but when you hear them you involuntarily think of the 'English spoken here' signs."—New York Tribune.

Camp Candlesticks.

A camp candlestick can easily be made with a piece of stick. Choose a straight stick about eight inches long and one inch thick. With a good knife sharpen one end as you would a lead pencil or a stake. Then split the other end into four parts, taking care not to allow any to snap, and strengthen the point where they meet by binding with string. The candles can then be placed between the four branches and held in position with string. The pointed end is then stuck into the ground and the candlestick is ready for use.—Boston Herald.

Watered Milk.

"Farmers," said the fair city visitor, "are just as dishonest as the city milkman."

"How d'ye make that out?" asked the farmer's wife.

"This morning," said the girl, accusingly, "with my own eyes I saw your hired man water the cows just before he milked them."—Exchange.

CONGRESS OF SALVATIONISTS.

The Largest Gathering Ever Held Addressed by General Booth.

The largest congress of Salvation Army workers held in America was called to convene in New York on Nov. 23 and to continue throughout the week until the following Sunday. General Bramwell Booth, head of the army, who made the opening address, is on his way around the world on a tour of Salvation Army inspection and is seeking in this country recruits to go with him to India and the far east to serve as missionaries.

This is the first visit General Booth has paid to America. In the early part of the month he presided over a congress of Canadian Salvationists at Toronto. He is regarded as the constructive statesman of the Salvation Army.

GENERAL BRAMWELL BOOTH, HEAD OF THE SALVATION ARMY.

Commissioner George Lamb, who came over with General Bramwell Booth, is said to have a plan that may help solve the servant girl question in America. He is at the head of the Salvation Army immigration bureau in London, which sends annually to Canada about 20,000 people, chiefly from England and Scotland. His mission is to ascertain whether without breaking the immigration laws or yet injuring interests of laboring people servant girls may not be sent by the army to New York and assured positions before sailing.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 35.

PERFECTION is a matter of constant striving to improve. The reason most of us don't get nearer to perfection is because we are satisfied with our present state of progress—contented to do things just as we have always done them—serene in following the old methods and accustomed tracks simply because the ability to improve, to go ahead, to approach nearer to perfection means a little effort.

I saw an instance of this the other day. The manager of a large office called the attention of one of his stenographers to a letter he had just received from one of the branch offices of the company. The letter was a model of the stenograhper's art. Capitalization, punctuation, paragraphing, spacing, margin—all were perfect. It was a pleasure to read such a letter—not a puzzle as is the case with some letters I have seen that were written by individuals who professed to be stenographers.

"Miss B.," the manager said, "I wish you would write your letters that way. I'm not finding fault with your transcriptions, remember, but I'd certainly like to have my letters go out of here looking like this one. You see, the margin on the right-hand side is nearly as even as the margin on the left, and the whole letter is centered and spaced and paragraphed so nicely that it is pleasing to the eye and creates a good impression."

Miss B admitted the truth of what was said, but when her superior officer mentioned the even margins, she interrupted testily with: "Oh, my; that's too much trouble!"

It is a little trouble, when typewriting, to get the right-hand margin even, or nearly so. The left hand margain is always even, because it is mechanically made so, without any thought or effort on the part of the operator. But to make the margain at the other side of the sheet look nice requires a certain skill that comes with practice in the right way of doing things. Once acquired, this habit of neatness becomes an unconscious part of the really efficient stenographer's daily work. Yet, easy as it is to master this one step toward perfection, in every office in the land there are stenographers who, when shown such work, will say: "Oh! that's very good, but it's too much trouble."

If YOU are a stenographer to whom nothing that tends toward greater efficiency is "too much trouble," there are hundreds of business houses anxious for your services. Get into touch with a good position by reading, or using, the CLASSIFIED columns of this newspaper.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Choosing the Turkey.

Every housewife ought to know the test of a good turkey, and she ought to put her knowledge to trial in selecting the Thanksgiving bird.

Tests for Age and Plumpness.

Of course, an old turkey is tough. The feet of an old turkey are gray and lustreless. Those of a younger bird are rosy, and so a turkey with pinkish feet is of a suitable age for eating. The younger birds, too, have smooth feet, whereas the older ones have horny and rough ones.

Young turkeys—that is to say, turkeys young enough to be at their best, but not young enough to be at their worst, for very young turkeys are not worth buying—have pliable breastbones, just as other members of the poultry family have. So it behooves the careful buyer to press the breastbone, at the end away from the head and toward the tail, between her fingers to see that is is flexible. To be sure, dealers sometimes break this bone so that it appears flexible. Hence it behooves the careful buyer to go to a dealer that can be trusted.

The turkey in prime condition for eating should be pliable and yet elastic—not flabby and soft. It should be well rounded, and a thing of curves rather than angles.

As To Size.

There is an old and time-honored idea that large turkeys are far better than small ones. The idea seems not to be well founded, if modern turkey critics may be believed. They say that small birds are often as tender and flavorsome as large ones. The large turkey is no more sure to be good than is the large chicken—and everyone knows that small chickens are sometimes better than large ones.

So it is probably safe to choose a turkey suitable in size for your family, however small that family may be. Very young, and therefore very small turkeys—turkey chicks—are seldom put on the market. They are not good and they do not ship well.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

In a recent case in New York State, after hearing all the evidence in the possession of the District Attorney, the Judge refused to hold a young woman for the grand jury on the charge of murdering a physician, with whom she had been living.

She had been quoted in many of the papers as saying—before the examination took place—that she "had never been a suffragist, but wished to God New York was a Suffrage State, so that she might be judged by women as they would understand."

Two dangerous suggestions here. 1st, That men, because men, would not give honorable impartial judgment, influenced solely by evidence, not sex prejudice.

2nd, That women would not perform their duty to the State honorably, because she was a woman, and the victim—if such he had proved to be—a man.

From a woman in such desperate straits, both insinuations are easily forgiven.

With what horror and indignation, however, would the Suffragists have cried out had the latter suggestion emanated from a man, or an avowed Anti! What occurs to me which should be emphasized, is either of these points.

It is that this young woman's wish is a commentary on the effect upon young, unthinking women, of the wholesale cries of the Suffragists of the injustice of men to women.

It is, too, a commentary on the constantly implied promises that—right or wrong—women would always be upheld and protected by women. A dangerous doctrine and one very hard to put in practice.

There are too many women in the world who could not be influenced by sex prejudice, to thrust from them all sense of justice, all honor, and all horror of sin.

Who do not cry out loudly at the sins of men, and who would not stand ready to excuse even the murder of one of them, by a woman.

The condoning of wrong in women—not only the errors of young girls—by the determination to place upon the vileness of all men the entire blame, and responsibility, is becoming a strong encouragement to young girls, to feel that the world will look upon them in every case as sinned against, not sinful.

A light and easy code of morals to instill into the brains of the thoughtless, ignorant, butterfly girls who are influenced by it all.

The following letter from the Woman's Protest and editorial from a recent issue of the N. Y. Mail admirably corroborate my contentions.

There is still another false doctrine being preached to young girls and that is—to quote one suffragist whom I heard talking to a crowd of them in Union Square—"that pretty clothes, silk stockings and jewelry are your birthright, and you should be able to have them on honest wages and you shall have them, but to do it you must help us fight."

Can any mature mind fail to grasp the disastrous double meaning which could be drawn from such declarations, by ignorant, foolish, vain children, for they were but little more, who applauded loudly and long?

REINA A. LAWRENCE.

"ALL WOMEN ARE 'VICTIMS.'"

To the Editor of The Woman's Protest:

Although I admire your reticence in regard to the Caminetti-Diggs case in California, I ask the courtesy of your columns to observe that those nineteen-year-old girls habitually went about with married men to dubious restaurants where they drank on motor rides, etc., and yet not one suggestion is made that their mothers should have known. No one would dare suggest it. Notice the verbs applied to the girls. They were "induced," "inveigled," "persuaded," "imposed" on, etc., etc., etc., and especially "allowed thmselves to believe" or "allowed themselves to be led." When I was a girl one was supposed to know something at nineteen—enough at least not to run off to Reno in broad daylight with a married man. If one did it, one at least knew that half the responsibility was one's own. Now isn't it? Suffragists each that all women are "victims."

A MAN, A WOMAN AND A CRIME.

If woman suffragists, as woman suffragists, are working for the suspension of the death sentence in the case of Bess Wakefield, convicted in Connecticut of complicity in her husband's murder, they are working straight against the foundation principles of woman suffrage.

Those principles proclaim the equality of women with men, and the sharing by women, on equal terms with men, of the responsibilities of citizens before the law.

Those principles flatly deny that any one should posses either privilege or immunity on the ground of sex.

It may be that public sentiment in Connecticut, revolted by the mere thought of a woman's appearance on the dreadful gallows, will claim and obtain the commutation of the sentence in Bess Wakefield's case. If it does, the demand will be based on the thought that a woman is something holier than a man, and her life something more sacred than his. But that is precisely the sentiment upon which a difference is made between men and women in the laws as they are now.

If a man had been the murderer Plew's deliberate accomplice in the commission of this crime, no such sentiment would have been aroused in his behalf.

Any legitimate plea, on the part of humane women, for the sparing of Bess Wakefield, is a plea for the abolition or discontinuance of the death penalty altogether. A plea based on that ground would meet with the sympathy of many thousands. But there is no good reason for the suspension of the sentence in her case, and its execution in the case of her accomplice, merely on the ground that she is a woman and he a man.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

HOME sewers always hesitate at the idea of making a coat. This season it is quite as easy as making a blouse as all the padding and stiffening of past seasons has been done away with. An interlining of lamb's wool or cotton flannel is all that is necessary, and this is for warmth alone.

7858 is a straight semi-fitting model with a smart little vest and an effective collar. This would be an excellent model for cloth or velvet trimmed with a contrasting material for vest and collar. A dull blue velvet, if one happened to have a skirt or dress to accompany it, with the collar and vest of white corduroy, would be smart. Tweed or serge could also be used to advantage.

To make this coat in size 36 it requires 2 yards of 42 inch material, with ⅞ of a yard of material for vest, collar and cuffs. The pattern is cut in five sizes, 34 to 42.

This Is a Perfect Pattern

Be sure to state right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Stencils For Christmas.

Are you contemplating a long Christmas list and a short pocketbook. Or a Christmas list longer than your pocketbook? If so learn how to stencil, for this simple craft, so easy to learn and so quickly accomplished in quite the most inexpensive way of decorating inexpensive materials, and making from them articles of real charm. To begin with the materials are few and cheap; a sheet of stencil board at ten cents or a sheet of heavy wrapping paper, oiled or varnished to keep it from absorbing the paint; and two or three ½-inch bristle brushes, cut off to within ¼-inch of their ferules; and a sheet of blotting paper. Artist tube, oil paints in the colors you wish to use come at about 10 cents each.

The two table-runners, shown in the illustration were stenciled on Russian crash, a heavy woven linen which can be bought at from 14 to 20 cents a yard at the household line counter. The conventional rose design might be carried out by stenciling the roses in two shades of yellow or old rose with the leaves in dull green or brown, while the tulip design might be stenciled in shades of red, yellow or pink and gray green. This pattern, 14299, includes 7 stencil designs, appropriate for use on table cover, runners, pillows, curtains, book covers, bags, desk sets, waste baskets, screens and many other Christmas Novelties. As a design when cut can be used innumerable times you will see how inexpensive you can make attractive gifts by using this pattern. Explicit directions for stenciling are given on the pattern envelope.

Pattern 14299 can be supplied to readers of the Daily Press for 15 cents.

REPORT UNION CO. CROPS POOR.

Elizabeth, Nov. 22.—The annual crop report submitted at the meeting of the Union County Board of Agriculture Thursday afternoon showed that crops as a whole were not as good in the county this year as last. The only notable exceptions were potatoes and apples. The reason for the poor crops was drought, according to the members. Dr. Frank A. Zucker, representing the Board of Trade, discussed the plan of establishing a city market here. The farmers said they would be pleased to support a market should it be established. Arrangements were made for the board's participation in the annual poultry show, to be held here next month.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SERVING PIGEONS.

SMALL fed pigeons are the best. Young pigeons have red flesh on the breast and flesh colored legs. Old pigeons are thin and the breast is dark.

Broiled Pigeons.—Clean and singe the pigeons as you would chickens. Split them down the back and flatten them. You can use a rolling pin for doing this. Wipe carefully and broil as you would a spring chicken.

Easily Digested.

Stewed Pigeons.—Clean the pigeons and truss by tying with a narrow strip of cloth. Lay thin slices of bacon in the bottom of the kettle, put in the pigeons and add a sliced carrot, an onion with a clove in it and two sprigs of parsley. Cover with some boiling stock and then put on the lid of the kettle. Simmer the pigeons until tender, and be sure that they are very tender. Serve each pigeon on a thin slice of buttered toast with a border of spinach.

Pigeon Pie.—Take one-half pound puff pastry, four pigeons, one-half pound lean beef, one-half pound lean ham, season and add water. Divide the pigeons into halves and stew these, with the beef and ham cut into pieces, until the pigeons are tender. Place these in a pie dish and cover with the pastry. Decorate the top with strips of pastry. Glaze with egg and cook for another three-quarters of an hour. Serve cold.

A Rich Dish.

Salmi of Pigeon.—Put a tablespoonful of butter into a saucepan. When melted add a couple of ounces of bacon cut into small dice, and let the whole fry for five minutes, adding a tablespoonful of flour. When the sauce is colored moisten it with half a pint of stock and a wineglassful of red wine. Boil the sauce, stirring constantly; season with pepper and salt, a little allspice, two cloves, and a bay leaf wrapped round a sprig of thyme. Then take two large pigeons, cut each into four pieces, put into the sauce, flavor with the thin rind of half a lemon and cook over a slow fire for half an hour. Take up the pigeons, set on a hot dish, strain the sauce and let boil. Arrange the pigeon in a circle, pour the sauce over and garnish with crescents of fried bread and slices of lemon. This dish is served very hot.

A Spider Spun a Web Around It.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Spider's Home For The Cocoons.

"OH, daddy," cried Evelyn as she heard the front door close, "come up here quickly, hurry. There is a huge spider in the room, and I am so frightened I don't know what to do!" Daddy hurried upstairs and found Jack trying to comfort Evelyn by telling her not to be a "fraid cat," but Evelyn refused to be comforted in such a way. When daddy reached the room he found her very near the door and as far from the window as possible. "There he is on the window sill, walking round and round with a piece of thread, and he is so big!"

"You know," said daddy after he had watched the spider for a moment, "when I was a little boy the one thing I was frightened of was a spider, so Jack mustn't make fun of you, for you see even little boys aren't always so very brave. One morning I got up very early to find some cocoons I thought were in the orchard. It took some time to find them, and I had to hurry back with them to the nursery before I could even find a box to put them in, as I knew I would be late at school if I stopped any longer. When noon came I hurried home as fast as I could, and what was my horror when I found an awful spider had begun to spin a web around my treasures. I was too afraid of the spider to take away the cocoons, and for several days I did not go near that part of the room, but I began to find he wasn't such a terrifying creature, after all, and I finally watched him with the greatest interest. He was a very hard worker, and when busy nothing could disturb him. His web grew and grew and looked very fine when it was finished. In a day or so he brought his family to their new home, and meantime the cocoons were sleeping peacefully underneath. In time they turned out to be the most beautiful butterflies and evidently had enjoyed their home with the spider, for they looked so flourishing.

"After that I was never again afraid of spiders, for I realized they were very industrious, and, best of all, they were so hospitable to the cocoon family.

"There are a great many different kinds of spiders, and all of them are interesting. Wherever we go we seem to find their webs, and you can tell by the kind of web the sort of spider that made it."

Evelyn was so delighted to find that daddy had once been afraid of a spider that she began to loose her fear, and she walked nearer and nearer to the spider, watching him carefully as he was building.

"And now you're not afraid any more," said daddy, "are you?"

"No," Evelyn cheerfully replied.

Jack beamed with pride at his sister's courage. "I'm not afraid of spiders," he said.

Statements That May Be Investigated—Testimony of Plainfield Citizens.

When a Plainfield citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Plainfield resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Albert Naylor, musician, 256 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I took Doan's Kidney Pills, as I was told that they were good for such troubles and by the time I had finished two boxes, I was feeling better in every way. I have often recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to people I have heard complaining of kidney trouble."

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney troubles, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

Plainfield Knights of Columbus bowlers and the pinners from Montclair were swept from their double perch on the top rung last night when the Newark and Bayley Council quintets played the first series of games on their schedules, opening with a big flourish and annexing all three of the combats at the expense of Elizabeth and Star Bethlehem representatives respectively.

Although the Star Bethlehem five dropped a trio of contests it increased its high score average from 799 to 839. Besides starting off with a triple victory the Newark Knights came within an ace of equalling the record for high score established by Elizabeth during the early part of the league schedule.

BAYLEY COUNCIL OPENS WITH A WIN

Elizabeth Knights of Columbus Leaguers Swamped by Rival Pinners.

Bayley Council, of Elizabeth, and Elizabeth Council were both represented in the Knights of Columbus League bowling match last night on the alleys of the "Tabs" in Elizabeth. The Bayley five captured three games in a row. It was opening night, and Martin B. O'Connor, grand knight of Bayley Council, rolled the first ball. The Bayleys finished well in front in each contest, the closest being the first, which went to Bayley by twenty-eight pins. Moran had 201 for Bayley and Sellers an even 200. Doughlin was high for Elizabeth with 205. The scores:

SECOND HALF SPURT WON FOR CHAPELITES

Nine Points Scored in the Second Half Against None in the First Period.

A junior basketball team known as the Somerset Field Club and hailing from the wilds of Canada was defeated in the Hope Chapel gym this morning by the Boys' Club aggregation, the latter team winning out by a margin of two points, the final count being 9 to 7.

At the end of the first period of play the visitors held a 4 to 0 advantage, wto goals by Townley being the only scoring that was done in this stanza.

ELIZABETH Y. M. C. A. BASKETBALL TEAM WILL PLAY LOCALS TONIGHT

A triple program of basketball is on the card for followers of the court game in this city and Scotch Plains tonight and the contests should all prove to be highly interesting affairs for the spectators. On the Y. M. C. A. floor the Plainfield and Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. quintets will clash in their annual battle which will be preceded by a preliminary game with the Grace Church boys and the Plainfield High School freshmen five as opponents.

During the last three years the Plainfield association has managed to maintain its supremacy over the Betsytown basketeers in fast and unusually hard fought battles and the visitors are coming here tonight primed to wipe out these defeats. Three of the players who appeared on the local court last year and the season previous to last will be here tonight and a hard tussle is looked forward to by the Plainfield five.

Captain Brynairski, of the Y. M. C. A., has announced a shakeup in his team's ranks and several new faces will probably appear tonight. It was expected that the team would appear in its new uniforms tonight, but the goods have been delayed in arriving and will not be here before the New York University game on Thanksgiving night.

The lineups for tonight:

PLAINFIELD.	ELIZABETH.
Moulton	Powers-Ford
forward
McNamee	Van Ness-Roll
forward
Gavett	Prestwick
centre
Brynairski	Kelley
guard
Farmer-Buckle	Breckner-VanArsdale
guard

The preliminary game at the Y. M. C. A. will be started at 8:15 o'clock and will be followed immediately by the big contest.

Hope Chapel Program.

Manager Leighs, of the Hope Chapel five, has booked the fast Circle Five, of Newark, to do battle against his warriors on the Chapel court in the main game and the preliminary will be taken care of by the Hope Chapel second team and the Mt. Pleasant junior boys. The Circle Five is the same aggregation that played against the Y. M. C. A. last Saturday night and was defeated by the locals after a stiff scrap.

The teams will lineup as follows:

HOPE CHAPEL.	NEWARK.
T. Heron	Rubin
forward
J. Heron	Fagan
forward
J. Doig	Silvers
Snyder	Menke
guard
Leighs	J. Fagan
guard

Scotch Plains' Bill.

A team representing the Grace Church, of this city, will open its season's basketball schedule on the Parish House court tonight, playing the Scotch Plains Parish House five. Although no definite announcement has been made it is rumored that the Grace Church combination will be made up of old High School stars. The preliminary game will be played between the Parish House second team and some other junior quintet.

CONTEST A FAST ONE

In Saengerbund Hall last night, the North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team was defeated by the Y. W. C. A. first team in a fast and exciting contest. The final score was 25 to 16. As has been the case in all of the former games that the borough team has played the opposing forwards were very tall and when they received the ball could shoot with ease.

Helen George and Nettie Steiner, the two forwards who played for the Alumni two weeks ago, were the mainstays of the association team and they made the entire twenty-five points between them.

In the first half the borough girls held their own and through the brilliant shooting of Marjorie Burtis managed to keep within one point of their opponents. In this period Miss Burtis scored four field goals and one foul and the referee awarded her a point when she was fouled while attempting to shoot a goal.

In the second half the forwards of the visiting team started to make their shots count for points and Miss George netted five field goals and two fouls. Miss Steiner again secured a brace of baskets.

INDIVIDUAL AND TEAM AVERAGES FOR THE WEEK IN ELKS' LEAGUE

Elks' League averages compiled for the week of bowling that ended Thursday night, when two games were rolled placed Newark at the head of the ten-team league for another week and Paterson is still hanging on as a runner-up. During the week Starr, of the New York team, smashed the high score mark of the league by polling 268 against Newark, Thursday night. Starr's team also came within four pins of equalling the team high score mark that has been coveted by Newark all season.

The Newark bowlers lead the league in percentage, average and high score and have been the top-notchers in all three departments for two successive weeks. Delehanty, a new man on the Jersey City quintet, did some good pinning against Elizabeth, Thursday night, and raised himself to first place. Clauss is still the rightful holder of the top rung title, however, with a mark of 192.12. Weingarth is second to the New Brunswick captain, although a good margin separates the two.

Captain Francis Blatz, of the Plainfield pinners, rose from eleventh to eighth place in the individual standing and still leads the Plainfield "Hello Bills" in the race of individual honors. Nash came up one place. Campbell sank two rungs below his last week's standard; Kiely went down two notches and Stout went down to the half century mark and still holds the low water mark for Plainfield pinners.

CORNELL QUINTET BEAT THE SOLDIERS

New Market Public School League Games Are Proving Highly Interesting.

Interest continues to wax warm in the New Market Public School College Basketball League and yesterday afternoon's schedule resulted in a victory for the Cornell combination over the Army by a score of 8 to 2. As was the case in the opening battle the scoring was light and the word of the guards a prominent feature.

Captain Nelson was the whole show for the winning side, ringing a trio of field goals, while Stadill got the solitary two point counter for his soldiers. Jesse Neff is coaching the league teams and is meeting with marked success in the new line of work he has introduced into the New Market School activities.

In the second half Captain McDonough tried out some promising substitutes and they all held their own during the final period. In this half the Marathons were a little stronger in their team work but failed to make their shots count. TRIPLE VICTORY FOR NEWARK K. OF C. FIVE Star Bethlehem Quintet Beaten Three Times in A Row.

Star of Bethlehem and Newark Council teams met in a Knights of Columbus League bowling match at the Columbus Club alleys last night and the Newark five recorded a triple victory. The first game was the closest, the Newarks, with 879, winning by forty pins. In the next game the Newarks jumped to 929 and won handily, the margin of victory being nearly 200 pins. The third contest was also easy for the Newark team, the Bethlehem quintet stopping at 700, while Newark accounted for 876. Sullivan had a count of 222 for the winners and Barkhorn and Farrell each had 213. The scores:

TWO COURT GAMES IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

White and Red Representatives Defeat Rivals in Color League Contests.

Red and White were the predominating colors in the Y. M. C. A. junior department's league activities yesterday afternoon, the Red quintet beating the Green basketeers by a score of 19 to 2 and the Orange players tasting a 14 to 12 defeat at the hands of the Whites.

The White and Orange struggle was by the most interesting of the two, the rivals playing a nip and tuck contest from whistle to whistle and were separated at the finish of the game by the scant margin of one field goal.

FOOTBALL NOTES

Pennock, who has been playing right guard for Harvard all the year, has switched to left guard in practice, on the defense.

The Dartmouth dummy is in ashes, and the little "Big Green" team has closed one of the greatest seasons in football history at Hanover.

For the third consecutive time the University of Maine eleven has won the Maine State championship, by defeating Colby, Bowdoin and Bates.

HOPE JUNIOR BOYS ORGANIZE LEAGUE

Two Basketball Games Decided in the College League on Hope Court.

As an incentive to athletic competition in the Hope chapel boys' club, Supervisor Cubberly has organized a College League which will be operated on a similar basis to the one now being conducted in the Y. M. C. A. junior department. Basketball will be one of the features of the organization and a schedule of games has been drawn up for the rival teams which was inaugurated yesterday afternoon.

In the opening contest of the league Amherst defeated Dartmouth by the close count of 29 to 27. Porter and Anderson were the leading scorers for Amherst while Hunter, Campbell and Sims did good work for the Dartmouth color bearers.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF THE ROPED ARENA

Morris Sure He Is Gunboat Smith's Superior.

ATTELL TO MEET KILBANE.

Irish Mahon, Clever Newark Fighter, Sure to Make His Mark in the Ring. Fitzsimmons Says He'll Go to Top. Two Handed Fighter With Speed.

While Gunboat Smith may enjoy the reputation of being the best white heavyweight fighter in the world, there is one man who hasn't a very high opinion of his ability, and as he is the man who had him on the run at Madison Square Garden he may be justified in all the derogatory things he says about the gunner. The man is Carl Morris, the big Oklahoma fighter, who was disqualified for fouling Smith in the fifth round of their recent fight, when it looked as if the latter was a very much beaten man.

Morris is not a Willie Ritchie in the handling of his English, but he has excellent control, and what he says hits the mark. If there was anything he said which didn't quite meet our approval he got away with it because—well, Carl is 237 pounds of fighting material—that's all. If any one has any doubt as to his power all he need do is to sit and watch him for a few minutes. His every little motion denotes almost superhuman power.

"Did you foul Smith as the referee claims you did?" was the first query we fired at him.

"I may have done so, but if I did it was unintentional. But I don't believe I did. I just believe that Smith quit cold. He couldn't stand up under the grueling he was getting. I was hurting him, and the reason I know it was because every time I hit him in the stomach he let out a grunt that could not be measured with a 100 foot measure.

"I have got Smith's number, and if he ever meets me again I will stop him in seven rounds. He could not have gone two rounds more that evening he met me, and he found the easiest way out. I took the best punch he had, and other than shake me up a bit it did not damage. As the fight grew older he was weakening. I could feel it. He was just a boy in my hands at the period when the referee stopped it.

"Now about a foul. Let me tell you that if a man is fouled, as Smith claims I fouled him, he'll do no circling around the ring as he did in his little acting stunt. He'll drop right in his tracks. As a fighter Smith is a fine actor, and he's a bum actor at that."

Irish Mahon, the clever Newark (N. J.) featherweight, has been the subject of much comment of late, and very justly so, because of his rapid disposal of strong opponents.

Bob Fitzsimmons is a judge of scrappers, we all know, and the first time he saw the lad perform he said, "That boy will get to the top as sure as two and two make four."

IRISH MAHON.

Mahon is a two handed fighter, with a flash of speed that proves very disconcerting.

Abe Attell, the former featherweight champion of the world, will have a chance to regain his lost laurels. After two years of patient waiting and persistent challenging the crafty Attell has finally coaxed Johnny Kilbane, the present champion, to meet him in a twenty round battle on Washington's birthday before Jimmy Coffroth's club in San Francisco. It was on the same day in 1912 that Kilbane won the title from Attell after twenty rounds of boxing at Vernon, Cal.

MARVELOUSLY REALISTIC FIRE SCENE IN THE SPECTACLE "AMERICA" AT NEW YORK HIPPODROME

THANKSGIVING.

seek some remedy for the mighty evil which threatens to destroy our country. But let it be well understood we may exhaust ourselves in eloquent appeals to man's and to woman's sense of right, bu tas long as our ruling in the marriafe question stops short of God's ruling, nothing whatever has been accomplished. There is only one platform and that is Christ's: "What God has joined let no man put asunder."

"Till death do us part," so runs the marriage troth. Of the twin offspring of irresponsible education, socialism and anarchy, thoughtful Americans irrespective of religious belief are but too anxiously aware.

We all are heirs of immortal principles that give us reasons for celebrating real Thanksgiving Days, the principles of reverence for authority, whether civil or religious, because all legitimate authority comes from God; reverence for motherhood and the sacred ties of family, because Christ has said, "What God has joined let no man put asunder;" reverence for the child, because he has a right which no State and no law can rob him of the right to know from his earliest years that the only way to be ever true to his country is to be ever true to his God. So seeing our successes and watchful against threatening dangers we offer in union with our fellow Americans our heartfelt gratitude. "We give Thee thanks, Eternal God and Father, thro' our Lord Jesus Christ, for all the blessings of the year now drawing to a close, for the continued prosperity, for the boon of liberty, for the era of good feeling which is existing among our citizens. Watch over, bless and protect our beloved country; draw all our brethren, within and without the fold, to know Thee more, to love Thee more, that we may all adore Thy divine majesty, thank Thy divine bounty and obey Thy holy rule, our God forevermore."

Grant to our beloved country this trinity of preserving influences:

"Unswerving truth,"
"Commercial honesty,"
"Social purity."

CARRIED MESSAGE TO MR. BRYAN FOR MEXICAN CONSTITUTIONALISTS

REV DR H ALLEN TUPPER

General Venustiano Carranza, commander-in-chief of the Mexican constitutionalists, has sent to William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, through Dr. Henry Allen Tupper, a representative of the International Peace Forum, a message requesting the recognition of the constitutionalist cause and the lifting of the embargo on arms and ammunition.

The constitutionalists, not having had any official correspondence with the United States government, gave the message to Dr. Tupper with the knowledge that it would be transmitted to Mr. Bryan and convey a final official declaration of their position.

ADVERTISE All Your Wants, To Let, For Sale, Boards, Personals, etc., in The DAILY PRESS. 1c A WORD

Broadway's Boards

Announcement is now made that Grace George is to appear in a new play, opening in New York before the holidays. Miss George has begun rehearsals of her new play which was written for her by Avery Hopwood, author of "Seven Days," "Clothes," and "Nobody's Widow." The new play is entitled "Miss Jenny O'Jones," and is a rollicking comedy of the most lightsome sort. In it Miss George has a role in marked contrast to the one of Lady Lillian of "Half An Hour," the pitiable bit of aristocracy which the ungentle Parrie uses to display his irony. known as America's foremost comedienne Grace George's acting in this bitter fifty minutes of life unveiled, won her a lavishness of praise from those same critics who have always welcomed her in roles more pleasant and void of this tensity of tragedy. Her return to comedy is now eagerly awaited by all those who find such a delight in the finesse and gracefulness of her comedy portrayals. The play-going public congratulates itself upon the opportunity of seeing Grace George in two interpretations in one season. Miss George with her own company in "Miss Jenny O'Jones" will open Thanksgiving week in William A. Brady's Playhouse, Wilmington, Del., and immediately come in for a New York season.

Figures never lie, they say, though the press agent may, but he does not when he asserts that there's a laugh every time the clock ticks during the performance of Edgar Selwyn's screaming farce "Nearly Married," in which the only Bruce McRae is to be seen. Someone has said that "Nearly Married" at the Gaiety "Tickles the funny-bone of the universe." It is but another of the many Cohan & Harris triumphs which keep the "S. R. O." sign out for a year at least before being taken from the Broadway boards. A tip to the ladies—the Wednesday matinees are at popular prices which means that seats range from fifty cents to one dollar and a half for the very choicest. Matinees twice weekly, evening performances at 8:30.

Life is not worth living without seeing George M. Cohan's thrilling mystery farce "Seven Keys to Baldpate," admitted to be the greatest success of the season. The woman reporter holds the third key and traps the plotters. It keeps you on the excitement bench throughout.

New York's theatrical sensation, Potash & Perlmutter, at the George M. Cohan Theatre, is playing to capacity houses and seats are on sale for eight weeks ahead, including Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's. The stupendous success now in its fourth month has attracted more favorable comment and has caused more laughs to the minute than any show on Broadway. It is an up-to-date garment in three pieces specially designed from the Saturday Evening Post stories of Montague Glass. Evenings at 8:15 and matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:15. The Wednesday matinees are popular price shows. If you want to see a rattling good play and be made to forget all your business troubles see Potash & Perlmutter—they drive away care. Enclose money order when seeking seats by mail.

Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger have another sensational success in "The Little Cafe" at the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York. Written by C. M. S. McLellan, with music by Ivan Caryll, who were responsible for "Oh! Oh! Delphine" and "The Pink Lady," it takes its position as by far the most notable musical comedy production of the year. The New York newspapers greeted it in the same way as did the newspapers of Philadelphia. As the New York Sun puts it, "'The Little Cafe' is the latest of a trinity of wonderfully beautiful and entertaining musical plays which has done so much since the first of the series was seen and heard to contribute to the gayety of this nation." The conservative New York Evening Post, incidental to a very enthusiastic review, said: "When a musical comedy has an intelligent plot, bright dialogue, lyrics which mean something, music that is tuneful and catchy, a good company who can sing, act and dance and a comely and well-dressed chorus, its success seems certain. All this is true of 'The Little Cafe.'"

Elsie Ferguson appeared in a new comedy by William Hurlbut, "The Strange Woman," at the Lyceum Theatre this week, under the management of Klaw & Erlanger. Miss Ferguson's support includes Charles D. Waldron, Alphonz Ethier, Georgie Drew Mendum, Mrs. Felix Morris, Sarah McVickar, Sara von Leer, Frances Whitehouse, Annie Buckle, Lois Frances Clark, Hugh Dillman and Otto F. Hoffman.

Forbes-Robertson made his first appearance in New York as Shylock in Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice" at the Shubert Theatre last evening with Miss Gertrude Elliott as Portia. He made his first production of "The Merchant of Venice" in Manchester, England, in 1906, but he did not appear in London as Shylock until last spring, during his London farewell season at the Drury Lane Theatre. Forbes-Robertson's programme for the other nights of the week includes "Hamlet," on Monday and Wednesday evenings; "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," followed by "The Sacrament of Judas," on Tuesday and Saturday nights; "Mice and Men," on Thursday night, and the first matinee performance of "The Light That Failed," on Saturday afternoon. "The Merchant of Venice" will be repeated on November 25.

The Universal Bugbear

The London bobby, born big and strong,
Keeps cautious eye as he goes along
On each feminine thing in the busy street,
Lest the maid or the matron he may meet
Will pull on him a bag of tricks
Or perchance a couple of hidden bricks,
And he mutters as on he fumes and frets,
"Plague take these bloomin' suffragettes!"

The ministers of high degree
In stately British dignity,
On either side they look askance,
Lest they perform a nimble dance
To sidestep some insistent dame
With oratory all aflame
And sigh, "Upon my nerves this gets—What's brewing with the suffragettes?"

E'en kingly George and stately May
Cannot in this have royal way;
But, with their spirits much disturbed
At thought of acts which can't be curbed,
Come out in state to take the air,
But ever have a stealthy care
As each of each they ask, "As yet
Have you perceived a suffragette?"

OUR BULWARKS CLERIC'S THEME

Rev. Dr. Chas. M. Anderson Discoures on the Nation's Heritages.

BEFORE JR. O. U. A. M.

In the Bible, the Church, the School and the Home Are America's Salvation—Four Local Councils Attend Special Service.

Naming the Holy Bible, the Christian church, the public school, and other institutions of education and the home as the bulwark of the nation, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, the pastor at the First M. E. church, last night, delivered an instructive discourse to a large congregation, including members of Franklin, Somerset, Benevolent and Plainfield Councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M. The subject of the sermon was "Bulwarks of Our Heritage," and in mentioning those things which are helpful to mankind, the clergyman denounced Mormonism and its attending practice of polygamy, the liquor trade and the divorce evil. Advising the men to guard their homes, he said during his discourse, "When a serpent in the form of man enters your home to degrade and destroy it, put your heel on him and crush him; hold him down until sun-set and then he will lie still in death."

After welcoming the lodge members to the church Rev. Dr. Anderson said in part: "There are certain bulwarks set to protect our temple of American citizenship and we will be safe and will prosper while that protection exists. Our nation is young in comparison with the rest of the world but we have forged ahead until now we have taken the lead in the great work of uplifting mankind. Stirred with a spirit of patriotism and a desire to serve our country we often wonder if the cititzens of other and older nations enjoy that same sentiment.

"One of the bulwarks, and the first bulwarks of this and other countries, is the Holy Bible—one of mystery and inspiration coming from God, and a library of books bound between two covers the contents of which has furnished light for the whole world. Although some have told us that the revelations of science and the teachings of the Bible conflict, the leading twentieth century scientists and Biblical scholars tell us that there is a happy harmony between the Bible and scientific discoveries. The laws of this and other great countries are based on the morals of God contained in the Old Testament, and the spirituality and morality found in the Bible are the contributing cause to the great awakening in Japan where the natives are forsaking their old beliefs and finding salvation in the Christian religion.

In speaking of the public school system the preacher asserted that one-fifth of the population of the United States is attending a public institution of learning. He said the one great benefit of the schools is the high character of the teachers and instructors who by their influence morally and spiritually are establishing the foundation for the future of the country. "The schools are the strongest bulwarks of our heritage," the speaker continued, "and we should not be afraid to add a little religion to the system. The Bible should be read in our schools and thereby exert a good influence among the future citizens.

"The home is another great bulwark of our country. To the home the man goes to rest after his day of toil, but unfortunately we have one menace to the happiness and welfare of the home which is greater than all others and that is the liquor traffic. I am the friend of every man who deals in liquor in this city and the rest of the country. I would help him and love him, but while I shake his hand and I declare to you that I am the friend of all men, I swear eternal enmity to the liquor business. It is harmful to the bulwark of our happiness and I see it only as an enemy of all that is good."

In closing Rev. Dr. Anderson told of a movement being made to have the Constitution of the United States amended so as to prohibit the manufacture and transportation of liquor in this country.

THANKSGIVING MUSIC AT THE 1ST BAPTIST

Inspiring Service is Attended by a Large Congregation.

The quartet and chorus choir of the First Baptist church gave a musical service appropriate to Thanksgiving at the church, last night. The edifice was filled with worshippers. After an organ prelude, "Adoration" from "The Holy City," Gaul, and "Pastorale," MacDowell, the choir sang "Festival Te Deum," by Buck.

Following the responsive Scripture reading, the choir sang the anthem, "He Sendeth the Springs Into the Valley," by Wareing, in both of which selections the soloists and chorus had an excellent opportunity to display their careful training.

The baritone solo and chorus from "The Holy City" was one of the features, William Holmes, baritone, being heard in the solo part. His singing was delightful and the anthem was particularly effective with the chorus accompaniment. Miss Elizabeth St. Ives, soprano and Miss Leontine de Ahna, contralto, gave an effective rendition of "Agnus Dei" from the Requiem, by Verdi, with the assistance of the chorus, their rich voices blending in perfect harmony.

Miss St. Ives sang the offertory number following the sermon, a selection by Buck, in which she had an excellent opportunity to display the wide range and sweetness of her voice. The services closed with a postlude, "Jubilate Deo," by Silver.

MISS KATHRYN N. REED NOW MRS. RAYMOND KLINE

Miss Kathryn Nettleship Reed, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Jennings, of Warrenville, and Raymond Thomas Kline, of this city, were quietly married at the rectory of the Church of the Holy Cross on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. William S. McCoy. Only the immediate families of the couple were present. The bride, who is the only daughter of Mrs. Alfred Jennings, was given in marriage by her step-father, Alfred J. Jennings.

Many beautiful presents were received by the bride, including money, silver, furniture and cut glass. Mr. and Mrs. Kline will reside at Somerset street with Mr. Kline's mother until the first of next year, after which they will reside in Warrenville.

MISS FANNIE FUZO DIES AT HER FANWOOD HOME

Miss Fannie Tuzo, daughter of Captain Benjamin Tuzo, died yesterday morning at her home on Terrill road, Fanwood, after a long illness. She was a native of New York, and had lived at Fanwood with her father ever since he retired as a sea captain a number of years ago. Two brothers also survive.

Miss Tuzo was a member of All Saints' Episcopal church, Fanwood, and interested in the work of the Ladies' Aid Society. The funeral service will be held at the late home, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, this city, will officiate.

EDMUND F. BORMAN DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Following a long illness, Edmund Friedrich Borman, of 317 East Second street, died yesterday morning. He was born in Coontown on Sept. 20, 1885, and lived there for many years. Since coming to Plainfield he has been an active member of St. Peter's German Lutheran church. He was a plumbing contractor. He took an active interest in church affairs. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Borman, five brothers and two sisters survive. They are Julius, Charles, Benjamin, Elmer and John Borman, and Mrs. Francis Johnson and Miss Dora Borman.

Funeral services will be held at his late home tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Rev. Conrad F. E. Blunk, pastor of St. Peter's church, will officiate. Interment will be made Wednesday morning at Coontown.

CAESARIAN OPERATION.

One of the most successful operations for Caesarian section recorded in local surgical annals was performed in the new maternity ward of Muhlenberg Hospital, last night, the physician being Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of the borough. Both she and her baby, a fine healthy boy, were doing splendidly at noon today. The percentage of Caesarian operations in which both patients survive is very small and Dr. Buchanan's feat has brought him many warm congratulations.

'TUMMY' ACHES BY WHOLESALE

Epidemic of Abdominal Pains Follows a Scotch Plains Turkey Supper.

MANY ARE RETICENT

Reporter Finds It Hard to Get the Facts But It Is Stated That at Least Fifty Were Sufferers.—All Will Recover.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Scotch Plains Memorial parish house gave a turkey supper Friday night, and 250 persons partook heartily of the viands spread before them. Between the time the affair took place and Saturday afternoon, something like fifty persons who had shared in the feasting were sized with griping abdominal pains and other symptoms savoring of ptomaine poisoning, many of those affected needing the services of a physician. The epidemic area included all Scotch Plains and Fanwood, and for a time there was quite a flurry of excitement spread over the township until it was learned that no one was in a serious condition.

All of the fifty or more complaining of after effects had eaten turkey and the amateur Hawkshaws who pussyfooted about to learn the cause of the trouble placed the blame on the broad backs of the Thanksgiving birds served up at the supper. When a Daily Press reporter sought to confirm the report today, indignant denials were made by the fair women who had arranged the affair and superintended the serving of white and dark meat.

"It's ridiculous for anyone to suggest that our turkey caused any illness," said one of them; "the meat was perfectly all right in every way and I think I know good turkey when I see it."

She admitted directly afterward, however, that she did not know where the birds came from or that she had examined the portions closely, not having eaten any herself.

Several members of the family of John Z. Hatfield, of Stout avenue, Scotch Plains, were among those suffering severely and Charles Nielson of Fanwood, put in a bad stretch from Friday night until today. There were many others who regretted dining out but loyalty to the auxiliary put a chill on their vocal organs when the Daily Press man besought them to speak. Dr. F. W. Westcott, of Fanwood, pooh-poohed the idea of wholesale poisoning.

HIS NOVEL EXCUSE GETS HIM A SUSPENDED SENTENCE

When arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Dominick LaVergia, of Cottage place, Samuel Hunt, colored, of East Third street, gave a novel excuse for his presence in the complainant's yard at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. He said that earlier in the evening he was accompanied by Albert Cook, colored, whom he gave a new overcoat and a quantity of meat to hold, while he went into a West Front street to make other purchases. Hunt said that while he was in the establishment, Cook disappeared with his articles. The defendant claimed he was looking for Cook's house when discovered on LaVergia's property. Judge DeMeza rendered a suspended sentence of $20 or 60 days in the county jail.

MISSIONARY SEWING MEETING.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold a sewing meeting tomorrow morning and in the afternoon will hold the meeting adjourned from last week. Mrs. Martin I. Cooley will lead the devotional service and Mrs. Charles H. Smith will present a paper on "Sources and Character of Immigration From the Revolution to the Civil War."

COHN TO SPEAK HERE.

Joseph Cohn, son of former Rabbi Leopold Cohn, of Brooklyn, will speak at the mid-week meeting at the First Baptist church, Wednesday night, telling of twenty years of phenomenal work among the 300,000 Jews in Brooklyn, and on Sundayg afternoon, Noveber 30, at 4 o'clock, he will speak at a union service to be held at the same church.

THANKSGIVING DAY SERVICE.

Thanksgiving Day services will be held at the Crescent Avenue church Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock, when Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie will preach the sermon. The congregations of the Congregational and Seventh-day Baptist churches will join in this service. The offering will be given to the Charity Organization Society.

BOARD MEETS TONIGHT.

The North Plainfield Board of Education will meet tonight in its room in the Somerset School building.

ITS THANK OFFERING AMOUNTED TO $1,700

Novel Method Used at Monroe Avenue M. E. Church to Raise a Fund.

"Thank Offering Day" was observed at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, yesterday, both morning and evening, when a total of $1,700 was raised toward the beneficences and regular expenses. The sum was secured in a somewhat unique manner. A picture of a large mountain was displayed on the platform and as the varoius amounts were contributed portions of the mountain were washed off the canvas. When the mountain had entirely disappeared, there was brought to view a picture of a sailing yacht representing "clear sailing."

The picture of the yacht was loaned for the occasion by a friend of the church living in Brooklyn, it being a faithful reproduction of his yacht which won the big race from New York to Bermuda some time ago.

Rev. Frederic J. Hubach, pastor of the church, was in charge of the services, preaching morning and evening, and the Cantata Chorus was present, singing two anthems in the morning and parts of the cantata, "Daniel," in the evening. Mrs. Richard Gilbert, soprano, and Louis V. Tallamy, baritone, taking the solo parts. Walter M. McGee, superintendent of the Sunday-school, was in charge of the program when the fund was obtained.

LEAPED FROM AUTO AND ESCAPED DEATH

Plainfielders Have Narrow Escape But Their Car is Wrecked by Locomotive.

Returning from a day's automobile tour late yesterday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Storm, John Storm and H. A. Weber, all of this city, had a narrow escape from being struck by an express train on the West Shore Railroad crossing at Dumont. They leaped from the car out of the path of the train bearing down upon them. The driver of the automobile had slowed up his machine at the crossing as a freight train was passing through given the signal to go ahead by the flagman on duty at the time.

Upon passing the slowly moving freight the occupants of the car saw the express swooping down upon them and all leaped from the auto to the roadbed an instance before the train smashed the car to hundreds of pieces.

JOHN G. SCHWARTZ DIES AGED NINETY-FOUR YRS.

John G. Schwartz, aged 94 years, a widely-known resident of Martinsville, died of the infirmities of old age at his home at that place, last night. During his earlier days he was engaged in farming at Martinsville, but for several years has been retired. He removed from Brooklyn to Martinsville. He was a communicant of St. Joseph's R. C. church, Bound Brook, where the funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Mr. Schwartz is survived by two sons, John and George Schwartz, of Martinsville, and four daughters, the Misses Theresa and Clara Schwartz, of West Front street, this city; Miss Elizabeth Schwartz, who lives at home and Mrs. James C. Keegan, of New York city.

"RIDING A VIRGINIA CIRCUIT."

Rev. Dr. George C. Wilding, of Perth Amboy, will give his lecture, "Riding a Virginia Circuit," with which he is familiar, in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church, Friday evening at 8o'clock. The affair will be under the auspices of the Brotherhood and all members of the church and congregation are invited. Refreshments will be served after the lecture.

TAX HEARING IN TRENTON.

A hearing on the North Plainfield tax matters will be held tomorrow at Trenton, before the State Board of Taxation. Mayor Clark, several borough councilmen and Major Carl Lentz, who is the legal representative of the borough, will be in attendance. Other borough representatives will also make arguments before the Board.

LAWS FOR WOMEN.

The Current Event Circle of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel, tomorrow afternoon, at 3:15 o'clock. Reuben Knox will give an informal talk on "Laws Relating to Women and Children in New Jersey," and Judge Irwin, probation officer for Union county, will speak on the "Juvenile Court."

BEGS TO LEARN WHERE WIFE IS

Betrayer Tells Husband That Mrs. Thomas Wilson Can Be Located Here.

AFTER LONG SEARCH

For More Than a Year He Had Hunted Her and Gets Clue When He Causes Arrest of Isaac Nevins.

After seeking his wife for more than a year, Thomas Wilson, a wealthy saloon keeper of 271 Bowery, New York, appeared in the Fifth street police station, Saturday, and sobbed as he pleaded with a man who had taken her away from him to tell where he could find his wife. With the wife also was stolen, he says, $214. Wilson promised to forgive everything for one word if his wife's whereabouts.

Finally the prisoner, Isaac Nevins, who said he lived at 153 East Twenty-third street, told Wilson that his wife was in Plainfield, and without losing any more time ran from the police station to start for this city.

The whereabouts of Mrs. Wilson here is not known and inquiry has failed to reveal where she is living. Wilson and Nevins were close friends and their wives were much together. A year ago Wilson left his place in charge of Nevins while he attended to some business and when he returned discovered that his friend had fled with Mrs. Wilson and $214 was missing.

The loss of his money, the betrayal of his confidence by his friend were as nothing as compared to the loss of his wife, to whom Wilson was madly devoted. Every effort has been made to locate the missing woman but without result. Recently, Nevins appeared at the home of Mrs. Rubin, 75 Third avenue, where the Wilsons lived, in search of a fur coat belonging to Mrs. Wilson, and in that way, trace of the missing pair was found, and the arrest of Nevins followed.

A complaint of grand larceny was preferred against Nevins by Wilson and all the way to the police station he pleaded with the former to tell him where his wife was. Everything would be forgiven, he said, for this information. In the station, Nevins finally told his that she was in Plainfield, and Wilson hastened at once for this city. Whether he found his wife, is not known.

RHETA CHILDE DORR WILL MAKE ADDRESS

Mrs. Rheta Childe Dorr, sister-in-law of Mrs. R. Russell Dorr, formerly of this city, will speak at the sale of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield to be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers on East Seventh street. The proceeds from the sale will be used to carry on the work of the league.

Mrs. Rheta Childe Dorr.

THANKSGIVING DAY SERVICE.

Thanksgiving Day services will be held at Holy Cross church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. William S. McCoy, the rector, will preach an appropriate sermon. There will be special music and the edifice will be elaborately decorated.

TO GIVE A SONG RECITAL.

Mrs. Richard Mather Boardman, of 915 Madison avenue, has issued invitations to a song recital to be given at her home Thursday afternoon, December 4, at 3:30 o'clock. The recital will be given by Mrs. Mansur Bradford Oakes.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 43 degrees; 11 a. m., 44 degrees; 1 p. m., 43 degrees.

RASORES TO MEET.

The Rasores will meet tomorrow morning with Mrs. H. G. Phillips, at Kensington and Prospect avenues.

ELLIS ROSENBERG ACCUSED AS THIEF

Freight House Night Watchman Held in Bail by City Judge.

That Ellis Rosenberg, of East Third street, night watchman at the Jersey Central freight house has been systematically stealing goods consigned to local merchants is the charge made by Railroad Detective Charles Laverette, who appeared as complainant this morning against Rosenberg who was arrested Saturday night charged with larceny. The complaint specifically accuses the prisoner of the theft of a bag of flour, a pair of trousers, a loin of pork and some china articles, all valued at $25, on Sept. 2 and 12, and Nov. 23. Represented by former Judge William Newcorn, Rosenberg waived examination and was held in the sum of $200 to await the Grand Jury's action.

Many complaints have been lodged with the railroad authorities because of missing articles from cases which were handled through the local freight house. When the looting continued Detective Lavarette was assigned to the case and immediately laid a trap. Working as a freight hand he watched the employes at the local house. He claims he secured evidence against Rosenberg, and ordered his arrest.

Among those who have lost goods is Morris Abrams, the local shoe dealer. From a case of twelve pairs of shoes, three pairs were found missing on a recent shipment.

EAST END CHURCH MAY CALL REV. MR. KELDER

The Consistory of the Netherwood Reformed church at a meeting yesterday decided to call a congregational meeting for Wednesday night to consider a proposition of extending a call to Rev. Edward Kelder of Coytesville, Bergen county, to succeed Rev. Royal A. Stout, as pastor of the church. Mr. Kelder has preached at the church and last Wednesday night he had charge of the prayer meeting. On both occasions he made a favorable impression.

Mr. Kelder is about forty years of age, is married and has two children. He has been in his present charge several years. He is a warm personal friend of Rev. J. Y. Broek, the acquaintance dating back to boyhood.

ASTOR THEATRE CLOSED; NEIBERG DISPOSSESSED

Benjamin Neiberg, manager and lessee of the Astor moving picture theatre, in West Second street, has been dispossessed by the owners of the structure, Harry Dreier and Morris Abrams, for non-payment of rent. Mr. Dreier, when interviewed this morning, refused to comment other than Neiberg owed three months' rent. Asked whether he and Mr. Abrams would operate the "movies" house, Mr. Dreier declined to answer.

In the District Court, Thursday, Judge Walter L. Hetfield gave a judgment to Messrs. Dreier and Abrams in a non-contested suit. Mr. Neiberg could not be located today. Constable Yorke, after serving the necessary papers, placed a lock on the theatre doors.

Several suits against Mr. Neiberg by his creditors have been instituted and are scheduled to be tried Wednesday in the District Court. The plaintiffs are contractors.

SOUTH AVENUE ROAD TO BE MUCH IMPROVED

The work of improving South avenue, between Terrill road and the Westfield township line, is nearly completed now. It being a State aid road, the State road department had supervision of the work. The road is being built of the Amesite material and will conform to the road beyond Westfield.

One of the biggest improvements in connection with the contract is the removing of the curve in the road at the top of the Fanwood hill, which has always been a terror to automobilists. When finished the thoroughfare will be one of the finest in the State.

BANKRUPTCY SALE.

The sale of the goods and chattels of the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Company will be sold at public auction tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at 304 Park avenue by the trustee in bankruptcy, Judge W. G. DeMeza.

CITY WILL LOSE BY HIS MISTAKE

At Assessor's Invitation Daily Press Confirms Its Story About His Error.

HAD MADE CHANGE

Plainfield Water Company Will Benefit by $2,244—Mayor and Corporation Counsel Learn of the Situation.

The following self-explanatory letter was received today from Clarence B. LaRue, assessor for the First ward:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I trust that you will print this correction of an article that appeared in Saturday's edition of your paper. From whom did you receive the information in regard to the assessment of the Plainfield-Union Water Company? If you will consult my field book which is in the tax office and open at all times for inspection, you will find that the figures that you printed were wrong and my figures correct."

Following the suggestion of Mr. LaRue a reporter for The Daily Press consulted his field book at the office of Tax Collector William R. Townsend, today, and obtained the figures therefrom representing the assessment levied on the property of The Plainfield-Union Water Company for 1912-13.

These figures show that the Plainfield-Union Water Company's land is assessed at $15,025, the buildings, $37,000; a barn, $200. The pipes in the streets were assessed at $273,000, and originally the personal property, including machinery, etc., was assessed at $200,000, but on Tuesday, November 18, about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. LaRue visited the tax office in company with a representative of the water company, erased the $200,000, and substituted $80,000, which was last year's assessment. A line is drawn through the figures "$80,000," Mr. LaRue evidently forgetting to erase that line at the same time he erased the $200,000. The latter figures can be seen quite plainly, leaving no doubt as to the change.

These figures make the total assessment of the company $405,225 instead of $525,225 as certified to the Union County Board of Taxation, and approved by that body. The change made by Mr. LaRue was made after the county board had approved the local tax books and the tax bills had been sent out by Mr. Townsend. By the change the city will lose actually $2,244 and not "about $4,000" as stated in The Daily Press of Saturday, the figures being accidentally reversed in the story.

It is reliably stated that Mr. LaRue admitted on November 18 that an error had been made in the assessment on the company's personal property and then changed the figures, which, according to the city officials he had no authority to do after being approved. Following the change Mr. Townsend made a notation in Mr. LaRue's field book indicating the date when the change was made by the assessor.

Mr. Townsend has taken the matter up with Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, Mayor Percy H. Stewart and members of the finance committee of the Common Council. The water company intends to appeal from the assessment and it is believed that in view of the fact that an error was made it will be allowed by the county tax board, thereby causing a loss to the city.

BATEMAN THATCHER'S FUNERAL

The funeral of Bateman Thatcher will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his late home at East Fourth and Sycamore streets. Mr. Thatcher was sixty-eight years of age. He was a member of Washington Camp, No. 30, P. O. S. of A., and Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, will conduct the service.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will preach the sermon at the union Thanksgiving service to be held Thursday morning at the First M. E. church. Miss Kinnaman, contralto soloist of the First M. E. church, will sing "A Song of Thanksgiving," as an offeratory. The offering, as usual, will be contributed to some local charitable cause.

TRADE BOARD MEETING.

The Board of Trade has issued invitations to the city officials to attend an informal meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 2, at its rooms at 109 Park avenue, when a general discussion of matters of interest will be held. A musical program will be given.

THANKSGIVING ADDRESS.

Rev. C. W. F. Attlee will make a Thanksgiving address at the Stillman School, Wednesday morning, at 9 o'clock, at which time there will be appropriate exercises.

MO-JO White Chewing Gum

Talk No. 6

IT is not pleasant to think of putting dirt in your mouth and chewing it, especially when the character of the dirt is obscure.

Chewing gum chewers have been unconscious dirt eaters for years. Every black speck in a stick of chewing gum is a bit of dirt that originated in the crude gum—perhaps bark, perhaps part of an insect.

MO-JOs are made from refined and purified gum and are spotlessly white.

MO-JO is a delicious, dainty confection, a pleasure without a pang, a chewing gum made for particular people.

Buy Early to Buy Well!

On all sides we hear that familiar phrase, "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early."

About this time last year our store was stocked with Christmas giveables.

Then the holiday crowds began to pour in and we had some of the busiest weeks of our career.

Before we knew it, it was a week before Xmas, and our stock of Gift things that men wear was almost exhausted.

We were compelled to take in an entirely new assortment for the next week's crowds, and here we speak frankly—it was selected from sources already depleted by Holiday demands and consequently was not a good as the first.

At the present time, we have in our store the most complete collection of Gift Things for Dad and the boys that long weeks of careful study could assemble.

If you want to do justice to the Season of Giving, buy EARLY and buy WELL.

Somerville

One of the pleasing social functions of the past week was the charming luncheon given at the Sign of the Old Spinning Wheel on Thursday afternoon. Miss Amy Allen was the hostess and she entertained twelve friends in the quaint old tea room of this popular social resort. The beautiful mahogany table reflected masses of yellow chrysanthemums, and the hand-painted place cards were nodding yellow chrysanthemums clinging to each glass, while cute little turkey favors suggested the good old Thankstgiving time so near at hand. Five courses were served, and the guests were unanimous in their praise of the cuisine and lingered until a late hour chatting and also enjoying the exhibition of the handiwork of all kinds and the beautiful Belfont baskets in the gift shop, which is a recent addition to the Old Spinning Wheel. Those present were Mrs. E. B. Allen, Miss Ackerman, Mrs. W. H. Cawley, Miss Cawley, Miss Shaw, Miss Nevius, Miss Helen Nevius, Miss Quick, Miss Amy Allen, Somerville; Miss Parker, New Brunswick, Miss Way, New York City, and Mrs. Opdycke, Bound Brook.

Somerville High School defeated the Flemington HighSchool eleven in a football match here on Saturday afternoon by the score of 31 to 12. Flemington's scores were made on long runs. Robeson, Romig and McHugh did the scoring for Somerville, and a goal was made from a touchdown by Amerman. The weather was too warm for effective play. Jameson was referee, and West umpire.

STAGE IS SET FOR BRILLIANT WEDDING

Miss Jessie Wilson Will Become Mrs. F. B. Sayre at White House Tomorrow.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Before an improvised altar in the historic East Room of the White House, on the same spot where Miss Nellie Grant and Algernon Sartoris took the vows forty years ago and where Miss Alice Roosevelt and Nicholas Longworth plighted their troth in 1906, the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Princeton, N. J., will tomorrow afternoon pronounce the words which will unite in marriage Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second daughter of the President of the United States, and Francis Bowes Sayre, son of the late Robert H. Sayre, the builder of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

The ceremony—which is set for 4:30 p. m.—will be witnessed by one of the most brilliant and distinguished assemblages ever gathered in the executive mansion. It was the early desire not only of Miss Wilson, who was most concerned, but of the President and Mrs. Wilson, that the wedding should be celebrated in a manner comparatively quiet, that it should be a family affair. This, it shortly was disclosed, could not be gratified.

Only about 400 guests, mostly relatives and intimate friends, will witness the ceremony, but nearly three times that number have been invited to attend the reception that will follow. Among those in attendance will be the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, the foreign diplomats and their families, the cabinet members of Congress and high officers of the army and navy and their families. The relatives of the two families alone number several score. The most of these, together with the members of the wedding party, are already guests at the White House.

The floral decorations will be more elaborate than any heretofore have been in President Wilson's administration. While the decorations in all the rooms on the main floor of the White House will be beautiful, they will be less elaborate than those in the East Room, which will be beautified with thousands of chrysanthemums grown in the White House conservatories.

The state dining-room will be thrown open to the guests after the ceremony. The great, high walls and ceiling, panelled in walnut, will form a handsome setting for the splendidly decorated table on which, amid a shimmer of silver and cut glass, will appear the wedding cake, two and a half feet in height and weighing nearly 150 pounds. It is said that the cake is to be cut into 1,000 pieces and each placed in a dainty white box bearing the United States seal. The pieces will be given not only to the guests, but sent to many folks far away who are unable to come to Washington for the ceremony.

The music for the occasion will be furnished by the Marine Band Orchestra, which will be stationed behind a floral screen in the corridor. A special program has been prepared for the wedding. The music has been selected for the most part by Miss Wilson herself.

The marriage ceremony will be marked by the greatest simplicity possible under the circumstances. When everything is in readiness Mr. Sayre, accompaned by his best man, Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell, will descend the main staircase and entering the East Room, take his place before the temporary altar to await the arrival of the bride.

Immediately the clock sounds the half-hour after four, Miss Wilson, escorted by the President, will descend to the west end of the main corridor. There, awaiting them, will be the ushers selected by Mr. Sayre. They are Dr. Scoville Clark, of Salem Mass.; Benjamin B. Burton, of New York city; Dr. Gilbert Horace, of Montclair, N. J., and Charles E. Hughes, Jr., of Washington, D. C.

Preceded by the ushers, the President with the bride will proceed to the East Room. The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Wilson, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Eleanor Wilson, younger sister of the bride; Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott, daughter of Professor William B. Scott, of Princeton; Miss Mary G. White, of Baltimore, who was a classmate of the bride at Goucher College, and Miss Marjorie Brown, a daughter of Mrs. Wilson's cousin Col. E. T. Brown, of Atlanta.

Miss Wilson's bridal dress will be a magnificent creation of heavy cream satin, rare old lace and filmy tulle. The material from which the gown was made was manufactured especially for her. The style of the gown is simple, being draped along princess lines and trimmed with lace which is said to have been in Mrs. Wilson's family for several generations. The veil, of French tulle, will be arranged to fall from a lace cap, and clusters of orange blossoms will adorn it.

At the conclusion of the wedding ceremony the assembled guests will be received by Mr. and Mrs. Sayre and later they will be greeted in the Blue Room by the President and Mrs. Wilson. After the informal receptions, the guests will be privileged to view the hundreds of costly wedding presents received by the bridal couple.

FREEHOLDERS SENSIBLE.

Union County's Board of Freeholders has stamped itself as a body truly abreast of the times by approving of the proposition to take the prisoners from confinement and put them at out-door work. The customary method of dealing with these convicted offenders is not only pernicious to the State's well being, but to the prisoners and their families as well. Idleness breeds crime and disease and the majority of those incarcerated when their terms of sentence expires come out into the world again in a worse physical and moral condition than when the prison doors shut them in. The hardened offender mingling with the first offender naturally has some detrimental effect on the latter's character and just as a good apple is quickly spoiled when placed among a lot of rotten ones so is the new transgressor harmed by contact with the seasoned one.

But there are other aspects of this plan of making the prisoners work. Not only does it mean a saving to the taxpayers but it also means some sort of support for those dependent upon the criminal. To allow him to remain idle means a double expense for the taxpayer for he is compelled to bear his share in supporting not only the prisoner, but his family who is robbed of his earnings. By the new plan, the prisoner will be paid a dollar a day for his labor. A part of this sum will go to the county to defray the expense it is put to in providing for him and the rest will go to the man's family and thereby the charity organizations, which receive their funds from the people, are not compelled to help the family.

It is an excellent idea, too, to select Bonnie Burn as the place for the prisoners to be put to work. There is a great amount of out-door labor to be done there and it would cost the county double at least to employ others to do it.

NEW STAMP BOOK ISSUED BY POSTMASTER GENERAL

Contains Twenty-four Each of One Cent and Two Cent Stamps.

Postmaster General Burleson is the author of what is expected to prove one of the "six best sellers" among the books of the coming season. Announcement is made that it is off the press and soon can be had at thousands of postoffices and subpostoffices throughout the country. The book, its attractive title being "24:1c—2c," is embellished with beautiful engravings and will sell for the nominal sum of 73 cents.

The demand for such a book was recognized by those who approved of that other sterling little volume issued by the government and which contained twelve two-cent stamps, the price of which was 25 cents. The new volume is to contain twenty-four two-cent and an equal number of one cent stamps.

"The leaves of this new educational work," said a postoffice official, "will go far to fill a long felt want. In fact, properly used, they will go as far as the Philippines, Hawaii or Porto Rico. It is seldom an announcement is made of a new volume that is destined to exert so widespread an influence.

The department has issued instructions to postmasters throughout the country concerning the issue of the new stamp book.

FARM FOR HONOR CONVICTS.

Washington State Project to Buy a Thousand Acres—Benefits Expected.

Purchase of a large farm for "honor convicts," the first in the United States, is under consideration by the prison board of Washington state. The board argues that the project would be both economical for the state and beneficial for the prisoners.

The penitentiary should not have to expend more for common supplies than does the successful farmer, it is urged. Not only is it hoped ultimately to raise the beef, pork and bacon needed, but it is planned to have a thoroughly equipped dairy, and it is even suggested that the wool from the sheep may be used in making clothing for the prisoners.

It is suggested that 1,000 acres would be required and that the state might exchange some of its present holdings for the desired acreage, convenient to the penitentiary.

It is pointed out that several hundred men could be put to work, which in itself would be of great benefit to them physically and morally; moreover, a small wage could, if found desirable, be paid them so that when they are finally liberated they would have a start in a new life.

At present there are about 250 prisoners working about the penitentiary farm, virtually on their honor. Two unarmed guards work with them as counsel and custodians.

MAIL YOUR PARCELS EARLY.

Postoffice Department Adopts Slogan For the Christmas Holidays.

"Mail your holiday parcels early" will be the slogan of the postoffice department from now until Christmas. This is the first Christmas season the parcel post system has been in operation and Postmaster General Burleson is planning for the handling of the mails as expeditiously and economically and with as little criticism as possible. This he thinks will be possible if patrons realize the advantage of the early mailing of parcels.

Many inquiries are being received by the postal authorities in Washington from firms in Canada concerning the operation of the parcel post in the United States, which indicate agitation for the establishment of a parcel post system by the Canadian government.

CARRYING SUPPLIES TO U. S. BATTLE SHIPS IN MEXICAN WATERS

THE U.S.S. CULGOA

With orders to hurry supplies needed by the battle ships in Mexican waters, the supply ship Culgoa, with a full crew and reserves, sailed from Portsmouth. The crew of the Culgoa was armed, and ammunition for her three pounders was aboard. The ship also took a supply of bunker coal.

As the battle ships recently arriving at Vera Cruz were provisioned for months of actual service, little credence was placed in the statement that the Culgoa's cargo was to be used to restock their depleted storerooms. It is believed it is a step of the Navy Department to have ample supplies at hand in Mexican waters, in anticipation of trouble with that nation. Also to provide supplies for an extra force of marines.

When Illness Comes

The Telephone is a Blessing.

WHEN a member of the family is stricken with sudden illness or an accident occurs, the doctor may be summoned quickly if you have a telephone in your home. Then, too, relatives and friends, whether close at hand or far away, can be reached easily, by telephone.

In everyday use the telephone is a valuable assistant in the home, but when trouble comes then the telephone is "worth its weight in gold" to the anxious ones.

Why not protect your family against emergencies and arrange for telephone service at once?

FINE ENGLISH SETTERS

The Meadowview Kennels Boast of the Best of the Breed In This Country—Not Alone Do Blue Ribbons and Show Ring Attract Dogs.

If it takes twelve generations to make a gentleman, one can readily understand that it must have taken at least that long to have produced such perfection as has been attained by the Meadowview kennels, of this city, with its personnel of half a hundred English setters.

A. G. Hooley, owner of the kennels, attributes his wonderful success to the fact that he has never tried his luck with any other breed. As a rule, fanciers change their breed of dogs as the styles change, but fashion cannot sway Mr. Hooley's canine taste, and one is inclined to sanction his choice when he is introduced to the inmates of the Meadowview kennels. Big, noble looking setters of orange, lemon and blue Belton are Mr. Hooley's friends, and their only rivals are the bulls and bears which Mr. Hooley encounters each day at Broad and Wall streets.

Along in the early seventies, when Mr. Hooley was a very little boy, his father, who was a well known merchant in New York, had a number of splendid specimens of English setters shipped from their native land. They gave the fancier his standard. Hence the perfection of the present Meadowview representatives.

Mr. Hooley's dogs are unanimously conceded to be the finest collection in two continents and his kennels house between forty and fifty at all times. Of these a dozen are champions full fledged and as many more are taking the royal road to the title.

Mr. Hooley breeds setters for the sport of the thing, and now, at the end of twenty-five years, is just as enthusiastic as he was when he owned his first brace. Mr. Hooley's dogs created a furore in 1894 and 1895 when his famous setter, The Earl, went as far west as Denver, that being as far toward the land of the setting sun as any of the Eastern contingent travelled.

The best part of it all is that these dogs are not purely ornamental, for although they are wonderful benchers they are also real workers. Two of Mr. Hooley's favorite, of whose prowess in the field he boasts, are Wyoming Valley Maybelle and Meadowview Estien. Both are keen and brave disciples of Diana. Then there are Champion Meadowview Rock, Deodora Bobs, Meadowview Lady Bess and others which are excellent gun dogs.

The mecca for the Meadowview setters is Plainfield, but Mr. Hooley usually has several dogs in the South being handled on game. Mr. Hooley is not an advocate of importations, and he says that the best thing about his dogs is the fact that each and every one is American bred. On the bench they have defeated all of England's crack setters; but then, as Mr. Hooley says, comparisons are unnecessary.

Champion Meadowview Rock, a lemon Belton; Champion Countess, Champion Meadowview Bob Roy, orange Bleton, and Champion Meadowview Yale, a blue Belton, each have had the distinctive honor of being declared by prominent judges the best dog in the show over all other breeds. Champion Meadowview Rock has had his picture displayed in France as the most perfect type of English setter. This surely is enough honor to turn the head of the strongest minded Yankee dog, when so many formidable rivals appeared from the land of their origin.

Champion Meadowview Rock has more than once won the cup for the best English setter at the New York show and Wyoming Maybelle, a beautiful blue Belton, has duplicated his performance on two occasions. Meadowview Rob Roy, the New York winner last year, has won at Plainfield, Brighton Beach, Allentown, Long Branch and Gwynne Valley. At Ambler he added to his trophies by securing the prizes for the best dog in the show and the best sporting dog. Others of Mr. Hooley's favorites are Lady Mallwyd, Champion Meadowview Beatrice, Meadowview Lady Frances, Deodora Bobs, Meadowview Lady Bess and Champion Meadowview Vassar.

One of the most beautiful of all Mr. Hooley's setters is little known. This is Royalist, who has chosen a private life in preference to the glare of the limelight. Royalist's first public appearance was made under the English judge, Mr. Reeves, who eulogized the handsome blue Belton both verbally and in print. Royalist lives in Plainfield with his father and mother, both being the property of Mr. Hooley.

If one feels that he cannot live without owning a Meadowview setter the only course open is to ask Mr. Hooley to make one a present of one of his dogs. During the twenty-five years that the kennels have been established not more than a half dozen of the inhabitants ever have been sold.

The Meadowview Kennels are situated on beautiful rolling meadows on the outskirts of Plainfield, which allows the inhabitants plenty of exercising room. At the big shows no exhibit attracts so much attention as the Meadowview benches, with their occupants shown as they always are in the most beautiful coat and the pink of condition. Mr. Hooley is a member of the Field Trial Association and a director in the American Kennel Club. He is also a member of the Long Island, the Plainfield, the Allentown and the Rumson kennel clubs.

DIET FOR HEALTH CUTS LIVING COST

Federal Expert Gives List of Suitable Foods.

FAVORS HOME CANNING.

Rheumatism and Other Ills Would Be Largely Eliminated if Fruit and Vegetables Were Provided Every Day In the Year, Says Food Specialist—Would Be Cheaper Too.

The average American family may steer clear of the ordinary discomforts that afflict the body and thereby improve its health if the housewife will exercise more care in getting up the daily bill of fare.

A food specialist of the department of agriculture in Washington points the way. He says that the balanced ration of many Americans today is made up about as follows:

Bread,	Meat,
Butter,	Fish,
Eggs,	Patent medicine laxatives.

Many Americans suffer customarily from indigestion in its various forms and rheumatism, according to the government food specialist. He suggests that a simple change of the daily menu might go a long way to remedy these ailments. The specialist recommends a change to this menu as being more in keeping with nature's plans:

Bread,	Meat,
Butter,	Fish,
Fruit,	Eggs,
Vegetables,	Greens.

For Fruits and Vegetables.

The specialist recommends that every famfly provide a diet of fruit and vegetables for every day in the year. He argues that this would do much to eliminate the need for patent medicines that figure so prominently in the bill of fare of so many Americans.

"If every home," said the specialist, "kept on hand enough canned products so that there might be a can of fruit, a can of greens and a can of vegetables for every day during the winter there would be little need for the laxatives now so regularly purchased from the corner druggists. There would also be great economy in the substitution of an inexpensive food for more expensive ones."

The food specialist suggests that housewives should do more home canning at the proper season. He thinks this would help to solve the problem involved in the cost of living.

"It is estimated," he said, "that over 50 per cent of all the vegetables, greens, fruit and berries that grow in this country go to waste and are actually lost to those who need them. This is simply because housewives have not learned to care for these surplus products efficiently and to make them available for the winter months by canning.

Economy In Home Canning.

"That home canning may reduce the cost of living is not generally appreciated. Even those who are accustomed to use a supply of canned goods in the winter do not realize that they sometimes pay transportation on goods from distant parts of the country when there is a surplus of the same product in their own vicinity during the summer months which might have been saved by home canning."

The food specialist then tells about the enormous economic waste that could be prevented by home canning.

"For example," he said, "a can of tomatoes is bought during the winter months in Colorado for 15 cents. This can was put up in Maryland. The people of the section where it was purchased live in an irrigated district where there is always a surplus of tomatoes in summer, yet they pay transportation on vegetables from Maryland when they might have put up a similar can during the season in their own district which would have cost 5 cents.

"When one considers the number of cans used which have been shipped great distances one realizes the enormous saving a little intelligent home canning might bring about."

AIR CURE FOR ADENOIDS.

When Surgical Operations Are Necessary—Schoolroom Temperature.

Adenoids will heal themselves in four cases out of five if the child suffering from them be given plenty of outdoor air, according to Dr. T. F. Harrington, director of school hygiene in Boston. In addressing a teachers' association recently in that city Dr. Harrington said:

"The knife is necessary only when there is a discharge from the ear and danger to the hearing or when the blood supply is cut off from the brain and feeble mindedness, flat chests and glandular trouble seem imminent.

"The air of the classroom should be down to 55 degrees, and the children should be allowed to wear their wraps when they care to."

No Scientists In Burglary.

"Scientific burglary absolutely does not exist," says M. Xavier Guichard, one of the foremost detective authorities of Paris. And away at one sweep of official truth vanishes the walking wonder of housebreaking and safe cracking against whose miraculous equipment it were vain to set up ordinary bolts and bars. Along with the scientific burglar, too, we may place in the gallery of the nonexistent the social highwayman, the gentleman burglar, the Arsene Lupins and all their class of gallant, indomitable offenders.

"What people do not realize," M. Guichard continues, "is that burglars belong to an inferior grade of humanity and are very seldom intelligent."

Plain facts of record have shown over and over that a career of crime does not pay. Nor does it appeal to the intellect. A man with brains enough to be a scientific burglar would make an easier and better living without risks in some honest line. As for the romance of crime, it exists only in books, and the man who writes about it knows better than to seek it through experience.—New York World.

A Way to Woo Sleep.

The following method is described as one which is almost certain to woo slumber with success: On going to bed you assume a comfortable attitude in which every muscle is relaxed, but not the attitude in which you are accustomed to go to sleep, though something resembling it. Every movement, coughing, yawning, is strictly repressed, especially the desire to turn over. The same attitude is maintained without change, constantly resisting the longing to move or turn over.

As a rule, by the end of fifteen or twenty minutes of this persistent maintenance of the same attitude you will find yourself growing very drowsy, and then, just as the desire to turn over becomes absolutely uncontrollable, you turn with the least possible effort and assume the position in which you habitually go to sleep, and natural sleep follows at once. This method, it is claimed, seldom fails and should be given a thorough trial, at least before resorting to a drug to bring sleep.

Queer Taxes Abroad.

There are some queer taxes imposed in some of the countries of the old world.

In Servia vanity is taxed, a 40 per cent tax on wigs, on rouge and on pads and bustles.

Bachelors are heavily taxed in several countries, but spinsters everywhere escape this impost.

Matrimony is taxed in China, and the older the bridegroom is than the bride the greater the tax levied on him. It is the wise Chinese theory that when an old man gets a young wife he is necessarily a rich old man and one well able to stand a heavy tax.

In Italy salt is taxed. Matches are taxed in France. These things yield an enormous revenue, and the tax is very little felt.

Germany taxes music. If you play the piano you must pay a tax, and if you sing you are taxed again.

Semiprecious Metals.

It appears from recent geological survey publications that the "semiprecious" metals are copper, lead and zinc. Where quicksilver and tin get off on this classification we are not informed. Aluminium also sometimes sells higher than the three first mentioned and antimony for more than lead and zinc. These are probably the quasi precious metals. When we were younger the metals were classed as precious and common, we believe. Now probably iron is alone in the "common" category. What is the use anyway—if there are no privates in an army what is the joy in being a corporal, and why "semiprecious" if there is going to be only iron besides?—Engineering and Mining Journal.

Woefully Mistaken.

"I suppose," said the new saleswoman, "that you want a suit that will make you look attractive to your husband?"

"Attractive to my husband!" echoed the shopper. "I should say not. He wouldn't know if I wore a suit ten years old. What I want is something that will make my next door neighbor turn a pale pink green with envy."—Buffalo Express.

Ingenuous Daughter.

"What is it your husband wants to see me about, Della?" asked Mrs. Burrough's father.

"Why, father," said Della. "I think he wanted to borrow a couple of hundred dollars from you. He's so anxious to get out of debt."—Lippincott's.

Corsica's Forests.

The forests of Corsica, the little island upon which Napoleon Bonaparte was born, are managed by the French government. They produce lumber, firewood and turpentine, and all parts of the various trees are far more closely utilized than in America.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 35.

PERFECTION is a matter of constant striving to improve. The reason most of us don't get nearer to perfection is because we are satisfied with our present state of progress—contented to do things just as we have always done them—serene in following the old methods and accustomed tracks simply because the ability to improve, to go ahead, to approach nearer to perfection means a little effort.

I saw an instance of this the other day. The manager of a large office called the attention of one of his stenographers to a letter he had just received from one of the branch offices of the company. The letter was a model of the stenograher's art. Capitalization, punctuation, paragraphing, spacing, margin—all were perfect. It was a pleasure to read such a letter—not a puzzle as is the case with some letters I have seen that were written by individuals who professed to be stenographers.

"Miss B.," the manager said, "I wish you would write your letters that way. I'm not finding fault with your transcriptions, remember, but I'd certainly like to have my letters go out of here looking like this one. You see, the margin on the right-hand side is nearly as even as the margin on the left, and the whole letter is centered and spaced and paragraphed so nicely that it is pleasing to the eye and creates a good impression."

Miss B admitted the truth of what was said, but when her superior officer mentioned the even margins, she interrupted testily with: "Oh, my; that's too much trouble!"

It is a little trouble, when typewriting, to get the right-hand margin even, or nearly so. The left hand margain is always even, because it is mechanically made so, without any thought or effort on the part of the operator. But to make the margain at the other side of the sheet look nice requires a certain skill that comes with practice in the right way of doing things. Once acquired, this habit of neatness becomes an unconscious part of the really efficient stenographer's daily work. Yet, easy as it is to master this one step toward perfection, in every office in the land there are stenographers who, when shown such work, will say: "Oh! that's very good, but it's too much trouble."

If YOU are a stenographer to whom nothing that tends toward greater efficiency is "too much trouble," there are hundreds of business houses anxious for your services. Get into touch with a good position by reading, or using, the CLASSIFIED columns of this newspaper.

Pumpkin Pies.

Although, to be at its best, a pumpkin pie should not stand long after baking before it is eaten, the pumpkin filling can be partly prepared several days before it is needed. So much trouble and time later on can be saved if you get the pumpkin for Thursday's pies ready now.

One way to get the pumpkin ready is this: Pare and wash a pumpkin and cut it in small pieces. Steam them over boiling water until they are soft. Then put the pulp through a sieve.

Another way is to wash, pare and cut the pumpkin and cover it with water in a deep iron kettle. Let it cook slowly for hours, and from time to time draw the pumpkin up in a pile on itself, away from the bottom of the kettle and the water in which it is cooking. Let it cook, very slowly at the last, until all the water is evaporated, and the pumpkin pulp is as dry as it is possible to get it.

Pumpkin pulp, to be at its best, should be dry and smooth and lumpless.

On Thanksgiving Morning.

On Thanksgiving day morning, or perhaps the afternoon before, make the pumpkin pies. Here are some recipes for the filling. The pies should be cooked slowly, until the pumpkin filling is cooked through and the crust is brown and flaky.

For a simple filling, mix a quart of rich milk with two cupfuls of pumpkin pulp, a beaten egg, two tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with a cupful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt, and a teaspoonful of ginger. Sift a little sugar and grated nutmeg over each pie before it is baked.

A somewhat richer filling is made in this way: Measure out a cupful and a half of pumpkin, and to it add a cupful of milk and half a cupful of scalded cream. Beat and add an egg, add half a cupful of sugar mixed with a quarter of a teaspoonful each of mace and salt.

Still richer, but not so much of a custard, is this filling: Mix two cupfuls of pumpkin, three beaten eggs, two cupfuls of sugar, a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, half a grated nutmeg, half a teaspoonful of grated ginger, a pinch of salt and two cupfuls of milk.

A very rich filling is this: A quart of pumpkin, mixed with a quarter of a pound of butter, a cupful of milk, half a pound of granulated sugar, a tablespoonful of French brandy and a gill of sherry.

THE SCRAP BAG IS A USEFUL FRIEND

From Its Odds and Ends Many Holiday Gifts May Be Made.

ODDS and ends of cretonne, silk, linen or velvet should be brought out when the Christmas gift giver sits down to plan tokens that shall be both attractive and useful.

With these fabrics she can design bags of any sort, from dainty party or opera bags for the society girl to stanch looking laundry or work bags for the housewife.

The house mother will appreciate a sewing bag like the one here illustrated. It is made of stout cretonne and is lined with plain material. A feature of this bag is its roominess. The top is gathered over a wooden embroidery hoop, and a cover is cut out of heavy cardboard to fit it. The cardboard is covered with cretonne and lined to match the inside of the bag. A band of elastic is sewed inside the cover, and in it is slipped a paper of needles of assorted sizes or a little needlebook supplied with them. Scissors, bodkins, darning needles and a thimble case are added. Suspended inside are a little button bag and a pincushion well supplied with all sizes of pins. Two ribbons are added to the bag, by which it may be carried.

Figured ribbon was used for making the dainty fancy workbag, which has two ribbon covered embroidery hoops as handles. A wide band of the ribbon was gathered to the hoops to form the lower part of the bag, while inserted inside the circle were bands of the ribbon gathered on elastic. Inside the bag are pockets in which to place embroidery silk, needlebook, scissors, etc., required by the fancy worker.

The other bag illustrated is made with plain red ribbon confbined with Dresden ribbon. It is intended as a party bag for a girl. Made in rather smaller proportions, it will do for the accommodation of opera glasses, gloves and the fan for the theater.

Canvas may be made into many dainty articles. A big workbag or a bag for soiled handkerchiefs or collars is fashioned of cream white canvas decorated with a simple design in cross stitch. This is lined with pink or blue lawn, and the top is gathered over an embroidery hoop.

PARTY BAG.

Bewitching little powder puff bags are contrived from squares of sash ribbon, finished off with a frill of lace.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SHELLFISH SALADS.

SALADS that are palatable and nutritious may be made with the various shellfish now in season. When the fresh fish are available the salads are particularly appetizing. Canned shellfish may be substituted for fresh ones where it is more convenient to use the former.

How to Use Shrimps.

Shrimp Salad.—Either the fresh or canned shrimps may be used for this. The fresh ones must, of course, be carefully shelled. If the canned ones are selected set them on ice to chill before using. Take a salad bowl and line it with crisp fresh lettuce leaves. Lay the shrimps on the leaves and dress with mayonnaise.

A salad with cucumbers may be made by taking boiled shrimps, marinating in French dressing and then combining with an equal quantity of cucumber cut in squares and mixed with mayonnaise dressing. It is advisable to break up the shrimps before marinating. Arrange the cucumber cubes and shrimps in a mound on lettuce leaves in a salad bowl and add a border of slices of cucumber marinated with French dressing flavored with onion juice.

A Novel Salad.

Another novel salad is made with scallops.

Scallop Salad.—The scallops should first be soaked in salted water. Put them on the fire and let them simmer for five minutes in boiling water. Take off the fire, drain and when cool cut into slices and marinate in French dressing. Cut white celery stalks into small pieces and mix an equal quantity of it with the scallops. Dress with mayonnaise and shape into a pyramid on lettuce leaves. Mask with mayonnaise and decorate with capers.

Clam Salad.—Use cold cooked clams for this, removing the skins and black heads. Marinate in French dressing and serve on a bed of fresh lettuce leaves. Garnish with slices of cold boiled egg.

Popular Shellfish.

Crab Salad.—Put the crabs in a kettle with warm water and a tablespoonful of salt and boil for twenty minutes. When cool pick the meat from the shell and mix with mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce leaves garnished with lettuce or put back in the crab shells and garnish with lettuce and cresses.

Anna Thompson.

"Let me put it on," Lottie pleaded.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How Lottie Spoiled Her New Frock.

"PROUD? Of course Evelyn was proud. Most little girls are proud when they get a nice new dress. It was blue, and the trimmings were red. Both daddy and Jack had agreed that it was very handsome.

"I must tell you a little story of a small girl named Lottie," daddy began. "One day her mother said to her, 'Lottie, I have a surprise for you.'

"'A surprise?' cried little Lottie. 'Oh, how nice! Mother, dear, what is it?'

"Her mother brought out a big cardboard box. It had been sent home from one of the shops that day, and when it was left at their house Lottie had wondered what was inside.

"Slowly and carefully her mother opened the box. Lottie could hardly wait until she lifted the lid off. When the wrappings of tissue paper were drawn back a dear little frock could be seen inside. It was pale blue, with white collar and cuffs.

"'Please let me put it on and see how it looks,' Lottie pleaded.

"'Now, dear, don't you think you would better take it off and put it away?' her mother asked after she had tried it on.

"'Oh, mother, please let me show it to Polly. I won't be any time at all,' urged Lottie.

"So Lottie ran downstairs and out through the gate that led from her garden to Polly's garden.

"Polly was not at home. Mary, the maid, who opened the door, said she had just gone around the corner to her aunt's house.

"It was only a short walk, and Lottie thought how nice it would be to show her new gown to Polly's aunt as well as to her little friend herself.

"When she reached the house they took her into the dining room where Polly was enjoying a treat of ice cream and cake.

"The dress was praised, and then Polly's aunt said:

"'You must have some ice cream and cake too.' Lottie sat down and began to eat. She was given a napkin, but was so excited that she spilled the ice cream right on the front of the frock.

"'Perhaps it will come off,' Lottie thought, and she brushed off the ice cream with her napkin, but it left an ugly stain.

"'Why,' exclaimed her mother as she took off the dress, 'whatever has happened to the front of your frock?'

"So Lottie had to tell.

"'Well, I'm sorry. You should have come straight back when Polly was not at home. Then this would not have happened. I'm afraid the stain will always show, but you'll have to wear the frock just as it is. Maybe some day you will learn to be more careful.'"

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

THE separate skirt is a thing that always tempts the home sewer, it is so easily and quickly made and so very useful. This design (7890) is a two-piece model with a slightly raised waist-line and a clever arrangement of tucks at the bottom in back which gives a slight peg-top effect. It is a design that would be suitable for almost any material. One of the new rough checks would be most attractive made after this design. They come in many charming color combinations—black and white, green and red—and a most effective plaid shows a blending of deep yellows and black. If you use a plaid or check for the skirt it is very smart to have the trimming, bands, girdle, etc., of plain materials.

This skirt may be made in size 24 with 2⅞ yards of 42 inch material. The pattern is cut in five sizes, 22 to 30.

This Is a Perfect Pattern

Be sure to state right size, taking waist measure tightly around the smallest part of the waist and hip measure loosely around the fullest part of the hips.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Stenciled Curtains For the Bedroom or Comfy House.

If you were looking for curtains that are at the same time inexpensive and artistic, you cannot do better than to choose some such fabric as unbleached cotton of lightest weight, cross-barred muslin, dotted swiss, scrim or even cheese cloth, and stencil them in the colors predominating in the decorations of your room.

Stenciling is so easy to do, so artistic and so inexpensive a method of decorating cheap materials, that it is no longer a fad, but an accepted in style decoration. We have come to realize that in certain types of houses and rooms, particularly the country house or bungalow, stenciled draperies are far more attractive and more pretentious fabrics. Pattern 14352 includes 7 small conventional flower designs, any of which may be used for stenciling or block-printing and they are so harmonious that they may be combined in the same room. For instance the curtains may be decorated with one design while bedspread or couch covers, table covers and pillow covers may be stenciled with another of these designs in the same colors. Then, too, they may be repeated as all-over patterns or borders as shown in the illustration.

What would be prettier than the little all-over pattern stenciled with the flowers in pink, blue or yellow to match with the wall-paper, and the leaves in a soft shade of green. You will see how this design might be repeated on the other draperies and covers in the room as well as on the screen and lampshade. When a stencil or wood-block has once been cut it can be used any number of times, repeated to form an all-over pattern or a border.

You will find explicit directions for stenciling on the pattern envelope. Pattern 14352 can be supplied to readers of the Daily Press for 15 cents.

PLAINFIELD TRIO CONSPICUOUS

Bruggy, Luyster and Carlstrom Were Leaders on the New England Circuit.

CARLSTROM A STAR

Local Players Made a Big Hit With the New England League Clubs During the Season Just Closed—Carlstrom May Not Report.

Official averages in the New England Baseball League just published show that excellent work was done on the circuit last season by Albin Carlstrom, "Flick" Luyster and Frank Bruggy, the Elizabeth boys, who starred on the Plainfield nine of the Central New Jersey League following the close of the New England season.

Carlstrom was the leading first baseman on the circuit, while Luyster and Bruggy, besides playing strong games in the field, did some excellent sticking, the former standing third among the league's hitters. "Flick" kept up his good work after coming to Plainfield and his big wagon tongue was conspicuous in all of the contests in which he took part.

Carltrom in eighty-seven games at first base had 929 chances; 575 of these he converted into put-outs, thirty-eight were assists and eleven errors. Early in the season, he established the enviable record of going twenty-five full games without an error. His fielding average for the season was .988, winning him the title of "best first baseman in the league," although Logan, of New Bedford, average .991 in forty-seven games, and Aubrey, of Worcester, averaged .989 in twenty-eight games. "Carl" also played thirty-four games at shortstop, recording seventy put-outs, 118 assists and fifteen errors, for an average of .929. Nye, of Worcester, with .944 for 127 games, was the leading shortstop.

Al is still puzzled regarding the club to which he belongs. Sold by the Lawrence team to the Boston Red Sox, it has been rumored that he is now the property of the Montreal club, of the International League. Carlstrom, however, has heard nothing authentic of the deal and is still of the opinion that he will remain the property of the Boston club until the spring training trip at least.

Luyster, awarded a gold watch by a Lawrence jeweler on the vote of a board of three newspapermen who declared him the most valuable player to the New England League club of that city, was certainly entitled to his honors. As a hitter, Flick stood third in the league, with an average of .348. In 121 games, he was at bat 440 times, made 153 hits for a total of 220 bases, scored ninety runs and stole thirty-nine bases. He ranked eighth among the fielders, averaging .962 for 108 games. Luyster pitched twelve games for Lawrence, winning five and losing seven.

Frank Bruggy, completing his first season as a leaguer, may boast of a record seldom approached by a youngster just breaking into fast company. Bruggy played 122 games with Lawrence, averaging .298 in 467 times at bat. He made 129 hits for a total of 199 bases. Bruggy also scored ninety-one runs and stole thirty-six bases.

During the season, Bruggy in turn played the outfield, first base and enacted the role of catcher. He played ninety-eight games in the outfield, averaging .889. The Lawrence leftfield, one of the most treacherous on the circuit, was assigned to Bruggy's care after it had almost blinded Danny O'Connell. The sun was responsible for most of the big fellow's errors and also affected his batting to a certain extent. Since the close of the New England League season, Manager Pieper has been offered two players for Bruggy, but he refuses to part with the youngster, in whom he sees great possibilities.

Carlstrom also did good work with the stick, averaging .289 in the 121 games in which he played.

LARGE FIELD ENJOY WATCHUNG HUNT CHASE

The Watchung Hunt Club met the hounds Saturday afternoon at the New Brooklyn pond, they being thrown in nearby on the Hamilton farm. The chase led across the Manning, Smith, Jennings, Wooden, Tappen farms, the first check being on the McCullen farm. Taken up again the hounds were thrown in on the Randolph farm, crossing the Hadley, Dunham, Boice and Clark farms, checking on the Steengrafe farm.

L. B. Smith was acting master in place of R. C. Finch, who missed his first hunt in four years. Those who finished in the run were L. B. Smith, J. J. O'Donohue, H. A. Bourne, S. D. French, Col. C. E. S. Bellows, Beverly Brown, Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Margaret Dana, Mrs. Brown Rolston, H. S. Hollis, Brown Rolston, Bud Rolston and Huntsman Harrison. The Hunt's next chase will be on Thursday morning, Thanksgiving Day, at 10 o'clock, meet at the Baltusrol Golf Club. This will be a long run.

FOURTH VICTORY FOR LOCAL FIVE

Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Outclassed the Elizabeth Association Five.

GAVETT AGAIN STARS

Local Centre Duplicates His Scoring Feat of Last Week and Rolls Up Fourteen Baskets—Game a Good Passing Exhibition Throughout.

With the aid of another abundant collection of field goals rung up by Joe Gavett, the local Y. M. C. A. basketball hung up its fourth straight victory of the season in the association "gym" Saturday night pulling down the colors of the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. quintet by a score of 49 to 26. This is the third successful year that the locals have hung up victories at the expense of the Betsytown Y. M. C. A. five and in each instance practically the same lineup has turned the trick. On this occasion, Gavett, a new man, gave the Elizabethans a great deal of trouble by his goal shooting prowess. Equalling his record of last week Gavett rang up fourteen field goals.

"Husky" Powers, as usual, was the mainstay of the Union county seat aggregation and he totaled up a half dozen field goals throughout the contest. Conspicuous in the work of the rival team was the playing of the guards who, as goal preventers, were the best couple seen here this year. Playing the defensive game in its entirety, the guards held both of their opponents to low short and intercepted many long passes tried by the locals. Both teams put up a good passing game and their ability in this respect was about on a par.

Filling the vacancy caused by the absence of Glover, Farmer made an auspicious debut in an association lineup Saturday night being a big factor in the passing and netting a trio of pretty field goals in the latter part of the second half. Van Ness and Ford also did some good work for the visitors along the goal shooting line, each bagging a trio of the two point variety.

Preliminary Game on Chapel Court Saturday Decided by One-sided Score.

Hope Chapel second team men had an easy time defeating the Mt. Pleasant aggregation on the Hope floor, Saturday night, in the preliminary bill and when the final whistle blew the Chapelites held an advtanage of 34 to 18. Hatfield was the only man who did any amount of scoring for the country five and his contribution totaled up seven field goals and two from the penalty mark.

For the victors Bohl and Wardrop each rang up a quintet of two point scores and Thorn came within one basket of equalling this record.

GAME FORFEITED TO HOLY CROSS BY DEFIANT VIKING FOOTBALLISTS

Looking for trouble in every nook and corner and trying to unearth some situation by which they could have the scheduled contest "called off" the Viking football team of Bayonne made a deplorable debut into the Queen City Saturday afternoon and was the object of considerable unfavorable comment during the entire afternoon and evening. Arriving in the Queen City about 3 o'clock the Bayonne players paced the sidewalk in the vicinity of Park avenue until 3:30 and after many entreaties on the part of Manager Doyle finally consented to don moleskins. After they got into their regalia a further delay was occasioned and Doyle at last provided an automobile truck to convey the wayward Vikings to the field where play was started at 4:15 o'clock after the visitors carried out their defense to the smallest item of their schedule.

Once in action the visitors resorted to fouling tactics and made many delays necessary by their subbornness. It was plainly seen that the visitors were playing here against their will and failing to unearth a covered reason for cancelling the struggle assumed the role of trouble makers. The climax came when the Vikings refused to supply a substitute for an injured player within the allotted time and Referee Phillips awarded the game to Holy Cross by a score of 1 to 0 although the visitors had previously registered a touchdown.

Captain Wilson opened the game by kicking off to Longstreet who was downed in his tracks. The Holy Cross line was tried twice by the Vikings and yielded fifteen yards in the two attempts. At this juncture the locals took a brace and Longstreet was compelled to boot the ball to Wilson who ran it back ten yards before he was brought to earth. Holy Cross was unable to gain through the Vikings' line and Coyle kicked to Longstreet who made fourteen yards. At this point the visitors began to work their perfected forward pass with much success and Longstreet by this means advanced the ball to the ten-yard line where Tague carried it over for the touchdown. Longstreet failed to kick the goal.

L'Estrange kicked off to Ricketts who was downed with a small gain to his credit. Holy Cross, by a series of trick plays, worked the ball to the forty-yard line where Coyle tried a drop-kick, the first one attempted by the Holy Cross team this season, but the ball fell a small margin short of the coveted three point territory. Longstreet caught the kick on his two-yard line and standing behind his own goal line worked a neat forward pass which netted the visitors seventeen yards and on the next play completed the same trick for a gain of thirty yards. With a minute left to play in the first half Longstreet tried a field goal from the fifty-yard mark which fell far short of the crossbars. The ball was put in play on the twenty-yard line by Holy Cross and by steady plunging the locals worked the ball to the center of the field when time was called.

In the second half L'Estrange kicked off to Manning and by fierce line bucking the Plainfielders worked the pigskin to the thirty-yard line where it was lost to the Vikings. Longstreet at this point pulled off the longest forward pass ever completed on the Cricket Field sending the oval sixty yards diagonally across the field. Just as another touchdown seemed certain Webster recovered a fumble and the locals started another march down the field bringing the ball to the seventeen yard mark when the visitors refused to resume play and the contest was forfeited to Holy Cross.

WESTFIELD AGAIN TRIMMED LOCALS

Plainfield High School Warriors Take Second Beating by Score of 26 to 7.

ROSENSON GETS SCORE

Taylor and Marsh Shine For the Westfield Eleven Both On the Defense and Offense—Gavett Injured During Latter Part of the Game.

In spite of the one-sidedness of the score, the game between Plainfield and Westfield High School on the latter's gridiron Saturday afternoon, which resulted in a 26 to 7 victory for the Mt. Ararat crew, afforded the large crowd of spectators plenty of interest. Westfield got away to an early start in the scoring, pushing a runner across Plainfield's goal line soon after the commencement of play, and with the example once set, proceeded to follow it up with three more touchdowns.

Practically all of Westfield's gains were made on straight old-fashioned football, a system of mass plays being resorted to on the line throughout the entire contest. Marsh and Taylor indulged in a little rivalry in the scoring, each being credited with a brace of touchdowns. Rosenson hold the claims of Missouri as the banner poultry-raising State of the country. Numerous other States of the Mississippi Valley are represented, and the competition among the exhibitors is lively.

HOLIDAY GAME.

On Thanksgiving Day morning the Holy Cross football team, managed by William Little, will play the Cranford boys' club eleven on the grounds back of Parker Field at 10:45 o'clock. The Holy Cross team was defeated by the Cranford team earlier in the season and the conquerors are considerably stronger now than they were then.

NAVY CHAMPION HERE.

"Billy" Tague, the present lightweight pubilistic champion of the Navy, was in Plainfield Saturday afternoon in the regalia of the Viking football team. Tague played a star game for the visitors and scored their touchdown in the first half.

WILL FORM BASKETBALL FIVE.

The Holy Cross Boys' Club, after a successful football season which will close Thanksgiving Day, will form their basketball quintet for the coming year. An abundance of good material is available and a fast team will probably be formed.

BIG POULTRY SHOW.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 24—The annual show of the St. Louis Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association opened in the Coliseum today and will continue the centre of interest among poultry fanciers until it closes Saturday night. The display of birds is the largest in the history of the association and is calculated to uphold the claims of Missouri as the banner poultry-raising State of the country. Numerous other States of the Mississippi Valley are represented, and the competition among the exhibitors is lively.

played the most consistent game for the locals and it was due to his ability on the offense that the losers were saved from a scoreless defeat.

Westfield opened the game by kicking off to P. H. S., White catching the ball and carrying it to the thirty-yard line. Plainfield High School slowly but surely carried the ball to Westfield's twenty yard line on runs off tackle and around end. Here their opponents held and Smith tried a drop but the boot went wild and Westfield took the ball on their own twenty yard line. Westfield now started a grand march down the field, plowing through the Plainfield line for big gains. They were going straight for a touchdown when the whistle blew ending the first quarter with the ball on Plainfield's fifteen yard line.

After two rushes in the second quarter, Marsh was sent over with the ball. Westfield again kicked off, Rosenson receiving the ball on his twenty yard line. After several line plunges and end runs Rosenson threw a forward pass to Mann, but it slipped off his hands into Cherry's on the forty yard line. By speedy running and clever dodging he carried it thirty yards before being downed. On the next play Taylor was sent over for the second touchdown, but Hohenstein failed to kick the goal. On the kick off Rosenson received the ball in his twenty yard line and slipped along the right side of the field for a pretty twenty yard run. P. H. S. gained ten yards around right end and through tackle when the whistle blew ending the first half.

In the third quarter Butler kicked off to Taylor. On long runs by Marsh, Taylor and Cherry the ball was carried toward the Plainfield goal line and Taylor was sent over for another touchdown. Hohenstein kicked the goal. On the kick off White ran the ball back to the thirty yard line and Greene dodged around left end for ten yards. Snyder made five more through right tackle. Rosenson then made a pretty forward pass to Mann which gained twenty-five yards more. On the next play another forward pass was worked, Rosenson to Mann. This brought the ball to the fifteen yard line. Smith carried it around right end for five yards and Snyder through right tackle for five more. Then Rosenson took it through right guard for a touchdown. Butler kicked the goal.

Butler kicked off to Cherry, who came back like a whirlwind, taking the ball almost to midfield before being upset. On end runs and a shift formation the ball was carried to the twenty yard line. Here Taylor had to leave the game on account of a bad knee. Gavett got a nasty cut over his left eye and he also had to leave. On the next play Marsh ploughed through the line for the necessary yardage and Hohenstein kicked the goal. Westfield kicked off and after running the ball back to midfield a long forward pass was worked to Herrmann on Westfield's thirty yard line. Smith carried the ball around left end for five yards when time was called.

The lineup:

Why Not a Camera for a Christmas Present!

The desire for pictures is so general, and the making of them so easy, by the Premo Film Pack system, that a great plan has been worked out, to place a thoroughly reliable Premo Camera into the hands of the general public, through the medium of the best American newspapers.

The fact that this camera is especially made for this proposition by the Eastman Kodak Co., is absolute assurance of quality in the instrument, and the enormous quantity which they have been induced to provide for, makes possible such a remarkably low price, that the camera comes within the easy reach of every one of our readers.

The Plainfield Daily Press has been selected to make the distribution of cameras in this locality, and has been fortunate enough to secure several hundreds of these instruments. While they last, they may be secured by any reader of the Daily Press by clipping out and presenting the coupons at this office, together with the small expense item as mentioned below. This offer holds good only while our allotment of cameras lasts. These cameras can be secured in this locality only through this paper.

THIS CAMERA WILL MAKE A DANDY CHRISTMAS GIFT AND WILL BE WELCOMED ALIKE BY A BOY OR GIRL, A MAN OR WOMAN, OF ANY AGE, FOR IT ENABLES ONE TO MAKE AND KEEP FOREVER PICTURES OF ALL THEIR PLEASURES.

Every season is a camera season. The year is a succession of intimate personal stories and the camera has so simplified photography in all it branches that these stories may be easily recorded, whatever the season, whatever the condition.

BRILLIANT SPURT GAVE HOPE A WIN

Coming From Behind in the Final Three Minutes Chapelites Defeated Newark.

DOIG THE MAIN SCORER

Hope Captain Piled Up Twenty-two Points During the Contest—Game Was Hotly Contested From Whistle to Whistle—Final Score 44 to 38.

Breezing to the front in the last few minutes of play after occupying the runner-up position for a tickelish length of time, the Hope Chapel basketball team maintained its record for victories on the home court Saturday night by trimming the Circle Five of Elizabeth by a score of 44 to 38. Five baskets in quick succession by the Heron brothers and Doig told the tale of victory in the last few minutes of battling and when the final whistle blew the chapelites held the lead by a score of 44 to 28.

Ten field goals by Captain Doig provided entertainment for the Hope chapel followers Saturday night and his consistent scoring was the main cause of the visitors downfall. The Heron brothers contributed a total of eight field goals to the score and Snyder bagged a field goal.

The visitors presented the same lineup as appeared in the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. the week previous with the exception of Silvers who was substituted by Crommier at forward. The substitute caged eight field goals and was the best all around performer on the opposing side. Menke and Frank Fagan also did some good scoring.

DEXTERS VS. HOLY CROSS.

Manager Doyle, of the Holy Cross football team, has signed the Dexter football team of Perth Amboy to play here Thanksgiving Day afternoon. The Dexters won the first game by a score of 12 to 0, scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter.

ELKS' CRIPPLED TEAM.

Chauncey Stout, a member of the local Elks' bowling team, will be unable to go to Paterson with the team tonight to roll against the Silk City five and his place will be filled in by Clarence Teel, a pin-knight of days gone by.

GRACE BOYS' TEAM TROUNCED RIVALS

Superior Passing and Clever Shooting Responsible for One-sided Verdict.

Playing the preliminary game for the second time this season in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Saturday night, the Grace Church Boys' Club five duplicated their feat of the previous week and completely outclassed their rivals, piling up a score of 40 to 8 against the Plainfield High School Freshman quintet. During almost the entire contest the Grace boys had possession of the spheroid and their passing was the best seen on the Y. M. C. A. court in many moons. Every player on the winning side possessed the knack of "getting rid" of the ball in excellent style and the speed with which the ball traveled in Grace church territory completely bewildered the schoolboys.

Time and again the ball was worked down the floor by short, sharp passes and invariably one of the forwards succeeded in caging the ball at the end of the trip. Clever passing, aided by consistent shooting, earned a one-sided decision for the church boys in the first half and the second period was devoted principally to passing with a few sensational shots thrown in to break up the monotony. McNamee and Cottrell were the principal point-winners for Grace boys while McDowell played this role for the losers.

SAW WEST POINT WIN.

Charles H. Line, formerly assistant physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., who is now pursuing a post-graduate course at the International Y. M. C. A. Training College, returned to his home on East Front street yesterday for the Thanksgiving recess. Line attended the Springfield-West Point game at the latter place Saturday afternoon and saw the warriors of his alma mater go down to a 14 to 7 defeat.

GLOVER IS NOT THE ONLY FRED MERKLE PLAYING FOOTBALL.

Some time ago Myrton Glover, left guard on the Holy Cross football eleven, pulled a bonehead ray of the purest hue and received city-wide recognizance when he picked up a fumble on Cricket Field and raced full speed for the rival aggregation's goal line, but another player has now mounted to share the seat of elect with Glover; O'Brien, of Harvard, being his running mate for time to come. In Saturday's match with Yale at Cambridge the Harvard warrior snapped up the ball and to the amazement of the throng, turned his face away from the goal line being defended by Yale, and, with slightly hectic mien but much enthusiasm, ran behind his own goal posts and laid the ball on the ground for what he supposed would be a touchdown.

Almost everybody smiled, even a few Harvard men, when Billy Langford, the referee, pronounced it a safety and awarded Yale two points. As was the case when Glover pulled his wonderful feat, the mistake failed to cut a figure in the final score and for that reason, perhaps, these two rare performances should not be emphasized too strongly; but they are what are commonly referred to as "bones" in baseball and both caused a lot of worry to their teams at the time they were made.

H. C. COACH ALLEGES MARSH IS A TRAITOR

What William Little Has to Say Regarding Saturday's Game at Dunellen.

Holy Cross was defeated in a football game at Dunellen Saturday afternoon, 46 to 7 by the Monarch eleven. The game was one-sided from the start on account of several of the Holy Cross men not showing up to play, making it necessary for them to play with a much lighter line than they usually have. The game played two weeks previous against the same team resulted in a 6 to 6 tie, Holy Cross having in their heavy line.

One of the disagreeable incidents of the game was the trick played by Marsh, who served as one of the backs for Holy Cross. He led his team-mates to believe he was going to play with them but when the whistle blew to start the game he refused to play, leaving his eleven short-handed, and went over and played with Dunellen and gave away the signals. Holy Cross had to put Ed La Porte in, who, though not a member of the club, was the only man available. The action of the Monarch team in allowing Marsh to play with them does not reflect favorably on their credit.

The only goal scored by Holy Cross was made by Coudrey, who caught the ball on a forward pass from Conroy and made a 60 yard run for a touchdown. The play was worked so neatly that the Dunellen boys were away off their guard and let Coudrey have a clear field.

The Dunellen eleven gained most of their ground by line plunges which the Holy Cross line was too light to withstand. On their end runs they had strong interference and advanced the ball very often in this manner.

The two teams lined up as follows:

HOLY CROSS.		DUNELLEN.
Newkirk		Dealman
R. Hebert	left end	Teelin
Hull	centre	P. Maurer
W. Carson	right guard	Block
Megonegal	right tackle	Gray
Coudrey	right end	Frederick, Cole
Day	quarterback	Martin
R. Hebert	left half	Hannon
Newkirk		Barta
Conroy	fullback	Benson
J. Hebert	right half	E. Maurer

ACCUSES OTHER FOR THE CHANGE

Assessor LaRue Intimates An Attempt to Make Him a "Scapegoat."

CHAS. A. REED'S VIEWS

The Corporation Counsel Discusses the Situation—Tax Collector's Assistant Corrected Totals of Figures on An Assessment.

Replying to a news item in The Daily Press of yesterday regarding the error made by Clarence B. LaRue in the assessment on the personal property of the Plainfield-Union Water Company, the following was received from Mr. LaRue today as his second letter:

"Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

"When Mayor Stewart, Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed and the members of the finance committee of the Common Council meet to consider the assessment of the Plainfield-Union Water Company I hope they will notice in my field book something that the reporter for The Daily Press failed to notice.

"They will not need glasses to observe that my total in pencil was changed by someone, by writing over it in ink. I was very much surprised to find this change from my original total when I went to look at the book with the representative of the water company on Tuesday, November 18, at 5:30 p. m. I am glad that Mr. Townsend made a note of the change."

The change in the total which Mr. LaRue refers to in his letter undoubtedly referred to the substitution of a figure 5 for a 4 in the total "$525,225" representing the total assessment of the water company, which made the figures read, "$425,225," but even with the latter figures, which were those of Mr. LaRue, his addition was wrong. Mr. Townsend states that his assistant, Frank Dunham, changed the figure from 4 to 5, simply as a matter of correcting the addition, but by throwing out the $120,000 which it is claimed was assessed in error upon the water company, the total would be $405,225, and the assessor's total would be wrong in that event.

That which the city officials take exception to is Mr. LaRue's alleged action in changing figures in the assessor's book after it had been approved by the Union County Tax Board and the tax bills had been sent out. That he was in error is the opinion of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, when questioned today about the matter. He said that no one outside of the County Tax Board would have the right to make any changes and then only through a proper procedure. The books were approved assessing the water company $200,000 on personal property, and then after approval on that basis, Mr. LaRue substituted the figures $80,000 for the original amount, which was last year's assessment on the company's personal property.

MRS. MARKS TO ADDRESS MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

Mrs. Josephine Peabody Marks, playwright and poet, will lecture before the Monday Afternoon Club at the Hartridge Auditorium, Monday afternoon, December 1, on the "Relation of the Drama to the Life of the People." Mrs. Marks was the winner of the $1,500 prize offered by one of the governors of the Shakespeare Memorial theatre at Stratford-on-Avon, three years ago.

There were 215 plays submitted and after due process of elimination the Duke of Argyll gave the final decision in favor of "The Piper," a happy combination of all that makes a play successful. Mrs. Marks was a pupil of Prof. George Baker, of Harvard.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN FOR DOLLAR DINNER

Social Gathering to Take Place at Hotel Waldrof on December 8.

With Vice-President Herman Schwed in the chair, the newly formed Business Men's Association met last night in the Frost building and adopted a set of by-laws prepared by a committee appointed at the last meeting. There was some discussion about inserting a provision prohibiting members from contributing to any cause or advertising in any other publication other than those regularly entered at the postoffice. It was finally decided to defer the matter until the next meeting.

It was decided to hold a dollar dinner at the Waldorf Hotel on Monday night, December 8. To arrange for that event a committee was appointed consisting of Kenneth Stewart, John J. Varley, Jacob A. Fass, Samuel Rothberg and Jacob Tepper. President A. E. Force was unable to be present last night as he had gone to Chicago on a business trip.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR BATEMAN THATCHER HELD

The funeral of Bateman Thatcher, a well-known contractor, was held at his late home at East Fourth and Sycamore streets, this afternoon. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, of which Mr. Thatcher was an attendant, officiated. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including representatives of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P.; Washington Camp, No. 30, P. O. S. of A.; Local No. 155, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, of this city, and the Mutual Aid Association of Philadelphia, of which he was a member.

There was a large display of floral tributes from the various organizations as well as relatives. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were Walter Apgar, Sophuh Lassen, W. H. Pickel, William Lunger, Nelson J. Wiley and C. H. Laing.

LOCAL COMEDY CLUB WILL GIVE TWO SHOWS

"The Bishop's Candlesticks" and "The Teeth of the Gift Horse" to Be Presented.

Rehearsals for the two plays to be given by the Comedy Club of Plainfield at the Park Club on Dec. 9, are progressing splendidly under Coach Hart, who has so successfully directed many of the productions of the club in the past. The two plays "The Bishop's Candlesticks" and "The Teeth of the Gift Horse," will be presented by some of the newer members of the club. Henry C. White and Mrs. F. E. DuBois and Rosewell G. Rolston being the only ones chosen who have taken part in previous performances.

"The Bishop's Candlesticks" is a play based on incidents in France during the days of the prison ships, while "The teeth of the Gift Horse" is a modern comedy, with many amusing situations. In addition to taking part in one of the plays, Mr. White is acting as stage manager. Mrs. Charles H. Lyman, who has so successfully taken charge of the stage settings for many comedy club successes in the past, with Mrs. Henry C. White, will perform a similar service for this production.

The plays will be given for the benefit of the Park Club in recognition of the courtesies extended to the Comedy Club last May in connection with "Her Lord and Master," and Charles H. Lyman is looking after the management of the Park Club's end of the entertainment. Tickets will be on sale in a few days, but the members of the Park Club will have opportunity to secure them prior to the general sale to the public. Following the performance there will be dancing.

The casts for the two plays are as follows:

The Bishop's Candlesticks:
The Bishop ..... Henry C. White
The Convict .... Rosewell G. Rolston
Persome, the Bishop's sister .....
..... Mrs. F. E. DuBois

THIRTEENTH BRIDE OF WHITE HOUSE

Miss Jessie Wilson Becomes Wife of Francis B. Sayre At Brilliant Ceremony.

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER

Bride and Bridegroom Interested In Settlement Work and Neither One Cares For Society—A Brief Sketch of Their Careers.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25—Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, the thirteenth White House bride, who was married today at the White House to Mr. Francis Bowes Sayre, is an attractive and rather serious-minded young woman of many accomplishments. She was born in Gainesville, Ga., twenty-six years ago, as the second daughter of Woodrow Wilson, then associate professor of history and political economy at Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa., and his wife, Helen Louise Axson Wilson, of Savannah, Ga., whom he had married June 24, 1885. Miss Jessie received her early education at home under the direction of her father and by a German governess. Later she went to school and eventually to Goucher College, Baltimore, from which institution she was graduated, specializing in political economy. Choosing settlement work as her vocation, she gave two busy years to it as a worker among the laborers and the poor at Kensington, in Philadelphia. When her parents lived at Princeton, Miss Jessie continued her settlement work at Trenton, and also became identified with reform and settlement movements in several other large cities, including New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

Miss Jessie Wilson was never a society butterfly, although since the removal of the Wilson family to the National capitol circumstances naturally compelled her to take part in many social functions of an official or semi-official character. Tall, handsome, of a decidedly blonde type and with attractive, strongly modeled features, Miss Jessie Wilson attracted a great deal of admiration in social circles. She always was fond of outdoor life and became a fine horsewoman. Even while living in Washington Miss Jessie Wilson continued her active interest in settlement work and it was while she was engaged in her favorite work that she first met Mr. Sayre, whose bride she became today.

Francis Bowes Sayre, the bridegroom at today's White House wedding, was born in South Bethlehem,

THROAT AFFECTION FATAL TO MR. EICK

Popular Local Man Succumbs After A Long Illness.

Frank H. Eick, aged 44 years, youngest son of Mrs. Garret Eick, died at his home, 7 Westervelt avenue, about 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon, following an acute illness of two weeks. For the past twenty years he had had an affection of the throat and all that time he made a brave battle against the disease. It was not until two weeks ago that his condition was such that he was obliged to give up work and since then he failed rapidly.

Mr. Eick, born in Somerset county, spent practically his entire life in Plainfield, coming here with his parents as a child. He was a machinist, and learned his trade at the Walter Scott Printing Press Works, where he was employed for a number of years. After that he worked at the plant of the Aluminum Press and Plate Company for some time, and at one time was employed by an automobile concern in New York. For the past year he held a position in a large machine shop in Brooklyn.

Mr. Eick was a member of the Elizabeth Lodge of Elks and Franklin Court, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., of this city. He made many friends by his quiet, genial manner. He bore his affliction patiently, never complaining, although his suffering at times was intense.

There survives a mother, Mrs. Garret Eick, a sister, Miss Georgia Eick, and a brother, Robert D. Eick, together with several cousins. The funeral will be held at the late home at 12 o'clock noon tomorrow, and the burial will be in the family plot at East Millstone.

Funeral Notice.

To officers and Members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M.:

You are cordially invited to attend the funeral service of our late brother, Frank Eick, Wednesday, November 26, at 12 o'clock "noon," at the home of his mother, 75 Westervelt avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Signed, S. J. KRINEY, Councilor.

RAYMOND F. ALLAND GETS OFF WITH FINE

Former Postmaster of Stirling Punished on Embezzlement Charge.

Charged with embezzlement of $300 of postoffice moneys, it being explained that it is a "technical" charge, Raymond A. Alland, former postmaster of Stirling, pleaded non vult before Judge Relistab in the United States District Court in Newark yesterday and was fined $300. Assistant United States District Attorney Charles F. Lynch asked that punishment be limited to a fine.

Alland's defense was that as Stirlink has no bank he kept the postoffice funds in his pocket. Postoffice Inspectors Ondyke and McVicker arrested Alland last May when they discovered the shortage of $300. Alland claimed he balanced the accounts monthly.

Alland, who is a justice of the peace and a property owner in Stirling, was dismissed from his place as postmaster after the discovery of the shortage.

PLAN FOR CHRISTMAS SERVICE.

The officers and teachers of the First Baptist Bible school held its regular business meeting, last night, when plans for the Christmas giving service were discussed. This will be held the week prior to Christmas with other features in the way of an entertainment. Regarding the campaign in which efforts are being made to secure one thousand members of the school, it was reported that the present membership is 750 and is constantly growing.

FIRST VISIT IN 40 YEARS.

Egbert Ross, of Trenton, accompanied by Mr and Mrs. Daniel Ross, of East Millstone, visited Plainfield Sunday in a touring car, calling on J. W. Van Syckel, of East Third street, brother of Mrs. Ross. It was the first visit of Daniel Ross to this city in forty years. The party also visited relatives in Somerville, Metuchen and New Brunswick.

HARRY DRAKE BACK.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baldwin Drake, formerly of the borough, but for the past four years reseidents of Colorado, returned to Plainfield Sunday night and will remain here for the present. Mr. Drake's health is greatly improved.

DRAMATIC CLUB MEETING.

The Dramatic and Musical Club, formed under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee, will meet tonight at the Franklin School.

WOMEN SEEKING REPRESENTATION

Would Have One of Their Sex on the North Plainfield School Board.

THERE'S A VACANCY

Mrs. Foulks, President of Parent-Teacher Ass'n, Favors Idea—Mrs. Champlain L. Riley Will Not Be a Candidate.

According to members of the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association, the women of the borough will make a concerted effort to have one of their number selected to fill a vacancy on the Board of Education. Due to the autonatic resignation of Charles I. Nash, because he has established residence outside of the State, having removed to Philadelphia, a new member will be selected by the remaining officials. At last night's meeting of the Board the qualifications of several men to serve for the unexpired term was discussed. In March a district school meeting will be held to elect several new members.

Mrs. J. A. Foulks, of 93 Mercer avenue, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, said that at an executive meeting to be held next Monday she will present the subject informally. "We will certainly try to have that vacancy filled by a woman," she said, "and our organization will lead in the fight. I think the presence of a mother on the Board of Education will fulfill a long felt need. At present, however, I am puzzled to know who would accept the place. Of course I realize that the remaining members of the Board are to make the appointment and they might frown on having a woman on their body. In fact I spoke to two members and they told me they were absolutely opposed to such a proposition. However, at the election we will make our effort."

Mrs. Champlain Riley, president of the Plainfield Equal Suffrage League, when asked if she would become a candidate, said she did not think it would be wise for her to run. She asserted that some people would misinterpret her action and make the accusation that she was attempting to secure the position in the aid of Equal Suffrage, and that considering that several members of the Parent-Teacher Association are anti-suffragists, she thought it would be the better plan to select a candidate unaffiliated with any such body, who would receive the united support of the Parent-Teacher Association.

ARCHITECT CALLED LUNGER A GRAFTER

That's Why the Electricians Have Quit Work on the Roth Building.

F. A. Wurth, a Newark architect, who designed and is superintending the construction of the Roth Building, in East Front street, and William H. Lunger, business agent of the Building Trades Council, are at odds and according to the latter the difference was caused when the Newarker called him "a grafter."

The trouble started when a Newark electrician and the business agent were debating on the rules of the union. Lunger said the mechanic did not have a card identifying him as a member of a local union, nor a piece of pasteboard known as a "traveling card." The Newarker, according to Lunger's statement to a reporter, offered to pay the regular fee of $1 as the first installment for a Plainfield membership, but made the provision that he make the payment "under protest." At this part of the discussion Wurth is said to have called Lunger "a grafter," and then the business agent called the electrician and the other mechanics from the job.

Asked why he did not make the usual settlement with the electrician, as the latter had suggested by paying the $1, Lunger said he would not do so after being called "a grafter." No electricians were working on the building this afternoon.

Members of the local Epworth League are planning to hold a prayer service Thanksgiving morning at 7:30 o'clock, in the M. E. church.

Mrs. Hermann Baker sprained her left ankle while walking along Mountain avenue yesterday morning. She was taken to her home by a sympathetic autoist, who happened by in his machine and saw her distressing condition.

The epidemic of ptomaine poisoning has practically died out in the township, but for the time being, excitement was broadcast throughout Scotch Plains and Fanwood and Dr. Munger and Dr. Westcott were kept busy answering summons for medical attention. As was told exclusively last night in the Daily Press, the victims were those who attended the Parish House fair and "enjoyed" the turkey supper. Portions of the Thanksgiving bird is said to have caused all the trouble.

The Westfield and Fanwood Boards of Education will confer Friday night on school matters concerning both municipalities.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon have returned home after spending several days in Philadelphia, where they were the guests of Mrs. Cannon's sister.

Services on Thanksgiving Day will be held in all of the local churches.

The regular prayer meeting will be held tomorrow night in the Baptist church. Dr. Tomlinson will probably conduct the service.

The prize winning birds belonging to the Harmony Park Poultry Farm which were exhibited at the Plainfield show held last week, were brought back to the farm last night.

The pupils of Public School No. 1 have arranged a pleasing program appropriate to Thanksgiving which they will render in the assembly room of the school tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. There will be no session of school on Friday.

John Heinricks, who recently removed to this place from Plainfield, has purchased a lot from H. C. Lockwood in South avenue, near Martine avenue, and will soon start the erection of a house.

Road Contractor John Linden has about completed the work of cleaning the borough streets. A number of broken and clogged drain pipes which have caused overflowing of sidewalks, have been repaired.

Miss Marion Todd, a former resident of this place, now living in Bellevail, N. Y., underwent an operation for appendicitis today. Miss Todd is visiting relatives in Bound Brook and was taken suddenly ill yesterday.

M., and Lakeside Council, Daughters of Liberty, attended services in the First Presbyterian church Sunday night, where they listened to a superb sermon by the pastor, Rev. Ernest R. Brown.

The local Boy Scouts are making arrangements for an early morning hike on Thanksgiving Day. They expect to complete the trip by noon. A short time will probably be spent at Washington Rock.

Mrs. Sarah Smith is recovering from the effects of a recent operation.

Supervising Principal G. H. Rentschler, of the Dunellen schools, is receiving the applications of those who wish to attend the proposed public night school. He remained at his office in the Whittier School until late last night and will do the same tonight.

A Thanksgiving supper will be held tonight at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, between the hours of 5:30 and 8 o'clock. A pleasing program of music will be rendered throughout the serving of the cuisine.

Complete arrangements have been made by Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., for the "farmers' dance" it will give Thanksgiving eve at Friendship Hall.

The restaurant for the employes of the Hall Printing Press Co. will soon be re-opened. Preparations for the continuation of this feature of the plant began yesterday and it is expected that everything will be completed by Monday, December 1.

Mrs. Mary A. Huff, of Rahway, was a recent guest of Miss Mae McCann, on East Second street.

MO-JO White Chewing Gum

Talk No. 7

THE whole history of the chewing gum business is a romance of dirt coined into gold.

Out of the $34,000,000 people spend each year for chewing gum a chemist has calculated that at least $1,400,000 goes for dirt.

Manufacturers have not tried to make clean chewing gum. As people did not worry about the matter, why should they.

But now for the first time clean, white, pure chewing gum has been placed on sale. It is called MO-JO.

When you want chewing gum the next time, think of purity and you will say MO-JO. If you can't remember MO-JO, just ask for the dainty, clean, white gum.

STYLE SR RELIABILITY

Buy Early to Buy Well!

On all sides we hear that familiar phrase, "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early."

About this time last year our store was stocked with Christmas giveables.

Then the holiday crowds began to pour in and we had some of the busiest weeks of our career.

Before we knew it, it was a week before Xmas, and our stock of Gift things that men wear was almost exhausted.

We were compelled to take in an entirely new assortment for the next week's crowds, and here we speak frankly—it was selected from sources already depleted by Holiday demands and consequently was not a good as the first.

At the present time, we have in our store the most complete collection of Gift Things for Dad and the boys that long weeks of careful study could assemble.

If you want to do justice to the Season of Giving, buy EARLY and buy WELL.

Special unique Holiday Gifts from fifty cents upward. A small deposit reserves any article in our store until the Holidays.

The special union Thanksgiving service this year will be held at the First Reformed church at 10.30 a. m. The sermon will be preached by the pastor, the Rev. William S. Cramer. The services at St. John's church will be Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m., and morning prayer and address at 10 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery have moved from Green Knoll, where they recently sold their farm, to West Clinton street, in this place.

John M. Carberry has purchased the former residence of the late Frank W. Somers, on South street, and will occupy it shortly with his family. It was purchased from the estate of the late Alvah A. Clark.

Dr. Francis McConaughy delivered an address at the Green Knoll schoolhouse on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Florence Trumpore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Trumpore, formerly of this place, but now living at Anthony, was married on Saturday to Ray Hoffman, also of Anthony. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, by the Rev. Harry P. King, pastor of the Califon Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman will reside at Anthony on the return from their honeymoon trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Leport Dunster, of Basking Ridge, have been visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Dunster, of East High street.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron A. Vanderveer and family have moved from this place to Plainfield, and have rented their house to Dr. G. W. V. Voorhees.

The borough marshals are experiencing difficulty in enforcing the traffic ordinance recently adopted by the Borough Council, very little attention being paid to it by drivers of vehicles. Notices have been posted throughout the borough, calling attention to the ordinances, but these seem to have little effect, and the marshals are loath to make any arrests for violations its provisions.

Raritan

With the exception of the finishing room, the woolen mills of this place have shut down until after December 1.

The annual reception of St. Bernard's Alumni Association will be held in St. Bernard's Hall tomorrow evening. The patronesses will be Mrs. A. J. Chamberlin, Mrs. B. J. McNally, Mrs. George Myers, Miss M. Corcoran, Miss Mae Enright, Miss K. Gallagher. The committee of arrangements consists of James J. Cunningham, Michael Enright, Edmond J. McWilliams, William M. Corcoran, Misses Ethel M. Chamberlin, Anna B. Corcoran, Grace V. Kelley, Agnes H. McWilliams.

MACHINISTS HELD SMOKER.

The local division of the International Machinists Association held their annual smoker and reception in Eagles Hall, last night, and the affair was one of the most successful ever held by this organization in Plainfield. Hugh Reilly, the business agent of the association, gave a short talk and an appropriate program of vaudeville entertainment was given during the evening.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist, and newsdealer.

NOVEMBER 25TH IN HISTORY.

1783—The British troops evacuated New York city.

1809—Adolph E. Borie, a noted Unionist supporter and for a time Secretary of the Navy in Grant's cabinet, born in Philadelphia. Died there Feb. 5, 1880.

1833—Nicholas Esterhazy, who refused the crown of Hungary from Napoleon, died at Como, Italy. Born in Hungary, Dec. 12, 1765.

1867—Committee of the House reported in favor of the impeachment of President Andrew Johnson.

1885—Thomas A. Hendricks, twenty-first Vice President of the U. S., died in Indianapolis. Born in Muskingum County, Ohio, Sept. 7, 1819.

1890—Charles Stewart Parnell re-elected to the leadership of the Irish National Party.

1892—Sir John Thompson succeeded John Abbott as premier of Canada.

Plainfield, N. J., November 25, 1913.

THE PRESIDENT.

Now that the election is over and partisan strife ended, we can again contemplate without bias political conditions. President Wilson is in the White House and every man feels that the country is safe. He is an unusual type of statesman. Whether one agrees with him or not all feel that he is a safe, strong, patriotic president and that his motives are pure. We do not believe that he ever thinks or any measure except as to its possible relation to the average man of the Republic. Party strife and party advantage are not what he is striving for, but rather the common good of all. His life at Washington has been an example of simple Americanism. He does not hesitate to make innovations in customs. He is a plain man with a firm faith in a democratic form of government; no frills, no ostentation, no show. Just to do the duty that each day brings seems to be his motto. He is attending to his duties with most scrupulous care and devotion. He is on the job all the time. He is not using the White House as a place in which he may eat, drink and be merry. He has a different conception of the great office he fills. He makes his meat and drink service of the people. In this thanksgiving season this Republic has in its president a great cause for thankfulness.

By reason of Calvin E. Brodhead's resignation, it will become the duty and privilege of Mayor Stewart to fill a vacancy on the Board of Education. If His Honor desires to make a popular appointment he will have that opportunity by naming J. Herbert Case. He is a representative citizen, a property owner and a man of considerable experience in that work. His nomination would not only be welcomed by the present members of the Board but we believe by the general public interested in our splendid public schools.

Give a short time Thanksgiving Day to taking stock of the things for which you may be thankful and consider whether you could not have done more to make others happy during the past year than you did. We get the greatest comfort out of life by what we do for others.

The Daily Press thanks the many New Jersey newspapers that have had kind words to say of its recent "Do It For Plainfield" edition. Especially are we grateful for the favorable comments on Plainfield.

Be prepared to buy your Red Cross Christmas stamps and remember that every one purchased means so much money to defray the expense of giving battle to the Great White Plague here.

Governor Cole Blease will go down in history as the man who made South Carolina infamous.

All you Democrats line up now and declare your candidacy for the county tax board berth to be vacated by Brodhead. It means $1,800 per in the off-set against the high cost of living.

A long and happy married life for the White House bride is the wish of her distinguished father's political admirers in Plainfield.

We should not only be grateful for what we have, but many of us can be grateful for what we have escaped.

If you have sent a turkey to someone else you will enjoy your own Thanksgiving dinner much better.

Much to his credit Cardinal Farley has placed the ban on the "tango."

May your turkey be well cooked and your goose be tender.

Give thanks that you are an American.

A BOUQUET.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I wish to extend my congratulations on the enterprise and skill shown by you in the production of the historical and trade supplement to the Plainfield Daily Press recently issued by you. I have examined the supplement with a great deal of interest, and find that it contains much new and useful information about the various industries of Plainfield and well written historical articles showing the many advantages of our attractive and beautiful city.

Wishing you the success which your energy and high-grade journalistic ability deserve, I am,

Very truly yours,
GEORGE S. CLAY.

DID N. Y. CONCERN VIOLATE THE LAW?

Respective Counsel Must File Brief in Alleged Illegal Selling Case.

The first case of the renewed crusade against the alleged sale of liquors in Plainfield by New York department stores came up before City Judge DeMeza this morning when Charles Fredericks, of Newark, was arraigned in court, charged with selling intoxicants in this city without a license to do so. Through his counsel, L. L. Osborne, of this city, he pleaded not guilty. Little testimony was taken, Mrs. Frank Linke and Mrs. Florence McCready, of West Second street, being the only witnesses placed on the stand. The magistrate reserved decision and asked former Mayor G. W. V. Moy, who represented the prosecution, and Mr. Osborne, to file briefs on Tuesday, Dec. 9. Fredericks is an employe of a Newark department store, which is said to have delivered a package containing intoxicating liquor for a New York concern on Nov. 8.

To expediate matters, the City Judge, Mr. Moy and Mr. Osborne, held a short conference, with the result that counsel for the defense admitted that "whatever the defendant did, he did so without a license." He did not admit, however, that the department store employe had delivered the intoxicants in violation of any law. Mrs. McCready on the stand admitted that she did not order the package, which contained two bottles of gin and a bottle of Italian vermouth, sent to her home, although she said she paid $2.03 for the articles. She also claimed that she did not even know what was in the package when she paid for it and said she believed that Mrs. Linke had ordered the goods. Mrs. Linke corroborated her testimony. She further said she directed a clerk in the store of O'Neill & Adams to send the liquors to Mrs. McCready because she did not believe she would be at home when the order was delivered. Mrs. Linke added, however, that she happened to be at home when the beverages were delivered by a wagon bearing the name of a Newark store.

Mr. Moy on behalf of the prosecution rested and the counsel for the defense made a motion that the complaint be dismissed on the grounds that the complaint made no specific reference to any law of which a violation is charged and on the further ground that no evidence was offered showing any violation of any law.

Mr. Osborne appeared for the defense as a representative of Gould & Wilkie, of 2 Wall street, New York, and Vredenburg, Wall & Cary, of Jersey City.

COLD STORAGE PROBE.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Nov. 25.—The Cabinet session today was devoted to the discussion of Mexico and the President's message. No details, however, were given out. Attorney-General McReynolds announced his intention of going into the cold storage question in a very thorough manner and that it was possible that a special man would be put on this investigation.

THEY AGREED $9 IS A LIVING WAGE

That's the Result of Monday Afternoon Club Dept. Talks on Women at Work.

ANIMATED DISCUSSION

Mrs. Alice Jaynes, Mrs. Arthur B. Jones, Dr. Clara Krans and Mrs. Frank D. Warren Speak on Various Phases of the Other Subject.

Considering the general subject of "Woman's Responsibility in Civic Affairs," the department of miscellaneous topics of the Monday Afternoon Club met yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the Plainfield Public Library and listened to and discussed papers on "Plainfield Women in Industry." Mrs. F. V. Lawrence was the chairman for the session.

Mrs. Arthur B. Jones spoke on the subject of the afternoon. Mrs. Frank D. Warren discussed "What is a Living Wage?" and Dr. Clara Krans gave a short talk on fatigue on the body and efficiency. In addition to these papers, Miss Alice Jaynes, of Newark secretary of the New Jersey Consumers' League, gave an admirable address telling of her work in behalf of securing a State commission to look after the interest of working girls and women. Mrs. Charles Selden was unable to present her paper on "The Shop Girl."

Mrs. Jones stated that she had visited every factory in the city to learn the true conditions especially as regards the working girls and women and she found them to be above the average. What she considered to be the meat of the whole matter was found, she said, in the following excerpt taken from "The Survey," of New York, quoting Father O'Hara's comment on the situation in Oregon, where the courts have just decided its first test case in favor of the law for women. The note is as follows:

"The chairman of the Industrial Welfare Commission, Father O'Hara, thus comments on the situation: 'An industry which does not pay its employes enough to cover their necessary cost of living is a parasite on the homes of the poor and is subsidized by its employes. If any industry is so important to the community as to deserve to be sustained by a subsidy such a subsidy should come from some other source than its working girls.'"

The question of "What is a Living Wage?" introduced by Mrs. Warren, provoked a lively discussion among the women. She cited a local instance where a girl had been working for $3.50 a week. She was expected to pay that much board, but the landlady being a friend threw off fifty cents, and the girl had her clothing given to her, but she had no spending money. Some women took the position that the girl chose to take the position knowing the circumstances, while there were places open in domestic service where she might secure $15 a month and have a good home with food, and others took the view that possibly the girl did not earn the $3.50, being a novice.

It finally seemed to be the opinion that $9 a week was a living wage for one person, although instances were quoted where a family was living on $10 and another where a woman and two children were living on $6 a week. However, there seemed to be quite a wide difference of opinion on the subject.

Miss Jaynes devoted her remarks entirely in the interest of the movement she has started toward securing a State commission to be composed of three manufacturers, three employes and three persons from the public at large. Miss Jaynes, who has the reputation of knowing more about the factory girls of New Jersey than any one else, gave the audience a little insight into conditions She worked for three weeks in a factory at the prevailing wage just to get valuable information for her work.

COMPLETE CAST FOR JUNIOR MOCK TRIAL

Third Year Students of North Plainfield High School Will Present Farce.

The members of the Junior Class of the North Plainfield High School are planning to give the finest entertainment in the history of the school next month. At the beginning of the year the Board of Education decided that this class should not present a play as usual because it took up too much time and so the Juniors decided to give a mock trial that would take less time to prepare than a three or four-act play.

The cast is the largest that has ever taken part in any social function in the High School, there being thirty-one members of the class who have parts. The members of the class have made up their parts and with its original jokes, names and characters the entertainment should be a huge success. The members of the cast have been practicing earnestly and steadily for the past six weeks under the direction of their most efficient coach, Miss Ray.

The trial will be for one of the members of the class who has stolen a cup and was caught afterwards. The farce element prevails throughout and the long humorous names also create a funny atmosphere. Elmer French will act as judge, while Lester V. D. Chandler will be an English dude.

The jury will be composed of twelve members of the class. Eight of these are suffragettes and they make it very hot at times for the men who try to argue with them about points in the case. The entertainment will be held in Saengerbund Hall on Friday, Dec. 5. After the show there will be dancing until after midnight and the managers have secured Halbfoerster's four piece orchestra, of Elizabeth, for that purpose. The complete cast is as follows: "Get-rich-quick-Wallingford," Ralph Smalley; "Craig Kennedy," Russell Lee; "James Franklin," Hoyt Tomkinson; "I. Ketcham," Frank Fetherstone; "Judge Rosalsky," Elmer French; "Joshuah Ebenezer Frey," Duclos Van Mater; "Mike Mahoney," Edson Day; "Reginald Percival Montmerency," an English dude with monocle, Lester V. D. Chandler; "Josephus Levitsky," Richard Shroeder; "Sheriff Harburger," Theodore Layton; "Katrina Wilhelmina Van Pumpernickle," the thief, Lucy Douglass; "Hildegrade Gwendolyn Verde Vere," Kathryn Giddings; "Jane J. Perkins," Emma Ryno; "Mrs. Josiah Allen," Elsie Debele; "Rosa Lucindy Watleigh," Jebilee "Rosa" Rowley; "Jeannette de Morse," Ann Hull; news reporters, Nora Meaney and Viola Hauser. The jury is composed of the following: Margaret Currin, Marion Doughty, Margaret Hogan, Lizzie Hummer, Elva Lippincott, Helen Meaney, Lena Mobus, Helen Schmidt, Roscoe Van Camp, Halbert Hutchinson, Wesley Hughes and Godfrey Diplock, Hyman Abrams and Elmer French are the advertising and business managers.

TOOHEY RUTGERS CAPTAIN.

John O. Toohey, 1914, of Kingston, N. Y., was today elected captain of the Rutgers College football team. Toohey has played tackle for the past three years and has been mentioned as an All-American player. The Rutgers students held a banquet and bon fire in celebration of the victory over Stevens, Monday night.

BOOMS ACKERMAN FOR CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATION

The Elizabeth Journal has launched a boom for former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman of this city, for the Republican congressional nomination next fall. Says the Journal:

"The frankness of Edward W. Gray, former Secretary of the Republican State Committee, in announcing his candidacy for Congress in the Eighth district, may encourage other Republicans to declare their intentions early of entering the Congressional contest. The Fifth district next year should send a Republican to Washington to take the place of Congressman Tuttle. Why not former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman?"

When Senator Ackerman was communicated with today he said: "I did not see the Journal comment. I know nothing about it and I have nothing to say."

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

PATROLMEN'S ASS'N CONFERENCE HERE

Delegates of State Organization to Meet Tomorrow Afternoon at Jr. O. U. A. M.

The delegates of the State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association will meet with the Plainfield Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, in this city, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and it will be the first time that such a session has been held here. There are about forty delegates, one representative from each local, and it has been the custom to meet in the various cities of the State where there are locals at such times as there may be business to transact.

The meeting tomorrow will be held in Jr. O. U. A. M. Hall on East Front street, after which the visitors will be entertained at a diner at the Hotel Waldorf at which all members of the Plainfield local are expected to be present.

The officers of the State Association are as follows: President, William J. Mullen, of Trenton; vice president, Robert Shannon, of East Orange; secretary, J. J. Ohrenberger, of Elizabeth; treasurer, James Kehoe, of Edgewater; sergeant-at-arms, George Stecklein, of West New York. Patrolman Cornelius J. McCarthy represents the Plainfield local as a State delegate and will attend tomorrow's session.

"HUMANITY OF JESUS" DR. STRONG'S THEME

First of Series of Six Sermons on "Jesus the Christ."

"The Humanity of Jesus," the first of a series of six sermons on "Jesus the Christ," was the subject of a sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. Philip Strong, before a large congregation, at the First Baptist church Sunday morning.

"When we rightly establish Jesus' position in human history and experience," said the preacher, "then the Old Testament, otherwise only divinely understood, will become full of significance. If we recognize the supreme miracles of Christ Himself, then we shall have no difficulty in accepting other lesser miracles.

"Some startling features about 'Jesus the Man' make Him absolutely unique. His birth in an obscure region of an insignificant country, and in a barn and the poorest of the poor, yet heralded by angels visited by magi; the hope of the ages, and the fear of kings.

"Jesus Christ never wrote a line that we know of except in the sand and yet His words, so profoundly simple and sublimely beautiful and wise, have inspired poets and writers of all ages to produce immortal song, verse and story.

"Jesus did not develop in wisdom and proficiency along any line. His first utterance was as beautiful and as full of truth as His last, and He never had to retract or modify anything that He once said. His wisdom and His power were just as absolute at the beginning of His ministry as ever afterward. He was untaught and unlettered as the world knows education, knowing only the Old Testament, and probably not possessing a copy even of that as it was very expensive. Yet with what marvelous sagacity and power did He open up to them the Scriptures. He never used the Scriptures to buttress any statement of His, but quotes from them to explain truth as He gave it. 'They are they which testify of Me,' said Jesus, and all Holy Writ centers around the sublime truth embodied in John 3:16.

"Jesus Christ was sinless, too; even His enemies were compelled to grant this. No other person could ever truthfully say that he was without sin; the world would recognize the falsity of the statement in an instant, but with perfect truthfulness and unaffected meekness could Jesus assert that He had not sinned.

"The greatness of Napoleon, of Charlemagne, of Alexander, depended upon their continued existence; not so with Jesus Christ. Eternity is not too long nor the universe too large in which to see the culmination of His glory and His majesty, and while eternity shall last shall angels and archangels of all the heavenly host and the redeemed of all nations tell of His greatness and His love."

METUCHEN'S ELOPERS WERE MARRIED HERE

Coincident with the return of an eloping couple to their home in Metuchen, a wedding ceremony performed in this city last Saturday by the Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, comes to light. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Weniger are the two who chose to runaway and become one because of parental objections to the union. But all differences have been forgotten and the newlyweds were received with open arms upon their return. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hullings and the bridegroom is the son of Joseph Weniger.

William Hummer and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Baylis witnessed the ceremony.

Nana Genovese and Umberto Sorrentino Receive Ovation at a Recital Here.

Presenting a pleasing program of vocal selections before a small but appreciative audience in the Hartridge Auditorium last night, Nana Genovese and Umberto Sorrentino were given a hearty reception by their listeners and their selections were the subject of much favorable comment by the music lovers. The former rendered her numbers in a clear mezza soprano while the latter is a lyric tenor and the efforts of the two blended together in a remarkable maner.

The recital was given in this city through the efforts of Miss Hartridge, and although the noted singers came here practically unheralded the audience that greeted them was a highly interested one and the complete program of selections was rendered during the evening. The singers responded to many encores and each rendition was enthusiastically received by the listeners.

Madame Genovese made her debut in opera in her native country and has been under contract by Oscar Hammerstein to sing in the Metropolitan Opera House. Sorrentino sings in English, French, Italian, Spanish and a number of different dialects and he is particularly well known for his rendition of Neapolitan street songs. The following program was rendered by the two singers last night.

Duet from "Gioconda," Ponchielli; Mezzo Soprono Aria from "La Favorita," Donizetti; tenor solo from "Pagliacco," Leoncavallo; mezzo soprano solo, (a) Caro mio ben, Giordano; (b) La Serenita, Satin-Saens; (c) Ouvre tes veaux bleux; duet from "Carmen," Bizet; tenor solo, Neapolitan songs, (a) Tarantella singers, Decrenzo; (b) O sol e mio, Capera; (c) O Marie, O Marie, De Luccia; mezzo soprano solo, (a) Mimi Pinson, Leoncavallo; (b) L ultima Canzone, duet from "Trovatore," Verdi.

AGED WOMAN FOUND LIFELESS IN BARN

Mrs. Sarah F. Haynes Succumbed Suddenly Yesterday to Heart Disease.

Walking to the barn in the rear of her home late yesterday afternoon to secure some feed for her chickens, Mrs. Sarah F. Haynes, 76 years old, of Clinton avenue, was found dead several minutes later by Mrs. Kerr, a neighbor. A victim of heart failure she had fallen lifeless on the floor of the barn near the opened feed box.

Noticing the aged woman going to the barn, Mrs. Kerr started to investigate when her friend did not appear again in a reasonable space of time. Going to the barn door, she nearly stumbled over the body as she entered the structure. Dr. Edward Rushmore, of 429 Park avenue, was hurriedly summoned, but after making an examination pronounced the woman beyond all medical aid.

Mrs. Haynes was the widow of Rev. Thomas Wilson Haynes, a Baptist minister, who died in Kentucky in 1885. At one time he was a pastor at Mt. Bethel, but most of his charges were in the south. For the last five years, Mrs. Haynes has been identified with the Plymouth Brethren and the funeral services will be held at their meeting house in East Front street on Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

Besides her son, Paul C. Haynes, with whom she lived in Clinton avenue, Mrs. Haynes is survived by Mrs. Julia A. Coddington, of Mt. Bethel.

N. P. H. S. NOTES

Misses Lucile and Margaret Ewart, members of the senior and sophomore classes, respectively, are spending this week with relatives in Whitesboro, N. Y.

Tomorrow morning there will be special Thanksgiving exercises held in the High School. Rev. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will deliver the address and the High School will render two anthems. Mary Martin, '14, will also recite an appropriate selection entitled, "Digesting a Newspaper."

Elva Lippincott, '15, who has been sick at her home for the past two weeks, is improving nicely and is able to attend school during the afternoon session.

The senior class held a meeting yesterday afternoon and started work on the Christmas entertainment which will take place on Thursday, December 18. There was a discussion as to whether the entertainment should be given in Debele's Hall or Saengerbund Hall and finally after a vote the latter place was decided upon. As in previous years the class will give a one act playlet and will then give out the usual knocks to the members of the junior and senior classes in an original form. After the entertainment the music committee has provided fine music for dancing. The entertainment and knock committees are already busy, the former being under the direction of Miss Helen Ray, who will coach the sketch. The admission will be by complimentary tickets. The executive staff of the class has appointed the followings committees: Knocks, Ashley Burner, chairman; Lucile Ewart, Roy Love, Mary Martin, Franklin Lowe, Anna Warnock, Edna Green; entertainment, Mary Bennett, chairman; Miss Ray, Charles Beckman, Mary Martin, Lois Peck, Attwood Giddings; decoration, Helen Woodruff, chairman; Robert McGunnell, Flora Krausse, Edith Dalley, Elva Force, Virginia LaPorte, Gibson Fairman; invitation, Ashley Burner, Franklin Lowe; music, Charles Beckman, Roy Love; business banager, Ashley Burner.

The Sigma Gamma Club will hold a salamagundi party at the Y. W. C. A. tonight. The committees in charge are as follows: Entertainment, Ann Hull, chairman; Lois Peck, May Hoagland, Lucy Douglas; refreshment, Dorothy Martin, chairman; Laura Smith, Lucy Hughes.

At a meeting of the Camp Fire Girls yesterday it was decided not to sever connections with the main branch of the organization as was talked of. The secretary received a letter stating that the rates of membership have been reduced.

Laura Smith, '16, of Watchung avenue, entertained a number of her friends at a "500" party at her home last evening. There were two tables of cards and after the games were over the prize winners were announced. Dorothy Martin won the girls' first prize and Samuel Harper took the boys'. Arthur Gaskill was presented with the consolation prize. At a late hour refreshments were served by the hostess' mother. Those who were present are Dorothy Martin, Marielle Dunham, Margaret Vossler, Clara Smith, Laura Smith, Samuel Harper, Frank Wadsworth, Arthur Gaskill and Harold Denlinger.

NIGHT SCHOOL CELEBRATION.

The Thanksgiving exercises of the Plainfield public schools night school will be held tomorrow night at the Stillman School at 8:30 o'clock.

BOYS WHO PLAY "HOOKEY" ARE GIVEN ANOTHER CHANCE

Clarence Garthwait, of Chatham place, a pupil attending the Somerset School, was summoned before the North Plainfield Board of Education last night, because he had made a practice of playing "hookey" and in other ways had caused his teacher annoyance. He was reprimanded by the Board members, who agreed to give him another chance provided he "turn over a new leaf" which he agreed to do. The boy was placed on probation for 30 days.

The kindergarten was appropriated $12 to provide a Christmas entertainment. District Clerk Frank Rowley was authorized to sign warrants to the amount of $4,262.53, to pay bills, charged against general expense and in amount $376.48 against the manual training account; also, to borrow $4,000 by demand note in anticipation of taxes. The committee on insurance advised that it would be unwise to apply to the State Department of Banking and Insurance to have the insurance rate lowered on the Somerset School building. A letter from J. B. Betts was read, in which he said all principals, teachers and janitors earning a salary less than $1,200 per annum, could be compensated under the Employers' Liability Act.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Thanksgiving services will be held at Hope chapel Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The mid-week prayer meeting on Wednesday night will be omitted this week.

The Local C. E. Union Congress meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, December 1, to plan for the January mass meeting.

Rev. Edward P. Littell, of Christ Episcopal church, Elizabeth, will preach at the 11 o'clock service at the Church of the Heavenly Rest in exchange with Rev. C. H. Mallery.

The Danish Lutheran service will be held every Friday night, instead of Wednesday in the Swedish Pilgrim church, West Sixth and New streets, with preaching by Rev. N. H. Nyrap, of Brooklyn.

Miss Mary White will have charge of the meeting of the Plainfield Graded Union in the Y. W. C. A., Monday afternoon, December 1, at 3:45 o'clock. Her subject will be "Beginners' Lessons and Songs." All interested are invited.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest will be held in the parish house Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

THE SIN OF INJUSTICE.

A Sermom By

REV. DR. C. E. HERRING

Are we aware that the great sin of this age is the sin of injustice? We are filled with benevolent schemes for the improvement of the condition of humanity, but humanity is not perfectly satisfied with our beautiful schemes. The cry is for simple justice.

In a recent article, written for the New York Globe, Dr. Crane asks this question: "What is the matter with Mexico?" He answers the question by saying, "the same thing that is the matter with China, Portugal, England and with every other country in a greater or less degree. It is not because the Mexicans are naturally mean and contentious, nor because they lack an able leader. They had an able leader in Porfirio Diaz, and under him they were persistently robbed, oppressed and condemned. "All the prosperity under Diaz was the prosperity of the privileged classes."

There is but "one root cause," says Dr. Crane. "It is INJUSTICE." Pass over from Mexico to England and listen to Lloyd George. "There are hundreds of thousands, if not millions of men, women and children living under conditions with regard to wages, housing, and the rest of labor conditions which ought to make this great empire hang its head in shame."

"The stain on the national flag is as deep, if that flag floats over slum bred children, and over ill-paid, ill-housed, and ill-fed men and women as if it were to drop in defeat on the field of war."

Periodically we read of the ancient superstition revived in Russia which claims that the Jews in their sacrifices use the blood of Christian children. They that promulgate this charge know it is false. We believe, however, that we are approaching the time, when "justice to the Jew" will be a reality.

If the business maxim, "business for profits," were revised, and men were to put in their business some of the ethical principles of the world's Great Teacher, there would not be 26,000 women in New York city selling their bodies to get a living.

If your aim is to be just yourself, then if the other fellow has not had justice accorded to him, and you have any power, is it not your Christian duty to exert yourself to see that he has fair play?

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 35.

PERFECTION is a matter of constant striving to improve. The reason most of us don't get nearer to perfection is because we are satisfied with our present state of progress—contented to do things just as we have always done them—serene in following the old methods and accustomed tracks simply because the ability to improve, to go ahead, to approach nearer to perfection means a little effort.

I saw an instance of this the other day. The manager of a large office called the attention of one of his stenographers to a letter he had just received from one of the branch offices of the company. The letter was a model of the stenograhper's art. Capitalization, punctuation, paragraphing, spacing, margin—all were perfect. It was a pleasure to read such a letter—not a puzzle as is the case with some letters I have seen that were written by individuals who professed to be stenographers.

"Miss B.," the manager said, "I wish you would write your letters that way. I'm not finding fault with your transcriptions, remember, but I'd certainly like to have my letters go out of here looking like this one. You see, the margin on the right-hand side is nearly as even as the margin on the left, and the whole letter is centered and spaced and paragraphed so nicely that it is pleasing to the eye and creates a good impression."

Miss B admitted the truth of what was said, but when her superior officer mentioned the even margins, she interrupted testily with: "Oh, my; that's too much trouble!"

It is a little trouble, when typewriting, to get the right-hand margin even, or nearly so. The left hand margain is always even, because it is mechanically made so, without any thought or effort on the part of the operator. But to make the margain at the other side of the sheet look nice requires a certain skill that comes with practice in the right way of doing things. Once acquired, this habit of neatness becomes an unconscious part of the really efficient stenographer's daily work. Yet, easy as it is to master this one step toward perfection, in every office in the land there are stenographers who, when shown such work, will say: "Oh! that's very good, but it's too much trouble."

If YOU are a stenographer to whom nothing that tends toward greater efficiency is "too much trouble," there are hundreds of business houses anxious for your services. Get into touch with a good position by reading, or using, the CLASSIFIED columns of this newspaper.

MISS JESSIE WILSON, THE THIRTEENTH WHITE HOUSE BRIDE, IS ANXIOUS TO START HOUSEKEEPING

THE HALL

With the wedding of Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson and Francis Bowes Sayre today the last finishing touches are being put on the house at Williamstown, Mass., which the daughter of the President and her husband will occupy as soon as their honeymoon is terminated. The cottage that will be their home was selected by Miss Wilson herself, and the entire scheme of interior decoration and furnishing was arranged by her.

Miss Wilson has inherited much of her mother's artistic taste and temperament. Thus she is qualified to intelligently select only those articles which harmonize with their surroundings. What she and her future husband have chosen and purchased together is severely simple but good.

The house, of frame construction, is of modified Colonial design—a mixture between Colonial and Queen Anne. It consists of ten rooms, is two stories in height, with broad verandas on three sides and a conservatory on the other, and is surrounded by a spacious lawn, which is literally dotted with flower beds. All the comforts and improvements to be found in a modern house are included, and its interior is so well arranged and proportioned as to permit of charming treatment.

In describing her home, immediately after she and Mr. Sayre had visited it together for the last time prior to their marriage, Miss Wilson said:—"It is a dear."

Mr. Sayre, when asked to describe it, enthusiastically exclaimed:—"It's the bulliest little box imaginable."

members of the United States Senate. In all there are fifteen pieces. The tea service proper consists of a kettle with its spirit lamp mounted on its base; a huge tray, a coffee and a tea pot, sugar bowl and cream pitcher and a water jug. To augment this exquisite service are four graceful candlesticks, an ice cream and a chocolate platter, two comportiers and a beautifully proportioned flower urn, or centre piece.

Bearing in mind the design of this service, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie sent plates, while the Ambassador from Spain and Mme. Riano sent a handsome [illegible] bowl.

Neither Mr. Sayre nor his fiancée have given the slightest inkling as to where their honeymoon is to be spent, but those who know them best unequivocally assert that it will not be long before they are comfortably installed in their charming new home, each ready and eager to embark upon the life of usefulness each has elected.

uine and masculine mode of [illegible] where the viewpoints are [illegible].

As might be expected, the new Sayre home will be literally crowded with presents that have been sent from far and near and are now on view in a big chamber in the White House which is a part of the family suite. Naturally the approaching marriage of a daughter of the President of the United States strikes a responsive chord in thousands of hearts.

The vast majority of gifts were spontaneously prompted, and this fair young girl and her sturdy and substantial husband are appreciated and loved for their true worth.

Pa., in 1885, as the son of the late Robert Heysham Sayre, who died in 1907, leaving a large fortune. Robert Heysham Sayre was a civil engineer whose exceptional ability was well known and recognized throughout the country. He was the builder of the Lehigh Valley railroad and later became assistant to the president of that road. He also built up and became general manager of the Bethlehem Iron Works, now known as the Bethlehem Steel Works. He was a man of considerable prominence and for many years was president of the board of trustees of Lehigh University. His widow, the mother of Francis Bowes Sayre, is the daughter of John Williamson Nevin, theologian and president of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. She is descended from a framer of the Constitution, Hugh Williamson, member of Congress. Her brother was the late Robert J. Nevin, head of the American Church of Rome, Italy. She also is a first cousin to Ethelbert Nevin, the composer. Mr. Sayre's only brother, Rev. John Nevin Sayre, is now a missionary in China.

Francis Bowes Sayre received an excellent education. He was two years at Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., and two more at Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, New Jersey, from which he graduated in 1904. Entering Williams College the following year, he achieved prominence in his studies and also in other fields. He was manager of the football team, organized and was president of the Good Government Club, assisted in Y. M. C. A. work and was valedictorian of the class of 1909. He spent two summers with Dr. Grenfell on the Strathcona, the Alaska relief ship, and in 1909 entered Harvard Law School, from which he graduated with honors. His vacations he spent traveling in many parts of the world. He avoided the beaten paths of tourist travel and visited nearly every European country. His vacation last year he spent in Alaska and northern Siberia and after his return he became one of the assistants in the law office of Charles S. Whitman, district attorney of New York.

Mr. Sayre is a serious-minded young man who loves to travel, not so much for his pleasure, but to learn by careful observation. He always took great interest in social reform work and at one time worked as a common miner in a coal mine in Alabama to study the conditions of the workers at close range. It was their common interest in settlement work which first brought Mr. Sayre and his bride together and laid the foundation for the romance which culminated today in their marriage.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Tuckabutchee Class of the Congregational church has made its annual appeal for Thanksgiving dinners for the poor. Those interested are requested to communicate with Carter Goodrich, 214 West Seventh street.

The Westminster Guild of the Crescent Avenue church met in the church parlors yesterday afternoon.

The Home Mission Study Class of the Crescent Avenue church will meet in the church parlors Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The subject will be "Immigration."

The Sunday-school of the Crescent Avenue church will ship its annual box for the schools under the care of George N. McComb, at Hewitt, Minnesota.

The quartet choir of the Crescent Avenue church will give the second of its series of musical services next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when "Harvest Cantata," by C. W. von Weber, will be sung.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church met this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Miss May Shreve, 115 Grove street. Mrs. F. E. Bach led the devotions and Mrs. J. H. Case presented a paper on "Transformation of the Red Man."

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will have charge at the Evona chapel on Thursday night.

The oratorio, "The Life Everlasting," will be sung by the quartet choir of the First M. E. church on Sunday night, under the direction of Clifford A. Braidet, organist.

Miss Elizabeth Weber led the Epworth League meeting at the First M. E. church, Sunday night, the subject being "What is the Greatest Cause for Gratitude?"

The work of rebuilding the stone tower on the First Baptist church is nearing completion. The contractor, Albert Pangborn, has experienced some difficulty in removing and replacing the heavy stones, some of which weighed nearly a ton.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, and Rev. F. L. Greene, of Hope chapel, exchanged pulpits Sunday morning.

Rev. C. H. Mallery, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, baptised Hazel Scribner and Elizabeth Pangbourne on Sunday.

CONQUERORS SPEEDY

Columbia Grammar School Quintet Annexed Verdict By Superior All Around Work and Held Advantage From Whistle to Whistle.

Inability to cage the ball in the few instances when they were given the opportunity, sent the Leal School basketball players down to defeat in their initial court battle of the season on the Y. M. C. A. floor yesterday afternoon when the Columbia Grammar School team visited Plainfield for the first time in the history of local basketball. Columbia won by a score of 29 to 16 but the margin of thirteen points falls far short of showing in black and white just how closely the battle was waged, for the Leal boys were in the running at all times, particularly in the second half when they picked up perceptibly both on the defense and offense.

The New Yorkers' excellent shooting and clever team work gave them an early advantage against the private school's second string squad which was sent in by Coach Wardlaw to open the hostilities. It was soon seen that the second squad was completely outclassed by the speedy Gothamites and the first team was rushed to the rescue but not until the visitors had piled up a big advantage which was never overcome.

Conspicuous in the work of the Leal quintet was the vast improvement over the article of basketball put up last season and from present early season indications prospects look particularly rosy for an excellent court season for the locals. The work of Captain Dickerson and Stewart was prominent throughout the contest while the guards played in good form spasmodically. For the winners Captain Cohn and Verman were the chief point-winners, while the blue and white team was in the game every minute assisting the teamwork or caging the ball.

"MAC" SAYS

Joe Gavett has plainly demonstrated that he has an uncontrollable habit of piling up fourteen field goals per game for the Y. M. C. A. quintet. Otherwise there is nothing radically wrong with the big "cop."

Baseballically speaking we would opne that this man Gavett is batting around the .350 mark in the winter basketball league. That's all.

Gavett, however, is a young man, and has plenty of time for improvement. By dint of long and assiduous study he may one day become a successful basket cager.

Brickley's toe might have been the obstacle that sent the pigskin spinning between the uprights for three points but how about the other ten men on the team that kept the Bulldogs from treading on Brickley's cunning toes while he completed the stunt?

One of the rarest examples of defiance in the football warrior was evidenced here Saturday afternoon when a lot of highbinders, known as the Viking football team, were allowed to land on our hospitable shore and ply their nefarious trade at the expense of the local followers of the pigskin game.

Manager Doyle did his best to check the deplorable display of rowdyism but the Vikings did not intend to play football when they landed in the Queen City.

It is not necessary for Doyle to prove that his warriors could have beaten the visitors. He admits it.

When a man raises his voice in protest against the roughness of football, it is a sure sign that he has never seen a crowd of basketeers playing that gentle game of basketball on a hardwood court caged in on four sides by a cement wall. Look-em over.

Coyle tried the only drop-kick attempted on the Holy Cross field this year Saturday afternoon against the Vikings. The little quarterback is evidently trying to get in the Brickley class for the All-American outfit.

Up to last night local sportsmen might have been led to enthuse over the work of the Watchung Council pinners in the K. of C. league if one were able to enthuse over the bowling game at all, but the long slip of last night put a sad blemish on the Plainfielders' records.

Football statisticians have failed to record the number of knockouts on the gridiron this season but we have a slight suspicion that many of the plungers would make good in the white hope role.

It is not necessary to read the almanac to learn that winter is approaching. By scanning the sporting page one learns that the Grace church athletes have come to life again as is their annual custom when the basketball season blows in.

It is hard to imagine anything more lonesome than the handle of some diamond star crowded in among a lot of basketball and football players' trade marks.

While those Union County League football managers are guessing the names of the teams and schools that ought to be and are represented in the organization they might as well get together and make the same guess. Plainfield High School has been slated to enter for sometime past as has also North Plainfield and New Brunswick High Schools although neither of the latter two are in Union county.

Two of Plainfield High School's opponenes finished up their mud-slinging yesterday afternoon on the gridiron. Rahway High took the measure of the Roselle eleven which has been busily engaged for some time past in making charges of professionalism against the Rahwayites. As professionals they far outclassed the Roselle amateurs.

Kearny High School emphatically denies and even goes so far as to speak in harsh tones to the North Plainfield High School basketball team's captain in regard to a report on that beating administered in Kearny last week. The home five was beaten by a solitary goal and not by several goals as one correspondent stated. But what's the use, North Plainfield won, anyway.

Y. M. C. A. HELD PRACTICE.

Captain Brynairski, of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team, has outlined a stiff program of practice work for his team this week in preparation for the New York University clash Thursday night in the association gym. The first drill of the week was held last night and the following men were out in uniform, Hetfield, Gavett, Moulton, Farmer and Brynairski.

WATCHUNG KNIGHTS DROP THREE GAMES

Nine Man Outfit Defeated in Trio of League Contests at Elizabeth.

Nine members of the Watchung Council bowling team were taken to Elizabeth last night to pit their strength against the Bayley Council team of that place, but their combined strength was not sufficiently strong to keep the home pinners from annexing all three of the contests rolled. Captain George Taylor was the only members of the local team to compete in all three of the games while Shannon, E. Taylor and Howe got into two out of the trio.

Captain Taylor set the high score mark for the locals in the second game when he piled up 185. A margin of 135 points separated the rivals in the first match, an even 100 pin advantage ruled in the second and the margin soared to 114 in the final contest.

Moran, of the winning side, set the high score individual mark for the evening when he pinned 194 in his first game and his high water mark came within one pin of being equalled by Barnes, who had a 193 to his credit. A 937 rolled in the first match set the high team score of the series, three of the Bayley knights pushing their score over 190.

WILL PLAY ALUMNI.

The second North Plainfield High School-Alumni basketball game of the present season has been arranged for next Friday night in the Saengerbund Hall gym. Although the schoolboys won the first encounter the Alumni has been materially strengthened for the second match by the addition of several players who are home for the college Thanksgiving recess and the grads expect to turn the tables this trop.

WOMEN GOLFERS WILL MEET.

The last Thursday in January, which will fall on the 29th, has been selected for the annual meeting of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, of which several local women golfers are members. The place at which the meeting will be held has not as yet been selected. The nominations of the officers of 1914 will be made public about the middle of next month.

FINAL PRACTICE.

A final practice of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team before the big game with New York University, scheduled for Thursday night in the local gym, will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. All the members of the team are requested to be on hand promptly at that time.

NEW ASSISTANT MANAGER.

Myrton Glover, for five years a member of the Ajax basketball team, has been elected as assistant manager of the quintet for the coming season.

LOW SCORE RECORD MADE BY LEAGUERS

Army Aggregation Defeated the Yale Five in College League, 4 to 2.

A record scoring basketball game was played at New Market yesterday afternoon in connection with the College League of the public schools of that place, when the Army five defeated the Yale outfit by a count of 4 to 2. A score similar to this one is seldom recorded on the basketball court and savors of excellent guarding on the part of each team.

At the end of the first half the game stood a scoreless tie and at the beginning of the final period of play Lund opened hostilities with a neatly executed shot. Von Minden followed this up with a two point score for Yale and the score was once more tied up.

Just before the final whistle blew, after the ball had been passed up and down the court for a period of ten minutes, Smith caged the winning tally and gave the Army soldiers the decision.

NEWS FROM N. Y. U.

The team of Columbia Grammar School basketball players that opposed the Leal School aggregation in the Y. M. C. A. gym yesterday afternoon, last week opposed the New York University quintet, which will play the Y. M. C. A. five Thanksgiving night on the local court. Members of the Columbia team claim that the collegians average 185 pounds to the man and have an exceptionally fase aggregation this season. New York won the game by a wide margin.

GLOVER OUT FOR TWO WEEKS.

Captain Brynairski, of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team, stated last night that Myrton Glover, a guard on the team, would be out of the game for at least two weeks to come and his place will be taken by Al Farmer, who substituted last Saturday night against the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. Glover underwent an operation on his nose Friday afternoon, but the wound has not healed as rapidly as was at first anticipated.

A NEW FEATURE.

Lester Chandler has just completed a new scoreboard for the North Plainfield High School basketball team which will be placed in Saengerbund Hall for the accommodation of spectators who desire to watch the progress of the game in the scoring line.

HOPE CHAPEL MEETING.

Coach Jack Martin, of the Hope Chapel basketball team, has issued a notice for a meeting to be held in the Chapel rooms tonight. All members are requested to be on hand at 8 o'clock.

LOCALS DROP TWO ON PATERSON SHUTES

Local "Hello Bills" Present a Crippled Fighting Front and Are Beaten Handily.

Rolling with a crippled lineup on the Paterson shutes last night, the Plainfield Elks' pinners dropped two games to the Silk City representatives by comfortable margins. Chauncey Stout was absent from the Plainfield lineup and in his place was Clarence Teel, a pin-knight who has been out of the game for a long time.

All of the local team's members' averages were exceedingly low with the exception of Kiely's and he managed to mount to 192 in the final setto. Romary and Curtis did the best pinning for Paterson, the latter setting up the high score mark of the evening when he toppled over 203 pins in the final game.

The scores:

PLAINFIELD.

Blatz	146	169	139
Kiely	187	161	192
Teel	165	137	144
Nash	177	123	158
Campbell	174	172	185
	846	762	818

PATERSON.

GAME AT HEAVENLY REST.

The freshman basketball team, of the North Plainfield High School, will play the boys' quintet of the Heavenly Rest church in the latter's gym tonight.

"My Papa Has Bought His Christmas Presents Already."

See the smile on the boy's face? No wonder he smiles at having such a wise, kind and thoughtful parent. He is proud of his dad—proud to know that the head of the family does not procrastinate and put off till tomorrow what ought to have been done day before yesterday.

Make your own children smile too. Do your Christmas shopping early, and you will have the satisfaction of knowing that while helping others you have helped yourself. Tired clerks and delivery boys will bless you, and you will also be blessed in having larger stocks from which to make selections.

ANTLER A. C. WARRIORS OUT TO A LATE START

The Antler A. C., a newly organized aggregation of junior pigskin chasers, is scheduled to play the West End A. C. on the Cricket Field at 9 o'clock Thanksgiving Day morning and the indications are that a good game will be the issue as both teams have some excellent material. Although getting away to a late start the Antlers would like to arrange games with any teams averaging between twelve and fifteen years of age.

Managers desiring to book games should write to Cecil M'Afee, 113 Oxford place.

Moore, W. Rose, Townley, substitutes. B. Berse, coach.

ELKS' LEAGUE POSTPONEMENT.

The match scheduled for last night to be rolled on the Newark alleys between Elizabeth and the team of that place in connection with the Elks' bowling league schedule was indefinitely postponed. Captain Hinton, of the Newark five, says it will probably be rolled off some time during the first or second week of December.

The Turkeyless Dinner.

Turkey is an accepted fact on Thanksgiving in many families where turkey is really a burden. In the very small family turkey, although it is delicious when it makes its first appearance, is quite unwelcome before it has run the gamut of soup and sandwiches and other leftovers that it must run. So very often it is only sentiment that makes the buying and serving of turkey in such a family on Thanksgiving obligatory. In many households it would be possible to indulge in turkey at occasional restaurant meals, and to buy a more economical and more easily disposed-of meat for Thanksgiving.

Some Substitutes.

Of course a good roast chicken is the most natural substitute for the turkey at Thanksgiving. A chicken pie is a time-honored Thanksgiving dish. Many a table groaned with a turkey at one end and a huge chicken pie at the other in the old days. A roast of lamb is another dish, for it is a dish that combines well with vegetables. A cheaper substitute is a breast of veal, roasted.

Here are some economical turkeyless menus for Thanksgiving dinners, making use of the various meats suggested.

Cream of celery soup, olives, roast chicken, browned sweet potatoes, cranberry jelly, creamed turnips, celery and apple salad (made from the inside stalks of the celery from which the soup was made) toasted salt wafers and cheese balls, pumpkin pie, nuts, raisins and coffee.

Raw oysters, chicken soup with noodles, chicken pie, mashed potatoes, browned parsnips, green peppers stuffed with rice and baked, pumpkin pie, American cheese and coffee. The oysters may be served on the half shell or else in cocktails. The chicken broth can be made from the liquor in which the chicken in the pie was boiled.

Cream of carrots, olives, roast lamb, mashed potatoes, minced spinach, creamed onions, currant jelly, lettuce salad, pumpkin pie, figs, dates and nuts and coffee.

Potato cream soup, roast breast of veal with bread dressing, browned white potatoes, creamed carrots, cabbage salad, pumpkin pie, apples and oranges, and coffee.

This last menu is very economical. The veal is not expensive. The vegetables are all cheap. The apples, too, are cheap in most localities at this time of the year. And potato soup requires only milk, mashed potatoes, and a little butter, pepper and salt.

To prepare the veal put the following dressing in a pocket which the butcher has cut in a breast of veal: Soak a loaf of stale bread—or the equivalent to a loaf in odds and ends of crusts—in cold water for four minutes. Remove, press out the water by squeezing the bread in a piece of cloth, and put the bread in a bowl with a little chopped onion, a teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper, and some chopped parsley, if that is available. Put the meat in a hot over, and after twenty minutes add a cupful of cold water, a little butter, lard, or dripping, and some raw potatoes, pared and washed. Reduce the heat of the oven and cook for an hour longer.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

The overblouse frock offers an excellent way of remodeling a somewhat "out of date" dress; also an opportunity of using a lace waist that is perhaps not "blousy" enough for present day styles, but is perfectly good otherwise. With a few alterations (using a guimpe pattern such as accompanies this design) it may be worn as an underblouse for several dresses.

7711 is a draped model, but requires only 4¾ yards of 36 inch material for size 36. The guimpe requires 1¾ yards of allover lace if you do not possess the blouse mentioned above.

The overblouse is in peasant effect, closing in the back. There is an effective bit of drapery on front, shoulders and sleeves. A four-piece skirt slightly draped completes the gown.

The pattern is cut in 5 sizes; 34 to 42.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupons and inclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

An Embroidered Dress For Baby to Wear On Christening Day.

The first real occasion of baby's life is the christening day, and for this one occasion the rule of simplicity may be forgotten, the little dress of the finest of batiste or linen lawn may be embroidered rather more elaborately then the every day dresses, and may be trimmed with a little very fine Valenciennes or cluny insertion, or even the finest of baby Irish may be used. The pretty dress, shown in the illustration, was made by pattern 8052, which comes in one size only for 10 cents, and the panel was embroidered with transfer pattern 14233. This is a design of very tiny morning glories and leaves, to be worked in outline stitch and seeding for heavy padded work would not be appropriate on so delicate a garment.

If a less elaborate design is preferred this transfer pattern may be adapted to a short dress by cutting away sections of the design.

Transfer pattern 14233 for embroidering an infants dress, can be supplied to readers of the Daily Press for 15 cents.

Some Cookery Suggestions

PREPARING HOMINY.

DINNER MENU.
Vegetable Soup.
Broiled Hamburg Steak.
Hominy Fritters.
French Fried Potatoes.
Creamed Onions.
Ice Cream.
Coffee.

THIS useful cereal may be served in many different ways and makes a nice breakfast, luncheon or tea dish.

It is easy to prepare and decidedly wholesome.

Made With Eggs.

Hominy Fritters.—Take a tablespoonful of melted butter and rub it into two cupfuls of boiled hominy. Add two well beaten eggs, a cupful of milk and half a cupful of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of salt and a half teaspoonful of baking powder. If the batter seems too thin a little more flour may be added. Drop by the spoonful into deep fat or upon a griddle.

Hominy Souffle.—Take two cupfuls of milk, one of cold boiled hominy, a tablespoonful of melted butter and one of sugar. Beat smooth. Add a teaspoonful of salt and four eggs beaten very light. Turn into a well greased dish, put in a steady oven, bake for about half an hour and serve at once.

Served With Sirup.

Hominy Cakes.—Take four cupfuls of boiling water and stir one cupful of hominy and a teaspoonful of salt into it. Stir until it begins to thicken; then cook three hours in a double boiler. When cooked pour into pound size baking powder tins which have been rinsed in cold water. Next morning for breakfast slip from tins, cut in rather thin slices and fry in butter till a nice brown. Serve with maple sirup.

Fried Hominy.

Hominy Croquettes.—Take one cupful of hominy, one tablespoonful of flour, one tablespoonful of butter, one cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of white pepper, one-half teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one egg and breadcrumbs.

Wash and soak the hominy in one quart of cold water. Drain and put on to boil with two quarts of boiling water and boil six hours. Add more water if necessary, using one tablespoonful of salt. Drain and mix with the cream sauce and add the nutmeg. Take a spoonful into floured hands and roll in a ball or form into croquettes; then dip in egg (one egg beaten with one tablespoonful of cold milk) and then in breadcrumbs. Fry in deep hot fat or bake in oven.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — How Jamie Won the Snow Battle.

He Pulled Down the Flag

WHEN the cold days came Jack and Evelyn began to look eagerly out of the window every night to see if there was promise of a snowstorm before morning.

"Have you ever made a snow fort?" asked daddy. "The fort is made by piling up the snow to make walls.

"Jamie was a very small boy, so I suppose he did not know much about playing with snowballs. His cousin Gerald and some boy friends had built a splendid big snow fort and placed a nice flag on a pole in the middle of the fort.

"The boys had divided. One half of them were to stay inside the fort, and the other half were to be outside. The ones outside were to try to get in the fort and take down the flag on the pole. Whoever could pull down the flag was to be the winner of the game and leader of the boys in the fort.

"Because he was a small boy the party in the fort did not want Jamie with them, so he was left to the party outside trying to take it.

"This party, with snowballs in hand, marched up to the fort, but they were soon driven back by the snowballs of the boys behind the wall.

"Jamie threw his ball with the rest, but when he found that it hit the leader of his own party in the neck instead of going over the wall he prudently made his way to the back of the fort.

"'Hello, Spot!' Jamie said as he caught sight of Spot, his dog, busily scratching away at the snow wall. Spot thought he smelled a bone inside and was trying to get it. He had scratched quite a good sized hole.

"'I'm goin' in, too,' Jamie said to himself as he saw Spot squeeze through the hole.

"The boys in the fort were so busy keeping out the boys in front who were climbing up the front wall that they did not notice little four-year-old Jamie wriggle through the hole.

"Though small, Jamie knew what to do, and, stealing up to the flagpole, he pulled the string that brought it down.

"The boys outside saw the flag drop and gave a yell. 'The flag is down!' they cried.

"The boys inside turned to look at the flag, and while they were not watching the enemy was over the wall and had won the fort.

"Every one laughed when they saw who had pulled down the flag, but for the next battle Jamie was, of course, the general and had a fine time ordering the other boys around."

NOW 85 CENTS!

Most any retailer will now sell you WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT by the box for 85 Cents!

This famous confection that's liked everywhere—that benefits everyone—that's constant delicious and inexpensive aid to teeth, breath, appetite and digestion—is now selling for less than a cent a stick — by the box! Take it home tonight!

It's clean, pure, healthful if it's Wrigley's

CAUTION!

The great popularity of the clean, pure, healthful WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT is causing unscrupulous persons to wrap rank imitations that are not even real chewing gum so they resemble genuine WRIGLEY'S. The better class of stores will not try to fool you with these imitations. They will be offered to you principally by street fakirs, peddlers and the candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. These rank imitations cost dealers one cent a package or even less and are sold to careless people for almost any price. If you want Wrigley's look before you buy. Get what you pay for. Be SURE it's WRIGLEY'S.

We are inserting the above caution solely to protect our customers, who are continually writing us that they have been deceived by imitations which they purchased thinking they were WRIGLEY'S.

Half-Yearly Price-Adjustments on Women's Suits, Wraps, Gowns

The Women's Gray Salons announces the continuance of its regular half-yearly out-clearing at prices unexpectedly low.

Every case in the salons has been looked over. All suits, coats and gowns which have been here for a certain time; all styles which cannot be duplicated, and of which there are only one or two of a kind; in short, all broken assortment of sizes, colors and styles, have been separated from our regular stocks and repriced.

These new prices are extremely low, especially when it is remembered that the models are practically new and perfect.

Several hundred garments are included—far too many to describe, but visitors will find even better values than they anticipate.

Evening gowns from abroad and copies of imported models.
Afternoon and Tango tea dresses of beautiful materials.
Tailored suits for morning and afternoon.
Coats for country and town wear. Wraps for evening and afternoon.

Among the evening gowns is one at $64, was $128; another is $62.50, was $125; a third is $112, was $225; still another is $65, was $110; and there are $50 models for $25, besides fifty or more different prices.

Afternoon gowns offer almost equal variety, a $125 model is now $62.50; a $250 model is now $125; a $168 model is now $98; a $150 model is now $75; a $250 model is now $145; a $187.50 model is now $100; a $93.50 model is now $58.

Second floor, Old Building.

Hand-Bags
With 7 Fittings
$3.85

This is not nearly as much as they would regularly be sold for. They are real goat seal lined with leather, and the fittings are of polished brass.

Wouldn't any woman like to find one among her Christmas gifts? She would be hard to please if the sight of a pretty scent bottle, mirror, powder box, hair pin case, comb, cloth brush, and coin purse attached to a chain—all tucked into a good-looking bag—didn't win her heart. We imported the fittings ourselves or we could not sell them for so little.

Main Aisle, Old Building.

Little Boys'
Overcoats of Chinchilla, $12

Quite appreciably better than any we have been able to get at that price before.

Blue, gray, brown; velvet collar which may be turned up and closed under chin; sleeve cuffs piped with velvet, with velvet buttons, embroidery emblem on arm; venetian lined; 2½ to 10 year sizes.

Burlington Arcade floor, New Bldg.

A Special Purchase Makes This Blouse Sale Possible

It was an opportunity of timely economy such as we are always on the look out for.

Some of the blouses are samples and others are the overstocks of the manufacturers' regular output.

Sample blouses for $5 and $7.50 are extremely attractive—the kind that usually brings $6.50 to $12.50. Most chiffons and nets, in a variety of styles and colors, only one or two of a kind.

French simplicity in these blouses for $5—regularly $6.50. They are copied from French models. Of white crepe de chine, droop shoulders, long sleeves, large revers of the material edged with pleated net.

Of crinkled crepe, long sleeves with ruffles at wrists, a double frill of pleated chiffon around neck and down the front in surplice effect. Of crinkled crepe, long sleeves, lace insertion and net, slightly gathered around V shaped neck.

Chiffon over net, $3.85. In dark blue, green, black and mahogany, long sleeves, droop shoulders, a standing frill of net around the net and folds of plaid ribbon ending in loose ends, $3.85.

Also for $3.85 a blouse of creme shadow lace insertion and net, with a vest of chiffon; short sleeves. These are unusually good for the money.

Third floor, Old Building.

$12,500 Worth of Women's Underwear for $7,000

The sale started with 6,000 winter garments—all fresh and in good condition. Some left—but not every size in every style.

Vests and drawers, 75c each, regularly $1, $1.25 and $1.50—Medium weight merino, mercerized cotton, silk and merino mixed.

Union Suits, $1.25 each, regularly $1.75, $2 and $2.25—Medium weight merino, mercerized cotton and silk and cotton mixed.

Union Suits, $1.75 each, regularly $2.75, $3.25 and $3.75—Heavy weight silk and merino.

Main aisle, Old Building.

Furs of Quality Furs of Style

Why shouldn't you patronize the furrier with whom hundreds of persons have dealt to their perfect satisfaction? We tried our best to assemble our stock from the finest skins in the market and made up by our own workmen, so that we can positively guarantee the work and quality. Prices are always the lowest because we made up our stock during the summer months, when our expense was much smaller than in other fancy stores, where you must pay for the looks of the establishment.

Six years in town in one location is the best guarantee to give you, that we keep our promises.

About remodelling and repairing—We always follow your instructions and we are specialists in up-to-date work. No connection with any other store in town.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Way Down East," Lottie Blair Parker's famous play of New England life comes to the Plainfield Theatre Saturday matinee and night. The simple story, so full of humanity, so deftly worked out around the environments of hayfields, farm yards and rural firesides, has claimed the attention and aroused the sympathy of the play-going public for nearly twenty years. One of the happy characters of the celebrated play is that it never palls upon the tastes of playgoers. Its notable features are the pronounced personalities or types of character, its flashes of humor and sentiment, of pathos, its simplicity, purity, wholesomeness and realism. The music, which year after year has been a feature, still characterizes every performance. Everything that can be utilized to assist the capable players in making "Way Down East" and its scenes appeal to an audience has been painstakingly applied and the result is not only an elaborate but a highly realistic production. Over fifteen million people have greeted the old favorite during the past eighteen years, and never in its history has it been better presented than now. A bargain matinee will be given, prices 25c and 50c. Night prices always 25c to $1.

The merits of Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which comes to the Plainfield Theatre, tomorrow and Thursday, are so well established that it is not too much to say that only by means of it can the great majority, who cannot afford the time and expense of travel, realize the pleasures and reap the advantages that are to be derived from visits to foreign climes where activities, industries, etc., differ so widely from ours. In fact no one who wishes to be well informed and keep abreast with the world's progress, can afford to miss Howe's Travel Festival. The new program he will present here, represents more than ever the combined efforts of Mr. Howe's staff of photographers who are forever and incessantly roaming up and down this old world of ours in order to cinematograph whatever incites interest, wonder and amusement. Their vocation is as strange as it is modern. It requires rare judgment, steady nerve in moments of danger and a fine sense of discrimination. It is fully as important for them to determine what not to cinematograph—what to ignore—as it is what to photograph. And in distinguishing the ordinary from the extraordinary Howe's photographs are constantly governed not by their own tastes, likes and dislikes, or by personal bias or prejudice in any sense. They are influenced solely by a sure knowledge of what is of real vital interest to the public at large, not by what appeal to them as individuals. This principle is, however, only one of many which explains why the subjects presented by Mr. Howe are invariably vibrant with interest.

Not a home in this city but has its quota of discarded furniture, rugs, stoves perhaps, a wheelbarrow maybe.

A few cents for a Press want ad and some one who needs the very article that lies rotting in your garret will call and pay you for it.

You are better off—new owner is pleased—and the article itself is contributing to the reduction of the high cost of living.

Furniture

HOLIDAY EVENTS FOR TOMORROW

Thanksgiving Services in Many Local Edifices Here Following Custom.

STORES TO BE CLOSED

One Delivery From Postoffice—Jefferson Democratic Club and Y. M. H. A. to Entertain—Howe's Pictures at Plainfield Theatre.

Thanksgiving Day will be generally observed in Plainfield and vicinity, as usual, when there will be varied entertainment for both young and old. There will be many family gatherings throughout the city and borough, it being the one time of the year when those who are away make a special effort to gather with their relatives.

There will be a union Thanksgiving service of the First Baptist, First M. E., Trinity Reformed and First Presbyterian churches at 10:30 o'clock in the morning at the First M. E. church. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will preach the sermon, and Miss Kinnaman, contralto soloist, will sing.

Another Thanksgiving service will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church at 10:30 o'clock, in which the congregations of the Seventh-Day Baptist and Congregational churches will join. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie will preach and the quartet choir of the church will sing.

As usual on Thanksgiving Day there will be services with special music in all the Episcopal churches. At Grace church there will be a corporate communion at 7 o'clock, to which all the men of the church are invited. This will be followed by the serving of breakfast in the parish house. Other services will be held at the usual hours, with sermon by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson. Similar services will be held at Holy Cross church, where Rev. William S. McCoy, rector, will preach and at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, with sermon by Rev. C. H. Mallery and at St. Stephen's church, when Rev. W. E. L. Ward will preach. The services at St. Mary's R. C. church and St. Joseph's R. C. church will be held at the regular hours.

The merchants will close their places of business for the day. The postopoffice will close at 10 o'clock with one delivery by the carriers. The drug stores will close at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and re-open in the evening. The barber shops will close the entire day, according to the annual custom.

In the way of amusement the local theatres will offer strong attractions. At the Plainfield theatre, Howe's famous pictures will be shown afternoon and evening, while at Proctor's theatre there will be a fine vaudeville and motion picture program. The Lyric theatre will also offer a special program of pictures.

The Jefferson Democratic Club will provide entertainment for its mem-

LOCAL WOMEN HEAR INSTRUCTIVE TALKS

Reuben Knox and Major Irwin Make Addresses on Live Topics.

Reuben Knox, a local lawyer and an authority on the laws pertaining to women in New Jersey, and Major Charles Irwin, of Elizabeth, probation officer of Union county, were the speakers yesterday afternoon at the second of a series of current event lectures at Vincent chapel under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church.

Beginning with the laws of many years ago as existing in Europe, Mr. Knox, who is author of a volume on the subject, gave an interesting general review of the many changes that have been made in the statutes concerning women and children to meet the demands of the change in time and conditions. The rights to be exercised by women, married or single, were thoroughly commented on and his address proved of unusual interest to the large number of women present.

Major Irwin told of many experiences he has had in dealing with incorrigible children and gave a brief account of the system of the probation department of the county and the efforts being made to reform bad children rather than to punish them. He said a sentence to a reformatory was the last resort used by the authorities to correct children who by their consistant violations of laws, had caused trouble to the police.

THE DAILY PRESS IN BOUND BROOK will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Hungian Union News Stand at station, and A. Aaron, newsdealer.

MRS. RHETA DORR MAKES ADDRESS

Editor of The Suffragist Tells of Conditions Among Women Wage Earners.

HAS A BIG AUDIENCE

She Gives Her Experiences As Employe In Factories and Shops—Sale of Pies, Cakes and Candies.

Delectable pumpkin pies, tempting cakes and candies, made by suffragists, were sold for the benefit of the cause yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, of Seventh street. Mrs. Rheta C. Dorr, cousin of Mrs. Russel R. Dorr until recently of Plainfield, gave a vitally interesting talk on conditions of work among women wage-earners, following which tea was served.

By the time Mrs. Dorr had arrived, Mrs. Myers' drawing room was crowded and the adjoining room filled and late arrivals found every camp-chair occupied. Some stood throughout the lecture, while some young people seated themselves on the floor.

Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, president of the Plainfield Equal Suffrage League, in introducing Mrs. Dorr, said in part, that the cake and pie sale for the benefit of a great cause brought to mind the cake and pie sales of slavery days at which there was always a speaker to stir the hearts of the people who came to buy. And she quoted that part of Lincoln's Gettysburg address where he refers to government "of the people, for the people, by the people," likening those times to these in that women today are working for that same principle of human liberty that stirred the Union in '63.

In opening her speech, Mrs. Dorr said that the freeing of women was more momentous than freeing the slaves. The slave-owner was responsible for the health and care of his slaves, and it was to his interest to treat them well, but no one is responsible for the woman worker of today, she declared. There are no women legislators in non-suffrage States, and where women have no votes back of them the men legislator do not represent the interests of women.

Mrs. Dorr said that ten years ago when she was a reporter on the New York Evening Post, she wrote a special "story" for the Wednesday paper on subjects of interest to women. News of a gold-beaters' strike in which women were concerned, was brought to the office and Mrs. Dorr was detailed to get out and find out what a "gold-beater" was and why they were striking. Her idea of a gold-beater was an Amazonian woman wielding a heavy hammer. What she found was a dingy place in which were working many men, and some young anemic girls who looked about fourteen years old. They were picking up the scraps of gold leaf left from the cuttings and laying them between leaves of books made for the purpose. Mrs. Dorr looked up the leader of the strike. She found the men were striking to have the girls put out of the factory. They wanted their sons there instead, as apprentices to learn the trade. "Let the girls go and get married," the men said.

This set Mrs. Dorr thinking, and she became interested in looking up other women in factories. At the Tiffany Glass Works, there were fifty women, art-students, doing beautiful work. The men complained, "Women don't belong here. The first thing you know, the Tiffanys will be putting in all women. Women ought to go home and get married."

Just what the gold-beaters had said! And Mrs. Dorr, seeing the thousands upon thousands of women workers pouring into the streets at 6 o'clock, on their way home, determined to go and live in an East Side tenement-house among them and try to find out why these girls did not "stay at home and get married" as

COMMEND MOVE OF FREEHOLDERS

Dr. Murray and Henry L. DeForest Advocate Putting Prisoners to Work.

BENEFITS ARE MANY

Unforced Idleness Harmful—Families of Convicts and the County, too, Will Gain by Their Employment at Bonnie Burn.

Much favorable criticism is heard of the plan of the Union County Board of Freeholders to put the prisoners at work outdoors at Bonnie Burn sanitorium as advocated by Freeholder J. Hervey Doane. The resolution having been passed, it only awaits an order from Judge Connelly to make it effective.

Henry L. DeForest, overseer of the poor, said today:

"This is the best news I have heard for many a day. When one of our petty offenders such as a father who will not support his family goes to the county jail now it is a result of continued failure and neglect on his part. What good does it do him to sit idly in jail? None whatever, it still further unfits him. What good does it do his family and the community? None whatever unless he is one of the few who are sobered and deterred by fear of another term.

"Expert opinion and common sense have for some time suggested that everybody would be far better off if all in the jail who are not needed near the court should be moved to something in the nature of a workhouse and work. Union county is doing work at 'Bonie Burn.' The idea of Supervisor Doane and other members of the board to utilize this work as a means of employing prisoners is an excellent one and if the county is thereby saved expense it can afford to send the dollar per day to the men's families. This feature, however, can be devoloped later as it is secondary and not primary. A prisoner who has been made to work (I should favor bread and water diet for the unappreciative and good meals for the industrious) finishes his sentence and is returned to society a healthier man with a new grip on himself. The indeterminate sentence could be developed very effectively under this system.

"Now one word in conclusion. This is an experiment. It has got to be worked out cautiously and involves close co-operation of public sentiment with the sheriff and the jail committee of the supervisors. It may meet practical difficulties as it works out. Most theories do. But it is fundamentally sound and in time will work out. Let us all then offer every co-operation to the sheriff and Mr. Doane's committee and no criticism on grounds of expense involved or on any other grounds."

Dr. William H. Murray, a director of Bonnie Burn, had this to say:

"The Charity Organization Society has long urged such action as has been taken by the Union County Board of Freeholders in the matter of prisoners being put to work. The society has always felt sure that Freeholder Doane would bring about this innovation for moral betterment. I am sure that every member of the Charity Organization Society will join with me in expressing approval of the action of the Board of Freeholders and in thanking Mr. Doane for his great service. The society recently expressed its opinion in this very important matter to every freeholder and it is cheering news to learn that they quickly responded to the effort for moral uplift and for the social betterment of those who are now incarcerated.

FEW EXTRA COPIES OF DAILY PRESS SPECIAL EDITION

By gathering in all of the extra papers sent to newsdealers on Friday, November 14, the Daily Press has been able to procure about 150 copies of the special historical and industrial supplement published on that day. These copies can be procured at the Daily Press office by those wishing them at ten cents each. They will be reserved for regular subscribers to the Daily Press who may 'phone for them, but all unreserved copies will be sold over the counter as long as they last.

There have been demands for hundreds of copies which we have been unable to supply, and the rule of "first come, first served" will be enforced so long as these last. The Daily Press cannot undertake to deliver any of these papers except over the office counter.

FOR ALL GOOD ELKS.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., will hold its annual Thanksgiving session tonight. In the regular order of business seventeen candidates will be initiated. This will be followed by an informal entertainment concluding with a supper.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR FRANK H. EICK

Many Attend the Obsequies of a Popular Plainfield Man.

The funeral service of Frank H. Eick, son of Mrs. Garrett Eick, was held at 12 o'clock today at the late home, 75 Westervelt avenue. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including representatives from Elizabeth Lodge, No. 289, and Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E.; Timbo Social Club, and Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M. of which Mr. Eick was a member.

There was a large display of floral tributes, comprising a wreath and a standard from both lodge of Elks, an immense bed of carnations from the Timbo Social Club, a pillow from Franklin Council, and a number of bunches of cut flowers from relatives and other friends, showing the marked esteem in which the young man was held.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, conducted the service. He read appropriate selections from the Scriptures, after which he made a brief, but impressive address. He referred to the uncertainty of life and the necessity of being prepared for the last call. Dr. Anderson then made a few remarks concerning Mr. Eick, saying that although he did not know him personally, he felt sure that he possessed a strong charcater and that he was inclined to mature judgment and careful consideration of his opinions. In conclusion Dr. Anderson spoke in a praiseworthy manner of the cardinal principles of the orders represented, and offered prayer.

A short ritualistic service was then conducted by Exalted Ruler George Otto, Past Exalted Ruler Henry Schriber, of Elizabeth Lodge of Elks, as leading knight; William R. Townsend and A. A. Prudhon, of Plainfield Lodge of Elks, as loyal knight and secretary and lecturing knight respectively.

The burial will take place in the family plot of the East Millstone cemetery, where the Elks will conduct a service at the grave. The bearers were Exalted Ruler George Otto, Past Exalted Ruler Henry Schriber, Daniel Galbraith and Fred Moore, of Elizabeth Lodge of Elks, and Fred Ivamy and William Townley, of Plainfield Lodge of Elks.

SOMERVILLE FIGURES IN A DIVORCE SUIT

Two Young Society Women Witnesses in Dr. White's Action Against Wife.

Newark, Nov. 26.—Somerville was today brought into the lime-light through the medium of a letter written by one of the fair daughters of that shiretown of Somerset county, which figured as an exhibit in a divorce suit brought by Dr. J. Louis White, of East Orange, against Mrs. Anna G. White, now living with her parents in Montclair.

The marital offenses on which the divorce suit is based occurred at Atlantic City, and it was while Mrs. White was staying at that resort that she fell in with the Misses Emma and Mary Labaw, two young girls said to belong to Somerville's most exclusive circles.

After the return of the Misses Labaw to their home Miss Emma Labaw wrote three letters and a postal card to Mrs. White. A reference in one letter to a "Mr. Carter," which is said to have been a psuedonym used by a Philadelphia commission merchant named by Dr. White as one of two corespondents with whom Mrs. White is said to have transgressed her marriage vows, resulted in both sisters being subpoenaed with a view to having them tell what they know about the identity of "Mr. Carter."

The leter in which "Mr. Carter" was spoken of was of interest as an example of a breezy epistolary style not to be found in any "Complete Letter Writer" extant.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

MISS MURRAY A CHARMING BRIDE

She Becomes Mrs. Ralph B. Schoonmaker at Home of Her Grandfather.

DR. ZELIE OFFICIATES

Two Hundred in Attendance—The Couple Will Reside Here—Bridegroom is a New York Manufacturer.

Miss Mary E. Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Jr., of West Fourth street, and Ralph Bailey Schoonmaker, son of Mrs. J. Stockton Schoonmaker, of Park avenue, were married at 8 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, on Central avenue, in the presence of about two hundred relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. William Barlow, of North Plainfield, as matron of honor; Miss Mary Rushmore, a cousin of this city, as maid of honor, and Miss Gladys Dowley, of Worcester, Mass., and Miss Muriel Dowley, of Newton Center, Mass., both cousins of the bride, as bridesmaids. The best man was William J. Schoonmaker, a brother of the bridegroom and the ushers were William J. Schoonmaker, a brother of the bridegroom and the ushers were Howard H. Craig, of this city, and Harold S. Dollner. David S. Pond and Berkley W. Geyer, of New York city.

The bride was gowned in white satin charmeuse, trimmed with lace, and she wore a real rosé point lace veil and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The matron of honor's gown was of pink charmeuse, and lace and trimmed with mink. She carried pink roses. The maid of honor and bridesmaids also wore gowns of pink charmeuse with varied trimmings. They carried bouquets of pink bavodia.

The wedding march was played by Austen's Orchestra, of New York. The ushers led the way for the bridal party, followed by the bridesmaids, maid of honor and matron of honor and the bride, accompanied by her father who gave her in marriage. The ceremony was performed in the large parlors and was followed by a reception, during which congratulations were offered and supper was served.

The home was attractively decorated for the affair. In the parlor the color scheme was green and white, while in the dining room it was pink and in the living room yellow. There was an exchange of gifts among the members of the bridal party, while the bride was the recipient of a large collection of useful and valuable gifts from relatives and friends. Among the pleasing features was the dinner party given Saturday evening for the burial party at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Schoonmaker left last evening on a wedding trip. They will reside here upon their return. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schoonmaker have been prominent in the younger society set here and both are very fond of athletics, especially tennis. Mr. Schoonmaker is a graduate of Columbia College, Class '06. Before and during his college days and for a time afterward he played baseball on local teams, and was also a member of the college team. He was captain of the Y. M. C. A. team one season. He is engaged in the manufacturing business in New York.

MALICIOUS SLANDER AGAINST ROTH AND CO.

Maliciously inclined persons are circulating a rumor that Roth & Company, the Front street butchers, furnished the turkeys which caused wholesale ptomaine poisoning at a recent turkey supper held at Scotch Plains. Mr. Levin, the manager at Roths, said this morning that his firm had not sold any turkeys to any organization at Scotch Plains, and that the story that birds purchased from them had caused all the trouble was an absolute falsehood.

SOMETHING NEW.

The newest thing out in saving devices is a vest pocket dime bank. It is very small and compact and can be carried in a lady's change purse. The Plainfield Savings Bank has just received a shipment of them which they are giving out to their customers and to all who start a new account with $1.00 or more.

ANOTHER HEARING ON TAX PROTEST

North Plainfield's Amended Petition Necessitates Adjournment.

EXPECT LIVELY SCRAP

State Tax Board Will Listen to Arguments At Somerville—Victory for Borough Means Blow to Rest of Somerset County.

Trenton, Nov. 26.—Several important questions will have to be threshed out by the State Board for the Equalization of Taxes in the settlement of the appeal by the Borough of North Plainfield for a reduction of $912,773 in its ratables for 1913, and the outlook is that the adjourned hearing on the question to be held in the Court House at Somerville next Wednesday will be a lively one. One of the momentous phazes of the case is that if North Plainfield wins its appeal, all the taxpayers in the other municipalities of Somerset county will be compelled to pay more tax to make up the deficit thus created. This is true because the State school and county tax rates have already been fixed and the local budgets for governmental purposes also have been decided.

Special significance attaches to the proceedings because they have come at the very time the tax bills should be distributed. On this account the delay in a determination of the case until next week may have serious consequences in some instances. It was suggested at the hearing here yesterday that municipalities needing to send out tax bills immediately might have them include only the taxes for the local budget, leaving the State school and county taxes to be collected after this appeal is decided.

Because the State Tax Board ruled that North Plainfield could amend its original petition, changing the date of the alleged action of the Somerset County Board on the reduction from November 2, 1912, to November 30, 1912, the other municipalities of the county who are fighting the reduction will be permitted next Wednesday to put in additional testimony.

There was the liveliest kind of a fight yesterday over this proposition to amend the petition, the contestants being Major Carl Lentz, of Newark, former member of the State Tax Board, representing North Plainfield, and Judge Clarence E. Case, who appeared for Warren township and Gladstone. Judge Case raised the point that the minutes of the Somerset County Board showed that the resolution for the reduction had never been properly passed. The reduction in the North Plainfield ratables in 1912 ordered by the resolution was from $4,983,625 to $4,071,622. The reduction having been made last year after the tax had been levied on the greater sum, North Plainfield claims that under the act of 1912 it should be given the reduction this year to equalize the situation, for otherwise no force can be given to the act of reduction.

Mr. Lentz replied to Judge Case that the correctness of the minutes of the County Board was not important as long as there was testimony on the point. He had former County Tax Board Secretary Windsor here ready to testify, but the State Board refused to hear any testimony before next Wednesday.

After this tilt, Major Lentz submitted a document giving the judgment of the County Board as of November 30, the correct date, and formally asked the State Board to permit the petition to be amended accordingly. This brought on a renewed skirmish.

"I am opposed to this entire change of base," argued Judge Case. "Legally North Plainfield is now out of court by this admission that the date in the petition is erroneous."

Major Lentz insisted he was not substituting a new judgment, but merely amending the petition, leaving the status the same.

Judge Case contended that if there was to be any such change in the proceedings, his side was entitled to the regular notice in order to meet the change, and no such notice had been given. He continued:

"We ought to have had notice of this shifting, and if any such change is to be permitted, we wish to be heard further on the matter."

Judge Case claimed also that North Plainfield and Warren township had not been properly served with the papers from the County Board in the 1912 action. Major Lentz disputed this, but Judge Case said at the proper time he would submit testimony to prove it.

After considerable more argument on both sides, the State Board announced its decision permitting the amendment and fixing December 3 for the taking of additional testimony.

Court's Order Prevents R. H. Hood From Taking Anything Out of the State.

VICTORY FOR HIS WIFE

The Purpose of Restraining Order is to Insure Payment of Alimony—His Clothing Only Excepted By the Court.

Newark, Nov. 25—Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood, of 541 Stelle avenue, Plainfield, scored heavily against her husband, Richard Haden Hood, when she succeeded yesterday, through her counsel, McCarter & English, in tying up Hood's estate, real and personal, pending the outcome of the alimony phase of her divorce suit. In making his order restraining Hood from transferring or otherwise disposing of his realty in New Jersey, and from removing his personal estate from the State pending the making of an alimony order, the vice-chancellor excepted from the personalty clause only Hood's wearing apparel and his trunks and bags. The form of order as drawn by Conover English was criticized by Chauncey G. Parker, counsel for Hood, as being so broad that strictly construed it would prevent Hood from crossing over to either New York at one end of the State, or to Philadelphia at the other "with his clothes on his back."

"We don't want his ol' clo'es," Mr. English magnanimously declared, and the vice-chancellor accordingly excepted "wearing apparel." When as if acting on an afterthought he added, "trunks and bags" as other articles not to be comprehended in the scope of the restraining order, it was Mr. English's turn to object on the ground, as he put it, that the trunks and bags might contain a good part of Hood's personal estate "in the shape of securities."

The vice-chancellor met this objection by decreeing that the trunks and bags "must, of course, be empty."

The restraining order was made on the return of a rule to show cause obtained by George W. McCarter, son of former Attorney-General Robert H. McCarter, about ten days ago. In a petition filed by Mr. McCarter it was set out that there was danger, lest Hood be restrained, of his divesting himself of his property and so make fruitless any alimony order that might ultimately be obtained by Mrs. Hood.

In support of the application for a restraining order the petition instanced a judgment for upwards of $150,000 obtained last spring by a former business associate against Hood on an alleged baseless claim sued upon in the Supreme Court in New York State.

This claim, the petition stated, Hood did not contest, nor did he defend a suit brought on the New York judgment in the New Jersey Supreme Court.

MRS. J. A. FOULKS FAVORS WOMAN ON THE BOARD

Mrs. J. A. Foulks, of Mercer avenue, president of the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association, said today that her interest in advocating the appointment of a woman to the North Plainfield Board of Education is purely personal. When she discussed the subject yesterday, she explained, she did not as head of the association but as an individual. Members of the Board with whom she has talked about the plan appeared very friendly. The matter will be brought up at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association executive committee next Monday.

WAS NOT INTERESTED.

Miss E. B. Hartridge, principal of the Hartridge School, contrary to report, had no interest in the recital given by Genovese and Sorrentino at the Hartridge Auditorium on Monday night other than having leased the place for that purpose. Miss Hartridge makes it a point to undertake no lectures or recitals of any kind except those given directly for the Hartridge School.

The public schools will close down this afternoon for the Thanksgiving holiday, and will re-open on Monday morning. Business in town will be generally suspended tomorrow, the banks and county offices being closed. The postoffice will remain open until 10 a. m.

MO-JO White Chewing Gum

Talk No. 8

WE are going to do the unusual. We are going to urge you to read all the advertising of our competitors.

All around you are advertisements of Chewing Gum. Many of there brands are household words. Read what the makers have to say about them.

See if you find anywhere the statement that their brands are CLEAN, WHITE, or PURE.

Don't you think the manufacturers would mention the qualities if their product possess them?

Isn't cleanliness a good quality in an article you are about to put in your mouth?

MO-JO Gum is different from any other chewing gum because it is WHITE and CLEAN. It is the only chewing gum made thoroughly CLEAN, through and through.

(To be continued)

P. S. A POSTAL ADDRESSED TO THE CHICLE PRODUCTS CO., NEWARK, N. J., WILL BRING YOU A FREE SAMPLE.

NO PAPER TOMORROW.

Following its custom for Thanksgiving Day, the Daily Press will not be published tomorrow.

The Saving of Money by the use of Royal Baking Powder is considerable

Royal is economical, because it possesses more leavening power and goes further. Royal saves also, because it always makes fine, light, sweet food, all digestible; never wastes good flour, butter and eggs.

More important still is the saving in health. Royal Baking Powder adds anti-dyspeptic qualities to the food.

There is no baking powder so economical in practical use, no matter how little others may cost, as the Royal

"TURKEY TALK"

THIS is the time of the year to feel thankful and we do. We're glad to be alive, we're grateful to you all for the splendid business we're doing, and we're tickled with the condition of things in general.

WE can count our troubles off on our fingers, and have two or three thumbs left over. It's a prosperity year for everybody, what's the use of looking glum? Cheer up, smoke up, dress up, and put an edge on the axe that's waiting for the turkey.

NOW since looks outside have so much to do with feelings inside (and vice versa) you ought to "dress up." You've no idea what a difference new, stylish clothes will make in your feelings. Try it and see.

YOU have a host of things to be thankful for. YOU KNOW IT. THEN LOOK IT, "Thanksgiving Day" of all days.

YOU will find the very best of "Things That Men Wear" at Rothberg's, suits and overcoats---garments that are stylish and reliable---the latest creations in hats, shirts, neckwear, etc.---and you'll find the prices fair---to you and to us.

Open tonight until 9 o'clock.

NOSE AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD OR CATARRH, OPEN AT ONCE

My Cleansing Healing Balm Instantly Clears Nose, Head and Throat—Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges—Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Adv.

NEW MARKET TEAMS IN DOUBLE HEADER

Princeton Five of College League Twice Defeated in Yesterday's Schedule.

In a double-header of basketball on the New Market court yesterday afternoon played in connection with the public school College League, the representatives of Cornell trimmed Princeton by a score of 4 to 3 and the Army players beat Princeton by a score of 5to 2. Considering the fact that the Tigers played in two consecutive matches in one afternoon the players on that team did remarkably well and held their opponents in fine style.

Plainfield, N. J., November 26, 1913.

THANKSGIVING.

The American people are a grateful people. They appreciate their blessings and they have many of them, probably more than any other people on the earth. Thanksgiving Day is rightly made much of by us. Is our thankfulness rightly directed? While it is a day of fasting it should also be used in such a way as to turn the thought toward the giver of all good. If every person would only take just a short time to contemplate his or her blessings it would be much more beneficial.

This Nation is composed of God-fearing people. Deep down under the rush and strife of our people there is a sincere reverence for things Divine. God is good to this Republic and our people recognize it and devoutly believe in the tenets of Christianity. This country has so much of prosperity and our people see so much of what may be called worldly happiness that they delight to observe one day, set apart, for thankfulness for it all.

Thanksgiving is not a day for long faces, nor should it be made a day of riotous living, but just a day of good cheer, healthful exercise, having at all times in mind from whence cometh all our unusual privileges of citizenship, home and national life.

God is good to us. Let us acknowledge it by confirming our faith in Him and by quickening our belief in an assured immortality. Let us remember that there is a spiritual side to the day.

In our news columns today will be found some comments favorable to the plan of the Union County Board of Freeholders to take the prisoners out of the county jail and put them at out door work at Bonnie Burn sanitorium. The Board has passed the necessary resolution and all that remains is for Judge Connelly to sign the order which we take it he will take pleasure in doing. The Union County Board is making a name for itself.

The educational value of the motion pictures was demonstrated recently at the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. and the experiment attracted widespread attention, so much so that in various parts of the country the Y. M. C. A. and other smiliar organizations have adopted the plan. A discussion of this educational work will be given by Herbert E. Parker as our contributing editor for Saturday's issue.

It is a good thing for Plainfield and for the whole county that J. Hervey Doane is a member of the Union County Board of Freeholders. He has been responsible for many excellent measures enacted by that body and his interest in Bonnie Burn has been most enthusiastic.

The suggestion that a woman be named for membership on the North Plainfield Board of Education is a good one. There are problems that arise in such bodies which a woman better understands and by reason of her sex is better able to cope with than a man.

Should General D. F. Collins, of Elizabeth, be placed on the National Guard's supernumerary list, as is said to be his wish, New Jersey's citizen-soldiery will lose a valuable commanding officer.

And let us repeat, buy your Red Cross Christmas stamps in Plainfield for thereby you contribute to the support of the local campaign against the Great White Plague.

Now that the wedding is over, Washington can confine its attention again to the Mexican situation.

As Thanksgiving Day is a holiday, the Daily Press will not be issued tomorrow.

NO SECURITIES LOST BY THE FARMERS' LOAN

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 26.—The following statement was issued by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company this morning: "No securities have been stolen from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company. James E. Foye had no access to the securities of the company. He was a temporary clerk engaged upon the best of references. We feel that it is due those who have loaned money that no further statement shall be made until all the facts are known."

Foye was arrested shortly after 6 o'clock last night as he stepped from a Philadelphia train at the Pennsylvania Terminal. He was accused of being a fugitive from justice, and was locked up in the Greenwich Street Station. His arrest brings to light the theft of more than $200,000 worth of stocks and bonds from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, of this city.

A. V. Heely and J. Herbert Case, both of this city, are vice-presidents of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co.

BUSY HUNTERS.

A hunting party composed of Jens Claassen, Jay Van Arsdale and William Henry, all of this city, spent yesterday in the vicinity of Oak Tree and Mount Pleasant, bagging a miscelaneous lot of game. Their catch included three pheasants, a silver hawk measuring forty inches from tip to tip of the wings, an opossum and a rare specimen of the Mephitis. They also killed a black-snake over four feet long. This is unusual at this season of the year but the reptile was evidently enticed out of its lair by the warm sun of the previous few days.

G. Y. M. CLUB PLANS.

A meeting of the committee in charge of the preliminary arrangements for the drawing up of a suitable program of work for the recently organized G. Y. M. Club in the Y. W. C. A. was held last night and final details completed for the plans that will be presented at the next meeting of the gym class for endorsement. Those on the committee the the Misses Harriet Mattison, Helen Hummel, Edna Green and Corraine Tennyson.

SOCIAL CLUB FESTIVITIES.

The Washington Social Club which meets at the Washington School, Saturday evenings of each week, enjoyed a special program at its gathering Saturday night under the direction of Miss Melvin, supervisor. In addition to the dancing, there were other features including the serving of ice cream and cake. The young women served and the young men assisted.

IN A COLLISION.

While trying to avoid a smash-up with an automobile, this morning, Walter Garrabrant, of Chester, N. J., drove his machine sharply to one side, but the car skidded and struck a wagon belonging to Higgins Brothers, undertakers. The collision occurred on Park avenue, near West Fourth street. Neither vehicle was badly damaged.

KIELY SETS A RECORD.

Patrick S. Kiely, bowling on the new Elks' alleys last night, smashed the high score mark for the shutes which was set by Bill Nash last week. The new mark is 246 and beats the former record by 20 points, Nash's marking having been 226. William de La R. Anderson still holds the low score record with seventy-one dangling at his belt.

"PARTY NIGHT" DANCE.

"Party night" will be observed by the Thursday Night Dancing Club in Debele's Hall tomorrow night and a committee composed of "Doc" Doyle and Daniel McCormack has arranged an interesting program of entertainment for those who attend. This will be the second affair of this nature held this season.

A CHURCH BAZAAR.

The annual bazaar of the Gethsemane Lutheran church will be held in the basement of the new church edifice tomorrow Friday and Saturday nights. Fancy goods and refreshments will be on sale. Rev. Augustus G. Olsson, the pastor, is chairman of the general committee.

Miss Curns, milliner for A. E. Force & Co., is spending a few days at Atlantic City.

THE FORUM.

FROM ASSESSOR LA RUE.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Last year I increased the assessed valuation of the Plainfield-Union Water Company over $100,000.00, but not this year. I was, therefore, surprised to see the total in my field book, and changed it as a memorandum to be taken up by the County Board, for I am well aware of the fact that an assessor cannot change assessments after they have been certified before the Board, and my figures in the field book do not lower the assessment. That is the work of the County Board for the Equalization of Taxes.

Yours truly,
CLARENCE B. LA RUE.

LUCKY FISHERMEN.

Reports from the favorite fishing points about Staten Island indicate that whiting and 'ling are running unusually good. Thomas F. Randolph, of Central avenue, and A. H. Martin, of Jackson avenue, were out off South Beach a few days ago and landed thirty-five nice ones, all weighing about two pounds. Other Plainfielders also have been quite lucky.

SWARMING WITH INSECTS.

The Pests Are a Veritable Plague In Bolivia and Brazil.

Insect pests are a plague on the boundary of Bolivia and Brazil. "In the forests and on the smaller rivers," writes Commander Herbert A. Edwards, R. N. R., in the Geographical Journal, "life is made almost unbearable. Ants are met with everywhere; they swarm over one's person in hundreds, and most of them bite most savagely. There is one kind of red ant, which lives in trees hollowed out by themselves, whose bite is like a touch with a red hot iron. If a person inadvertently touches or leans up against one of these trees the ants swarm out upon him instantly, and his life for hours afterward is a long drawn out misery. Then there are the huge ants, called tucanderas, one and a half inches in length; they live in the forks of trees. Their bite is particularly painful, and causes the part affected to swell up as if poisoned. One of our soldiers was incapacitated for several days by a bite of a tucandera. Red ants; black ants which make broad, straight roads of their own and move about in battalions; grayish white ants, living in red colored mounds, six feet high; yellow ants—each and every one has its own particular way of making unwelcome the intruder into its habitat.

"Butterflies during bright sunshine settled on the surveyors and the instruments they were using in such numbers that survey work became an impossibility. Nor is this all. Wasps of many colors, but always with a sting; hornets, which give no mercy to man or beast; bees of all sizes, some of which swarm in one's shirt, eyes, hair, ears, mouth and nostrils seeking moisture. Every blade of grass has a tick of some sort, waiting opportunity to bury itself in some one's flesh.

"Spiders, horrid hairy creatures, with bodies six inches long, are sometimes met. One of our men was stung or bitten by one of these when out shooting; his foot where he was bitten became very inflamed and broke out into raw patches. He had to be left behind as we were on the march, and when we sent for him three weeks later he was still limping."

Song Names of the States.

The most beautiful place names in the world, according to Robert Louis Stevenson, are those of North America. "The names of the states and territories," he declares in "Across the Plains," "form themselves into a chorus of sweet and romantic vocables—Delaware, Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Dakota, Iowa, Wyoming, Minnesota and the Carolinas. There are few poems with a nobler music to the ear; a songful, tuneful land, and if a new Homer shall arise from the western continent his verse will be enriched, his pages sing spontaneously, with the names of states and cities that would strike the fancy in a business circular."

Soiled Papers.

Large papers or leaves of books that have become soiled from much handling can be put into perfect condition if the loose dirt is first rubbed off with a piece of bread. Then cover the spots with blotting paper made damp with oxalic acid in solution. Lastly pass a hot iron over the blotting paper until it dries.

To remove deep set creases in papers or the leaves of a book put between two pieces of white blotting paper—or any unsized paper—slightly dampened, and press with a warm iron until the page is perfectly smooth.—New York Tribune.

The Lotus Eaters.

The race of people to whom the name "lotus eaters" was applied was a Lybian tribe, known to the Greeks as early as the time of Homer. Herodotus describes their country and says that a caravan route led from it to Egypt. The lotus still grows there in great abundance—a prickly shrub bearing a fruit of a sweet taste, compared by Herodotus to that of the date. It is still eaten by the natives, and a kind of wine is made from its juice.

MRS. DORR TALKS

the men thought they should. She found that they left their homes not from choice, but from necessity. She then became a factory and shop girl herself.

The Consumers' League and other bodies of women social workers, know the long and often futile struggles made to obtain legislation in favor of women workers. When Mrs. Dorr said to a legislator in Washington that she represented 100 000 of his constituents, he turned to her much interested, but when she said they were women, he looked at her with amazement to think that she should call them so, or expect him to be interested.

"Women need the vote to represent themselves. They want the same things. They think about things rather than parties, and they unite to get those things."

At the close of her talk, many questions were asked Mrs. Dorr and some lively discussion followed.

Mrs. Dorr is the editor of "The Suffragist," the Washington suffrage newspaper.

The sale was a great success, netting about $60. Among those presiding over tables were Mrs. F. O. Ball, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, Mrs. Richard Boardman, Mrs. Samuel T. Carter, Jr., Mrs. Lamar Van Syckel, Mrs. Lachlan, Mrs. Power and Mrs. F. E. DuBois. Mrs. Frank de Lacy Hyde poured tea and was assisted by several young women.

FROM POLICE BLOTTER.

John Mosowski, and Frank B. sna, both of South Second street, will be arraigned before City Judge DeMeza, Wednesday morning, Dec. 3, on charges of disorderly conduct. The men were arrested last night while engaging in a fistic encounter. They could not talk English and as no interpreter was present the case was adjourned.

LOCAL GIRL BRIDE OF AN ELIZABETHAN

Miss Mary A. Leveridge Becomes Mrs. William E. Johnston, Jr.

Miss Mary Annis Leveridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Leveridge, of Sherman avenue, and William Edward Johnston, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Johnston, of Elizabeth, were married at 7 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. Gabriel Reid Magaire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, in the presence of about two hundred relatives and friends.

The bride wore a cream satin gown with duchess lace and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Helen Guttridge, of this city, the bridesmaid, was gowned in yellow charmeuse trimmed with white lace and she carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. The Misses Dorothy Annis Leveridge and Florence Leveridge, of this city, and Marion Gaston, of Rutherford, nieces of the bride were flower girls, carrying baskets of yellow flowers, and Charles H. Leveridge, a nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The bride's mother was gowned in black charmeuse, trimmed with jet and gold lace, and the bridegroom's mother wore a gown of wisteria charmeuse, trimmed with lace.

The ceremony was performed in the living room, which was decorated in yellow and white. The decorative scheme in the parlor was pink. The wedding march was played by an orchestra as the bridal party descended the staircase and entered the living room, and the orchestra also played for the reception which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Leveridge, 836 Sherman avenue, which adjoins the home of the bride's parents. The same decorative scheme was carried out there.

Following the reception the bride and groom departed on a wedding trip. They will reside at the home of the bride's parents for a time upon their return. Mrs. Johnston is a graduate of the Plainfield High School and is popular among a large number of acquaintances. Mr. Johnston is the traveling auditor for the Public Service Corporation. The bride received a large number of gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch bearing her monogram and a similar gift was given to the groom by the bride.

INDIGESTION FATAL TO GEO. HARTFELDER

Well Known Man Succumbs in His Fifty-ninth Year—Funeral Saturday.

George Hartfelder, aged 58 years, a well-known resident, died last night at his home on Whitewood avenue, the borough, folowing an acute attack of indigestion with which he was taken during the morning. Mr. Hartfelder was born in Brooklyn, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hartfelder. He removed to Plainfield with his parents at the age of sixteen years and has lived here ever since.

Mr. Hartfelder's father was a prominent builder in this city for a number of years, erecting many of the business blocks, including the Coward building on Park avenue. The son succeeded to the business his specialty being stair-building and cabinet work which he continued up to the time of his death. He was a member of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., and Plainfield Court, No. 1144, I. O. F.

There survives a wife and six children three daughters, Mrs. Augustus Feiring, Jr., Mrs. Herbert Adams and Miss Lillie Hartfelder, and three sons, Charles, William and George Hartfelder, Jr.; four brothers, L. J., C. C. and E. P. Hartfelder, of Savannah, Ga., and J. G. Hartfelder, of Elizabeth, and three sisters, Mrs. John Derst and Mrs. Lillie Cowart, of Savannah, and Mrs. Ida Burroughs, of Jacksonville.

The funeral will be held at the late home, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

ST. STEPHEN'S PARISH SELECTED VESTRYMEN

Vestrymen were elected at the annual parish meeting of St. Stephen's church last night, at which time reports of the various societies were presented showing the parish to be in a flourishing condition. Orlando P. Metcalf was chosen warden and W. W. Cortell, A. G. Hagerdorn and E. W. Robinson were elected vestrymen.

H. E. Butler, Orlando P. Metcalf and E. W. Robinson were selected deputies to the diocesan convention and Herbert P. Grant, C. W. Walker and A. C. Wilmerding were selected as alternates. After the business of the evening there was a social hour. Rev. W. E. L. Ward, rector, presided at the meeting.

TWO FOREIGNERS MEET THEIR DEATH ON TRACK

Somerville, Nov. 26.—Two men were killed about 6 o'clock last night at the Manville crossing of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Both men were returning from work at the plant of the Johns-Manville Co., and stepped in front of the fast westbound mail train. A freight train was passing east at the time the men got to the railroad tracks, and when it had passed they stepped in front of the train which killed them. One of the men, Joseph Tomchuck, aged 21 years, was immediately picked up and the county physician notified. The body was then taken to an undertaking establishment in Somerville. It was not known at first that a second man had been killed by the same train, and it was some three houre later when the second body was found, some distance further up the track. The second man had not been killed outright, judging from the position of the body when found. His body was not cut up much, but it had a severe wound on the head.

His name is Charles Lina, and he was about 25 years of age, and lived in Bound Brook. Tomchuck also lived in Bound Brook, with a sister, and was a native of Poland. The funeral services will take place from St. Joseph's church at Bound Brook, tomorrow, and interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

HOME ICE & PRODUCTS CO. SCHEDULE IN BANKRUPTCY

Newark, Nov. 26—Schedules in bankruptcy were filed with Judge Adams here today, by the Home Ice & Products Co., a New Jersey corporation, showing nominal assets of $76,511.15 and liabilities of $93,993.30. Raymond E. Smith, the defaulting treasurer of the defunct Roseville Trust Co., was president of the bankrupt company, and it is alleged that due to his defaultcations, that the concern was forced to the wall. The firm has an office in Plainfield. Robert Newton Crane, of that city, is counsel for the company.

MRS. MARY HOSEK.

Mrs. Mary Hosek, aged 43 years, a native of Hungary, died last night at her home in North Plainfield township. She is survived by a husband and several children. The funeral will be held at 200 West Second street at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

BONDHOLDERS TO MEET.

The bondholders of the Interborough Realty Company will meet at 200 West Second street at 8 o'clock tonight, to receive the special report of the committee named to see what could be done toward raising $5,250, as their share of the amount needed to discharge the receiver for the company and get possession of the holdings.

If the man who says, "I can't afford to advertise" will look over the list of big concerns that were LITTLE concerns before they started to advertise, he will be more likely to say:

A special program of motion pictures will be shown at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon and evening. It will include: "When the Circus Comes to Town," "While John Bolt Slept," "Getting Up a Practice" (comedy), "Towser's New Job" (comedy), "The Times Out of Joint" (comedy).

Saengerbund Hall will be the scene of the annual fair and dance of the Italian Nest of Owls, No. 1733, which will open at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A musical program, which has always featured this event, will be rendered by the Novelty Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Antonio Lanbiase. Several vocal soloists will also contribute selections to the entertainment. Many articles will be placed on sale from highly decorated booths, and refreshments of many varieties will be at the disposal of those who attend. The ball will commence at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The Independent Shooting Club will conduct a tournament at its grounds in Maple avenue. Company K will use the range at the same time for rifle practice.

Sporting events of every nature have been arranged by local athletic promoters for tomorrow morning, afternoon and night and the sport enthusiast will find what he yearns for in every part of the city. The headline event for the holiday program is the appearance of the New York University basketball team in this city tomorrow night, playing the local Y. M. C. A. five in the association gym on East Front street. The New York collegians are active in the Intercollegiate Basketball League and this is the first time a contender in this organization has ever appeared in this city against a local team.

In the afternoon on Cricket Field, Manager Doyle, of the Holy Cross football team, will pit his eleven against a team from the United States Navy and on a field in the east end of the city the Plainfield A. C., a colored team, will appear in a State championship match against the Elite A. C., of Princeton. In the morning on Parker Field, William Little's Holy Cross boys will play the Dunellen Field Club aggregation.

In the Hope Chapel gym tomorrow afternoon, Hope Chapel will play a basketball team from Newark. North Plainfield High School will appear in the preliminary game in the Y. M. C. A. gym.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MISS FANNIE L. FUZO

The funeral of Miss Fannie Louise Fuzo, daughter of Captain Benjamin Fuzo, was held at the late home in Fanwood at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, conducted the service. The burial took place this morning in Trinity cemetery New York city.

FAMILY GATHERING.

There will be a family gathering tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, on East Front street, when their daughters, sons-in-law and children will come home for the day. There will be twenty-five at dinner. The sons-in-law include L. A. Grace, of New York; Dr. Charles D. Parfitt, of Ontario, Can., Prof. Robert Spurr Weston, of Boston, and Harry Keith White, of this city, who with their wives and children will comprise the party.

ALBERT H. STEVENS DIES AFTER A SHORT ILLNESS

Following an illness of several weeks Albert H. Stevens, 50 years old, of West Front street, died early this morning at Muhlenberg Hospital. Born in Red Bank, he lived for many years in Long Island, coming to this city about seven years ago. For 22 years he was foreman in the works of the Long Island Railroad. He was married the second time in 1911 to Miss Helen Frund, who with four sons and two daughters survive him. The children are Mrs. Alice Weaver, of this city and Mrs. Mamie Pell, of Brooklyn; Marshall, Theodore, Walter and Albert Stevens.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his late home. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church will probably officiate. Interment will be made in Hillside Cemetery.

MRS. CONLAN THE BRIDE OF WILLIAM H. HOSKING

Cards have been received by many local friends, announcing the marriage of William Harrison Hasking and Mrs. Mary Agnes Conlan, both of Dover. The ceremony was performed in New York, Saturday afternoon, and was witnessed only by relatives. The couple will be at home at 12 Hinchman avenue, Dover, after December 20.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hasking are well known in Plainfield, the former especially through his connection with the Elks. He has been prominent in Dover Lodge, No. 782, for many years and has visited in this city at regular intervals and also renewed acquaintances each season at Lake Hopatcong, where he has a summer home. He holds a responsible position with the McKiernan-Terry Drill Company, of Dover.

FIFTIETH ANNIVESARY OF GEN. MORGAN'S ESCAPE

Columbus, O., Nov. 26.—Some of the old-time residents of Columbus recalled the fact that today was the fiftieth anniversary of one of the most stirring Civil War incidents that occurred in this city—the sensational escape of Gen. Morgan from the Ohio State Penitentiary. After raiding a large section of Kentucky, Gen. Morgan at the head of his daring little band of cavalrymen had crossed the Ohio river and penetrated the State as far as Steubenville, the most northerly point to which the flag of the Confederacy was carried during the war. The advance of Morgan's men created great alarm throughout Ohio and it was with a feeling of relief that the people learned of the capture of the daring leader and his lodgement behind the bars of the State prison. Equally great was the sensation caused by his escape. The method by which he obtained his freedom has always remained a deep mystery. Many persons believed that he and his companions had fled through a secret tunnel from the prison to the Scioto river. But when a large part of the prison was torn down and rebuilt a year or two ago no evidence of such a tunnel was found. The cell in which Morgan was confined was left intact for half a century and was marked by a tablet inscribed with the date of the escape. The generally accepted belief is that the Confederate leader received aid from sympathizers inside the prison, whose assistance made his escape an easy matter.

FILE PROTEST AGAINST GIVING ELIZABETH PLUM

The officers and members of the Plainfield Democratic Club have sent to Governor Leon R. Taylor a petition protesting against a movement on foot to secure the appointment of an Elizabeth man to the Union County Tax Board to succeed Calvin E. Brodhead, of this city, who has resigned. It is urged that there is abundant material in this city from which to make a suitable appointment and that Mr. Brodhead's resignation should not be permitted to work injustice to Plainfield by depriving it of representation on the board.

NEW ORLEANS PEOPLE WILL FEAST TOMORROW

New Orleans, La., Nov. 26—All the attainments of the famous Creole culinary art will be in evidence here tomorrow. While New Orleans was still a French city and Louisainna a French colony the Thanksgiving holiday became an institution, borrowed from the New England sailors and merchants. Second to France, it was with the New England States that the colony did most trading. As a result there were always a number of ships in the harbor manned by New Englanders. In addition there were many New England traders and agents residents in the city.

New Orleans already was famous in two hemispheres for the good cooking which characterized its homes and hotels. On Thanksgiving Day it was the custom for the masters of the vessels to arrange a banquet for all their men. No expense was spared on this one occasion and the feasts that resulted were so noted that few historians of the period failed to maintain them.

Spectacular as was the annual glutting of the New Englanders, the festival was not slow in becoming a Crescent City institution. The spiritual side of the day was to a great extent lost sight of, but as a day of big dinners the holiday has been observed regularly for more than a hundred years. On this day, more than any other in the year, the cooks of New Orleans strive hardest to win new laurels. With tables weighted down with every known delicacy provided by the bounties of sea and land, the day continues to be one of the most popular in a city rich in feast days.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 36.

I BELIEVE in classified advertising. I believe that the classified columns of a good newspaper are the natural market-place for human wants.

Glance through the advertisements in the classified columns of the newspaper you are reading. Is there not something vitally interesting and human in the little announcements listed there?

Some one asked me the other day if I really believe what I preach in these Talks. I do. No man can even attempt to write convincingly unless he believes in his own printed word. I know the "pulling power" of Classified advertising, and no one can make me believe other than that it pays.

Proof? Why, yes,—in my own experience and in the experience of many of my friends and acquaintances I have seen the little, but mighty WANT AD "work out." My own entry into the newspaper business was effected some eight or ten years ago, through a WANT AD. A little announcement set in the middle of some white space in the Classified columns, attracted the attention of the Business Manager of a newspaper in my native city, and a position on that newspaper resulted.

I know of folks who have advertised in the Classified columns for cooks, for butlers, for maids, for stenographers, for positions, for help, for horses, for automobiles—for pretty nearly anything you can think of. And they got what they advertised for.

There are exceptions to every rule that was ever made, but I know, just as surely as I know that the carriage of this typewriter is humming along with every stroke of the keys, that, in the great majority of instances, the little WANT AD. is a power 'way out of proportion with its trivial cost.

How to Cook Turkey.

Of course, a tough, dry turkey will remain somewhat tough and dry to the end of its life, and even the end of its life and careful cooking will not make it anything else than tough and dry. But cooking can make or mar a turkey that is moderately tender and juicy to begin with.

A big turkey can be slowly cooked to advantage, but a small one must be cooked quickly in order not to dry it. The rule is to allow the turkey, twenty minutes for every pound.

The oven, when the turkey is put in, should be hot, and the turkey should be quickly seared on the outside so that the juices will not readily escape. The temperature of the oven should then be slightly reduced. The basting should be frequent, as the hot juices and fat with which the meat is basted form a coating over the surface of the turkey which helps keep in the juices.

The Question of Stuffing.

There are some advocates against putting any stuffing in turkeys. They say that the unstuffed turkey is juicier. The question is an open one, however, and taste is the best guide in the matter.

If you want to try the no-stuffing sort of turkey, dress the turkey and then put it in a dripping pan. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter on the breast and put in a dripping pan in a hot oven. Sear it for thirty minutes, and then reduce the heat. Baste the turkey frequently with butter and the juices that escape. When it is nearly done sprinkle with salt.

Chestnut filling is good in turkeys. To make it, pare a quart of large chestnuts and boil them in salted water for twenty or thirty minutes. Drain them, when they are quite soft, and put them through a potato ricer. Add two cupfuls of fine bread crumbs made from fresh bread, some pepper, a teaspoonful of salt, and a cupful of white sauce. Mix thoroughly.

This is a good bread filling: Soak a loaf of bread for three or four minutes in cold water and then wrap the bread in a clean cloth and squeeze out the water. Chop half a green pepper, the raw turkey liver and a small onion and fry them for five minutes without browning in butter. Then add them to the bread, in a bowl, and mix thoroughly. Add salt and pepper, and a little sage and thyme. Cook for three or four minutes, stirring all the time, and then stuff the turkey.

When it is necessary to turn the turkey, or when it is time to take it from the oven, handle it with a clean cloth. Never pierce it with a fork, as this allows some of the juice to escape.

Some Cookery Suggestions

COOKING SHELLFISH.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Stuffed Eggplant.
Lettuce Sandwiches.
Creamed Scallops.
Baked Apples. Hot Cinnamon Rolls.

SHELLFISH are in season and make a welcome variation of the bill of fare.

Some ways of cooking these popular foods are given here, which may be useful to the housewife ambitious to try new recipes:

Served in Shells.

Creamed Scallops.—Dry the scallops in a napkin. Make a thick, rich white sauce with one cupful of cream, one tablespoonful of butter and two of flour. Stir until smooth and thick and season with salt and paprika. Add the scallops and simmer for one minute. Do not cook longer or scallops will toughen and shrink. Serve in scallop shells, sprinkling with breadcrumbs and brown in quick oven.

Buttered and Baked Lobster.—Buttered lobster is easy to prepare. To make it beat the yolks of two eggs with an ounce of butter and half a gill of cream. Put this, with the meat of the lobster cut in small pieces, in the top of a double boiler. Heat for ten minutes and serve immediately.

Nice Way With Clams.

Baked Clams.—Select large, fine clams in the shell, have them opened and reserve the shells, washing them carefully. Cleanse the clams from sand by rinsing in their own liquor, then lay each one separately in a perfect half shell. Add to each a bit of butter, a quarter inch disk of fat salt pork, a quarter of a teaspoonful of grated onion and a dash of pepper. Then cover the whole with rolled and sifted breadcrumbs and arrange in a baking pan. Bake in a hot oven till a light brown and serve in the shells.

Shrimps With Eggs.

Shrimps With Eggs.—Shell about three dozen shrimps, dust them lightly with cayenne pepper and put in the oven with melted butter to warm. Meanwhile put one ounce of butter in a saucepan, break into it three eggs and season to taste with salt and pepper. Stir for two minutes, then add the warm shrimps, and stir all together until it begins to set. Then draw the pan to the side of the fire, so that it may not cook too quickly. When the eggs have thickened lay the mixture on squares of hot buttered toast and serve.

They Washed the Dishes.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

When Careless Little Polly Cleaned House.

CHILDREN who learn to be neat grow up to be neat men and women. So daddy told Jack and Evelyn.

"We try to be neat," Evelyn replied.

"Of course we do," Jack agreed; "only sometimes we forget." It was Jack who most often forgot.

"Oh, to be sure!" daddy agreed. "Let me tell you how little Polly Perkins cleaned house.

"Polly was a dear little girl; but, like Jack, she did sometimes forget. She had the cutest playhouse, built out in the garden. The playhouse had two little rooms, one built above the other. It was furnished with toy furniture, and when Polly felt like it she could go in there and pretend to 'keep house.'

"But Polly's mother sometimes said she found the house very much upset.

"'If you are going to grow up to be a neat housewife, dear, you know you must learn to keep the dollhouse neat,' she urged.

"And Polly answered that she did try, but sometimes she forgot.

"One day Polly's mamma peeped in through one of the tiny windows, and, oh, my, but things were a sight!

"Then she sat down and thought hard. She knew if she tidied up the dollhouse it would do Polly no good.

"So she waited until Polly came in from kindergarten. 'Polly,' she began, 'wouldn't it be nice to play at housecleaning?'

"'Oh, yes! I never thought of playing that!' Polly replied.

"'Very well,' Polly's mamma said. 'When people clean house they sweep and dust the house and put all the furniture and clothes in place.'

"So the two went out to the dollhouse, and Polly first swept out the upstairs room. Then she dusted all the furniture and put it in place.

"The dolls' clothes, which had been scattered about the floor, she folded up and put into the trunks and boxes and wardrobe, where they belonged.

"The windows were not very clean, and her mamma showed her how to wipe them off with a damp cloth and then polish them until they shone.

"Downstairs there was more to do, for dishes and pots and pans had to be washed and put into cupboards. The floor was soiled, and Polly took water in her small wooden pail and washed it up. She put nice clean paper on the cupboard shelves, polished the little stove and put everything in order.

"When she had finished it looked so nice that Polly said, 'It looks just like a new playhouse, doesn't it?'

"'Keep it like that,' her mother suggested. And Polly really did keep it neat for a long while."

Westfield.

The repair work in East Broad street was completed Monday and the street opened again for traffic. The roadway over Gallows Hill has been lowered ten feet.

The work on the new east main sewer has been laid under the railroad tracks and the work will be completed and ready to be cut into the system next week.

The work of exterminating homeless dogs in the town is being vigorously prosecuted by the police department. A dog supposed to be mad was killed Monday and the head sent to Trenton for examination.

The few remaining members of the old Westfield Fire Department have decided to close the organization with a dinner on the night before Lincoln's Birthday. At the close of the dinner they will disband. The money, amounting to $160.78, will be given to the Volunteer Fireman's Association, to which nearly all of the old firemen belong.

A religious census of the town is to be taken by the Men's League of the Methodist church. A committee of twenty-six has been designated to do this work. The members of the committee expect to complete it in three evenings this week. The Men's Club intend to purchase a printing plant to use in issuing the literature put out by the church.

Whitehouse.

Miss Ethel A. Daggett, of East Whitehouse, has gone to New Brunswick to visit her aunt, Miss Ella Van Derveer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Y. Pickell and Miss Elizabeth Kinsley, of Whitehouse Station, returned home Monday from a visit to Professor and Mrs. Theodore A. Sutton, of Milford.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Van Derbeek, of North Branch, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Van Derbeek, of Plainfield.

Burdette Brothers, of Whitehouse Station, are building an addition to their garage.

Under the auspices of the Crescent Gun Club of Whitehouse Station a target tournament and poultry shoot will be held on the club grounds tomorrow afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock. The sweeps program include six events at 150 blue rocks in all.

The prayer meeting at Whitehouse Station will be held this week Friday night instead of Wednesday night, because of an entertainment. It will be held at the home of Mrs. David L. Lare.

Mrs. Grant Davis entertained at a progressive five hundred party at her home at Whitehouse Station yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Swackhamer have moved from Raritan to Mrs. William Dalley's house in East Whitehouse.

Mrs. Arthur Merreil, who has been ill at Round Valley, is able to be about again.

Alvah A. Conover, of Lebanon, has gone to northern New York State, where he will spend the winter purchasing pelts for a New York fur concern.

W. R. Young, of Lebanon, has sold the saddle mare, Lady Ellen, to H. S. Chatfield, of New York. This is the mare that was ridden from San Francisco to New York during the winter and spring of 1911 by Nan J. Aspinwall.

Mrs. Cyrus A. Conover, of Lebanon, was recently a guest of her sister, Mrs. Calvin Apgar, of High Bridge.

George Melick, of Morristown, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Morris Sanders, of Gladstone.

Thanksgiving exercises were held by the pupils of the public schools of Peapack and Gladstone in the assembly room of the school building this morning.

Raymond Geddes, of New Brunswick, is visiting his former home at Centreville.

German Valley. and Chester

Miss Mary L. Gardner, of Summit, and Miss Katherine Gardner, of New York, ended a visit Monday to their parents, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Edward P. Gardner, of Chester.

Mrs. Nellie McKinney, of Port Morris, is spending several days with her mother, Mrs. George B. Geddis, of Chester.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hulmes and Miss Myrtle Hulmes, of Lake Hopatcong, and John Chapman, Jr., of Orange, were visitors over the week-end to Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman, Sr., of Chester.

Miss Mary L. Collis, of Newark, ended a visit Monday to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Collis, in Chester.

The Chester and German Valley graded schools are holding Thanksgiving exercises this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Apgar, of Parker, have received word of the birth of a grand-daughter at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kern, Allentown, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anthony, of German Valley, celebrated their wedding anniversary Monday night in the presence of a gathering of friends and relatives.

Flemington.

Miss Alice Kennedy, of Aberdeen, Md., is spending a few days with Miss Nan Ewing.

Rev. Howard H. Brown, pastor of the Baptist church, will have as his subject next Sunday morning Behold the Man." In the evening his theme will be "Making the Most of Life."

The offering to be taken at the Thanksgiving services in the Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow will be forwarded to the New Jersey Children's Aid Society.

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society of the Baptist church gave a birthday sociable in the lecture room of the church last evening. The proceeds will be donated to the Sunday-school improvement fund.

The second of a series of entertainments to be given by the Redpath-Slayton Lyceum Bureau, under the auspices of the Reading Academy, was presented in the auditorium of the grammar school building Monday evening by the Music Makers' Quartet.

Mrs. B. G. Royal and daughters, the Misses Ethel and Ruth Royal, of Camden, are the guests of Rev. Howard H. Brown and Mrs. Brown.

Through the efforts of the George Junior Republic's Aid Society, students from the Princeton Theological Seminary will visit the George Junior Republic at Flemington Junction each Sunday during the winter months and conduct religious services.

BOY'S DEATH CALLED ACCIDENT.

Bridgeton, Nov. 26.—A verdict of accidental death was rendered Monday by the coroner's jury which held an inquest in the death of young Roy Robinson, the High School student, who was killed by thirteen-year-old Teddy Laws, at Dividing Creek, a week ago. The boys present when the tragedy occurred testified that the boys were at play after having been hunting during the day, and Laws playfully pointed a gun at Robinson, there was an explosion and death immediately followed. Young Laws said that he had taken the shell from the gun and has no recollection of having replaced it.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

One of the quaintest and prettiest of children's fashions is the long waisted dress or blouse. It is quite as appropriate for wash materials as for serge or dark wool fabrics. Contrasting collar, cuffs and belt or sash are about the only trimmings used for these little dresses, unless it be a line of bone buttons in cream white or a color.

7944 shows a drop-shoulder into which the sleeve is slightly fulled, a blouse that closes in front and a straight little skirt attached to a sleeveless underwaist. A gathered vest stitched to the underwaist peeps forth from the front of the blouse. This would make a most practical and becoming school dress fashioned of dull blue serge with collar, cuffs and belt of white. Ball buttons of red bone and simulated buttonholes are sufficient trimming.

This dress may be made in size 8 with 2¾ yards of 36 inch material.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes; 4 to 10.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, passing the tape over the fullest part of the chest and well up under the arms.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

14595

An Embroidered Collar With Revers For a Girl's Coat or Dress.

This wide collar may be made of lawn, batiste or handkerchief or round thread linen, and the embroidery which is simply done in buttonholing, solid dots, and eyelet work, is very easy to do. One half yard of material will be required for this collar, which should be stamped straight with the threads, so that it will not pull out of shape when laundered. The revers should be embroidered on the reverse side of the material, so that they will be right side out when turned over, and if the material is not transparent, they should be stamped separately. This collar is cut in medium size and is appropriate for wear with a one-piece dress of serge, epongé, corduroy or plaid. It may also be worn on a coat or suit.

Transfer pattern 14595, for stamping this collar, can be supplied to readers of the Daily Press for fifteen cents.

CLOSE GAME WON BY BORO GIRLS

North Plainfield High School Girls Nose Out Roselle Park Maidens.

MISS BURTIS THE STAR

Final Score 19 to 14—Two point Margin Separated the Rivals During the Greater Part of the Contest—Winners Played Well Together.

Yesterday afternoon in Saengerbund Hall the girls' basketball team of the North Plainfield High School broke its losing streak by defeating the girls of the Roselle Park High School in a fast and closely contested game, the final score being 19 to 14. Although the borough girls were always the leaders there were times when their opponents crawled up within two points of them and made things exciting. Before the first half had fairly started Miss Burtis opened the scoring by dropping in a field goal. As usual she was the mainstay of the local team and it took three Roselle guards to hold her to six baskets during the game. Nevertheless she lost all three and shot at will, making some very pretty shots.

In this half Miss Spencer's guard completely smothered her but "Lil" managed to secure one field goal and was of much value to her teammates in passing. Miss Horning proved to be the basket cager of the visitors and her steady playing, together with Miss Miller's foul shooting ability kept her team in the running throughout. The first half closed with the score 9 to 5 in favor of North Plainfield.

In the second period the visiting team started out with a whirlwind attack and drew up within two points of their opponents' score, but at this time Lucy Douglas made the gap between the scores larger by shooting a basket from the center of the floor. In this half both teams used side centers, Miss Keller going in for the boroughites and Miss Smith for the visitors. Both players added to the team work of their teams. Miss Burtis made thirteen of her nineteen while Miss Horning and Miss Miller secured eight and six points respectively.

SECOND ALUMNI GAME FOR THE BOROUGHITES

North Plainfield High School Grads Will Return to Even up Matters.

Next Friday evening, when the North Plainfield High School basketball team meets the Alumni five on Saengerbund Hall court, one of the best games of the season is expected to take place. Many of the old "grads" will then be home from college or business and will try to tame the High School team.

This team will be made up of many new players and all of them have either player regular or substituted on the first eam during their High School days. A good many of these players are also in training and trim which will make it all the harder for the High School varsity team because they will be pushed to the limit constantly and their opponents will not have to let up for lack of wind.

Herbert Stine, '11, announced that he will be unable to play and his absence will be greatly felt as he was a corking good forward. "Count" Townley, '13, will hold down a guard position as in the former game and will have "Ronnie" Conroy to face this time instead of Roy Love. Percy Bailey, the present banker, will lay aside his dignity and don a suit and will either play centre or forward. "Perc" was a substitute on the 1910 team and played centre during his senior year.

"Bill" Tayler, '12, captain of the 1911-12 championship team, will take the floor against his old teammates. Carlton Smith is the most likely candidate for centre and his playing in the first Alumni game proved that he is a dangerous man. "Ed" Bodin, '11, the man from the Watchung mountains and the present star of the Watchung basketball team, will probably be put in guard by the acting captain.

The managers of this Alumni team have been very wise and secured a large squad of substitutes that will be available at all times during the contest and it is very likely that players will be yanked out and others put in their places so as not to give the High School team the slightest advantage should their opponents tend to slow up. If necessary a new team could be placed on the floor at any time. Among the surplus men will be Jacob Abrams, who participated in the first game; Walter Walker, Pierson Bailey and "Mac" Krewson.

The High School boys have been practicing extra hard in anticipation of a strenuous contest but at that are confident of overcoming the "old timers from 'way back." It is also possible that Clarence Steiner and Harry Smith, two star guards in their day, will be present and take a hand in the game. After the game there will be dancing and refreshments will be served.

ALL NEWARK TEAM WILL PLAY LOCALS

Hope Chapel Will Entertain an All Star Cast Here Tomorrow Afternoon.

Following his annual custom Manager Leighs, of the Hope chapel basketbal team, will provide a feature bill for the chapel fans tomorrow afternoon, a team from Newark having been secured to supply the holiday attraction on the chapelite's court. The team from the Jersey Metropolis is reputed to be a speedy aggregation and the chapelites will probably have their hands full.

Hope chapel will have its regular lineup on the floor and one of the best games of the season is looked forward to. Last Saturday night the chapelites had a hard tussle with the Circle Five of Newark and the opponents of tomorrow are heralded to be even stronger than their fellow cityites.

The lineups:

HOPE CHAPEL.	NEWARK.
T. Heron	Clery
Right Forward.
J. Heron	Eickenbush
Left Forward.
Doig	Duer
Center.
Snyder	Gebhardt
Right Guard.
Leighs	Carpentier
Left Guard.

Robroecht and Mussie will substitute for Newark.

CORNELL AND PENNSYLVANIA.

New York, Nov. 26.—The annual gridiron battle between Pennsylvania and Cornell on Franklin Field will furnish the principal item on the Thanksgiving menu served up to football enthusiasts in the East. Whatever showing these two teams may make during the season they seldom fail to put up an interesting contest when they come together at the wind-up of their season's schedules. Despite the fact that victory has perched on the Cornell banner but once during the twenty years that she has faced Pennsylvania on the gridiron, the Ithaca team has strong hopes of winning tomorrow. In the opinion of most critics the two elevens are more evenly matched than in many years. Other teams that will meet on Eastern gridirons tomorrow are Brown and Carlisle at Providence, Lafayette and Dickinson at Easton, and Tufts and Boston College at Boston.

BORO SCHOOLBOYS SWAMPED RIVALS

Heavenly Rest Youngsters Were No Match for Fast Going Boroughites.

Playing on their opponents' court, last night, the North Plainfield High School freshman basketball team defeated the Heavenly Rest church team by the overwhelming score of 72 to 6. The two teams were not in the same class and the schoolboys simply did as they saw fit during the entire forty minutes. For the losers Hutchcroft at forward and Ludgate at guard put up the best games.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY TEAM WILL PLAY HOLIDAY GAME WITH Y. M. C. A.

Deviating from the old established custom of bringing Y. M. C. A. and scholastic quintets to this city as holiday attractions, the management of the local Y. M. C. A. basketball team has introduced somewhat of a novelty into the local Thanksgiving Day sport program by bringing the New York University basketball team for the feature part of the evening program of sports. Never before in the history of local basketball has an Intercollegiate League contender come to Plainfield as the opponent of a local quintet and seldom has a college team invaded any town in this vicinity for a contest.

A communication from the New York University basketball coach received this morning states that the collegians will be on hand tomorrow evening with a squad of eight players, including three substitutes, to do battle against the locals and the best available material in the college will be given a workout against the local Y. M. C. A. boys. Intercollegiate rules will prevail throughout one half and this in itself will be an innovation to local followers of the game as the rulings are vastly different from the A. A. U. standards used here and tend to make the game such faster and considerably rougher.

The local team will lineup in the same way as it did against the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. last Saturday night, but Captain Brynairski will have several substitutes on the side lines as extra men are always needed where college regulations predominate. The New York players average 185 pounds to the man and the locals expect to overcome the remarkable weight by speedy footwork and good shooting. Two practices have been held this week and the locals are in the best of condition to start the big game of the season.

Two North Plainfield High School teams will appear in the preliminary tilt, the North Plainfield first team playing the second team of the school. This should also be a good game to witness as both teams are made up of some good shooters and passers and the second squad has made things lively for the first squad on many previous occasions this season. The opening game will be called at 8:15 o'clock and the collegians will take the floor about 8:30 o'clock.

The teams in the main attraction will take the floor as follows:

Y. M. C. A.	N. Y. UNIVERSITY.
Moulton	Gilhooley-Jacobs
forward
McNamee	Sutta
forward
Gavett	Lipman
centre
Brynairski	Helfant-Milburg
guard
Farmer	Soloman-Beirer
guard

The teams in the preliminary game will lineup as follows:

N. P. H. S.	N. P. H. S. 2NDS.
VanMater	Townley
forward
Conroy	Day
forward
Dunning	Newkirk
centre
Burner	McDonough
guard
Abrams	Denny
guard

Eugene Ludgate, who has been refereeing the Y. M. C. A. this season, will officiate tomorrow night in the New York University contest.

MARSH WON EVENT BY A WIDE MARGIN

Junior Department College Leaguers Contested Snap Under for Distance.

Marsh was returned the winner of the snap-under for distance in the Y. M. C. A. boys' department College League event yesterday afternoon, establishing a mark of seven feet in the event. King came in for the runner-up honors with five feet, five inches to his credit while Brunelle was third two inches behind King. Marsh was easily the best performer in this difficult event and won his place with a wide margin to spare over the second place occupant.

Eighteen men competed in the event representing their respective teams in the race for high score and as a result each team's record will receive a considerable boost.

THREE MEN IN TIE FOR SECOND PLACE

Y. M. C. A. Number League Event Contested by Twenty-five Entrants.

Interest continues to grow in the Y. M. C. A. senior department's Number League and twenty-five athletes took part in the rope vault last night. Moran won the vault with a leap of seven feet and Mills, Karlberg and Ostrom tied for second, six inches in the rear.

The records were strung out from four feet, six inches, to seven feet and all of the contestants did remarkably well considering the difficult nature of the event.

A. A. U. PLANNING FOR JUNIOR MEET

Indoor Championships Will Be Decided Saturday Night, Jan. 3.

The championship committee of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States yesterday announced the events for the Junior National Indoor Track and Field Championships, which will be held at the 13th Regiment Armory, Brooklyn, on Saturday evening, January 3. The list follows: 60 yards dash, 220 yards dash, 600 yards run, 1,000 yards run, 2 mile run, 12-lb. shot put, running high jump standing broad jump, standing high jump and 60 yards high hurdle.

Present indications point to one of the most successful junior championship meetings, from a competitive standpoint, ever held by the governing body. This championship meeting, coming as it does at the end of the holiday vacation, it is expected that Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Wesleyan and several other of the important colleges will be represented. The events are open to all registered athltes who have not won an A. A. U. junior or senior championship, a Canadian championship, a cross country championship, intercollegiate championship or the championship of any foreign country.

"CHARLEY" BRICKLEY, THE CRIMSON HALF BACK, WHO DEFEATED YALE FOR HARVARD, KICKING ONE OF HIS FIVE FIELD GOALS

BRICKLEY KICKING GOAL FROM YALE 24-YARD LINE

Harvard defeated Yale for the first time in the Stadium at Cambridge, Mass., by a score of 15 to 5. "Charley" Brickley, the famous crimson half back, was the hero of the day, making every point for his team by field goals and goals from placement. This fifty-fourth game that has been played between the representative teams of these old time rivals, had created more interest than any of the many hard fought battles which have already taken place in the athletic history of the universities. It was one of the most representative gatherings that had ever attended such a contest, for not an alumnus of any moment of either institution who could possibly arrange to be there but was in the stands. It was estimated that fully 44,000 persons were present before the first period was under way.

the junior indoor championship of America will be given the winner in each event; a silver medal to second and a bronze medal to third. A handsome banner will be given to the team of any athletic club or college scoring the highest number of points—five points for firsts, 3 points for seconds and one point for thirds. An entrance fee of two dollars per man will be charged in each event, and no entry will be considered as having been received, nor will same be accepted unless the fee accompanies it. This rule will be strictly enforced. Entries close on December 27 with James E. Sullivan, chairman of the championship committee, P. O. Box 611, New York City.

ON SOUTHERN GRIDIRONS.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26.—Collegiate football, with all its noisy trimmings, banners and screaming co-eds, will close its season in the South tomorrow, with nearly all of the prominent elevens in action. Vanderbilt and Sewanee will clash at Charlotte and Virginia and North Carolina will come together for their annual battle at Richmond. Florida and Mercer are to play at Gainesville, South Carolina and Citadel at Columbia, Washington and Lee and North Carolina Agricultural at Norfolk, Chattanooga and Georgetown College at Chattanooga, Tulane and Arkansas at New Orleans, Kentucky State and Tennessee at Lexington, and Louisiana State and Texas A. and M. at Houston. Farther north, Georgetown will meet Holy Cross in Washington, and Johns Hopkins will play St. John's in Baltimore.

DEXTERS ATTACKED WITH "COLD FEET" AND NAVY TEAM WILL PLAY

Despite the efforts of the manager and a fat guarantee offered by Manager Doyle, of the Holy Cross football team, the Dexter eleven, of Perth Amboy, refused to pitch its camp in Plainfield tomorrow afternoon for the scheduled fight with the local eleven and as a result Manager Doyle has been forced to look elsewhere for an opponent. In a telephone communication last night, Manager Allen, of the Dexters, said that he had resigned following the refusal of his players to come to Plainfield and that Assistant Manager Quinn was now directing the affairs of the team.

In speaking of the affair today, Manager Doyle said: "As to staging the game in Perth Amboy, will say that I could not possibly arrange this for the Dexters have not a suitable field and the Holy Cross players would refuse to play on the gridiron provided in that city, for which I do not blame them. The Dexters themselves admit they have not the proper facilities for football games due to the poor playing field. Furthermore, it has been my policy to provide our followers here with a game every Saturday and holiday, or not to play at all. I think that the Dexter boys should have stood by their manager and played the game in Plainfield, inasmuch as they were not to play a home game anyway and as I was willing to pay the high guarantee asked for and provide a better field than they could.

"I am confident, however, that the attraction I have booked to take the place of the Dexters, which will be the team from the U. S. S. North Dakota, will be equally as formidable, the local enthusiasts will be treated to a good program of the gridiron sport."

TURKEY DAY GAMES.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving Day games tomorrow will bring to an end the college football season with only one contest of great importance scheduled for the middle West. An intersectional game at St. Louis between Syracuse and St. Louis University will furnish the principal attraction. Another contest of interest to this section, however, will be the game at Austin, Texas, between Notre Dame and the University of Texas. The Notre Dame team is a favorite on account of its defeat of the Army and Penn State elevens. Texas, however, is credited with having the strongest team in the Southwest this season and the contest between the two is expected to furnish some good sport.

The Auburn team which beat Vanderbilt, 14 to 6, this season, has been playing the Commodores for twenty years, in which time they had previously not won even a single game.

RAHWAY DEFEATED AFTER GOOD START

Home Pinners Took the First Game But Dropped Second and Third.

Rahway took the first game from New York on its home alleys last night, but dropped the final two in quick succession by wide margins. The New York pinners failed to strike their winning gait in the opening game and as a result the home team won handily by a score of 827 to 782.

ORANGE TEAM HAD TO WIN ONE GAME

Hoboken Elks Selected to Occupy a Position in Cellar Diggers' Lost Column.

Orange added one more game to its selected list of victories last night on its home alleys, choosing the Hoboken Elks as the occupants of the coveted place in the tailenders' averages. Despite the fact that the visitors had little trouble in whipping the cellar diggers in the first and last games, the mid-set was taken in easy style by the Orangeites, who rang up a count of 906 against their opponents' 786.

TOY DOG SHOW OPENS.

New York, Nov. 26.—The eleventh annual toy dog show given by the Toy Spaniel Club of America opened at the Waldorf-Astoria today and will continue over tomorrow. Hundreds of tiny dogs of aristocratic pedigree are included in the display this year. Among the varieties well represented in the show are Boston terriers, Japanese spaniels, Pomeranians, Pekinese, Maltese and toy poodles, Yorkshire terriers and English toy spaniels.

Furs of Quality Furs of Style

Why shouldn't you patronize the furrier with whom hundreds of persons have dealt to their perfect satisfaction? We tried our best to assemble our stock from the finest skins in the market and made up by our own workmen, so that we can positively guarantee the work and quality. Prices are always the lowest because we made up our stock during the summer months, when our expense was much smaller than in other fancy stores, where you must pay for the looks of the establishment.

Six years in town in one location is the best guarantee to give you, that we keep our promises.

JERSEY COPS' ASS'N DELEGATES FEASTED

Legislative Committee After Business Meeting Banqueted at the Waldorf.

The legislative committee of the New Jersey State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, comprising nearly forty representatives from all parts of the State, held a conference in Junior Hall, East Front street, Wednesday afternoon, when matters which will be presented to the Legislature later on, were discussed at some length.

After the conference the visitors were entertained at a banquet at the Hotel Waldorf, where Henry Windham served a fine dinner. President William J. Mullen, of Trenton, was the toastmaster, introducing the several speakers which included Mayor Harry W. Evans, Police Commissioner Affleck and Police Chief O'Neill, of Westfield; Police Chief P. S. Kiely, of this city; Milton K. Stanley, of Camden, and a number of the visiting patrolmen. All of the speakers were well received.

Chief Kiely assured the patrolmen that the police board and Mayor Stewart were with them and that anything in fairness which the taxpayers would stand for, would be granted the men. He said he believed in organization, but not politicians, that the patrolmen were underpaid and should receive more money, and finally assured the men that he always stood ready to help them and he advised them to always say a good word about an officer whether he was liked or not.

The officers of the State Association are as follows: President, William J. Mullen, Trenton; vice-president, Robert Shannon, East Orange; secretary, J. J. Ohrenberger, Elizabeth; treasurer, James Kehoe, Edgewater; sergeant-at-arms, George Stecklein, West New York. Cornelius J. McCarthy is the local member of the legislative committee.

The guests from out of town, in addition to the members of the local association at the dinner, were: James C. Cange, Asbury Park; Walter Cramer, Atlantic City; George Wirtz, Jr., Belleville; William F. Mertz, Bloomfield; Joseph Kehoe, Bergen county; Robert Russell, Bayonne; Anthony Battell, Clifton; Milton K. Stanley, Camden; J. J. Ohrenberger, Elizabeth; Robert Shannon, East Orange; Joseph S. MISS MARY GRAVES NOW MRS. D. A. ROSE Plainfield Girl Becomes a Bride at Pawtucket, R. I., Episcopal Church.

In the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends, Miss Mary A. Graves, daughter of Mrs. Ellen Graves, of West Fifth street, and David A. Rose, of Pawtucket, R. I., were married in that city, Wednesday night. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bridegroom's parents by Rev. A. S. Wickes, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd at Pawtucket.

Miss Graves was attended by Miss Elizabeth Bridevak, of Pawtucket, as bridesmaid. George Graves, a brother of the bride, was best man. The ceremony was followed by a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose will make their home in Pawtucket, where the former is superintendent of a large manufacturing establishment. He was formerly in the employ of the Niles-Bement-Pond Company in this city. Mrs. Rose is a sister to Councilman-elect Charles E. Graves, who was one of the wedding guests, and has always been a resident of Plainfield. She is an accomplished musician and enjoyed a wide popularity in the city and borough.

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS THANKSGIVING DANCE

Large Crowd Enjoyed Social Event at Attractively Decorated Auditorium.

Decorated in gold and white, the Columbus Club auditorium presented a merry scene Wednesday night, the event being the annual reception and dance of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus. Prof. Webb, of New York, furnished the music. The musicians sat on the stage, which was banked with cut flowers and palms.

Those who comprised the arrangement committee were E. B. Doyle, J. F. O'Keefe, A. A. Cannon, T. F. Carty, J. F. Hillman, C. J. Shirley, G. F. Tobin, F. J. Hughes, J. J. Carty, H. P. Greenwood and Francis J. Blatz.

MRS. ANNA ROOD NOW MRS. JOHN J. FREDERICKS

Mrs. Anna Rood, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Neumann, of Jersey City, was married Wednesday night to John J. Fredericks, of Haverstraw, N. Y., the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's brother-in-law, David L. Coleman, of 20 Mariner's place. The nuptials were conducted by Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue Baptist church, before a large number of relatives and friends from this city, Jersey City, Haverstraw and New York.

Following the ceremony the newly weds left for an extended honeymoon.

A MASQUERADE BALL.

Those who attended the masquerade dance of the Ladies' Auxiliary No. 1, A. O. H., held in Sebring's Auditorium, Wednesday night, wore grotesque costumes, making the event particularly attractive. The committee consisted of Mrs. Frank Linke, and the Misses Sarah Keaney, Mary Regan, Nellie Smith, Mary Jaeger, Mary Ellen Power and Elizabeth Cooney. Suhr's orchestra rendered the dance music.

LECTURE ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Dr. Frederick Hughes will deliver a lecture on "Tuberculosis," under the auspices of the Women's League of St. Joseph's church in Debele's Hall, Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

BACHELOR MAIDENS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

Many Guests Viewed the Retreat of Girls' Club at Home of Miss Woolston.

The Misses Grace and Marguerite Woolston, of the borough, entertained the Bachelor Girls' Club and about twenty-five friends at their home on Fairview avenue, last night. There were guests present from New York, Philadelphia, Westfield and this city. The evening was spent in dancing, playing games and singing. The main feature of the evening were the vocal solos rendered by Miss Edith Bechtel, of this city, and E. S. Murphy, of Flushing, N. Y. The former sang "A Little Love, a Little Kiss" and "Sing Me to Sleep," accompanied by Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, while Mr. Murphy rendered some humorous selections. Later in the evening Miss Bechtel and Mr. Murphy rendered a very pleasing duet.

Malcolm Krewson and William Taylor appeared in an original skit entitled "The Wrong Place" and the latter when dressed up as a chorus girl made the hit of the evening. Percy Bailey and George Young, the latter of Westfield, also entertained. The guests were also allowed to visit and examine the Bachelor Girls' club rooms and they were found to be very attractively decorated and very cozy. At a late hour the girls served refreshments. The following girls assisted the hostesses in preparing the entertainment, Roberta Spencer, Aleta Spencer, Bessie Stevenson and Ida Engelhardt.

Among those present were John Fox, of Philadelphia; E. S. Murphy, of New York, and Dudley Greene, George Sanders, George Young and Fred McDonald, of Westfield. The following were present from this city, Mr. and Mrs. Woodland, Mrs. W. O. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McGrath, Edith Bechtel, Lillian Spencer, Etta Englehardt, William Taylor, Harold Woolston, Percy Bailey, Malcolm Krewson, Ralph Taylor and Frank Dunning.

MISS SELIGMAN BRIDE OF FRED TRACHTENBERG

Miss Ida Seligman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Seligman, of New York, and Fred Trachtenberg, of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Trachtenberg, of New York, were married at 6 o'clock Wednesday night, at Hennington Hall, 214-216 Second street, New York city, in the presence of a large number of guests, including a number from this city. A reception followed, and after a trip the couple will reside here. Mr. Trachtenberg has been a resident of Plainfield some time, being in the employ of Tepper Brothers, the dry goods merchants.

DR. SNODGRASS TO SPEAK.

On account of illness, Rev. Dr. George C. Wilding, of Perth Amboy, will not be able to address the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church, tonight, but instead, Rev. Dr. W. C. NEW YORKERS WED THANKSGIVING DAY

Miss Lillian Lancaster Hazelton Became the Bride of B. E. Mammell.

Miss Lillian Lancaster Hazelton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazelton, and Benjamin Edgar Mammell, both of Brooklyn, were married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. E. S. Bellows, of Woodland avenue. Rev. E. Wicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, performed the ceremony, in the presence of about twenty-five relatives and intimate friends, most of whom being from New York.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Col. C. E. S. Bellows, wore a gown of terra cotta velvet, trimmed with sable and rose point lace, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Florence Webster Hazelton, a sister of the bride, was gowned in white crepe meteor and she carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. Miss Betty Thompson, of New York, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a dress of white and carried a basket of pink rose buds.

The wedding march was played by Robert Bellows, as the bridal party entered the parlors where the ceremony was performed. A reception followed, during which a wedding supper was served, and congratulations were offered. Later Mr. and Mrs. Mammell left on an extended trip. They will reside in Brooklyn upon their return. The bride received a large number of gifts.

The rooms were tastefully decorated for the affairs, yellow chrysanthemums and palms being used with pleasing effect throughout. The arrangement in the dining room was especially attractive.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Mammell, and the Misses Emma and Jane Mammell, of Brooklyn, parents and sisters of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. James W. Dolen, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Haffner and F. A. Thompson, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Wernig and Miss Betty Wernig, of Plainfield.

MISS CATHARINE STRYKER - NOW MRS. STEINMEYER

Miss Catherine VanDyke Stryker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson DeWitt Stryker, of Monmouth Junction, and William Steinmeyer, of New York city, were married at noon, yesterday, at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. T. H. Whiteside, of the Presbyterian church, Kingston. The affair was a quiet one, only the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom being present.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Andrew M. Vanderbeek, of the borough, while Andrew M. Vanderbeek was the best man. An informal reception followed the ceremony, after which the couple left on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Steinmeyer is a graduate nurse of the training school of Muhlenberg Hospital, Class '06, and during the past seven years has been following her profession in this city, having had a successful career and a wide experience. Mr. Steinmeyer holds a responsible position with Bommer Brothers, of Brooklyn.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; TWO PERSONS HURT

Miss Anatasia Taylor and Alexander Stanley Narrowly Escape Death.

Miss Anatasia Taylor, of Elmwood place, a trained nurse, and Alexander Stanley, of Rahway, who were severely injured in an automobile accident at Potter's Crossing on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, Wednesday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock, are slowly recovering at Muhlenberg Hospital. The physician in charge feels assured that they are out of danger.

Miss Taylor suffered a broken rib. Both were considerably cut and bruised about the head and body and their escape from death was considered miraculous.

The couple were on their way to Rahway and in crossing the tracks at Potter's Crossing, the automobile engine "stalled." Before they had a chance to escape, a Buffalo express, eastbound, bore down upon them and crashed into the machine, wrecking it and throwing the occupants a considerable distance. Probably the only thing that saved their lives was the fact that they were both on the front seat.

The train was stopped and the conductor offered to take the injured pair to Newark, but just then J. V. Beekman, of West Eighth street, happened along in his big touring car and he brought them to Muhlenberg Hospital. The couple expected to be married within a short time.

SCORES ARE INJURED IN NEW YORK "L" CRASH

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 28—A score of persons were injured this afternoon when a Third avenue elevated train crashed into another which had stopped at the Chatham Square station. One car was partially destroyed.

Three of the injured were removed to their homes and one was sent to a hospital. Traffic on the east side lines downtown was blocked for some time.

EAST END CONGREGATION WOULD EXTEND A CALL

The members of the Netherwood Reformed church at a congregational meeting Wednesday night, voted to extend a call to Rev. Edward Kelder, of Coytesville, Bergen county, to succeed Rev. Royal A. Stout, as pastor. But the call will not be presented until it is first learned whether Mr. Kelder would be willing to consider it. This is done so as not to cause him any embarrassment. However, it is the belief that he will accept.

Mr. Kelder has been at the Reformed church, Coytesville, for the past four or five years. He formerly preached in the west and has been successful. He has been a friend of Rev. J. Y. Broek, of this city, since boyhood days.

HOUSEKEEPERS' PARTY.

Members of the Y. W. C. A. Housekeeping Center, which meets in the afternoon, will be held today in the association parlors when an appropriate program of entertainment will be given. Tonight the members of the evening class will hold a similar affair.

ATTENDED FAMILY REUNION.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Huff and son, Herbert, of Codington avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mosher and children, Seeley and Grace, of this city, attended a family reunion of the Huff family at the home of Mrs. Alletta Huff, Centreville, yesterday.

DUTCH ARMS BAND WILL GIVE CONCERT

Fine Musical Treat in Store for Those Who Attend its Entertainment Tonight.

The first grand concert of the Dutch Arms Band of Trinity Reformed church will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Hall at 8 o'clock tonight. The band will be assisted by Mrs. Edmund D. Young, soprano, and William Holmes, baritone. This will be the first public appearance of the band in the new uniforms and the proceeds will be used to pay for them. The band has attained a high state of efficiency in playing and a fine concert is anticipated.

This organization has made a great reputation for itself and for the city under the able leadership of Edmund D. Young. When called upon to provide music for any public event, it has been very willing to do so, and on each occasion has gained many favorable comments from those considered judges of good brass band music. It will be well worth while to attend the concert tonight.

BIBLE IS PRESENTED TO PLAINFIELD ELKS

Copy of the Holy Book to Be Placed on Lodge's Altar.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., met for the first time in the lodge room of its new home on Watchung avenue Wednesday night, and in connection with the opening held its customary Thanksgiving observance. Fully 300 members were in attendance at the business session, in the course of which a class of sixteen candidates was initiated. The number included Councilman George S. Clay, Roger F. Murray, Dr. Frank C. Ayres, E. E. Iremonger, Clarence W. Mundy, Augustus Laggren and others equally well known.

In the course of the session, Past Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon, in behalf of William S. Mulvrey, of Cranford, a member of 885, presented the lodge with a beautiful gold embellished Bible for use on the altar. The gift in reality came from Frederick Stone, a prominent New York insurance man, by whom Mr. Mulvrey is employed. The former is not an Elk but became interested in the Plainfield home through Mr. Mulvrey and the fact that he greatly admired the new building as he passed by it one day recently. The Bible was accepted by Exalted Ruler Frank H. Smith in a neatly worded reply to Judge Runyon's characteristic speech.

After the close of business, refreshments were served and a general social time was enjoyed.

The opening of the lodge room was not a formal affair as this will take place later in connection with elaborate dedication ceremonies.

JOHN CALVIN HALL DIES SUDDENLY OF APOPLEXY

John Calvin Hall, a well-known resident, who has been living at the City Industrial Home for some time, died at Muhlenberg Hospital at 10:30 o'clock last night, several hours after he had been stricken with apoplexy on West Front street, and removed there in the ambulance. Mr. Hall attended the union Thanksgiving service at the First M. E. church in the morning.

Mr. Hall had been a resident of Plainfield for a number of years. He became interested in the work at the Plainfield Rescue Mission and was converted there in September, 1908, and afterward became an active worker and joined Trinity Reformed church, where he attended services regularly. He possessed a genial disposition and was well liked. So far as known he had no relatives here, but leaves a nephew, W. Q. Conger, of Jersey City. The funeral announcement will be made tomorrow.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS WILL HAVE A BIG TIME

About 500 members of the Knights of Columbus from various parts of the State will go to Westfield, Sunday afternoon and witness the organization ceremonies of a Westfield Council. The first and second degrees will be conferred by the officers of Watchung Council, K. of C., and District Deputy J. J. O'Neill, of Jersey City, will conduct the third degree ceremonies. The new council will be started with seventy-five charter members. The event will be held in the Darby building, Westfield.

PUBLIC INVITED TO INSPECT BLDG.

New Private Room Pavilion Open to the People Tomorrow and Saturday.

STRUCTURE IMPOSING

One of Group of Eleven Buildings on a Ten-acre Lot—It is Three Stories in Heighth and is Most Modern in All Respects.

The first public inspection of the new private room pavilion at Muhlenberg Hospital will take place tomorrow and Sunday afternoon and evening from 3 until 7 o'clock, following the professional inspection, this afternoon, to which doctors, city and county officials and editors of newspapers have been invited.

The visitors will see the real results of their splendid liberality during the campaign early last year. The revenue obtained from the pay patients in the new building will make it possible for the hospital to do even more than its present 53 per cent. of charity service, and thereby increase immeasurably the hospital service.

There are eleven buildings in the hospital group, situated on a ten-acre lot. The new private room pavilion, an imposing three-story structure of tapestry brick, is the largest of the group. The patients' rooms are located on the front and ends of the building, and the work rooms, lavatories, stairways and elevator occupy the central rear. On the first floor, in addition to the reception hall and general reception room, there are seven commodious rooms for private patients. Twelve similar apartments are on the second floor. The top story is given over to five semi-private rooms, with accommodations for twenty-five patients.

On all of the floors are diet kitchens, equipped with the most modern steam tables and refrigerators for the proper handling of food. Dumb waiters are installed and the necessary china closets are conveniently located, and the whole equipment is modern and complete.

ROB TICKET AGENT AT POINT OF GUNS

Van Fleet, at Jersey Central Station at Manville, Compelled to Give up.

In the face of three loaded revolvers leveled by three masked men wearing slouch hats, William H. Van Fleet, Jersey Central Railroad ticket agent and postmaster at Manville, was forced to open a strong-box containing over $300 in money belonging to the postal department and the United States Express Co., Wednesday night, as he was about to complete his evening meal. Taking the funds the three robbers made their escape.

Railroad detectives and the police of surrounding municipalities have been notified and several suspects have been arrested.

Even in the face of the weapons, Mr. Van Fleet, aided by his wife, gave battle to the hold-ups, but were overpowered. In the fight, the postmaster had the index finger of his right hand nearly severed by a knife.

ITALIAN NEST OF OWLS MADE IT A GREAT DAY

A Thanksgiving celebration in the form of a fair, musical entertainment, reception and ball was enjoyed yesterday by members and friends of the Italian Nest of Owls. The event was held in Saengerbund Hall, which was profusely decorated with flags of all nations and several electrical displays. An augumented orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Antonio Lambiase, furnished the music.

The arrangement committee was comprised of Ercole Brancatti, chairman; Frank Caruso, secretary; William Marangello, floor manager, and Charles Ferraro, assistant floor manager. These members formed the reception committee: Raffaele Tozzi, James Martin, Victor Biasucci, Frank Martin and Thomas Burberini. Joseph Tumolo was in charge of the fair.

JOHN HIGGINS INJURED.

John Higgins, aged 82 years, of Codington avenue, the borough, is detained at his home with a fractured arm and minor injuries, the result of a fall a few days ago. He was working for his son-in-law, George Hummer, on a barn on Somerset street, when he fell about four feet. The arm was set at the hospital.

MO-JO White Chewing Gum

A Correction

In a recent MO-JO Chewing Gum talk we emphasized the fact that no chewing gum is advertised as "clean" or "White".

Since that was written we notice an advertisement speaking of a certain gum as "clean" and "pure"

That's a step forward.

Now that the manufacturers are making "cleanliness" a feature of the advertising, we hope they will soon make it a feature of their gum.

At present MO-JO is the only clean white chewing gum on the market.

But we have hope.

STYLE SR RELIABILITY

Exploding a Fallacy

Some wise gazabo from across the Big Pond has said of our country: In America, merchandise is bought for two reasons—because it is cheap or because it is expensive.

Perhaps you don't believe there are a large number of men who buy their overcoats because they are marked sky-high.

The misguided ones argue that if the price is big, the value is big—but after a few months of good solid wear, it turns out that what they mistook for value was only "looking-glass value," and once more they have gotten it in the proximity of the Cluett Peabody product.

Rothberg Overcoats do not masquerade under big prices—they're made to wear. Their splendid appearance is backed by materials that hold their shape thru' all the vicissitudes (whatever that means) of constant wear.

If you're looking for HONEST VALUES coupled with HONEST PRICES you'll find them both at Rothberg's Shop for "Most Things Men Wear."

MISS IDALIA E. CROSS BECOMES MRS. P. A. CLAY

Miss Idalia E. Cross and Preston A. Clay, colored, both of this city, were married last evening at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, Rev. William H. Hicks, the pastor, officiating. The matron of honor was Mrs. Nellie Sorensen, sister of the bride, and the best man was Bruce Clay, cousin of the groom, who gave the bride in marriage.

The bride wore a gown of white silk, trimmed with pearls and rhinestones and carried white roses and carnations. The matron of honor wore a gown of pink satin draped in chiffon. The wedding march was played by Alfred P. White. The church was filled to its capacity with guests from New York, Newark, Philadelphia and this city.

A reception followed at the home of Mrs. J. A. Henricksen, 326 Plainfield avenue. The couple left last night to spend a few days in Philadelphia. They will reside here. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fendericksen, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Clay. Mrs. Clay received a large number of gifts.

Y. M. H. A. ANNUAL BALL AT THE COLUMBUS CLUB

The Y. M. H. A. selected last night to hold its ninth annual ball, the event being held in Columbus Club auditorium, which was gayly decorated in yellow and white. Directly over the stage where the orchestra was seated, an electric sign illuminated the initials, "Y. M. H. A."

Jacob Abrams was chairman of the arrangement committee. He was assisted by Arthur H. Richards, Victor S. Drellich, Herman Shrager, Samuel Meyers and Louis Rothberg. Samuel Rothberg was floor manager and the reception committee was composed of Emanuel Block, Max Bernstein, Michael Stierer, David Rothstein, Morris L. Abrams, Emanuel Jonup, Morton Hochberger, Max Rosenthal, Harry Robinson, Harry Trottner, Leopold Berse and Harry Siegal.

WATCHUNG'S RIDERS FOLLOWED HOUNDS

Thirteen Were There at the Finish of a Twenty Mile Chase.

A large number of riders turned out yesterday morning at the Baltusrol Golf Club for the annual Thanksgiving Day run with the Watchung hounds. The chase, which covered a distance of more than twenty miles, was full of thrills and excitement, not alone for those in the field, but for the many farmers and their families over whose farms the line was laid and who viewed the run from their housetops, as well as for many auto parties that followed along the nearby highways from where much of the fencing could be seen.

At one time or another during the run, Beverly Brown, C. E. S. Bellows, H. L. Finch and Miss Marjorie Dana and Jacques Cartier, of New York, came to grief, but fortunately with the exception of Mr. Brown, all escaped with nothing more than a shaking up and were able to continue.

The hounds were cast in on the golf club grounds and made a straight line for Mountainside on the Springfield road, where they were checked for the first time. They were taken up again and cast in nearby on the Miller estate, going in the direction of Garwood and checking on the old Fair Acres race track. The hounds were taken up again and cast in for the final line near Westfield, crossing numerous farms and finishing at the Plainfield Country Club.

Those in at the finish were R. C. Finch, M. F. H., L. B. Smith, R. H. Towner, H. A. Bourne, H. L. Finch, Miss Gertrude Noe, S. D. French and E. R. Finch, H. S. Hollis, Miss Marjorie Dana, Gordon Douglass, Jacques Cartier, of New York, and Huntsman Harrison.

Greenhut Siegel-Cooper Co. Ready for Christmas Trade

Extensive preparations have been made this year by The Big Store of the Greenhut-Siegel Cooper Co. for the coming Christmas season.

In striking gala attire are both buildings of the mammoth establishment. The main floor of its main building is particularly attractive from an artistic standpoint. The decorative scheme is wonderfully effective. Festoons of greenery and Christmas bells have been amalgamated into one harmonious whole, giving the effect of a veritable Christmas palace.

Electricity plays a prominent part in adding to the attractiveness of the decorations. Thousands of lights go to make up a scene of wonderful splendor.

From the ends of the earth, a remarkable variety of goods have been assembled, designed to make gift-purchasing easy. Perhaps never before in the history of this institution, which dates back some 17 years, has there been a greater variety of practical, useful and ornamental articles shown—for personal or household use, for man, woman or child.

Placing itself in accord with the Christmas spirit, the Greenhut-Siegel Cooper Co. emphasizes the fact that early Christmas shopping is not only advisable, but profitable. All kinds of goods are now shown in their widest assortments. Prices will not be lower during the rush period, and the advantages of shopping now are manifest.

"THE PLAINFIELD PLAN."

Elizabeth's authorities are seriously discussing what has been long known as "The Plainfield Plan" for the regulation of the liquor traffic and it is not unlikely that some similar ordinances, possibly not so stringent, may be adopted. If they should be, Elizabeth's present problem will be solved, provided, of course, that the regulations are as strictly enforced as they are here.

One objection that is heard in Elizabeth to "The Plainfield Plan" is to the size of the retail fee, $1,200. That amount is none too high for the privilege. At the county seat the number of licensed places is out of all proportion and the best and surest way of driving dozens of the excess number out of business, particularly those of the lower grade, would be to exact a high fee. Here in Plainfield none has objected to the $1,200 fee and as a violation would mean at least the forfeit of that sum upon conviction and consequent revocation of license, it goes to insure the proper conduct of the business. The men engaged in that traffic are well aware what the result of an offense against the ordinances means. That lesson has been taught noticeably in one case but a few years ago. The proprietor of the place, the Common Council became convinced, had sold a glass of beer each to two minors. That lost him not only his license and the $1,200 fee but the good will of the business which was reported to be valued at $20,000. Elizabeth, therefore, we believe, will find that the high license fee will act as a preventive against violations and will also find that it will rid the city of many of its saloons.

There is another objection made also to the time fixed for closing of liquor places, 11 o'clock at night, and yet that is one of the very best features of our local laws. Our authorities, past and present, all strongly approve of this clause, the police particularly appreciating it as a factor in maintaining law and order here.

Elizabeth will do well if it copies still another feature of our ordinances and that is what is known as the Tyler Saloon Zone provision. This prevents a liquor place being located in a strictly residential section, the zone in which these licenses may be applied for being confined strictly to the business district. This is as it should be and as Elizabeth suffers from having saloons in residential neighborhoods it can find a solution of the evil by enacting a similar rule.

MOTION PICTURES.

The service the Y. M. C. A. is rendering the community is many-sided. Perhaps none of the features promoted by the organization contributes more to the upbuilding of our city than its educational motion picture exhibitions. These exhibitions were begun over two years ago for the purpose of utilizing and developing the educational possibilities of this most remarkable reproducing device. The successful experience of the association with the activity has led many other associations to promote similar undertakings. The local association's general secretary, Hebert E. Parker, as a contributing editor will write on this subject for tomorrow's issue. What he will say will interest you.

For the benefit of that Elizabeth alderman who decided that despite its stringent liquor traffic regulations there were more Plainfield than Elizabeth offenders sent to the county court, let it be noted that, though the laws and ordinances are enforced here, there was not a single arrest of any sort yesterday, which was a holiday.

We must keep up "Doing it for Plainfield." Only by united, intelligent and persistent effort does any cause succeed and our cause is the upbuilding and the advancement of our ideal community.

THEIR OBSERVANCE AS A THANKSGIVING

Prescribed Services Held in Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches.

Thanksgiving Day services were held in the Episcopal and Roman Catholic churches of the city and borough, yesterday morning, they being marked by special sermons and music and large congregations. At Grace church a corporate communion was held at 7:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Men's Club, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector, being in charge. Breakfast was served afterwards in the parish house. About forty men attended. At 10 o'clock there was morning prayer and sermon by the rector, the theme being one appropriate for the day. The full choir was present in charge of S Frederick Smith, organist. The processional hymn was "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come," and the offertory anthem was "O, Lord, How Manifold Are Thy Works," Barnby.

The service at Holy Cross church was held at 10 o'clock, Rev. W. S McCoy, rector, being in charge. The chancel was attractively decorated with sheafs of wheat, fruits, etc. The choir sang special selections, the processional hymn being "Our Fathers God to Thee." The sermon was delivered by Mr. McCoy, the text being "Whoso Offereth Me Thanks and Praise He Horoneth Me," Psalms 50:23. During the service the rector read the President's proclamation.

There was a large congregation at the 10 o'clock service at the Church of the Heavenly Rest. After the usual Thanksgiving service, the rector, Rev. C. H. Malley, read the President's proclamation and commented upon the causes of thankfulness which should animate the people as a nation, a Christian congregation and as individuals. The offering at this service was well as at all the Episcopal churches throughout the diocese of New Jersey was for the "Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund" of the diocese.

Rev. W. E. L. Ward, rector, was in charge of the 10 o'clock service at St. Stephen's church, there being morning prayer and sermon appropriate to the day. There was special music by the vested choir, with solo numbers. The chancel was appropriately decorated.

There were three masses at St Mary's R. C. church, 6:30 and 7:00 o'clock being general masses of thanksgiving, while Father B. M. Bogan held a special mass at 8 o'clock for the Polish people of the city, at which the John III Sobrieski Society attended in a body. This service was in memory of the departed friends and relatives of the Polish people. Father Bogan commented upon the President's proclamation, telling why people should be full of gratitude. The music was in charge of Miss Mary Smith, organist, the choir singing special selections.

There was but one mass at St. Joseph's R. C. church, the borough, at 7 o'clock, which was in charge of Father Aurelia Poli, assistant priest, who preached the sermon. There was a large attendance of communicants at this mass.

FANTOCHES AT PROCTOR'S.

Jewell's Fantoches, the original of all marionette acts, first played at Tony Pastor's theatre, when Harry Sanderson was there, is the big act at Proctor's this week, delighting old and young. The Spanish, skeleton and other dances, the ship wreck at sean and bombardment by the American fleet are some of the features. Jimmy Lucas is there with a bunch of fun which bubbles over. Walter Parker & Co., in a comedy sketch, "Teddy's Finish," the scene of which is in a dressing room of the Hippodrome, is a scream. Howe & Edwards offer an Irish skit, "The Arrival of Mr. Ketherick," full of genuine humor and wit, and The Olive Trio, in which the work of the woman predominates, is an excellent juggling pot-pourri.

CONGREGATIONS JOIN IN GIVING THANKS

Five Churches Hold Union Service, Their Pastors Having Charge.

The union Thanksgiving service held yesterday morning at the First M. E. church, under the auspices of the First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Trinity Reformed, Temple Baptist and First M. E. churches, was largely attended, the edifice being filled with worshippers. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson was in charge, conducting the responsive reading, while Rev. Evarts C. Conover, of the Temple Baptist church, offered prayer. Rev. J. Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, read the Scripture lesson and the sermon was by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church.

As an offertory, Miss Kinnaman, contralto soloist of the First M. E. church sang a pleasing solo appropriate to the service, being accompanied on the organ by Clifford A. Braider. The offering was given to the Children's Home.

"O Give Thanks Unto Jehovah for He is Good," was the theme of Dr Strong's discourse, during which he emphasized the importance of giving thanks to God at this season rather than devoting one's time to discussing the question that the world is going to the dogs and that rulers and legislators are all corrupt. The preacher divided his theme into three parts, "O Give Thanks," "Unto Jehovah," "For He Is Good."

"This is Thanksgiving day," said Dr. Strong, "and I protest against a discussion of subjects threatening the welfare of the country. There are so many things for which we should give thanks and be thankful. Your lot is that of the average person with perhaps a share of the dregs, but with it all you have your joys and should cultivate them. I remember hearing of one old woman who said that she was thankful because she had two teeth and they both hit. There are lots of reasons why a person can be thankful even without a turkey dinner.

"Jehovah is the author of every good and perfect gift that we receive and we should be duly thankful. He is good when He bestows His gifts and He is good when he withholds them, and I trust that today when you sit down to partake of choice viands that you will say grace and thank Jehovah if you never do so again. Thank Him for His great goodness, for all that He has given you and for the loved ones about you."

Rev. Dr. Anderson made the closing prayer and Dr. Strong pronounced the benediction.

ALL-DAY SERVICES AT TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Special services will be held all day Sunday at the Temple Baptist church. In the morning at 11 o'clock, Joseph Cohn, who is to speak at the First Baptist church in the afternoon, will speak on "The Church and the Jew." He is a son of former Rabbi Leopold Cohn. In the evening at 7:45 o'clock, the Christian Endeavor Society will have a missionary rally, Rev. Dr. A. L. Snell, of New York city, and a medical missionary, who has just returned from China, being the speaker. The public is invited to these services.

FIRST M. E. CHOIR WILL GIVE GREAT ORATORIO

The quartet choir of the First M E. church will give the oratorio, "The Life Everlasting," at the musical service Sunday evening. While the oratorio has several brilliant numbers, still it is not too heavy for quartet rendition as are many of the standard oratorios. The words, selected from Holy Writ, are well adapted to the music, which is of a very high standard. The other selections will be in keeping with the service. Miss Gabrielle Drosse, soprano, will sing Haydn's "With Verdure Clad," as an offertory solo. The quartet comprises Miss Drosse, soprano; Miss Ethel G. Kinneman, contralto; Aleck MacGowan, tenor, and Edgar A. Cole, baritone; Clifford A. Braider, organist and musical director.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Dr. Gabriel Reed Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, announces that he invites all employes, employers, equal rights advocates and anti-suffragists to attend the services at that edifice next Sunday night, when he will preach on "Labor and Capital."

Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church, returned this morning from Mt. Bethel, where he spent about a month on a farm recuperating from a recent illness. He will have charge of the church services on Sunday.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HOSEK.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Hosek was held at 200 West Second street, yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. C. W. F. Attlee officiated. The burial was in the Plainfield avenue cemetery.

CAPTAIN JACK WILSON IS NO LONGER "THE BAREFOOT BOY"

Making the first touchdown on Cricket Field yesterday afternoon in the football game between the Holy Cross and U. S. S. North Dakota elevens, Captain Jack Wilson, of the locals, won a pair of new Regal shoes offered by the Men's Shop for the first score made.

In case the game resulted in a no score decision for Holy Cross Manager Doyle was to receive the shoes but his managerial strategy failed him on this occasion and he fell far short of signing up an opponent that could hold the Holy Cross team scoreless. The final score was 39 to 6 in favor of the locals.

PLAYED LAST CONTEST.

The defeat administered by the Cranford Boys' Club yesterday afternoon wound up the season for the Holy Cross Boys' Club eleven. The fact that this is the initial season for the local squad makes the record set up an unusually creditable one and those in charge of the athletes are greatly encouraged over the way the team has played. Out of six games played, they won one, tied two and lost three.

NEW ASSISTANT MANAGER.

Manager George Leighs, of the Hope chapel football team, has appointed David Wardrop as assistant manager for the team during the coming season.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 33 degrees; 11 a. m., 38 degrees; 1 p. m., 40 degrees.

SAILORS WERE NO MATCH FOR H. C.

Holy Cross Team Smeared the Locals in Holiday Football Match.

MANY FEATURE PLAYS

Final Score 39 to 6—Wilson Hung up the First Scalp and Gets the New Pair of Shoes—Sailors Were a Formidable Bunch.

Substituting for the Dexter A. C. of Perth Amboy, which cancelled its scheduled engagement here yesterday afternoon with the Holy Cross football team, the U. S. S. North Dakota eleven proved an easy mark for the locals in the holiday bill and went down to a 39 to 6 defeat. Despite the fact that the score was one-sided and the locals had everything their own way throughout the entire contest, some good football was evidenced by the big crowd that adorned the side lines and many occasions for applauding presented themselves to the fans.

It was typical football weather and the Thanksgiving Day bill was carried out to the smallest item by Manager Doyle's crew. Besides giving a wonderful exhibition of line bucking and old fashioned football the warriors of the red and white sprang some well executed forward passes and rehearsed their entire repertoire of tricks and shifts. Equally as versatile in springing the mysterious shifts were the visiting backs who at times made many fine and spectacular gains through the Holy Cross line.

Coming in from a thirty days' furlough the sailors headed straight for Plainfield and many readily admitted that they were in none too good a condition for the gruelling fight Holy Cross inspired. The conquerors of the U. S. S. Washington team, another rival of the locals, were as speedy a bunch as has appeared on a local lot this season but the Plainfielders were primed to defeat the Dexters so took their sweet revenge at the expense of the sailors.

When the North Dakota stars paraded on the field the game was readily conceded to be a foregone fight to finish and up to the time that Jack Wilson pushed across the first touchdown and annexed the pair of shoes that was offered for the performance of this stunt, the fighting was nip and tuck.

The lineup and summary:

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—In its final and most important game of the year the Cornell football team played the best game of the year and completely outplayed the ancient Pennsylvania rival. The Ithacans won by a score of 21 to 0, and the long list of defeats at the hands and feet of the Quakers was broken. The decisiveness and thoroughness of Cornell's victory and the fact that it was twelve years between victories made it a day of jubilation for the Ithaca contingent, and the splendid close to a season which was trying and with frequent reverses was a feather in the caps of the players and the coach, Dr. Al Sharpe.

The Ithacans rushed through two touchdowns in short order in the first period and the third one in the last period, each one being topped off with a kicked goal. There were flurries of snow while Cornell was snowing under the Quakers, large, fat flakes coming down while the Ithaca backs were ripping off large, fat gains, a wintry day and especially cold for Penn. In the last period there was bad handling of spectators, hundreds on one side of the field encroaching beyond the boundary ropes and lining up close to the side line. The few policemen on the scene were lost in the shuffle, though they did chase back a few, and there was no chance for anybody left in the lower part of the stand to see. The attendance was about 20,000.

HOPE SECONDS PLAY RINGS AROUND RIVAL

A Score of 24 to 12 Prevailed at the End of Preliminary Tussle.

Hope Chapel second team players had an easy time with their rivals, the Watchung A. C., in the preliminary game on the Chapel court yesterday afternoon and by some superior shooting carried the score up to twenty-four while the mountaineers were piling up an even dozen counters. Every man on the home five scored at least two points and Thorn contributed eight to the cause while Schott rang five.

For the Watchung A. C., Underhill and Armstrong were the only point winners and their shooting kept the Watchung crew in the running. The Chapelites piled up just twice as many field goals as their opponents and the passing exhibited by the winners was just about the same in proportion.

The Great Toy World at Wanamaker's Invites You

What a wonderful world it is, to be sure. Full, crowded full, of everything that childhood loves best.

From Germany, Austria, France, everywhere that toys are made, these toy-joys have come a-trooping and a-sailing to the Wanamaker Toy World to gladden the hearts of thousands and thousands of children.

Here are assembled the choicest of child-wonders:—

The Lion that jumps out of his cage, and roars.

The giant Jack-in-the-Box who frightens little children to laughter.

"I Never Had a Toy in My Life"
(A True Story)

A little four-year-old had just broken his favorite toy—Teddy Bear. He lifted up his voice in tearful protest against his loss.

A bachelor friend of the lad's family—with the silver of sixty on his head—tried to comfort the little chap.

"Don't you mind," he said coaxingly "we'll get you another one."

"I want my Teddy fixed," wailed the youngster, clinging together the wreck of his toy.

"But," went on the oldster, "we'll get you a much bigger, much finer Teddy—one most as big as you are—with long brown fur and big eyes and—well, a bigger Teddy than any little boy ever had before."

In this wise he was comforted for the loss of the toy which had been his friend, companion, bedfellow.

Still hugging the broken toy close to him he snuggled into the big man's arms.

"Well, little lad," finally said the man, "your grief is real to you. I never knew that toys were so real to little folks. You see, I never had a toy in my life. In the far, far West of my boy-days there weren't any toys to be had. Now I wish I'd had the chance to cry over a broken toy like you."

"You love your Teddy?" he asked after a pause. "Y-e-s-s," said the little fellow.

"That's right," said the man, "always love him. Love all your toys. That is how little folk learn how to love people and be good and kind and brave and loyal.

"You shall have the new Teddy friend right away.

"And this Christmas I am going to give you and all the other children I know all the toys I didn't get when I was a little fellow. Children can't have too many toys."

The Armies of the World in boxes upon boxes of leaden soldiers.

The Giant Ostrich that does not know where to hide his head.

Forts behind which regiments of Lilliputian Soldiers may lay besieged.

Great little Railroad systems that run by electricity.

And the Land of Lilliput, which, of course, is inhabited by hundreds upon hundreds of dolls with scores of Lilliputian houses and mansions, stables and barns, shops and gardens—that is, indeed, a wonderful country to surprise and gladden the hearts of little girls.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

OPENS UP NOSTRILS, CLEARS HEAD, ENDS COLD OR CATARRH AT ONCE

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat—You Breathe Freely—Dull Headache Goes—Nasty Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Adv.

THREE CONGREGATIONS ATTENDED UNION SERVICE

The congregations of the Congregational, Seventh-day Baptist and Crescent Avenue Presbyterian churches held a union Thanksgiving service yesterday morning at the latter edifice, where the Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, the minister, delivered a sermon exemplifying the fact that as mankind has made steady advance, God prepared the way. In the beginning of his discourse Dr. Zelie criticised the so-called up-to-date person. In so doing he paid a tribute to the simple examples of living set by our forefathers and said that many of the people of today feel ashamed to live and worship like our ancestors.

"We have been repeatedly shocked by the prophesies of prophets and scientists," Dr. Zelie said, "who have told us that we are soon to be confronted with the 'yellow peril,' industrial panics and the peril of foreign invasion but whenever we meet these things, God will have prepared the way out of our trouble."

PIG ROAST IS GIVEN AT THE NORMAN HOUSE

William McCormick, of South Plainfield, gave a pig roast at the Norman House, that place, Thanksgiving eve, covers being laid for twenty-five persons. Mr. McCormick secured the fifty-pound porker at the fair held recently by the Middlesex Volunteer Fire Department, and then decided to give a "roast." William Colfax was the toastmaster, and after the feast speeches were made by Fire Chief William Hamilton, Committeeman John Geary and former Overseer of the Poor William Colter.

TO DISCUSS THE FINANCES OF PISCATAWAY TOWNSHIP

The adjustment of the financial affairs of the Borough of Middlesex and the Township of Piscataway, will be made at a meeting to be held at the New Market school house tonight. William Hamilton, of South Plainfield, will represent that section at the request of President Vail of the Taxpayers' Association.

There will probably be a report in accordance with a recent resolution authorizing a committee to investigate the conditions at the township poor farm as a paying proposition or whether to it would be wise to sell the farm and purchase a smaller place nearer the township centre. William Hamilton, John Evans, John Gray, David Perrine and L. D. Walker comprise the special committee.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 36.

I BELIEVE in classified advertising. I believe that the classified columns of a good newspaper are the natural market-place for human wants.

Glance through the advertisements in the classified columns of the newspaper you are reading. Is there not something vitally interesting and human in the little announcements listed there?

Some one asked me the other day if I really believe what I preach in these Talks. I do. No man can even attempt to write convincingly unless he believes in his own printed word. I know the "pulling power" of Classified advertising, and no one can make me believe other than that it pays.

Proof? Why, yes,—in my own experience and in the experience of many of my friends and acquaintances I have seen the little, but mighty WANT AD "work out." My own entry into the newspaper business was effected some eight or ten years ago, through a WANT AD. A little announcement set in the middle of some white space in the Classified columns, attracted the attention of the Business Manager of a newspaper in my native city, and a position on that newspaper resulted.

I know of folks who have advertised in the Classified columns for cooks, for butlers, for maids, for stenographers, for positions, for help, for horses, for automobiles—for pretty nearly anything you can think of. And they got what they advertised for.

There are exceptions to every rule that was ever made, but I know, just as surely as I know that the carriage of this typewriter is humming along with every stroke of the keys, that, in the great majority of instances, the little WANT AD. is a power 'way out of proportion with its trivial cost.

New York, Nov. 28.—The football season for 1913 will close tomorrow afternoon when the rival teams from the United States Military and Naval Academies meet for their annual gridiron battle on the Polo Grounds in this city. This will be the first time that the annual contest between the two branches of the service has ever been played in New York, and with the additional seating facilities of the Polo Grounds the game is expected to take on even greater importance than it has in former years, when played at Franklin Field, in Philadelphia.

The seating capacity at the Polo Grounds has been rearranged and additional stands and several field boxes have been built. Accommodations have been provided for 40,000 spectators. The Army will occupy the south side of the main grandstand and the Navy will sit on the north side.

From a social standpoint the Army-Navy games eclipses all others of the season, as it attracts a most representative gathering of society leaders from all over the East, army and navy officers, diplomats, and others prominent in all walks of life. Seated in the various boxes around the field of play will be President and Mrs. W. Wilson and other members of President Wilson's family, cabinet members, diplomats, senators and representatives and prominent army and navy officers from Washington, Philadelphia, Newport, Governor's Island and other points.

The battalion of cadets from each academy will attend the game. The West Point cadets will arrive here tomorrow morning. The midshipmen will come from Annapolis on special trains. They will march to the Polo Grounds from the ferryboat landing at the foot of 155th street.

The elevens this year appear to be unusually well matched, although it is possible the middles will rule slight favorites before the whistle sounds for the opening of hostilities. Both teams are substantially the same as faced one another on Franklin Field a year ago, when the Navy was victorious by a score of 6 to 0.

Both teams have made good records this season, with the middles record showing the better performances. On the other hand, the Army has had more formidable opponents than the Navy. The Army's achievements, as disclosed in the games early in the season, particularly the victory over Colgate, the conqueror of Yale, indicate a standard Army team close in power to a first grade eleven.

Comparing the players and team records, the critics of the game have reached the conclusion that they present two evenly matched elevens, with about equal resources and equal prospects. On the eve of the battle it appears that the team will win which excels in a superior knowledge of the finer points of play and possesses the greater mental alertness to convert to advantage the breaks of fortune and the opportunities of play.

Tomorrow's game will be the eighteenth in the series between the two academies. Of the seventeen games played the Navy has won 9 and the Army 7. In 1905 the two teams played a tie game.

The officials at tomorrow's game will be: Referee, W. S. Langford, Trinity College; umpire, "Al" Sharpe, Yale University; head linesman, Carl Marshall, Harvard University. Messrs. Langford and Sharpe acted in the same capacity last season.

DEAF AND DUMB STAR ON Y. M. C. A. COURT

"Dummy" Metzler, of Somerville, Will Oppose Locals Tomorrow Night.

A basketball team representing Company M of Somerville will appear on the local Y. M. C. A. court tomorrow night in the usual week-end game with the association team. Following the victory of last night hung up at the expense of the New York University crew the local contingent is optimistic of its chances of holding on to a clean record and the game will in all probability be a fast one.

The Somerville outfit has always been a close rival of the Queen City team and the battle is generally one of the leading contests of the season on the local court. "Dummy" Messler, a deaf and dumb basketball player, whose prowess is well known throughout the State, will play forward for the visitors and he is always a feature of any contest in which he appears. Several Somerville High School players are also due to appear here.

COLORED GRIDIRON WARRIORS LOST OUT

Local Huskies Beaten by a Touchdown in State Title Fight Here.

Playing on the Filmore avenue field yesterday afternoon for the State championship of colored football teams, the Elite A. C., of Princeton, defeated the Plainfield A. C. by a score of 6 to 0 in a gruelling contest witnessed by one of the largest crowds of spectators that ever attended a game of this nature on a local lot.

Both teams had a large gathering of rooters and the game was a great fight from start to finish, both teams sending in their choicest material to do battle and to reap the reward that went with victory. Straight rushing tactics and old fashioned football played a prominent part in the deciding of the match and many hard smashes were made at the centre portions of each line that counted for many yards.

Following the game the members of the two teams and their friends enjoyed a reception in the Company K armory and dancing was a feature of the evening. In the first game played between these two teams at Princeton, Election Day, a scoreless tie was the result.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

VERSATILITY WON BRILLIANT GAME

Y. M. C. A. Five, Playing Collegiate Rules, Flash Spectacular Basketball.

FINAL SPURT WON GAME

New York University Contingent Subdued by Local Association Quintet in Remarkable Game—Moulton's Work a Bright Spot.

Fighting for every available point and with the score swaying perceptibly in favor of the opposition, the local Y. M. C. A. basketball team flashed a spurt in the final six minutes of its game with New York University last night on the Plainfield court and returned a victory in one of the most spectacular contests ever played on a basketball floor in this vicinity. Both teams were out to preserve unblemished records and one point separated the opponents at the finish, the final score being 21 to 20 in favor of the locals.

Consistent shooting on the part of Harry Moulton going hand in hand with speedy playing on the part of Lipman and Captain Helfant, of the visitors, made the first half a nip and tuck affair and a few seconds before the whistle sounded for the end of the initial period Bierers caged a field goal for the visitors, bringing the score up to 11 to 10 in the Gothamites favor. During the initial period the teams played collegiate basketball rules and the many spectacular plays on the part of the New Yorkers during their regime with their favorite code kept the record crowd of spectators constantly on the alert. Every play was a matter of keen contention and the locals set the pace for the greater part of the first half although the collegians drew first blood and held their advantage for five minutes before Moulton broke the ice with a shot from the centre of the floor.

Opening the final period of play with the score one point to the good and strengthened by the addition of Gilhooley, who was late in arriving, the visitors launched a spurt that savored of victory in the broadest sense of the word. Almost as soon as the half opened the New Yorkers piled up an eight point advantage and the Plainfielders appeared to be completely bewildered by the lightning attack of their opponents who passed and shot in a brilliant fashion.

In the final session close competition caused many delays and time was called at frequent intervals, giving the players an opportunity to get wind and this kept both teams in the pink of condition throughout the entire contest. The score was tied by the association boys in the middle of the last half and although both teams made many shots for the basket their attempts were all futile and the score remained in this condition until six minutes before time was called when one of the local forwards caged his only two field goals of the game and Moulton bagged a foul shot from the penalty mark, bringing the count up to twenty-one. In the meantime the visitors had caged three points in quick succession from the foul line and their mark soared to twenty. With the score 21 to 20 the game resolved itself into a fierce struggle, the locals playing the defensive and the visitors fighting for a winning goal. A single basket at this point would have completely upset the locals' chance of victory and superior work on the part of the local guards was the only thing that prevented a disaster. Gavett, handling a man even larger than himself, played a finished article of basketball for the locals and the ability of Farmer and Brynairski to prevent goal getting was a potent factor of the Y. M. C. A. team's work. Moulton was the shining light of victory, however, for his ten points won the contest for the locals. For the New Yorkers, Captain Helfant, for two years a member of the New York University contingent, and Lipman were the leaders. Foul shooting played a prominent part in the contest, the visitors getting eight and Plainfield five of the foul throws.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:
Query—Is there any regulation weight to a basketball?—J. G.
Answer—No, but there is a regulation size and if you get this ball you are bound to have the correct weight also.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Where can I secure a position as army nurse?—F. J.
Answer—Apply at any U. S. A. recruiting office.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Did any player in the National League ever make six home-runs in a single game?—J. S. T.
Answer—No such record can be found and the stunt was probably never accomplished.

Sporting Editor:
Query—When was the Eastern League organized?—L. F.
Answer—The Eastern League was organized twenty-two years ago. The season of 1913 furnished the twenty-second race.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Who is captain of the Carlisle Indian football team and where does he play?—L. C.
Answer—Gus Welsh is captain and he plays quarterback.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Is horse racing on the level at the present time?—B. F.

HOLY CROSS BOYS LOST FINAL GAME

Locals Put up a Speedy Article of Football Against Cranford Invaders but Lost.

Holy Cross went down to defeat yesterday morning at the hands of the Cranford Boys' Club 20 to 13 in a fast game played back of the Park Field. The teams were evenly matched and at the end of the first half were tied 13 to 13. In the third quarter, however, Cranford made a touchdown and kicked the goal, which netted them a seven point lead that Holy Cross could not come up to.

Both elevens used the forward pass successfully and both made touchdowns on them. Coudrey, end for Holy Cross, made a 50 yard run on a forward pass received from Conroy and made a touchdown. In their line plunges the Plainfield boys excelled, the Hebert brothers and Conroy making first downs by that form of play repeatedly.

Cranford made their big gains by end runs as they had some fast men in the back field. The men who played on the line for Holy Cross did excellent service for their team by holding so well that the visitors could make no gains by hitting the line.

The teams lineup as follows:

HOLY CROSS.		CRANFORD.
Van Mater, Newkirk	Left End.	Bell
Newkirk, Megonegal	Left Tackle.	Keannam
Todd	Left Guard.	Morris
Hull	Center.	Ludlow
Harper	Right Guard.	Plume
Megonegal, McNabb	Right Tackle.	Welch
Coudrey	Right End.	Teller
Day	Quarterback.	Tunison
R. Hebert	Left Half.	Feniston
Conroy	Full Back.	Toole
J. Hebert	Righ; Half.	Moody

Summary: Referee, Little; umpire, LaPorte; timer, Denny; linesmen, VonNorden and Ball.

FRANKLINS TO PLAY HOLY CROSS AGAIN

Local Team's Conquerors Will Appear Here for the Second Time This Season.

Holy Cross will lineup against the Franklin A. A., of Newark, on Cricket Field, tomorrow afternoon. The Franklins defeated the local eleven by a score of 6 to 0 in the first game of the season on Cricket Field and the locals are out for revenge this trip.

The teams will lineup as follows:

FRANKLIN A. A.		HOLY CROSS.
Struble	left end	Webster, Cummings
Engelke	left tackle	Ruttledge
Banks	centre	Carty
Struble	right end	Clarke, Mulford
Graham	right guard	Smith
Yule	right tackle	Bremble
Kiefer	quarterback	Coyle
Stager	left halfback	Fritts, Manping
Brennan	right halfback	Caulfield, Ricketts
Gillem	fullback	Wilson

CAPTAIN HOGE.

West Point Leader Confident of Defeating Navy Tomorrow.

The football season for 1913 closes tomorrow with the Army and Navy game at the Polo grounds. President Wilson and his family have been allotted three boxes. The president's party will take these seats during the second period of the game. They will occupy boxes on the army side during the first half. The game will be the biggest athletic event of its kind ever held in New York, particularly the social side of the event. New Yorkers were late in awakening to the importance of a big football game, and as a result most of the seats will go to people outside of New York. The tickets were given out by the New York club, first come, first served, and it was the far-seeing out-of-towners who got their applications in early. The Navy team is the favorite.

RIVERS DROPS CROSS TWICE AND WINS BOUT

Mexican Gains Early Advantage But at End is Forced to Hang On.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 28—Joe Rivers, the Mexican boxer, defeated Leach Cross, the New York lightweight in twenty rounds of fighting at the Vernon arena last night. After two knock-downs, in the fourth and twelfth rounds, Cross showed marvellous recuperative powers and fought brilliantly, but could not overcome the early lead Rivers gained by consistent and vicious milling.

Cross had a marked advantage in five rounds, while Rivers had the honors in thirteen. Referee George Blake's decision was popular with the crowd.

The most spectacular of the twenty rounds was the nineteenth, when Cross, apparently tired and beaten, electrified his admirers by leaping after Rivers and fighting him off his feet. At the bell the Mexican was hanging on.

Rivers scored his first knockdown in the fourth session, with a short left hook to the jaw. Cross remained down for the count of nine. Rivers repeated this dose in the twelfth, flooring Cross with right and left swings to the face. Cross was plainly dazed and again took the count of nine.

FUMBLES COSTLY TO P. H. S. TEAM

Schoolboys Wake up in the Last Quarter But Rally Comes Too Late.

ALUMNI TEAM STRONG

Many Stars of Gridiron Games Played Five and Six Years Ago Return to Battle Against Alma Mater.

Fumbles at critical moments in the game cost Plainfield High School a defeat, by the score of 18 to 13, at the hands of the Alumni yesterday morning on Parker Field. In the first quarter a fumble by Greene on his own thirty-five yard line resulted in a touch-down and again in the third quarter a fumble by Rosenson resulted in another touchdown. It took the High School boys the first half and part of the second to wake up but when they did the Alumni knew it and a few minutes more might have resulted in their downfall.

The first quarter opened when Butler kicked off to Taylor who was downed on his own thirty-five yard line. The High School team was unable to hold the Alumni and they gradually worked the ball down to the 10-yard line. On a run around right end J. Ricketts carried the ball over the line but was unable to kick the goal.

Carty kicked off to Rosenson who carried the ball to the 35-yard line. On the next play Greene fumbled and Jenkins fell on the ball. Again the Alumni worked the ball down to the goal line on straight plunges and runs through tackle. This time Taylor carried the ball over and Ricketts failed to kick the goal.

The Alumni again kicked off and the quarter ended with the ball in the High School's possession on their 40-yard line.

The second quarter opened with Rosenson carrying the ball to the 50-yard line where he fumbled giving the ball to the Alumni. The Alumni kicked to Greene on his 10-yard line. The High School boys ran the ball to the 35-yard line where they once more fumbled. The Alumni was unable to gain and Ricketts kicked to the 10-yard line. Gavett kicked out of danger and the half ended.

Carty kicked to Rosenson who fumbled on the 12-yard line and a member of the Alumni team recovered the ball. They carried the ball to the one foot mark when they were penalized 10 yards for pushing. On the next play Loizeaux slipped through left tackle for their last touchdown. Carty's try at goal hit the post.

The Alumni kicked off to Rosenson who carried the ball to the 40-yard line before being downed. The High School boys now started to use more open plays and carried the ball to the Alumni's 25-yard line when they lost it on downs ending the quarter.

Clarke started the fourth quarter by falling back for a kick, but Butler broke through and blocked it and Smith fell on the ball, giving it to P. H. S. on the Alumni's 15-yard line. P. H. S. tried to gain through the line, but failed and Rosenson through a forward pass to Mann, who carried it between the posts for the High School's first touchdown. Butler failed to kick the goal.

Butler kicked off to Rosenson on the 35-yard line. On an exchange of kicks Loizeaux fumbled and Butler fell on the ball. On the 15-yard line Ricketts intercepted a forward pass, but on the next play he fumbled. The High School carried the ball to the 3-yard line but failed to make the distance. Clarke kicked to Greene. Rosenson then threw a pretty forward to Smith who raced 30 yards for a touchdown with Ricketts at his heels. Ricketts caught him but he slipped over for a touchdown. Butler kicked the goal.

Butler kicked off to Clarke on the 30-yard line. Alumni kicked to Greene at midfield and game ended. The lineup:

P. H. S.		ALUMNI.
Mann	Left End.	Rosenson
McKenzie	Left Guard.	Jenkins
Wheelan, Semer	Centre.	Carty
Gavett	Right Guard.	McDowell, Bellows
White, Berrien	Right Tackle.	Dunwell
Hermann, Smith	Right End.	Clarke
Snyder	Left Half.	J. Ricketts, T. Ricketts
Rosenson	Right Half.	Bristol
Sminck	Fullback.	Taylor
Greene	Quarterback.	Loizeaux

ANNEXED VICTORY IN SECOND PERIOD

Hope Chapel Five Pulled Ahead of Fast Going Rival Hailing From Newark.

CONSISTENT SCORING

Game Won by Locals Who Put up a Wonderful Up-hill Battle Against Worthy Opponents—Foul Shooting Plays Prominent Part.

Pulling up from the cellar with a brilliant flash of speed in the second half of its battle with the All-Newark five on the home court, yesterday afternoon, the local Hope Chapel basketball team rang up another fare at the expense of an invading crew and returned a winner by a score of 22 to 18 in one of the speediest games seen on the Chapel court this season. When the intermission whistle sounded the Hope team was playing the role of runner-up by a count of 14 to 8 and the visitors were playing a strong game both offensively and defensively.

Soon after the opening of the final period of play the Chapelites struck their stride and before the half was hardly under way had evened up matters and were putting up a winning article of basketball. Familiarity with the home court and some lightning passes and sensational basket caging soon put the Hope crew in the lead. During this session the Chapelites scored ten more points than did their rivals and were by far the superior of the two crews.

The fast going of the opening round appeared to have a tiring effect on the Newarkers and when the second half was well started the Chapelites had pretty much their own way. Foul shooting played a prominent part in the local team's victory and the accuracy of Allen Snyder, Tommy Heron and Jim Doig on the penalty throws brought a hard earned victory to the West Fourth street contingent. The field goal harvesting was taken care of by another trio, Johnny Heron, Doig and Allen Snyder playing this role to perfection. For the visitors Cleary and Duer were the chief scorers, each hanging up a trio of two point scores.

KUEHNLE TO GO TO PRISON ON DEC. 4

Former Atlantic City Boss Takes Counsel's Advice.

"INNOCENT," HE DECLARES

Will Start Term and Leave Himself to Mercy of Court of Pardons—Other Officials, Also Under Sentence, to Give Up Further Fight For Freedom.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 28.—Louis Kuehnle, former political boss of Atlantic county, as well as this city, has ceased his fight to have his sentence of one year in jail set aside and will enter upon his prison term on Dec. 4.

His last appeal would be to the United States supreme court, for the court of errors and appeals has declared the sentence given on an indictment for conspiracy was legally imposed, but on advice of his counsel, George A. Bourgeois, he will go to jail and throw himself on the mercy of the court of pardons.

Residents of this city cannot yet reconcile themselves to looking upon Kuehnle as a supplicant for mercy instead of the ruler whose word was law in almost every instance. The man whose rule of iron was shattered and himself called to account does not look upon himself as a victim of circumstances, but as an absolutely innocent man, who is being martyred.

Freeholders Enderlin and Unsworth and County Engineer Rightmeyer were sentenced to similar terms, one year each, at the same time, and it is said they also will cease to contest. The time for their going to jail is past, but it is said they will not enter upon their terms until Monday. The same course will be taken by their friends. The clemency of the court of pardons will be invoked.

GAME WARDEN SHOT.

Hunter Fires at Twenty Foot Range When Asked For His License.

Hackensack, N. J., Nov. 28.—Deputy Game Warden Herman Myers of Hackensack narrowly escaped meeting the same fate as Game Warden Reinbold of Hackensack, who was shot to death while trying to arrest a hunter in the woods at Tappan a few weeks ago.

Meyers saw a hunter with two or three birds in the woods near Colliconeck, two miles from Hackensack. He drew his revolver and said, "I want to see your license."

The hunter deliberately aimed at Meyers and fired, though only twenty feet away. The bullet made a furrow in Meyers' left thumb, then whizzed past his head. Two inches more to the right and the bullet would have passed through his heart.

Meyers fired three shots at the fleeing hunter, but he does not know whether he wounded him or not.

BRIDE 73, GROOM 83.

Minister Who Ties Knot For Red Bank Couple Over Eighty.

Red Bank, N. J., Nov. 28.—A marriage in which the combined ages of the bride, groom and the officiating clergyman is in the neighborhood of 240 years took place in this city.

John B. Grover, eighty-three, a widower and a contractor of substance, was the bridegroom.

Mrs. Mary Boyd, seventy-three, a widow, was the bride. The Rev. De Witt C. Say, retired Methodist pastor, who is over eighty, was the minister.

The contracting parties have known each other for a few score of years, and both are great believers in the theory that marriage is the original fountain of youth.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Harry Boyd, Mrs. Boyd's son, and the couple will live at the bridegroom's house in Irving place, Red Bank.

$50,000 ALIENATION SUIT.

Daughter of Late Dr. John D. McGill of Jersey City Defendant.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 28.—Papers were filed in the Hudson county supreme court by counsel for Mrs. Mary Mayer of this city in her suit against Mrs. Eleanora McGill, daughter of the late Dr. John D. McGill, also of this city, to recover $50,000 damages for the alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Walter Mayer, who is employed by Mrs. McGill as a chauffeur.

The suit will be tried, it is expected, at the December term of the court, held in Jersey City, and highly sensational testimony will be given by witnesses for the plaintiff.

WIFE ACCUSES FREEHOLDER

Late Justice's Daughter Sues Teaneck Man For Divorce.

Hackensack, N. J., Nov. 8.—The divorce papers which Sheriff Heath is waiting to serve on Freeholder Wendell J. Andreas of Teaneck, who left his home last Friday and has not been seen since, charge Andreas with having acted improperly with a woman at the Chauteau des Tourelles, Long Beach, last summer. The woman is not known to Mrs. Andreas.

No information was received as to the whereabouts of Andreas, but friends say that his going away had nothing to do with the divorce action.

—There's not a dull, nor an unimportant ad in today's paper. There's not one that may safely be overlooked by any great number of the paper's readers.

"THE PARIS"

Tomorrow

We Begin Our Annual Pre-Holiday

Clearance of Women's High-Grade Suits

This year there happens to be just 62 suits (every one from our own stocks) and up to now, priced at $45.00, $39.75 and $29.75. The entire collection goes on sale tomorrow at one price

19.50

Last year the response to our announcement of this event crowded our big suit section to its capacity. In that sale there were less than 55 garments, but a complete clearance was effected in two days.

Women who profited last year will be here again tomorrow, and their friends will be here. It is a sale that is extraordinary in its offerings and in the savings it affords. Many of the suits fur trimmed and lined with finest satin or silk.

Not a special purchase, but the pick of our own carefully chosen stocks which we selected as the best produced this season. They are not Fall Suits, but the newest mid-Winter styles. The very best suits we have shown this season go into this sale (not a single one reserved), regardless of former prices, at 19.50

ZELAYA'S ARREST BRINGS PROTEST

Counsel Asserts Politics Caused His Arrest.

ACCUSED DENIES CRIMES.

Ex-Dictator a Prisoner in the Tombs. Sulzer's Name Mentioned In Big International Conspiracy—Held Without Bail In Murderers' Row.

Washington, Nov. 28. — A protest against the arrest of Jose Santos Zelaya, ex-president of Nicaragua, who is wanted by those in charge of the government of that country now for sentence after his conviction of murder, was filed at the state department. The protest was preferrd by Corry Montagu Stadden, a lawyer of this city, who was counselor of the Nicaraguan legation in Washington from 1901 to 1910, while Zelaya was president.

New York, Nov. 28.—General Jose Santos Zelaya, for four terms president of Nicaragua and now wanted in that country on the charge of murdering two fellow countrymen and also of stealing $11,500, was remanded to the Tombs by United States Commissioner John A. Shields for further hearing Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock on a warrant sworn to by Chief Assistant United States Attorney Roger B. Wood.

He was locked up in cell 119 on the first tier, along with men accused of muder and other prisoners, including William J. Cummings of the Carnegie Trust company, who is only a few cells away from him.

General Zelaya himself denied that he had anything to do with the killing of the two Nicaraguans. His son, Alfonso Zelaya, whose wife is the grandniece of General Robert E. Lee, declared that his father was in this predicament because the present president of Nicaragua, Adolfo Diaz, and Manuel Estrada Cabrera, president of Guatemala, feared that the one time idol of Nicaragua would return to his country, be re-elected to his former office and then make revelations gravely reflecting on Diaz and Cabrera and upon American politicians who are said to be in league with them in vast schemes for the exploitation of Central American properties and industries.

Former Governor William Sulzer was mentioned as one man who was in league with the two while he was chairman of the committee of foreign affairs in congress.

Just before the Tombs was reached Alfonso Zelaya and his wife appeared on the scene. While the son greeted his father affectionately, Mrs. Zelaya pointed out a dark faced young man in the crowd as a spy from Guatemala. Denounced, the Guatemalan slunk away and was seen no more.

Has Brief Hearing.

Zelaya had been dragged from bed by agents of the department of justice in the home of a friend in the Halsworth apartment house, at West End avenue and Ninety-second street, and had spent the night in the Greenwich street police station. He indignantly denied a rumor that he had left the hotel, where he formerly stopped, "in a trunk," and said he had walked out like any other individual.

"This charge against me has been trumped up by the present administration in Nicaragua," said Zelaya, "but it is a political offense that is charged, and I cannot be indicted."

The proceedings before Mr. Shields were brief. Zelaya, who was accompanied by his counsel, Edward Johnson, refused to make a statement, and his examination was put over until Monday. Mr. Johnson asked about bail, but this was refused.

"I am certain I shall not be extradited," Zelaya said. "I shall be able to explain matters. Even if I were extradited, the masses of the people in Nicaragua will see to it that I have a fair show there. The masses in Nicaragua are my friends."

Zelaya said that a friend had told him of the warrant issued for his arrest here and that he could have escaped easily had he wished to do so.

PASS $4,000,000 FIGURE.

Successful Ending of Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Campaign.

New York, Nov. 28.—Final figures of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. building fund were issued yesterday by the auditing department and show that the women's committee outdid all others in collecting money for the $4,000,000 fund. Of the grand total of $4,052,501, the women's committee gathered $689,497.

Ten teams made up the women's committee. Team 21, captained by Mrs. E. R. L. Gould, got the biggest amount of any of the teams of this committee, $182,869. Team 22, of which Mrs. Francis Louis Slade was captain, raised $140,782, and Team 25, which Miss Dorothy Perkins led, got the fund $123,253.

The Kingsley committee secured $236,280. Of this amount Francis Louis Slade, captain of Team 1, got $104,774. The Clark committee obtained contributions amounting to $211,522.

Weather Forecast.

Fair in north, local snows or rains in southern portion; tomorrow, partly cloudy; moderate northwest and east winds.

Why Not a Camera for a Christmas Present!

The desire for pictures is so general, and the making of them so easy, by the Premo Film Pack system, that a great plan has been worked out, to place a thoroughly reliable Premo Camera into the hands of the general public, through the medium of the best American newspapers.

The fact that this camera is especially made for this proposition by the Eastman Kodak Co., is absolute assurance of quality in the instrument, and the enormous quantity which they have been induced to provide for, makes possible such a remarkably low price, that the camera comes within the easy reach of every one of our readers.

The Plainfield Daily Press has been selected to make the distribution of cameras in this locality, and has been fortunate enough to secure several hundreds of these instruments. While they last, they may be secured by any reader of the Daily Press by clipping out and presenting the coupons at this office, together with the small expense item as mentioned below. This offer holds good only while our allotment of cameras lasts. These cameras can be secured in this locality only through this paper.

THIS CAMERA WILL MAKE A DANDY CHRISTMAS GIFT AND WILL BE WELCOMED ALIKE BY A BOY OR GIRL, A MAN OR WOMAN, OF ANY AGE, FOR IT ENABLES ONE TO MAKE AND KEEP FOREVER PICTURES OF ALL THEIR PLEASURES.

Every season is a camera season. The year is a succession of intimate personal stories and the camera has so simplified photography in all it branches that these stories may be easily recorded, whatever the season, whatever the condition.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

The great strike of longshoremen in New Zealand has collapsed.

In Sweden, public employment bureaus are maintained by the Government.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers has voted to establish a home for sick, incapacitated and aged members.

Thirty-nine millions dollars were paid out in old-age pensions in England and Wales during the last fiscal year.

The successor of James M. Lynch as president of the International Typographical Union will be selected by referendum vote next May.

Forty thousand employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburgh are soon to be merged into one great labor organization.

Sixty-five thousand workmen in northern Russia recently went on strike as a protest against the trial of a handful of factory employes on a charge of illegally quitting their employment.

James O'Connell, one of the members of the Federal Industrial Commission, is one of America's best known labor leaders, having been president of the International Association of Machinists for more than 20 years.

Statistics show that a workman is killed in the United States every fifteen minutes of the day and every sixteen seconds a mechanic is maimed, many times so severely that he is no longer able to pursue his trade.

The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, at its recent session in New York, adopted a resolution of protest against the employment of children under 16 years of age in factories or mercantile establishments.

In Wood Green, a suburb of London, there has been opened a labor exchange for boys and girls leaving school, the object being to find suitable employment for them and situations that, as far as possible, are what they themselves desire.

The local typographical union in Scranton, Pa., has started a movement to secure for Scranton the convention of the International Typographical Union in 1918, in which year the organization is to celebrate its golden jubilee or fiftieth anniversary.

Figures compiled by the Department of Labor show that in the lumber manufacturing industry in the United States since 1890 there has been an increase of 29 per cent in wages, while working hours have been shortened almost 4 per cent.

Neither President John P. White nor Vice-President Frank J. Hayes was able to attend the convention of the American Federation of Labor in Seattle, because the strike conditions in Colorado demanded their personal attention.

The annual report of Secretary Frank Duffy of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America shows that there are now 1,908 local unions and 218,794 members in good standing. The union was organized in 1881 with a membership of 2,042. New York State now leads with 32,632 members. The national organization has a balance of $187,537 in its treasury.

BRIBERY INTIMATED IN ASPHALT CASE

New Chapter Added to Highway Graft Charges.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Charging that "certain moneys passed from George McGuire to John A. Hennessy and William Sulzer, some of which, if not the entire amount thereof, was furnished by the Barber Asphalt Paving company," the Warner-Quinlan Asphalt company, through its attorney, Henry A. Rubino, declares: "We are prepared to substantiate these charges by proof" in any proceeding Governor Glynn should institute to verify them.

This was the most startling statement made by Rubino in charges filed with Governor Glynn upon which the Warner-Quinlan Asphalt company hopes to have John N. Carlisle removed from the office of state commissioner of highways.

These Rubino charges have been known to Governor Glynn for some days and prompted his appointment of James W. Osborne as a special commissioner under the Moreland law to investigate graft on good roads and barge canal work.

Governor Glynn would not make public the Rubino charges until they were formally presented to him over the signature of C. M. Warner, the president, and P. R. Quinlan, the vice president of the Warner-Quinlan Asphalt company, and until Commissioner Carlisle had an opportunity to examine and answer them.

Meanwhile Governor Glynn had consulted frequently with Mr. Osborne and his assistant, Arthur T. Warner, and with Mr. Rubino, the attorney for the Warner-Quinlan company, and Commissioner Osborne is ready to begin the taking of testimony. Mr. Rubino says he will be ready with his proof at that time.

AUTO CRASHES INTO HOME.

One Killed and Twelve Hurt as Car Wrecks Apartment.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—An automobile carrying a bridal party home from a prenuptial affair, collided with a street car, killed a girl who was to have been a bridesmaid at her sister's wedding, injured twelve others, two seriously, and caused a fire in an apartment house it partially wrecked.

Miss Norma Ahlstrand, the girl killed, died of a fractured skull.

The automobile, struck amidships by the street car, jumped the curb and plunged through an apartment building brick wall as if it were paper, stopping halfway in the building. A large gas pipe was snapped off, the basement flooded with gas, and sharp explosions set the building afire. Fifty dwellers fled to the street in their night clothes.

Asks Under Water Coal Storage Plant.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Immediate construction in San Francisco of an under water coal storage plant of from 200,000 to 300,000 tons capacity, to meet fuel demands of the navy when the Panama canal is opened, is recommended by Paymaster General T. J. Cowles of the navy in his annual report made public today.

MEXICAN REBELS TAKE TWO CITIES

Concerted Attack on Chihuahua Is Planned.

U. S. PROTECTS TANKS.

Battleship Rhode Island Arrived Near Oil Industries—Seventy Are Reported Killed In Battle Within Thirty Miles of Mexico City.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 28.—According to reports received here, the Mexican rebels are following their crushing defeat of the federals at Juarez by other sweeping victories throughout the republic. Tuxpan and La Cruz were taken, it is said, and General Villa now is preparing to force a decisive battle at Chihuahua.

Rebel forces under General Antonio Villareal routed General Rubio Navarette's federal column at La Cruz, state of Tamaulipas, according to an official dispatch received at General Villa's Juarez headquarters from Jose Vasconcelas, a rebel agent. The message said: "General Antonio Villareal defeated and routed Rubio Navarette's force at La Cruz, near Linares. Navarette abandoned his trains. Generals Candido Aguilar and Abel Salazar, with 9,000 Constitutionalists, have demanded the surrender of Tampico. Navarette was going to the relief of Tampico."

Tampico, Mexico, Nov. 28.—Hoping to avert disaster at Tampico, where the rebels threaten to set fire to the great oil tanks and destroy the city, Rear Admiral Fletcher, U. S. N., arrived here on board his flagship, the Rhode Island.

He will try to induce the rebel leaders to respect the pledges given by General Aguilar at Tuxpan to spare the property of foreigners from destruction.

Foreign residents of Mexico City are preparing for a siege. They have selected a place of concentration and are purchasing large food supplies. All foreign residents have been ordered to register at the respective legations.

A rebel force penetrated to within thirty miles of Mexico City, when they were routed, according to government reports, by federal troops, and fifty of the rebels were killed.

The fighting appears to have taken place in the states of Texcoco and Tlaxcala, much nearer to the capital than any rebels were known to be operating.

A column of federal troops was ambushed by rebels near Santa Cruz, Tamaulipas, and barely saved itself from annihilation by bringing its machine guns into action. The rebels lost seventy killed, and the federals admit the loss of twenty.

Mexico City, Nov. 28.—Preparations for a siege in case the rebels make an attempt to take the capital city of Mexico were begun by practically all the foreign residents of this city following the announcement of an engagement between federals and rebels within thirty miles of the city.

The foreigners have selected a place in which to concentrate and which the rebels and federals will be asked to treat as neutral ground. The foreigners also are purchasing cattle, sheep, cows and food of all kinds enough to last for several weeks.

All British and Cuban subjects have been instructed by Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, and the Cuban minister to register at their respective legations.

The engagement took place in the state of Tlaxcala, east of the capital, when a force of 400 rebels was put to rout, according to the government announcement, by federals commanded by Colonel Cels Aguilar. More than fifty of the rebels were killed.

Driven Back After Fight.

When attacked they took up a position at Sandamian, Texcoco. For an hour they resisted the federal attack, but were driven to San Andres Cumulpa, where they rallied and made a second stand. After another stubborn fight they were driven back to the town of San Diego and dispersed only when their ammunition was exhausted.

A column of federal troops commanded by General Rubio Navarette was ambushed today by a strong body of rebels near Santa Cruz while moving from Monterey toward Ciudad Victoria, in the state of Tamaulipas. The federals were caught in a ravine by the rebels, who poured in a heavy rifle fire from the hillsides.

The federal troops brought their machine guns into action and in this way saved themselves from annihilation.

The rebels were eventually driven off, leaving some seventy dead on the field. The federal commander admits that twenty of his men were killed.

Another rebel force sacked the town of San Dionisio, in the state of Puebla. They did not even spare the church, which they looted after killing the sacristan. Such a thing is unusual, churches and priests generally being respected by the raiders.

Judge Found Himself Guilty.

Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 28.—Justice C. Frank H. Remsberg was arrested at Hancock for not having the proper lights on his automobile. Constable McAvoy, who apprehended the official, took the justice to the latter's office, and there the justice tried himself before himself, found himself guilty and fined himself $3 and the costs of prosecution.

KITCHEN CABINET A POWER IN PRESIDENT'S ADMINISTRATION

Unofficial Body Is an Old and Influential Institution.

Wilson's Advisers Hitherto Little Known In Public Affairs.

EACH of the presidents of the United States has had a sort of unofficial cabinet. Some persons call it a kitchen cabinet. Washington had his personal advisers whose influence in some instances was as great as, if not greater than, the secretaries of the various departments. Jackson had a rebellion in his official household owing to his kitchen counselors.

Roosevelt had what was popularly termed the tennis cabinet, a strenuous, lusty and lot of men who won the president's admiration no less by the ardor with which they battled with him over the nets than by their knowledge of politics and the heartiness of their interest in his policies.

Woodrow Wilson has his unofficial cabinet, like the rest, but it differs radically from any of the others. The most prominent members of it are men who practically were unknown in national politics until this year, and one of them never has been mentioned publicly in connection with the present administration.

The unofficial cabinet of President Wilson is composed of Edward M. House of Texas, Cleveland H. Dodge of New York, A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, William Bayard Hale of New York and Joseph P. Tumulty of

New Jersey. It is a rather mixed and democratic body, ranging as it does from Mr. Tumulty, who never until the present year held a position that paid more than $5,000 per annum, up to Mr. Dodge, who is one of the richest men in America and one of the best known.

Aside from Mr. Tumulty, who is at the president's side day by day, the members of the unofficial cabinet see Mr. Wilson irregularly. They are summoned as the president needs them. They never get together as a body. Mr. Tumulty occupies an official position as secretary to President Wilson.

Unofficially the unofficial cabinet has been consulted regarding the Mexican imbroglio, and, indeed, William Bayard Hale has carefully canvassed the ground in Mexico, but the advice given by members of this unofficial cabinet is important matter is left given to the public. It is one of the silent powers behind the throne.

Of the members Colonel House is supposed to have the most influence. He is a colonel in name only, he has never been a warrior, but by reason of one of the governors of Texas making him a member of his staff.

Although Colonel House has been described as a banker, that is not his business and really never has been his line. He is a planter, a real estate man, a student and politician. He is that comparatively rare sort of politician who delights in staying in the background and working for his friends. He is fifty-five years old and is known from end to end of the mammoth state of Texas.

He has held no office. Three or four times he could have been governor of Texas had he so desired. Twice he could have had the United States senatorship, but he refused. It is an open secret that an ambassadorship was offered to him by Mr. Wilson and that he declined. He says he is going to remain a private citizen until the end of the chapter. For a private citizen he is a very active man in public affairs.

Cleveland H. Dodge probably has the largest mining interests of any one man in the world. He is the head of the great house of Phelps, Dodge & Co. He is fifty-three years old and is a son of the famous William Earle Dodge. He is a bachelor of arts and a Princeton graduate and one of President Wilson's most ardent admirers. When Mr. Wilson was a plain professor Mr. Dodge was his most intimate friend. When Mr. Wilson was president of Princeton Mr. Dodge was more than a friend to him. He did anything or everything Mr. Wilson requested to aid the university. He helped Mr. Wilson in his campaign for governor of New Jersey. He helped him in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, and he is at the beck and call of Mr. Wilson today.

A. Mitchell Palmer is engaged in the practice of law in Stroudsburg, Pa. He fought the Democratic machine of the state of Pennsylvania and was a power in the Baltimore convention, practically being the leader of the Wilson forces. He is forty-one years old.

President Wilson offered the secretaryship of war to him, but Mr. Palmer declined because he is a Quaker and, as such, opposed to war. He is a graduate of Swarthmore and won the highest honors there. It is rather a queer thing that a man who declined membership in the official cabinet of a president should become a member of the unofficial cabinet, but that is a fact in relation to Mr. Palmer. He is serving his third term in congress and is of great value to the president in keeping him informed in legislative matters.

William Bayard Hale has been a good deal in the public eye of late because President Huerta of Mexico objected to his presence in that republic. Dr. Hale was a clergyman, but is better known as an editor and writer. He is forty-four years old and comes from Richmond, Ind. He was educated at Harvard and was in the ministry from 1896 until 1900. Then he took up a journalistic career and has been engaged in an editorial capacity upon various prominent magazines and newspapers. He went to Mexico at the request of President Wilson to study the situation there and to report conditions.

Joseph P. Tumulty is a young New Jersey Irish American. He was Mr. Wilson's private secretary when Wilson was governor of New Jersey. He was invaluable in this position, not only because of his natural qualifications for such a work, but by reason of his acquaintanceship with legislative affairs through having been a member of the New Jersey assembly. He is a good deal like the late Daniel Lamont in mental equipment. He is shrewd, bright and a good mixer. He has almost as much influence with Mr. Wilson as Lamont had with Cleveland or Cortelyou had with Cleveland and Roosevelt.

Those who ought to know say that Mr. Wilson is a hard taskmaster so far as his unofficial cabinet is concerned. He expects much of the members and gives credit for no reward except in the knowledge and through the gratification of aiding him in his work. They can recommend, but he alone decides.

Turkey Left Overs.

There are so many ways of utilizing left over turkey in palatable dishes that the cook who chooses cooking units as dishes should be thankful for a turkey carcass covered with bits of meat.

Cold turkey is probably the best cold meat there is. To keep it moist, either wrap the turkey about with a slightly damp cloth and then put it on the ice, or else carve off the meat, put it in a bowl, and cover the bowl with a wet cloth. In this way the carved meat will keep moist for a day or so.

With the Carcass.

Turkey soup has a somewhat gamey flavor and, if made carefully is delicious. It can be made from a carcass from which almost every shred of meat has been taken.

Break the carcass and cover the bones in a soup kettle with cold water. Add a chopped onion, a chopped carrot, half a can of tomatoes and a couple of stalks of celery. Boil slowly for three or four hours, and then strain. Cool and remove the grease. Heat, add a little boiled rice, flavor well with pepper and salt, and serve.

With the Meat.

Turkey patties can be made to utilize some of the cold turkey meat. Chop enough of the meat very fine to measure two cupfuls. Put it in a saucepan with half a cupful of cream, some pepper and salt, and a little chipped green pepper. Heat it thoroughly, and when it is bubbling hot add a tablespoonful of butter. Put the filling quickly into hot patty shells, or into little cases made of bread, dried and browned in the oven.

Turkey chopped fine, moistened with water or broth or gravy, and heated up with a little chopped green pepper, butter, pepper and salt, can be served on small rounds of hot buttered toast with an accompany dish of macaroni and tomato sauce. This combination is appetizing and delicious.

If you have good-sized pieces of turkey, carve them in thin neat slices. If there is gravy, thin it with hot water until there is a cupful for every four or five persons to be served. If there is no gravy boil some of the bones and odds and ends of meat until a little broth is formed, and use this instead of the gravy. Put the turkey in a saucepan, cover it with the gravy, add a little celery salt and cayenne pepper, a bit of onion juice, and some strained tomato juice—about half a cupful to a cupful of broth or gravy. Simmer this gently for twenty minutes, add a teaspoonful of flour stirred smooth in a little cold water or broth, cook five minutes to thicken, dish on a hot platter, sprinkle with minced parsley, and surround with rice croquettes or farina balls.

Turkey can be used with celery instead of chicken in salad. It can be used with boiled bacon and lettuce in club sandwiches. It can be sliced, or minced and moistened with cream, and used in sandwiches of white or brown bread and butter, or it can be substituted for chicken and made into croquettes.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

Nearly all of the dresses shown today are fashioned of two or more materials or colors. This means a great deal to the woman who has a frock to remodel or a short length of rich silk or brocade that she would like to make use of. Formerly we would have considered this combining of materials "patchy," but now it is the effect desired.

7728 is an overblouse dress that offers excellent opportunities for making use of a small amount of material or for making over an old frock. The overblouse is in surplice effect, closing in the back. A separate guimpe or underbodice has a small round yoke and may be made with a high or round neck. The sleeves also are perforated for a shorter length if preferred. On many of the more dressy blouses and frocks the three-quarter sleeve seems to be preferred, but for the tailored dress and blouse the wrist length is smarter.

Crepe de Chine in one of the new shades would be very effective with this model. The guimpe could be of net or shadow lace and the broad crush girdle of a harmonizing shade.

In size 36 this dress may be made with 5¼ yards of 36 inch material and 1¾ yards of material for the guimpe.

The pattern is cut in 5 sizes; 34 to 42.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

DAINTY NAPERY.

This Is a Gift Within the Means of All and Useful to All.

The housewife's linen closet is never so full that she fails to appreciate a well selected gift of napery. Anything from tablecloths to doilies, from fancy sheets to pillowcases, will be welcomed.

Illustrated here is a hemstitched pillowcase, one of a set. They are all embroidered with the recipient's initial and are handmade of fine linen.

Centerpieces of heavy linen lace and muslin embroidery are easily made and are not expensive considering their ornamental effect. Exceedingly pretty centers can be evolved from cluny lace and heavy Irish linen, handworked with eyeletting.

In addition to the napery which goes upon the table, every housekeeper needs a number of scarfs or squares for the tops of her sideboard and serving stand. These are best made of heavy linen finished with hemstitching or drawn work or edged with buttonholed scallops and hand embroidered in a fine design.

Bed sets, consisting of spread, pillow covers and valance, are always a welcome addition to the napery closet, and what color to select need not worry the donor, as the smart thing in these outfits is white scrim trimmed with eyelet embroidery or fillet insertion, edging and motif. A dozen of huckaback towels of extra length, bordered with an applied design in color, are useful. If you would carry joy to the housewife's heart send her some guest room towels in heavy linen with ends done in fourteenth century stitching. These scroll and floral designs are most of all quaint when developed on a background of yellow darning, and as the centers of the flowers used with the scrolls are also in yellow stitching the work is extremely effective.

UTILITY GIFTS.

They May Be as Charming and as Dainty as One Can Make Them.

A useful and attractive gift for the housekeeper is a handy telephone directory like the one shown here. This one was made of fancy silk and moire, with a fancy braid around the edges.

A tiny picture cut out of tapestry and framed in braid adorned the front of the pad. Underneath each of the little flaps alphabetically marked was a white space for recording the names and numbers of those most frequently called up over the phone.

Very small details, which seem of little importance, often mar or make more beautiful a piece of handiwork, so it is always wise to heed the little things.

Never knot the thread. Fasten it by running it in the cloth or by sewing over and over in some portion of the design that is to be covered by the work.

Finish in the same way and always clip the silk short so the work will present a neat appearance. If knots are used the finished work will have a rough look.

When working with silk it is imperative to have a sharp needle and smooth thimble, for a rough thimble will rough the silk, and it is impossible to do good work with a bent or dull needle.

A pair of small sharp scissors should always be used to cut the thread or a ragged appearance will be the result when the work is finished.

The busy Christmas giver who has not time to make gifts or take an extensive shopping tour might step into a bookstore and select some neatly bound volumes whose contents would be appreciated by the recipient. This shopping can be done quickly.

—No one will contend that a woman who does not read the ads is as well prepared to buy wisely and economically as one who does.

Some Cookery Suggestions

USING LEFTOVER FISH.

COLD fish is generally discarded, although it may be made the basis of many delicious dishes, suitable for the next day's breakfast or luncheon.

Baked Fish.

Fish Pudding.—Take one-half pound of any cold fish, one-half pound of potatoes, an egg, salt and pepper, one-half ounces melted butter and breadcrumbs. Prepare a pie dish and arrange the fish and potato in layers, adding the seasonings and a little sauce or melted butter. Put the egg and breadcrumbs on top and brown in the oven. Slices of hard boiled egg may be used as a garnish to this dish. This could be served in the shell dishes.

A Tasty Dish.

Escaloped Fish.—Take a pint of milk or cream, two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, one cupful of breadcrumbs moistened in melted butter, three pounds of any kind of white fish, sprigs of parsley, a little red pepper and one onion. Boil the fish one-half hour in salted water, remove skin and bones and break apart with a silver fork. Boil the milk ten minutes with onion, put flour and butter in a saucepan, cook smooth, adding the salt and pepper, then stir in the boiling milk. Put into a baking dish a layer of sauce, then one of fish and lastly the breadcrumbs. Bake one-half hour.

Served In Batter.

Fish Fritters.—Some minced fish added to a batter makes excellent fritters when fried in deep fat. The fritters could be made when there have been pancakes the day before and a little batter has been left over.

Steamed Fish Custard.—Take one-half pound cooked fish, two eggs, one-half pint milk and anchovy sauce. Butter a pudding mold and arrange the flakes of cold cooked fish in this. Prepare the custard by beating the eggs and adding milk and anchovy essence. Pour this over the fish and steam for one-half hour. Turn out on to a hot dish and serve with sauce.

Nice For Luncheon.

Fish Souffle.—Take one cupful cold fish mixed with one of mashed potatoes, one-half cupful of milk and a dash of salt and pepper. Stir in one egg well beaten, put in a buttered mold or dish and set in the oven till very hot. Then beat the white of another egg very stiff and stir into it the yolk beaten with salt and pepper. Heap over the fish and brown.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Live Dollies Are the Most Amusing Ones.

"Aren't they cunning?" cried Daisy.

LITTLE boys and girls get tired of playing with even the nicest toys. Jack and Evelyn did, but then, of course, they always had one another to play with. They often wondered if they would not be very dull if they lived alone.

"Little boys and girls who have no brothers or sisters or no little companions do get very dull," daddy said in answer to a question.

"Daisy was a little girl who lived in a large house in the city. She had a big playroom full of toys.

"Across from the house in which Daisy lived was a little white house. It was a very tiny house, though very neat and dainty, and a little girl came to live in that house. Daisy was glad when the little girl moved into the white house, for she thought that now she would have a little girl to play with.

"It was quite awhile before the two little girls became friends. Sometimes they met one another when they were out taking a walk. Then they would smile shyly at one another.

"One day Daisy asked her mother if she might go over to play with the little girl in the white house. She had been asked over by the little girl.

"'Yes,' said Daisy's mother; 'I think the little girl across the way is a very nice child.'

"So Daisy ran across the street where the little new girl was waiting at the gate, and together they went into the house.

"Cuddled up on a chair was a mother pussy cat, and snuggled down beside her were two of the dearest little kittens Daisy had ever seen.

"'Oh, aren't they cunning!' cried Daisy as she ran to stroke the kitties. She had no pets, for her mother thought they were too much trouble in the city.

"'Yes; I just love them!' answered the little girl, whose name was Nellie.

"So they took the kittens, and they dressed them up in little dresses and caps that Nellie had made for them.

"The kittens seemed to be used to being dressed up, for they did not struggle or scratch, but curled up sleepily or licked the little girls' hands.

"Then Nellie fed them milk out of little cups, each cat taking the milk from a spoon which she held to its mouth.

"'Come over tomorrow and we will play with my dollies,' Daisy said when she went home. 'But it isn't nearly so much fun as playing with kittens.' And she gave the kitties a parting hug before she ran across the way.

"Of course it's a great secret, but I've heard that Daisy's mother has sent word to Santa Claus to find the nicest kitten he can for her little girl's Christmas. Just fancy how delighted Daisy will be when she sees it!"

Soft and Supple Materials Characterize Wraps, Gowns and Lingerie

PARIS continues to produce and send to this country draped gowns with erratic lines and curves, but rich in coloring and in quality. We need not expect to depart from the vogue of soft and supple materials and shapeless garments for two or more seasons. The general idea is noticed in every class of clothing, from the dainty crepe lingerie to the warm and comfortable outing coats, and furs that may be crumpled in the hand as easily as a pocket handkerchief.

Russian influence is a little stronger perhaps on account of the recent exploitation of the art works of Leon Bakst and the costumes designed by Mme. Paquin, with many of the rioting colors and queer shapes adapted for original gowns. The extravagant use of furs is partly a Russian conceit. It matters not what the fur may be or where it appears so long as it is included as an accessory or a trimming.

Filmy lace and net blouses are made wholly unlike other blouses just by a touch of fur, outlining a vest, around a turn-over collar or even as ornamental buttons. The ultra novelties in lingerie are ornamented with a narrow band of ermine or mole.

Fur hats, preferably those with a crown of the animal pelt or a band trimming, rather than those all of fur, are leading in elegant millinery. One of the newest types is shown on this page, having its crown of light fitch skins and a black aigrette monture.

The dress on the model wearing this hat (8060) is a style of afternoon gown to be admired for its simple elegance without being too extreme. It has many features which the well dressed woman will appreciate. In the first place, the material is one of the newest crepe weaves of silk and wool combined, giving a sprinkled satiny surface that reflects light and shade charmingly in pinkish lavender tones. The surplice vest is made of dull gold lace, which appears also in the sleeves and stamps the Frenchy character. One of the odd and telling features which will interest the economical seamstress is the cord lacing through eyelets in the front plaits. The same effect is seen in costly duvetyn suits, on which self fabric cords are the smartest decorations and very inexpensive too. The skirt is a very new one-piece design, having a jabot effect at the right side of the back. In chiffon velvet, velveteen or woolen material that will drape gracefully this pattern would be admirable and easy to adjust. The pattern is 15 cents.

Sport and Motor Coats With Matching Hat

Sport coats include almost every variety of practical garments of this season's ordering, from the plain loose three-quarter coat with a low belt to the voluminous fleecy homespuns and fine woolens as warm and as soft as blankets. Some, in fact, are being worn made of Navajo blankets.

The sport coat shown on this page (7618) is one that fashionable girls of the East will wear at the Thanksgiving foot-ball games. It requires only two lengths, and these overlap in the middle back with stitching to trim and give a becoming long line. This is made of a double faced cloaking fifty inches wide in tan and white. The edges are finished by pulling the two thicknesses apart far enough to turn them in. The muff accompanying it is a smart adjunct, completing a jaunty set with a four-piece hat also made of the cloaking. The muff can be copied with pattern No. 7943, and the hat with No. 7879. Each is 10 cents.

Practical House Gowns For Informal Wear

Several "little dresses," as the clerks and dressmakers say when speaking of gowns for all sorts of informal wear, especially in the house, are essential if one would be quite up to date and ready for the many demands of the winter season. Two attractive models, suitable for afternoons at home, were selected from a great variety of designs that their demand has created. The one at the extreme right (No. 7333) is a dainty blue and white striped chiffon with a deep lace flounce and a girdle of magenta charmeuse falling far down on the right side which does not appear in this view. It will suggest a splendid way to make up almost any thin material over a foundation which could be made from another dress. Evening dresses in their second season may be utilized in some such way at trifling expense.

A five gored skirt with a slight drapery at one side is worth considering if one has narrow material to conjure with for a new frock. The pattern from which the simple Jouy silk with a chiffon veiling over part of the blouse may be easily duplicated as pictured above is No. 7724. It is comfortably wide at the bottom, being one and three-quarter yards at the foot in a medium size. The pattern is 15 cents.

Futurist Designs A Fad In Hosiery

Novelties in hosiery when carried to the present extremes, though regarded quite as bad taste as fancy stationery, nevertheless knows no bounds. The Futurist art idea has appeared in queer shaped and colored flowers on either a black or a white ground. There are some designs with the flowers in normal size, while others show a well covered pattern of dark and light flowers closely massed. In mercerized lisle these cost less than $1 per pair, though $1 is the price of an open mesh cord stockings with sparkling beads and only a solid silk foot. These are intended for wear over flesh color stockings.

Rainbow shaded silk stockings with horizontal gradations of color add to the odd hosiery novelties.

New Hand Embroidery For Linen Gifts

EMBROIDERED linens of all kinds are extremely fashionable nowadays, and, apart from fashion, they are the cherished possessions of housewives and prospective brides. White and unbleached or natural color linen pieces for dining rooms and boudoir decorations are particularly effective and beautiful in cut work, with Richelieu and Venetian embroidery, Wallachian embroidery is done entirely in buttonhole stitch, but for many purposes is less attractive than openwork designs through which a colored lining of contrasted material may be seen.

Scarfs and pillow covers, two of the most useful articles done in the buttonhole and eyelet combination stitches, appear to take a great deal of time, as illustrated, for example, in the pillow on this page. Once the design has been applied to the linen, the actual work is not a tedious task for the clever needlewoman.

The pillow shown (Embroidery pattern 14111) makes a choice gift for a bride or for Christmas, with comparatively little outlay of money. The cover is twenty inches long and eleven wide and requires, therefore, three-quarters of a yard of narrow linen, costing about fifty cents per yard. Linen floss by the skein is almost the only kind which can be bought in the natural linen color. One dozen skeins at twenty-five cents will suffice. When finished the pillow cover may have a hand crochet lace border or one of narrow Cluny lace, which comes in the soft tan and grayish tints, as well as in pure white. Only the front side of the pillow slip is decorated.

Four small squares of white linen large enough to take one-half the pattern for one end of this pillow design may be joined together with lace insertion to make a square pillow; or half of the same decoration would be admirable for the ends of a dresser cover or table runner.

EMB-14111 PILLOW WITH RICHELIEU EMBROIDERY

A WOMAN with a Maltese terrier went into a large department shop in New York a few days ago to fit out her pet with his winter wardrobe and, after spending about $25 on what she deemed necessary for his health and comfort, remarked, "He's worth a good many dollars, and I would rather spend all this than to have him get cold or sick." What she bought was a sweater for house, a beautiful cloth coat for dressy street wear and boots.

Boots for tiny canines are no small item, according to this season's styles, $3 being the price for two dark red rubber shoes that are neatly fitted and laced up the back; and then, too, dogs must have twice as many shoes at once as a child, making $6 the requisite allowance.

But up-to-date comforts and luxuries of house dogs by no means end with their wardrobes and ordinary baskets. Paris has just sent some elaborate brown wicker baskets with a tall back and canopy. In the top of the latter is a compartment with a drop shelf front that contains doggy's box of soap and sponge, two combs, a pair of clippers, a brush and a linen towel. The round bottom is upholstered with green or red, has a soft round hair rug and a white felt blanket to cover him when he sleeps. His playthings in this fashionable home are two round brown mottled celluloid balls and two rings, each of which has its own cup holder at the top and the bottom of the basket. To buy such a house close to Fifth avenue for a dog is a bargain at little less than $40.

Seen In the Shops

NATURAL quill penholders, with the stems colored blue, green, violet or pink, are sold to match the color of desk fittings or room furnishing. They are a fanciful revival of the olden time quill pen.

Desk sets consisting of blotter corners, inkwell, paper holder, tray, etc., are shown in light blue, rose and violet quartz and are especially dainty for a boudoir writing table with blotting paper to match.

White linen handkerchiefs having a colored line hem not more than one-eighth of an inch wide and a dainty initial embroidered in matching color are one of the holiday novelties.

Heart-shaped organdie bags six inches long filled with a potpourri of dried flowers, more delightful than any one aroma by itself, are intended for holiday gifts. They may be hung in a wardrobe or placed in bureau drawers. The size mentioned costs 95 cents.

With all things Oriental in the height of fashion for dress, the scarab has not been overworked. It appears as the central feature of beaded motifs with spread wings on either side, as the decoration of sash ends. The sash is made of black moire, and the decoration is of red, green or dark blue irridescent beads. Colored tulle sashes with embroidered ends are also a modish accessory that will dress up an otherwise plain looking gown.

Toilet Bag For 50 Cents

AMONG numerous useful gifts that may be made by sympathizers with the "spug" ideas is a toilet bag to hold hairpins, side combs, invisible net and invisible pins. Cover a piece of round pasteboard with a piece of dainty upholstery chintz, allowing one-quarter of a yard at the rate of 75 cents per yard. From a straight piece nine inches wide and twenty-seven long make the sides by turning up three inches and stitching little pocket spaces, which will be on the inside of the bag when it is joined on the bottom. The diameter of the bottom should be about eight inches. Sew small brass or crocheted rings on the inside of the top of the bag through which to run a silk cord drawstring and the gift is complete. The various articles will find a place in the pockets.

Ornamental Stitches

ONE of the things which distinguish high priced custom made garments today from the mediocre grades of outer clothing is the appropriate handwork for which the possessor pays a big price, but the woman who makes her own gowns may add the same sort of individuality with a few extra hours of time and work.

For instance, an exquisite evening gown of shell pink taffeta silk and shadow lace appeared recently in a city shop. Its unique charm was given by a design of small flowers embroidered in darning stitch and having a single rhinestone in the center of each. Part of the flowers, which resembled the petals of an open wild rose in outline, were worked in horizontal silk threads, and others were similarly done in fine silver threads. Now that gold and silver are both very fashionable this effective decoration is one worth trying.

THE custom of serving tea has become almost as general with Americans nowadays as with their English relatives. The difference in large cities especially is that tea hour is frequently spent at fashionable tea rooms or hotel restaurants. The various occupations or pastimes which attract women to the shopping districts or the theaters in the same neighborhood incline women to "drop in" for light refreshment near where they chance to be. At the large hotels there is likely to be a large table set with tempting confections, spun sugar baskets and flowers that delight the eye, while the pastries are displayed.

In the home the matter of serving tea for the family group or the casual caller is a simple hospitality easy to adopt. With a tea kettle and an alcohol lamp the beverage may be brewed in a few moments. Lemon, sliced, and loaf sugar are the general accompaniments, and only wafers that may be bought need be added. It is considered better form nowadays not to serve hearty or "mussy" dainties for callers wearing gloves.

The daintiness of appointments is essential. A large mahogany or wicker tray, in lieu of a silver one, holds the service, which is brought into the room at the time of serving. Small stands with two or three shelves for holding as many plates of crackers or bonbons are a convenience for serving. It is also good form to use small linen or damask napkins smaller than are used for luncheon or breakfast. These may be hemstitched or scalloped and are in the best style when ornamented with a small embroidered initial.

Practical Household Hints

THERE is sometimes a problem for the mistress of a family who has the Thanksgiving family dinner repeatedly to devise a table decoration which will be different from all its annual predecessors and yet just a bit more attractive. Especially in the country it is difficult to get flowers in late November, not to say expensive, but at once there looms up luscious fruits and vegetables that suggest the harvest season.

A most attractive table decoration is pictured here, as made with squash, apples, grapefruit and grapes, with sprays of fern, soft and feathery, above the mound. An oval dish or tray may be used for the base so as to protect the linen cloth. A pot of growing ferns if placed in the center will remain fresh and form a foundation against which to mass the fruits and vegetables. A pan of wet sand is also good for a center holder for blossoms which should stand upright.

Orange Baskets

Fruit salad is delicate with game and more suitable with a hearty turkey dinner than a heavier salad course. Make one of orange, grapefruit and white grapes, with a few English walnut meats and French dressing.

A novel way of serving it, especially if the color scheme of the table decorations is yellow, is in baskets made from the orange skins. Cut sections from the upper half, leaving a strip for a handle. Cut the skin around the orange with saw tooth edge, leaving the handle piece intact. Carefully remove the pulp with a sharp knife or scissors. Fill the orange baskets and serve each on a leaf of lettuce.

Candied Sweet Potatoes

Candied sweet potatoes are a delicious holiday dish. To prepare them boil four large sweet potatoes, cool, peel and slice. Add a teaspoonful of butter, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half cupful of sugar and enough water to barely cover the potatoes. One-half teaspoonful of lemon juice will improve the flavor. Bake the mixture until it candies and serve hot.

Glass Kitchen Utensils

Now that so much emphasis is put upon household sanitation manufacturers are offering attractive lines of unbreakable kitchen utensils, such as shelves, hooks, table slabs and rolling pins. Porcelain tops for kitchen tables are also a modern luxury that eliminates cracks and crevices for dirt. Glass spoons are an innovation for culinary service. Then, too, a glass door in the gas stove has obvious merits.

Dishpan Standard

To adjust the kitchen sink at just the right height for every maid or housewife who may use it is impossible, but a clever little device has appeared in the form of a folding wire standard about four inches high which may be placed under the pan and thus make it unnecessary for the tall person to stoop until her back is bent if not aching. This may be bought for a quarter.

MUSICAL TREAT OF BRASS BAND

Dutch Arms Instrumentalists Provide Most Enjoyable Concert.

IN "SWELL" UNIFORMS

An Enchantingly Rendered Program Delights Critical Audience at the Local Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.—Hall Well Filled.

Appearing in new regalia and rendering their first grand concert program, the Dutch Arms band of the Trinity Reformed church entertained a large audience of music lovers in the auditorium of the local Y. M. C. A. last night and the opening program was a success that surpassed the highest anticipations of those in charge of the affair. The thirty-five players led by Edmund D. Young, assisted by Edward H. Guest, rendered a complete program of topical and patriotic numbers and every selection received the rounds of applause it merited.

The proceeds of this concert will be devoted to the liquidation of the uniform debt and the fund was considerably swelled by the public exhibition. The officers of the band, which was organized January 21, 1913, are: President, Arthur B. Cole; vice president, Leslie N. Leland; secretary, William J. Trembath; treasurer, George Volk. The members of the band are Edmund D. Young, director; Edward H. Guest, assistant director; L. B. Bodine, L. Bennett, J. Bennett, C. R. Borden, M. Backer, F. J. Borrup, A. B. Cole, L. Fisher, L. French, R. P. Gay, H. W. Henderson, C. H. Harvey, R. S. Jensen, L. N. Leland, M. McAfee, W. E. Moke, C. Nichols, L. B. Olick, L. Ollear, F. Prussing, N. Sears, R. Sears, H. Storr, L. Stryker, A. Shjarback, W. J. Trembath, G. Volk, B. VanArsdale, W. B VanNest, E. Wheeler, N. S. Wardner, A. Willett, R. Walter and F. A. Zweifel. The members of the beginners' band are W. Backer, W. Briggs, W. Bach, J. E. Betzold, C. F. Colthar, C. Frone, E. Higgins, S. Stover and W. H. VanArsdale.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

Part I—Overture, "The Golden Prince," Losey; vocal duet, "In the Garden of My Heart," Ball, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Young; serenade, "Evening Bells," Ripley; cornet duet, "Ada," Southwell, Messrs. Young and Moke; march, "Our Director," Bigelow; baritone solo, "I've Got a Sixpence," Whitney, William Holmes, march, "Standard Bearer," Losey.

Part II—Concert march, Klohr, baritone solo, "The Vulcan Song," Gounod, William Holmes; reverie, "The Wayside Chapel," Wilson; cornet duet, "Come With Me," Campana, Messrs. Young and Moke; serenade, "Twilight Echoes," Miller; "Garland of Old Fashioned Roses," Keithley; vocal duet, "The Adieu," Nicola, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Young; march, "Waldmere," Losey; "Star Spangled Banner."

DR. L. G. NEWMAN WEDS.

Miss Gertrude King, of Elizabeth, and Dr. Louis G. Newman, of Westfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Otis Newman, of this city, were married at the home of the bride in Elizabeth, Wednesday evening, Rev. Dr. Whitaker, of Elizabeth, performing the ceremony. Dr. Newman is well-known here, where he lived for many years. He has been practicing medicine at Westfield for some time.

FUNERAL OF JOHN C. HALL.

The funeral service of John Calvin Hall will be held at Trinity Reformed church, Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. Y. Broek, the pastor, will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

JOS. COHN TO SPEAK AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Son of Former Rabbi Will Make An Address Tomorrow Afternoon.

Joseph Cohn, son of former Rabbi Leopold Cohn, of Brooklyn, will speak at a union mass meeting to be held in the First Baptist church at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. He is a Christian Jew, having left a synagogue to be a missionary among the more than one million Hebrews of Greater New York city.

Mr. Cohn will tell of the experiences he and his father have had in their work. Leopold was a rabbi twenty years ago among his people in Austria-Hungary. He became convinced that the Messiah had come and told his congregation, who with one accord left and ex-communicated him. He came to America. Then he fled to Scotland, owing to persecution. He later returned to New York and began to preach the gospel to the Jews of that city. Several hundred Jews have made public confession. Mr. Cohn will relate more fully the experience of his father on Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Phillip B. Strong will preside at the meeting and introduce the speaker. He has known former Rabbi Cohn for a number of years and is deeply interested in his great work in Greater New York. Mr. Cohn will also speak at the Temple Baptist church tomorrow morning.

MAY WIRTH, ARENIC STAR, HEADLINER AT PROCTOR'S

May Wirth and her family, the greatest feature in Barnum & Bailey's circus the past season, will appear at Proctor's theatre on Monday for three days. Miss Wirth is one of the highest priced artists that has played in this city. Although not twenty years old, it is said she has yet to see her equal in horsemanship. She will be accompanied by her famous white horse and whole circus outfit. The Four Regals, known as "The King's Armorers," in a remarkable performance of feats of strength; Kell and Kelly, comedians; the Three O'Neill Sisters, in a novelty singing and dancing act, and "Bill" Streeter, the popular story-teller, with a lot of new stories and jokes, will complete the big bill.

GEORGE HARTFELDER'S FUNERAL HELD TODAY

The funeral of George Hartfelder was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at his late home on Whitewood avenue, the borough, and was largely attended by relatives and friends, including representatives of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., the Carpenters' Union and Court Plainfield, Independent Order Foresters, of which Mr. Hartfelder was a member. They sent many beautiful floral tributes.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the service, reading the Scripture, offering prayer and making a brief address. The pall-bearers representing the various lodges to which Mr. Hartfelder belonged were George Wilson, Michael Rimmer, Samuel Robinson, Louis Feiring and J. E. Flannery. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

MISS MARSH BRIDE OF HOLMES C. BUCHER

Plainfield Girl Becomes the Wife of Staunton, Va., Man.

Miss Adelaide Mary Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Marsh, of Westervelt avenue, and Holmes C. Bucher, of Staunton, Va., were married this morning at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, performing the ceremony. The wedding was a quiet one, only the members of the two families and a few intimate friends being present.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left for New York from which place they sailed for New Orleans. They will go to Palm Beach later. Upon their return they will reside in their new home on DeLacey avenue and will be "at home" after February 4. Mr. Bucher is connected with Phelps Dodge & Co. interests as traffic manager.

DETROIT MAN WEDS MISS GEORGIE JETER

Sister of Mrs. Irving Bininger Becomes Wife of Leone J. Cutler.

Miss Georgie Jeter, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Jeter, of Lynchburg, Va., and Leone J. Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cutler, of Detroit, Mich., were married this afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Irving Bininger, 70 Westervelt avenue. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the ceremony. There were present just the immediate relatives and a few friends, including Miss Leona Morrman, of Lynchburg, and Edward Gross, of Danville, Va.

The bride wore a traveling suit of old blue cloth and carried white chrysanthemums. The matron of honor was Mrs. Irving Bininger, sister of the bride, who wore a gown of taupe satin and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The best man was Irving Bininger. A reception was held after the ceremony, during which congratulations were offered and refreshments were served.

The home was attractively decorated, the color scheme in the dining-room being yellow and that of the living room, where the ceremony took place, was white and green.

Mr. and Mrs. Cutler left later in the afternoon on a wedding trip and upon their return they will reside at Bluefield, West Virginia, where the bridegroom is the representative of the Victor company. The bride received a large number of wedding gifts from relatives and friends.

HELD FUNERAL SERVICE FOR ALBERT H. STEVENS

The funeral services of Albert H. Stevens, 50 years old, of West Front street, who died Tuesday at Muhlenberg Hospital following a short illness, were held yesterday afternoon at his late home. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiated. Interment was made at Hillside Cemetery.

Mr. Stevens was born in Long Island, where he lived for many years before coming to Plainfield in 1906. He is survived by a widow and six children, who are Mrs. Alice Weaver, of this city; Mrs Mamie Pell, of Brooklyn, and Marshall, Theodore, Walter and Albert Stevens.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. SARAH F. HAYNES

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah F. Haynes, 76 years old, who was found lifeless Monday in the barn on her estate, a victim of heart disease, were held yesterday afternoon at the meeting house of the Plymouth Brethren, on East Front street. The services were impressive and simple and were conducted by Samuel Ridout, James F. Parker and Timothy O. Loizeaux. Interment was made in Hillside Cemetery.

Mrs. Haynes was the widow of Rev. Thomas Wilson Haynes, a Baptist minister, who died in Kentucky in 1885. At one time he was a pastor at Mt. Bethel, but mose of his charges were in the south. For the last five years, Mrs. Haynes has been identified with the Plymouth Brethren.

Besides her son, Paul C. Haynes, with whom she lived in Clinton avenue, Mrs. Haynes is survived by Mrs. Julia A. Coddington, of Mt. Bethel.

DISCUSSES

"THE EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF THE MOTION PICTURE."

DR. PERRY DISCUSSES "THE NEW HELOISE"

Rousseau's Great Work the Subject of His Second Lecture Here.

"The New Heloise," written about the middle of the eighteenth century by the French poet, Jean Jacques Rousseau, was the topic chosen by Prof. Bliss Perry, of Harvard, in the second of his series of lectures delivered yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. In spite of the inclement weather there was a large and interested audience who expressed their delight following the talk.

Prof. Perry first told of the life of Rousseau, who was born in Geneva, June 28, 1812, the son of an itinerant watchmaker. His mother died at his birth. The boy grew up, and in his younger days was a dreamy, romantic child, sentimental and somewhat perverse. Probably inheriting the wanderlust from his father he early became a vagabond, and until he was thirty he lived a wandering and adventurous life. He was successful as an engraver's apprentice, vagabond, lackey, secretary, improvised himself into a musician, and even at one time was a traveling tradesman. Through the influence of a benefactress, Madame DeWarens, he was converted from Calvinism to Catholicism, but renounced the latter faith.

It was in 1849, while engaged as a preceptor, that he was first introduced to the literary society of the epoch. He secured first place in a competition before the Academy of Dijon by a memorial on "Has the progress of sciences and arts contributed to corrupt, or to purify, morals?" In 1757 he wrote "The New Heloise," which, with other works made him the most formidable protagonist of the new era. These works created such violent controversies that the French parliament decreed his arrest, and as a result of persecution he spent several years in poverty, and in 1778 he died suddenly, aged sixty-seven.

In his talk, Prof. Perry said that "The New Heloise" was patterned much after "Clarissa Harlowe" which was the subject of his remarks last week. It tells the story of a girl who fell in love with her tutor. The lover went away. At first they corresponded regularly, but as time wore on she married another, at the continued solicitation of her father, who did not favor the match with the tutor. The tutor returned after six years, and although the heroine realized that she still loved him, she remained true to her husband. Later she was rowing on a lake with her child when the boat capsized, and she developed pneumonia, dying with the request on her lips that her old lover and tutor would educate her children as she was sure they would be brought up as she desired. Prof. Perry said that the book was very poorly written, and long drawn out in its situations, but that in spite of these deadening influences, it marked a second distinct epoch in literature.

The third talk of the series will be given at the Crescent Avenue church next Friday afternoon, the subject being Thackeray's "Vanity Fair."

MISS EDNA C. SWAIN BRIDE OF CLIFFORD HALL

Miss Edna Catherine Swain, youngest daughter of Philip Swain, was married this afternoon at her home, 32 Craig place, to Clifford Watson Hall, an instructor at a private school for boys in New York city. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple from New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Lawrenceville. Miss Alice R. Barlow, of this city, was maid of honor, and her fiance, Walter Philip Swain, a brother of the bride, acted as best man. Miss Swain was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a white crepe-de-chine gown, trimmed with shadow lace and chiffon and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Miss Barlow wore Killarney pink charmeuse and carried roses. The house decorations were elaborate. The main reception room where the nuptials were solemnized, was profuse with chrysanthemums, Southern smilax, palms and autumn foliage. The dining room was treated in pink, the table flowers matching.

The couple left for an extended honeymoon directly following the wedding feast.

OVER 200 ATTENDED THANKSGIVING DANCE

Annual Social Event at the Park Club Brings Out Local Society.

The annual Thanksgiving dance held at the Park Club, last night, was a pleasing social function and was attended by nearly two hundred members and friends, including many out of town guests and college students who are at home for the holiday season. The clubhouse was elaborately decorated for the occasion with evergreens and flowers of the season. The music for dancing was furnished by Muller, of Brooklyn, and as usual, was a feature, the program being a popular one.

During an intermission near midnight, refreshments were served, after which the dancing was continued until an early hour. The affair was in charge of the entertainment committee of the club comprising Mrs. Wilbur H. Rogers, chairman, Mrs. Charles H. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Townsend.

COUPLE CELEBRATE A GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. H. Otis Newman Hold Family Reunion to Mark Event.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Otis Newman, of West Fifth street, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home, Thursday, combining the festivities of Thanksgiving Day with the happy event. All of the children were home to join in congratulations and wish the couple many happy returns.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman were married in Brooklyn, November 26, 1863, by Rev. Joel E. Rockwell, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. The bride was Miss Mary E. Eaton, of Brooklyn. For a time the couple lived in Orange coming to Plainfield in 1867. Forty-two years ago they removed to their present home on West Fifth street, where they have continued to reside.

For a number of years Mr. Newman had a position in New York, but in 1890 he associated himself with Boice-Runyon & Co., remaining with that concern until two years ago, when he took a position with Wadley & Goodenough. During his residence here he has been active in the Y. M. C. A., and both he and his wife have always been active members of the Crescent Avenue church.

By the union there were five children, Miss Lillian Newman, who lives home; Frank E. Newman, of New York; Rev. Fred B. Newman, of Tunkhannock, Pa.; Dr. Louis G. Newman, of Westfield, and Miss Marie L. Newman, who lives home. Mr. Newman has two brothers, C. Franklin Newman, of Falls Church, Va., and Edwin T. Newman, of Brooklyn.

DRUNKEN MAN CAUSED EXCITEMENT IN WEST END

Revolver shots pierced the midnight air, stirred John Seagrist, of 1209 South Second street, to summon the police and other persons shortly after midnight last night because a man with an unsteady gait had mistaken the home of Frank Quaas for his own.

Quaas, who lives at 1222 West Third street, was awakened from his sleep by the sound of foot-steps shuffling across his front porch. Losing no time for investigation, he grabbed his gun and blazed away through a parlor window. Hearing the shots Seagrist called police headquarters. A squad of patrolmen with Roundsman Charles Flynn pressed an automobile into service and hurried to the vicinity of the shooting.

When they arrived at the West Third street address, they found Quaas still holding his revolver. The policemen also found a man, who could not give his name, and badly under the influence of liquor. He had tried several front door locks in the neighborhood, but his key would fit none. He was escorted to his home.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE LEAGUE MEETING.

Members of the Plainfield Branch of the Association Opposed to Women Suffrage are urged to attend the important business meeting of the branch, which is to be held next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Constable Moore, 1025 Watchung avenue. It is most important that all attend, and the officers hope that every member will strive to be present.

COMPLETE PROGRAM FOR ELKS' SERVICES

Elaborate Memorial Exercises to Be Held at Plainfield Theatre Dec. 7.

Plans have been completed by the memorial committee of Plainfield Lodge of Elks for the annual memorial service to be held in the Plainfield theatre, Sunday night, December 7. The program will be on a more elaborate scale than usual and increased interest is being manifested by the members.

The memorial address, which is always a feature of the service, will be delivered by T. Murray Hulbert, a prominent New York lawyer and past exalted ruler of No. 1 lodge. He is considered one of the ablest orators of the day. Music will be furnished by a symphony orchestra and a leading metropolitan quartet. The latter will include Ashley Ropps, baritone basso, well known to Carnegie Hall patrons. The floral decorations on the stage will be even better than heretofore.

The committee having plans for the service in charge is composed of Clarence E. Teel, S. P. T. Wilbur and Dr. C. L. Crist.

Rev. Dr. William H. Neilson, rector of St. James' church, Piscataway-town, will act as chaplain.

The assisting artists will be Mary Kissam DeMoss, soprano; Elizabeth Sherman Clark, contralto; George Tamlym, tenor; Ashley Ropps, baritone; Mrs. W. D. Lonenecker, pianist. Townsend H. Fellows will be the musical director.

MME. FRANCES ALDA HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Prima Donna Soprano to Be Heard at the Plainfield Theatre.

Mme. Frances Alda, the prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will make her first appearance before a Plainfield audience Tuesday night when she will be heard at the Plainfield Theatre. She will be assisted by Gutia Cassini, the Russian 'cellist, and Frank LaForge, pianist. The audience will probably be one of the largest and most brilliant that has ever gathered at the local playhouse and the Plainfield Musical Club, under whose auspices Mme. Alda will give the concert is being congratulated on every hand for inducing the famous prima donna to come here.

The New York Sun's critic made this report of her recital given a few days ago in New York:

"The prima donna sang many airs and songs excellently adapted to her range of voice and mostly by modern writers. Her first group included "Lungi dal Caro Bene," of Lecchi, Purcell's "Nymphs and Shepherds," "When the Roses Bloom," by Reichardt, and Carey's "Pastoral."

"In the first two airs the singer was evidently nervous and this no doubt was the cause of the too rapid tempo at which they were taken, but otherwise she sang them with a charming style. In the Reichardt song the voice was unsteady, but as she continued with the program Mme. Alda gave increasing pleasure. Among the modern songs were four marked first time: "Dach mein Vogel," by Libelius; "Tansend Sterne" of Leo Blech; "O Vater," of Melartin, and "Longing," by La Forge. Cesar Franck's air "Panis Angelicus," usually sung with organ obligato, but now with 'cello, was also among Mme. Alda's numbers, and Richard Strauss' "Meinem Kinde."

"Mr. Cassini's chief contribution to the program was Tschaikowsky's "Rococo Variations." He also played several short pieces. His style was one well adapted to a salon, but it was thoroughly musical. Frank LaForge played the accompaniments throughout with his usual masterly skill."

JUDGE RUNYON IN DEMAND AS ORATOR FOR ELKS

Former City Judge William N. Runyon has been honored by the Elks of both Orange and Newark with invitations to speak at their respective memorial services on Sunday, December 7. He has accepted and will speak at Orange in the afternoon and Newark at night. Judge Runyon made the address before 5,000 people at New York Lodge, No. 1, two years ago and received one of the greatest ovations ever accorded a memorial speaker in the metropolitan organization's home.

PRIVATELY VIEW A NEW PAVILION

Authorities and Physicians Inspect Hospital Private Room Structure.

ALL WERE PLEASED

Public Visits Building This Afternoon and Will Do So Tomorrow—Finely Equipped Throughout—Recently Finished.

County officials, including members of the Board of Freeholders, together with city officials and physicians of the city and borough, attended a private inspection of the new private room pavilion at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon, and expressed their pleasure and satisfaction over the well-appointed building which has just been completed, declaring it to be one of the best equipped hospital buildings they had yet visited in the State.

In connection with the inspection, tea was served in the run room, by women so far as possible who acted as captains of the various teams during the campaign of last year. Where they could not act women from the auxiliary board consented to serve.

The women in charge comprised Mrs. Frank D. Warren, Mrs. Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney, Mrs. H. K. Tetsuka, Mrs. Jabez C. Gilbert, Mrs. Daniel Runkle, Mrs. George P. Mellick, Mrs. Henry A. McGee, Mrs. Walter M. McGee, Mrs. John Gray Foster, Mrs. Samuel Townsend.

The sun room, where tea was served, was tastefully decorated with chrysanthemums and red pinks, the prevailing colors being red and white, while pretty red candles garnished the table. Southern smilax and palms were also used with pleasing effect.

The public inspection of the building will be held this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 7 o'clock, during which time it is expected that a large number of people will visit the pavilion.

FREEHOLDERS GET BIDS FOR BUILDINGS

Contract Given for Building Pig Pens at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium.

Bids were received at a meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders, at Elizabeth, yesterday, for the building of chicken houses to accommodate one thousand chicken and pig pens to accommodate fifty hogs, to be located at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium. Five bids were received for the construction of the chicken houses and the pig pens. The M. Byrnes Building Company's bid of $4,990 for constructing the chicken houses was considered too high, and it is proposed to alter the specifications so that the cost will be about one-half. That company was awarded the contract for building the pig pens, the bid being $2,493, which was the lowest. The bids follow:

Chicken houses—Lincoln Steel Fleming Company, $5,480; P. L. Braunworth, $5,950; Wright & Hummer, $5,700; Franklin W. Helms, $6,220; M. Byrnes Building Company, $4,990.

Pig pens—Lincoln Steel Fleming Company, $3,240; P. L. Baunworth, $4,520; Wright & Hummer, $2,892; Franklin W. Helms, $3,539; M. Byrnes Building Company, $2,493.

Royal Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

The Woman Makes the Home

She makes it best who, looking after the culinary department, turns her back resolutely upon unhealthful, or even suspicious, food accessories. She is economical; she knows that true economy does not consist in the use of inferior meat, flour, or baking powder. She is an earnest advocate of home made, home baked food, and has proved the truth of the statements of the experts that the best cooking in the world today is done with Royal Baking Powder.

MO-JO White Chewing Gum

Talk No. 9

DOWN in some parts of the South are people known as "clay eaters."

But in one way these primitive "clay eaters" have an advantage over civilized gum chewers.

They can at least pick their own dirt.

The dirt you find in Chewing Gum may be nice dirt or it may not be. It is tropical dirt, that you may be sure of.

MO-JO Chewing Gum has been made for people who prefer not to eat any dirt at all.

You can tell MO-JO Gum from any other Chewing Gum at a glance, White Box, White Gum—Purity—through and through.

Think of what you are putting in your mouths—Ask for Pure White Gum and the answer is MO-JO. There is no substitute.

Exploding a Fallacy

Some wise gazabo from across the Big Pond has said of our country: In America, merchandise is bought for two reasons—because it is cheap or because it is expensive.

Perhaps you don't believe there are a large number of men who buy their overcoats because they are marked sky-high.

The misguided ones argue that if the price is big, the value is big—but after a few months of good solid wear, it turns out that what they mistook for value was only "looking-glass value," and once more they have gotten it in the proximity of the Cluett Peabody product.

Rothberg Overcoats do not masquerade under big prices—they're made to wear. Their splendid appearance is backed by materials that hold their shape thru' all the vicissitudes (whatever that means) of constant wear.

If you're looking for HONEST VALUES coupled with HONEST PRICES you'll find them both at Rothberg's Shop for "Most Things Men Wear."

Overcoats $10, $12, $15, $18, $20 to $30

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, while extending congratulations to B. F. Keith on his thirtieth anniversary (which event will be duly celebrated this week in every theatre of F. F. Proctor's former partner), will present a bill of such excellence that vaudeville patrons cannot overlook the Twenty-eighth street playhouse, no matter how strong the counter attractions. Vaudeville's most distinguished captive, David Bispham will be the star of the gathering, singing a collection of numbers ranging from Wagner to "Annie Laurie," not forgetting the irrepressible "Danny Deever." Two sketches of unbounded merriment, "The Millionaire's Wife" and "Cherie" will be acter respectively by Claude Gillingwater & Co. and Clayton White and Cormer. The former comedian will have Edith Lyle as his funmaking partner, while the latter will depend upon Mae Phelps to add to the general jollity.

Others will be Rackett, Hoover and Markey in what is known as a sure-fire hoakum act; Josie Heather, dainty English singing comedienne; Eunice Burnham (former partner of funny Charlotte Greenwood), and Charles Irwin in a dainty piano and singing act; Sam Barton, tramp cyclist who nearly rides a wheel; Hess Sisters, queens of danceland; Henry Lewis, famous character parodist; Hugh Lloyd, bounding wire daredevil; Miller and Lyles, colored comedians, and Norman, extraordinary equilibrist.

"The Little Cafe" is the best of its kind. Chronic theatre-goers and others who have come to think of musical comedy as either a footless, poorly fabricated revue or a pretentious, heavy operetta, are advised to go as soon as possible to the New Amsterdam Theatre, where a striking refutation of this theory is being made by "The Little Cafe." The latter is an entertainment which will be appreciated by anyone who has the slightest feeling for an hilarious farce, adorned by droll, carefully fashioned lyrics in Mr. McLellan's most happy style, by charming melodies written by Mr. Caryll, and by the spirit of infectious gayety witn which the chorous numbers are interpreted. Add to this exquisite and variegated costumes and the delight of superior scenic back-grounds, and an evening of pleasure, of which even the "high brow" need not be ashamed, is complete. "The Little Cafe," considered solely as a play, is unquestionably the best musical comedy of the past three years.

THE EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF THE MOTION PICTURE.

During the past five years the moving picture show has become the most popular of all our public amusements. Probably one out of every twenty persons in the country sees motin pictures every day. It has been calculated that if the moving picture theatres of the country were to be arranged side by side they would extend fifty miles. If the school children of the country who attend these exhibitions were to march by in single file, it would take them five days to pass an observer, the observer remaining at his post for eight hours every day. New films are now being produced at the rate of twenty per day. Million dollar studios for the production of these pictures are not uncommon. Of all forms of public recreation, the motion picture represents the largest outlay on the part of the producer and promoter and attracts by far the largest patronage.

The nature of this patronage tends to make moving pictures wholesome and clean. The family group is conspicuous in every audience. It is the exhibitor's main dependence and as long as the vast majority of parents will not knowingly permit their children to witness that which is unwholesome and unclean he cannot afford to offend either good taste nor good morals. Add to this influence a censorship, both national and local which is steadily increasing in effectiveness, and we have the assurance that the moving picture show can be properly controlled.

It should be noted that the foregoing statements apply only to theatres where the program consists wholly of pictures. The problem presented by the program of mixed vaudeville and pictures is entirely different.

But this wonderful invention is an educational instrument of the very highest value. Its possibilities in this field have only been suggested. It teaches facts by the best of all methods, the objective. It teaches science. By it we are taught unforgettable lessons in chemistry, physics, botany, physiology, zoology, biology and geography.

It teaches history, accurately reproducing the great historical events of the past. This class of films, especially American historical pictures, are the most popular shown. In these days history is made in the presence of the moving picture camera man. The inauguration of President Wilson was seen by millions, who could not go to Washington, within ten days after it occurred. A recent film picturing current events showed Secretary Bryan at a Chautauqua; Secretary Daniels inspecting a site for a new navy yard in northern New Jersey and Secretary Lane on official business in California. It has made the Panama Canal as real and as familiar to us as the nearest stream. As one has said: "Nothing of consequence can ever happen again on this earth that may not be presented again by the motion picture."

It enacts the great stories of literature. There are pictures based upon the masterpieces of Shakespeare, Tennyson, Scott, Browning, Dickens, George Eliot, Lewis Carroll, Kingsley, James Fenimore Cooper, Washington Irving, Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Dumas, Hugo, Dante, Homer, Goethe, Schiller, Bulwer Lytton, and this is only a partial list.

It teaches the Bible. Many Scriptural films are shown in commercial moving picture houses. Such films as "The Life of Moses," "The Prodigal Son," "The Woman of Samaria," "Abraham's Sacrifice," "Paul and the Centurion" and "From the Manger to the Cross," have been widely exhibited. Furnishing, as they do, an accurate portrayal of the life or the incident or the story treated, they supplement most helpfully the Bible teaching of home and Sunday School.

It teaches the meaning and value of the great modern movements for social and industrial uplift. Through it nation-wide intelligent interest has been aroused in the conquest of tuberculosis, in the effort to enact child-labor laws, in prison reform, in the Boy Scout movement, in the playground movement, in the "Swat the Fly" Campaign, in the effort being made by the National Association of Manufacturers to insure the installation of safety devices in factories, and in many other organized efforts for human betterment.

Above all, the motion picture teaches morality. Let me quote President King, of Oberlin, as to its possibilities in this field. Says Doctor King: "We may not leave it to chance that the child or the growing citizen shall be brought to self-initiative, self-control, consideration of others, some sharing in the wisdom of life and in the highest and largest community ideals. This definite moral and religious training will involve that the problems of the pupil's moral life should be brought to the pupil himself and that he be helped to see them in their concrete relation to his own life and volition. In bringing these problems to the pupil, increasing use is likely to be made of visual methods as in Mr. Milton Fairchild's public school lectures and in wise use of moving pictures and the public sentiment of school and community will be brought into play from the start."

People who do not know say that the motion picture reproduces low standards of morality, thinking that the ideals of the entertainment are cheap because the price of admission is cheap. As a matter of fact the motion picture, the moral influence from which is unwholesome is exceedingly rare, so rare that a pastor who has studied the problem long and carefully and who has made judicious use of the picture in his work asks if the message of the motion picture may not be summed up in the words, "It doesn't pay to be crooked."

We are beginning to recognize the futility of the mere word in teaching anything. This statement applies with peculiar force to moral training. There must be content, else the word has little or no meaning, and the motion picture supplies it. Suppose it is desired to teach consideration for others. Instead of giving the child a lecture or a scolding or a whipping, or even reading him a story, we place before him a picture which will cause him to feel consideration for others, such a picture for instance, as "The Crime of Carlessness." This film shows the willful carelessness of a factory employe who disobeyed an order forbidding smoking, throwing his match into a pile of shavings, and pictures the awful consequences in loss of property to his employer, loss of wages to his fellow-workmen, in disgrace to himself and in the permanent injury of the girl to whom he had become engaged. Such a picture is a force for the fashioning of the will. It is only one of hundreds that can be used deliberately for the purpose of moral education.

The motion picture is a force that should be intergrated with the activities of home, school and church. An intelligently planned motion picture entertainment is a most effective means for the development of personality.

Somerville

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Galpin, daughter of Henry F. Galpin, of this place, to Norman Burscher, of Seattle, Wash. The wedding will take place on Thursday evening of next week. Mr. Burscher was a former resident of Raritan, but went to Seattle about three years ago. After the ceremony the couple will make their home in that city.

The Somerville Athletic Association had a "Commuters' Night" at the club house last night. An interesting address on "Railroads" was delivered by W. C. Hope, general passenger agent of the New Jersey Central, who is a native of Somerville, but who has lived for many years at Roselle. Other remarks were made by Henry P. Mason, one of the oldest employes of the Central, and by E. F. Johnson, a former active member of the association. Professional talent, with an abundance of refreshments, made up the balance of the program, all of which was heartily enjoyed.

Somerville Lodge, No. 1068, B. P. O. E., has completed arrangements for an elaborate memorial service, which will be held in the New Somerville Theatre on Sunday evening, December 7, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Oscar Maddaus, well known in this place, where he has spoken on different occasions, will make the address of the evening. The Imperial Male Quartet, of New York city, will sing, and the Misses Flynn, of this place, will render several musical numbers. The public is invited to the services without tickets of admission.

The list of petit and grand jurors for the December term of courts, which convenes on December 16, will be drawn under the Fielder act on Tuesday, December 9. A session of the court will be held for naturalization purposes on Monday, December 9.

Those Who Arrive.

A New York capitalist said at a dinner in Boston that neither the prudent man nor the daring man made a success of life.

"The prudent gets nowhere," he declared. "The daring go to smash. It is those who mingle the two qualities, it is the daringly prudent, who arrive.

"In other words," concluded the capitalist, "the men who succeed are those who run risks at a very slow walk."—Washington Star.

Sugar Is Dear In France.

People in France when they dine at restaurants frequently appropriate the sugar they don't happen to use. Sugar in France is dear, and what is served with the coffee belongs by right to the purchaser as much as the coffee itself. So why not take a lump or two home to little Jeanne or Pierre?

Broke the Charm.

"Well, you are a good little boy. Are you usually as quiet as this?"

"No fear, but mother's going to give me a clockwork engine and a hobby-horse if I don't say anything about your dreadful red nose."—London Opinion.

By the Receiver's Sale of the Stock of the Farrand Co., Detroit, there comes to

GIMBEL BROTHERS, these artistic

"CECILIAN" PLAYER-PIANOS

The World's Perfect Piano-Player

To Sell for $414 Instead of $600

Ever since the Farrand Company—founded in 1883—began to devote its attention to the manufacture of mechanical piano-players, its path has been upward toward increased perfection, until to-day the "Cecilian" stands a marvel of splendid mechanical construction, and of the highest artistic merit in the Player-piano field.

And in these days when a Player-piano is practically a necessity, instead of a luxury, in every household that appreciates good music, the "Cecilian" is known and loved from coast to coast.

We were prompt to recognize the wonderful musical qualities of the "Cecilian," which has been on the GIMBEL honor list of Pianos since the opening of our New York Store, and for years before that in our Philadelphia Store.

Thus it came that when the continued subordination of profit to perfection exhausted the finances of the Farrand Company, GIMBEL BROTHERS were selected to distribute, in the East, their rightful share of the "Cecilians" remaining in the factory. Two hundred and thirty of the instruments were allotted to us, of which the New York Store's share is now ready for distribution. And so, Monday, we shall offer the beautiful and sympathetic on the price which has been maintained upon the "Cecilian" in the Gimbel Piano Store ever since it opened, over three years ago.

"Cecilian" Player-Pianos at a positive saving of $185

We couldn't have timed better this best player-piano offering we have ever known, for now you have an opportunity to SAVE $185 ON THE PLAYER-PIANO YOU HAVE INTENDED TO GIVE THE FAMILY FOR CHRISTMAS—and to pay for it with the LEAST POSSIBLE DEMAND on your Christmas funds.

What the Club Plan Means to You!

Free delivery to your nearest freight station.
Free tuning for a year.
Free bench.
Free six rolls of music.
Free to return the "Cecilian" within a month, if you regret your purchase.
Free to exchange, if within a year, for any new player we sell—all club payments to apply on the new instrument.
If the breadwinner dies while payments are being kept up, a receipted bill to the family for the "Cecilian," without the collection by us of another penny.

Under the Very Convenient Terms of the GIMBLE Club Plan, a "Cecilian" will be sent home to you for a First Payment of $10 Remainder in Monthly Payments of $10 Each

What the "Cecilian" Player-Piano Is

It is a full 88-note player, operating on every note of the full 7 1-3 octave piano. Its pneumatics (which govern the touch of the hammers on the strings) are marvelously sensitive and make the piano respond sympathetically to every whim of the person playing. Because of its wonderful TRANSPOSING DEVICE, the "Cecilian" is invaluable to singers. For by a simple adjustment the accompaniment to any song can be raised or lowered to any one of five keys at the singer's option.

From the tenderest pianissimo to the crashing fortissimo, the tone shadings of the "Cecilian" are infinite. And that piano composition does not exist that cannot be rendered with the highest artistic effect.

The "Cecilian" mechanism is built into a piano of great excellence of construction in a case of beautiful architecture and finish. The plate is of unusual strength, to resist the vastly greater service a player-piano has to give—hence the sweet "Cecilian" tone is LASTING.

It is, in short, a player-piano that is a permanent delight—and now at a low price unprecedented in its history.

Under the easy terms of the GIMBEL CLUB PLAN, the New York quota of these beautiful instruments will be quickly taken. Plan to profit by the offering MONDAY! Eighth Floor

GIMBEL BROTHERS

Broadway and Thirty-Third St. NEW YORK

WILL SOON REMOVE THE 'PHONE OFFICE

Commercial Department to Be in Manning Building After Monday.

Owing to a large increase in business, the New York Telephone Company has found it necessary to move the present Plainfield Commercial office at 109 East Fourth street to larger quarters. This change will become effective about December 1, 1913, and the new office will be located in the Manning building, 307 Park avenue, corner of Depot Park, as already stated in this paper. The new office is within a few hundred feet of the Central Railroad Station and it should prove very convenient by reason of its accessibility. No pains have been spared to provide an attractive and comfortable office with every convenience for the prompt transaction of all telephone matters.

All matters pertaining to contracts for telephone service, changes in existing service, payment of bills, advertising in the telephone directory, etc., should be taken up at the new office.

Since 1883, when the first switchboard or central office, was located on the present site of the City National Bank at Park avenue and Front street, the telephone company has moved its offices four different times. From their original location, they moved to 169 North avenue, and later, from there to 333 Park avenue, then to 109 East Fourth street, and now back again to Park avenue, in the new Manning building. Many improvements and larger quarters have been provided in connection with each change.

Since the beginning of the telephone business in Plainfield, six different men have been in charge of the offices. Percy Ohl was the pioneer manager and was followed by Messrs. H. W. Leland and W. R. Miller. C. M. Runyon assumed the position of manager in 1889 and continued in this capacity until 1908.

In these early days, the managers superintended what is now known as the traffic plant and commercial departments. Men were employed as operators and were expected to set instruments, hunt trouble, repair switchboards and assist in any work for which they might be needed. Mr. Runyon had the distinction of installing the first telephone in Plainfield, in the newspaper office of the "Constitutionalist" on North avenue. P. H. Burns succeeded Mr. Runyon and when Mr. Burns was tranferred to the legal department of the telephone company, early this year, A. B. Wilson assumed charge and is at present the local commercial manager.

It is a generally accepted fact that the telephone development of any community is a good indication of its enterprise and prosperity. In Plainfield in 1889, 120 telephones were in use and at that time, the town boasted of a population of 11,267. On November 1, 1913, the number of telephones had increased to 4,017, and the population to 20,550. This shows an increase of about 100 per cent in population and 3,240 in the number of telephones.

It is hoped that the new location of the commercial office will help to develop still further the telephone growth in Plainfield, and the convenience of having a business office so well situated in Plainfield is one that telephone subscribers and the public in general will, no doubt, appreciate.

UNSURPASSED FOR THE CHRISTMAS TREE (German and U. S. Patents)
Are the Angel Christmas Chimes

Millions have been sold in Europe and have brought joy into every home. The Christmas Chimes are one foot high and so constructed that they can be fastened at the top of the Christmas Tree, or they can be placed on any table.

The Christmas Chimes consist of: 5 angels, 3 candlesticks, 3 tuned bells and 1 turbine. Below is a wonderful enameled picture of the Crib of Bethlehem with the inscription "Glory to God in the Highest," etc. The Christmas Chimes are made of fine metal, gilded and enameled in beautiful colors. When the candles are lighted, the heat makes the Turbine move with the angles in a circle and sweet music sounds through the room, heralding the Birth of Christ.

The same effect is obtained if the Chimes are placed on a hot stove or a radiator. A more suitable Christmas present could not be devised. The Christmas Chimes are unbreakable and easily put together, according to instructions. A most wonderful ornament with music every time the candles are lighted.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Meat Regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

suffrage, though she does not belong to any of the suffrage organizations and is opposed to anything like militant methods. To her friends she has confided that it would be a great disappointment if she should not be able to vote in New York within a reasonably short time. She said she would be willing to wait for ten years to see the problem of winning the right to vote adjusted properly, but not longer.

Mrs. Mitchel, before her marriage on April 3, 1909, was Olive Child, the daughter of Franklin D. Child of New York city. Like her husband, she is fond of out door life and prefers swimming to any other sport. She is a tireless worker, and as an active member of the Bronx branch of the Woman's auxiliary of the board of health she has given much time and attention to helping on the work of stamping out tuberculosis.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 36.

I BELIEVE in classified advertising. I believe that the classified columns of a good newspaper are the natural market-place for human wants.

Glance through the advertisements in the classified columns of the newspaper you are reading. Is there not something vitally interesting and human in the little announcements listed there?

Some one asked me the other day if I really believe what I preach in these Talks. I do. No man can even attempt to write convincingly unless he believes in his own printed word. I know the "pulling power" of Classified advertising, and no one can make me believe other than that it pays.

Proof? Why, yes,—in my own experience and in the experience of many of my friends and acquaintances I have seen the little, but mighty WANT AD "work out." My own entry into the newspaper business was effected some eight or ten years ago, through a WANT AD. A little announcement set in the middle of some white space in the Classified columns, attracted the attention of the Business Manager of a newspaper in my native city, and a position on that newspaper resulted.

I know of folks who have advertised in the Classified columns for cooks, for butlers, for maids, for stenographers, for positions, for help, for horses, for automobiles—for pretty nearly anything you can think of. And they got what they advertised for.

There are exceptions to every rule that was ever made, but I know, just as surely as I know that the carriage of this typewriter is humming along with every stroke of the keys, that, in the great majority of instances, the little WANT AD. is a power 'way out of proportion with its trivial cost.

Make the Windows Weathertight.

Most of us nowadays like to forget that our ancestors ever lived in log cabins—or, perhaps, in castles, before the days of glass, with the wind whistling and howling in the narrow openings that served for windows and the cold collecting daily in the thick stone walls that never got heated through from the blaze of the big wood fires in the chimneys. We like to sit in our comfortably heated houses and look through weather-defying glass at the cold scene out-of-doors. And because our house does not air itself through the chinks between the logs, or in the slits in the stone walls, we air it at stated times and so keep it fresh and wholesome. And we like to have our windows weathertight, so that we ourselves, not the wind and cold outdoors, may regulate the temperature of our rooms.

Double windows are perhaps the most satisfactory shield against wind and weather. They are not expensive. In a good quality they may be had for two or three dollars a window. They should, of course, be arranged on hinges of some sort so that they may be opened every day or night for air. It is a good plan, in a large room to have one window left as it is, and to have double glass put in the other windows. The one window can be used for the ordinary ventilating and so save a good deal of time and trouble.

Weather Strips.

Weather strips of some sort help keep out the cold. In old houses in which the window frames have sagged there is often a noticable crack around the windows, and weather strips can be used to cover this. The rubber strips are more durable, but the felt ones are effective in keeping out much cold. It is possible to cut heavy felt into narrow strips and to tack it neatly in place, and so make an inexpensive substitute for the ready-made strips.

Curtains.

When no other means of making the windows weather tight is at hand, curtains may be used. Heavy velour curtains hanging close at the sides of the windows keeps out many draughts and a valance of some heavy curtain material across the tops of the windows also keeps out cold air.

Some Cookery Suggestions

BREAKFAST FRUITS.

ORANGE juice, well cooked prunes, raisins, stewed figs, apple sauce, baked apples and bananas are all excellent fruits for serving with the winter breakfast. Summer fruits which have been put up for winter use are also valuable. Some persons like a tart jelly as an appetizer with their morning meal. Some fruit there should always be, for it not only helps the appetite, but aids the digestion.

Nice Marmalades.

Prune Marmalade.—Wash the prunes in warm water and then set in a saucepan with a pint and a half of water to each pound of prunes. Cover closely and set where they will simmer gently until they are tender and the juice is thick. Do not add sugar if the prunes are of the sweet California variety. Add the juice of a lemon, rub the prunes through a colander to remove the stones and skins. Then put the pulp in a pudding dish, stand the dish in a pan of hot water, and set in the oven to cook slowly till the marmalade is stiff.

Orange Marmalade.—Grate the yellow rind of two large oranges and add two pounds of strained honey. Remove pulp and juice from a dozen juicy oranges. The pulp measures at least a quart. Add the honey, put into the preserving kettle and cook gently half an hour. Turn into pots and cover when cold.

Stewed Fruits.

Stewed Figs.—Take some Smyrna figs and pull apart. Just cover with cold water and let stand overnight. The next morning put over the fire, bring slowly to the boiling point, then simmer about ten minutes. Add a teaspoonful of lemon juice and then turn out to cool. Serve with either plain or whipped cream.

Stewed raisins.—Wash the raisins in cold water. Then cover them with cold water and soak overnight adding one bay leaf to each pound of raisins. In the morning place the raisins and water on the fire and bring to the boiling point. Then remove the raisins and place the sirup on the fire again and boil down to one-half. Then pour over the raisins. The fruit may be served with whipped cream or eaten as a sauce.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Stranger Knew How to Skate.

She Flew About Like an Ice Bird.

"HELLO," said daddy as Jack and Evelyn rushed in, very much out of breath, "you've been running upstairs again!"

"Yes, and I beat Evelyn!" Jack shrieked in glee.

"Well, I don't care; boys ought to be able to run fast," Evelyn retorted. "Boys run so much more than girls."

"So they do," daddy agreed. "But nowadays girls are learning to do things about as well as boys, so the boys must look out.

"Let me tell you about little Selma. She was a new girl at the Cloverdale school, and some of the little boys and girls thought her queer. She wore her hair in two long yellow braids that hung down almost to her waist. Her little frocks looked odd to the eyes of the children, and she did not speak very good English. Sometimes the children giggled rudely when she blundered over her books, but Miss Brown, the teacher, was very kind to her.

"'Selma is really a very bright little girl and will surprise you when she learns to speak English better,' said the teacher. 'She has come to America from a country away across the ocean where they talk differently and where people have other ways of doing things.

"Just the same, the little girls did not make up with Selma, and in the playground the little stranger girl would stand off by herself watching the games. No one asked her to play with them.

"One night there came a very sharp frost. The pond was frozen over, and there was ice on the river. Boys and girls got out their skates, for the pond was near the schoolhouse and they could skate there during recess.

"Little Selma came trotting into school with her skates. She was one of the first to hurry to the edge of the pond when recess time came.

"The other little girls were gathered in groups, chatting merrily as they put on their skates. Some little boys helped their sisters and little girl friends. Nobody helped Selma. In a minute, though, she had buckled on her skates. Then she rose and skimmed away over the ice. Some of the little boys were already striking out, but they stopped to watch Selma as she flew about like a little ice bird. First she skated on one foot, then on another; then she cut all sorts of wonderful figures on the ice. There had never been such skating on that pond.

"'Where did you learn to skate?' every one was asking her eagerly.

"'In my home in Norway,' she answered. 'Everybody skates.'

"Every one wished to learn how to do the wonderful things she could do on skates, and it was not long until even the most boastful little boy was meekly being ordered about by little Selma, who suddenly became the most popular little girl in school."

Why We Are Thankful.

Most of our reasons for feeling thankful are strictly personal and relate exclusively to our own good fortune. The benefits from this agency are, however, a reason for thankfulness that include us all.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Just previous to the admission to this country of Mrs. Pankhurst by President Wilson, the Suffragists were loud in their declarations against the possibility of militancy ever beginning here, or that she would advocate it.

Let us consider the sincerity of these declarations.

Begin with Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who was one of the loudest scoffers, despite the fact that on the eve of her departure for Paris last April, to confer with Christabel Pankhurst, she distinctly threatened that "if New York Suffragists did not get the ballot they would resort to Pankhurst militant methods."

She was sincere in this beyond denial, for in London on April 28th, to a correspondent of the Associated Press, she said, "I meant what I said before leaving the United States. If New York fails to awake, we shall introduce militant methods of the type used by The Women's Social and Political Union."

In the generally accepted understanding of the English language, this means that American Suffragists if defeated at the polls, and denied by legislature, will institute a campaign of violence.

Window smashing, mail destroying, bomb throwing, house burning, official thrashing, could quickly and easily be taught to those of Mrs. Belmont's followers who reside on the lower East Side of New York—many of them are adepts at various forms of violence without further instruction.

She would look to that section too for recruits, as she proved by her remark, on her return from England, "I don't think the Government here in New York would like very well to have me go down on the East Side and incite the people to riot."

Mrs. Belmont is well aware that there are Suffragists in numbers in this country ready for militancy—many of them chafing against restraint from instituting it—else why did she say, in declaring the justice of the entire box receipts going to Mrs. Pankhurst, "It will be militancy which draws the audiences, to militancy must go the proceeds."

Here during November in New York we have Mrs. Belmont, Mrs. Pankhurst and Mrs. Boissevain, waylaying the employes of department stores, preaching insurrection to them. Telling them to make demands and throw up their positions if they are not granted, telling them "the public is with you."

Not at all militant!

Not at all against law and order!

Not at all against the interests of these wage-earners to urge them to become public charges!

Slightly inconsistent, Mrs. Belmont.

Rev. Anna Howard Shaw is resting under the hallucination, existing in the minds of most people—of those who either do not care to be well-informed, or who do not know just how to acquire information—of being opposed to the teachings and methods of Mrs. Pankhurst.

What is the truth about this?

Dr. Shaw was ready to endorse Mrs. Pankhurst, her methods and teachings, by sitting with her on the platform, at her initial meeting at Madison Square Garden, conditionally that a proportion of the box receipts was turned into the treasury of the association of which she is president, "The National Woman Suffrage Association."

This being refused, she withdrew her endorsement of Mrs. Pankhurst's methods, etc. On Nov. 1, in an article in the Brooklyn Eagle, Dr. Shaw objected to the Antis quoting the following expressions from her address in Philadelphia on March 15, 1912, when she said, "If we are played with, made fun of, just tolerated, greeted with supercilious smiles by members of Congressional Committees, there is nothing for us to do but resort to militant methods. We hope we will not be driven to measures as severe as those used in England, but, if it does come, the daughters of old English sires, will be ready to suffer here, as women are suffering in England."

Despite the fact that she did not make any denial when these remarks appeared simultaneously in six newspapers, and were copied throughout the country, Dr. Shaw now says, "The quotation is not correct."

Does not Dr. Shaw see militancy behind sneers at "home, heaven and mother"?

Passive militancy behind the accusations so loudly made by her, "That the only purpose the Anti-women serve, is that by holding out their skirts, they act as a screen for the liquor traffic, the gamblers, the vicious and those interested in dance halls and places where young girls are ruined." Also that they are "vultures looking for carrion," etc. Surely proof of an ungoverned, therefore militant, nature.

Is there not militancy in threatening Representatives and Congressmen if they refuse Dr. Shaw and her following, the amendment to the Constitution, which they demand?

Not active militancy only potential militancy, but we may well believe the genuine article lurks in Dr. Shaw's mind, and in her future plans.

By the way, does Dr. Shaw tell us, if there is more than one meaning to the declaration with which she astonished an audience at the Century Club in Philadelphia, "Militant Suffrage for America"!

Mrs. Boissevain is another militant who from time to time has expressed her sympathy and endorsement of the violence and insurrection of the militants in Great Britain, and is at this momnet doing her utmost to force the adoption of like methods in this country.

The unwomanly, one-idead reply made by her to a clergyman, who said to her: "What about Christianity? Does it count when you are breaking windows"? proves her extreme tendencies. "No," she replied with a steady stare, "nothing counts but votes for women."

Well that she and many of the other suffrage leaders, among them Harriet Stanton Blatch, Jessie Ashley and Alice Stone Blackwell, have declared themselves Socialists for such they are, and through such as they the alliance between the Suffragist and Feminist Party, and the Socialist, grows stronger daily.

There is in the suffrage party a woman, whose endorsement of Mrs. Pankhurst came as a painful surprise to the Antis, and of whom it is regretable to record that she recognized her sufficiently to make her guest of honor at a large dinner.

Miss Jane Addams' desire for the ballot, is not to gain something which it will be a personal gratification to possess, but because she believes it would be a means of strengthening her power, to carry on the good works which occupy her time and thought, and I might say her life. But Miss Addams has endorsed militancy by thus recognizing and honoring Mrs. Pankhurst, and since she has proved vulnerable, who will not?

Other leaders who have endorsed it more or less actively are Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Charlotte P. Gilman, Mrs. John Rogers, Jr., Miss Alice Perkins, Miss Elizabeth Ellsworth Cook, Miss Beatrice Brown, Miss Mary Shaw, the Misses Martha and Elizabeth Klatschken, Mrs. Henry Butterworth and Mrs. John Fowler Trow.

The suffrage ranks are full of women, as ready and eager for Militancy, as they are for Feminism.

Parties and reforms must be judged by their leaders, and while limited space prohibits quoting the militant utterances of all named above, the daily papers give us fresh proof with each issue, of what these women have become, merely as advocates and agitators for Suffrage, Socialism, Feminism and Militancy!

Is it not pertinent to ask why we are expected to believe that these things for which they stand spell, "PROGRESS AND REFORM?"

Just two more thoughts in conclusion.

American Suffragists are not in sympathy with militancy!

Mrs. Pankhurst has sailed and after she arrives there, militancy in Great Britain will be $20,000 richer than when she left!

AN ESTABLISHED PHASE OF MILITANCY.

There is one infamous outcome of militancy which was imported from England about a year ago and mentioned with approval on November 1, by Dr. Shaw, in a speech made by her in Brooklyn.

It is the adoption by some Suffragists of "The Pledge of Will and Won't," viz: "I hereby promise that I will give what I can and do my share of work to gain 'votes for women.' I will not give either money or services to any other cause until the women of _____ State have been enfranchised."

I am pleased to record Dr. Shaw's approval of this attitude, on the part of some Suffragists, as I was contradicted some time ago when I stated that it existed.

One writer comments: "Such a spirit cannot commend itself, nor make these women worthy of the very thing they seek. It proves that their very methods of warfare will be the same later as they are now, childishly lawless where militant, ignorant or cruel where pacific."

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

7769

The comfort of the loose Russian designs has much to do with their popularity aside from their chic and becomingness.

7769 would be very attractive fashioned of one of the new chamois cloths in a dark shade with collar and cuffs of a contrasting silk or velvet. Tailored blouses of this description depend upon cut and finish for effect rather than trimmings. The scalloped edge of this design is effective, and if the buttonholes were bound with silk rather than being finished in the regulation way another pretty touch would be given. This binding might be of a contrasting material to match the collar and cuffs. Bone buttons are quite the newest thing in the button line.

This blouse may be made in size 36 with 2½ yards of 42 inch material or 2¾ yards of 36 inch material.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes; 32 to 44.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Smart, Inexpensive Trimmings You Can Make at Home.

Many of the new imported gowns this season have just a touch of hand-embroidery which adds smartness and distinction to the plainest of dresses. Bandings such as these would be quite appropriate for trimming waists and dresses of chiffon, marquisette, crepe or crepe de Chine, also suits and evening wraps.

The border of flowers, in pattern No. 14599, is 2¼ inches wide, and may be used as a border, or the flowers may be cut apart and used separately. They would be very smart and attractive scattered over the surface of a waistcoat of silk, as well as a blouse or dress and should be developed in Wallachian embroidery and unpadded solid work in pink, blue, yellow or green or in two or more shades of harmonious colors. Rope silk should be used when embroidering on silk or chiffon and mercerized cotton for wash materials.

The conventional border in pattern No. 14589, is 2 inches wide and should be developed in heavily padded solid work or outline and darning-stitches. One or more colors or shades of a color may be used for embroidering this design, which is very simple and would be appropriate for trimming a child's school dress of wool material.

The corners of this pattern may be used as ornaments for catching up the folds of a dress, if the border lines are cut away.

Pattern No. 14599 contains 3 yards of border, and pattern No. 14589, 3 yards and 4 corners. They will be supplied to readers, for 10 cents each.

TEAM OF STARS TO PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Y. M. C. A. Will Be Put to a Severe Test When Company M. Soldiers Play Here.

Another good week end contest is scheduled to take place in the Y. M. C. A. gym tonight when the local Association team lines up against the Company M. outfit of Somerville, in the annual clash between these two rivals. The game between Company M. and the Y. M. C. A. players always excites an unusual amount of interest in local athletic circles and the contest will undoubtedly be a fast and interesting one.

Included in the array of stars who will lineup against the Y. M. C. A. will be "Dummy" Metzler, the deaf and dumb forward who is known on every court in the State for his prowess. With Metzler in the lineup the local team will be forced to the limit in order to come out victorious and retain the unblemished string of victories.

ELIZABETH QUINTET TO OPPOSE LOCALS

Hope Chapel Has a Strong Attraction on the Basketball Program Tonight.

Hope Chapel will lineup against the St. Michaels, of Elizabeth, on the Chapel court tonight still possessing the unbroken chain of victories on the home court. The Chapelites annexed a wonderful game here Thanksgiving Day afternoon and are now out to sweep everything before them.

The Elizabethans are coming here with a great record and it is safe to say that the Chapelites will be extended to the limit in this encounter. The teams will take the floor as follows:

Hope Chapel.	Elizabeth.
T. Heron, Forward	Nolan
J. Heron, Forward	Maichesi
Doig, Center	Cox
Snyder, Guard	Kelley
Leighs, Guard	Schanadt

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TEAMS ACTIVE ON NEWARK ALLEYS

Star of Bethlehem Council bowlers were triple winners last night in a Knights of Columbus League match with the Elizabeth Council five on the Columbus Club alleys in Broad street, Newark. The last game of the match was a hummer, the Bethlehem five, with 764, winning by only two pins.

It was an unpleasant surprise that the Newark team met with last night in an Elks' League match on their own alleys, when they dropped two games out of three to the tail-end Orange quintet. It was the first series that the Orange bowlers have placed to their credit this season. The Newark team is now compelled to share the honors of first place with the Paterson quintet, each having a percentage of .667. The Newarks have won twelve games and lost six, while the Silk City pin-knights have captured fourteen games and lost seven.

The Orange bowlers did some good work last night and earned their victories. The visitors were there for 885 as a starter, and showed the way by twenty-three pins. They came back with 827, and the Newarks, who only totaled 813, lost by fourteen pins. In the final battle Newark did its best work, with a total of 926, to which Dick Erler contributed 223. The visitors stopped at 835. Cooper rolled 222 for the Orange team, Oetzel had 210 and 204 and Kiester 201.

North Plainfield Youngsters Again Triumph Over Alumni Five.

FINAL SCORE 39 TO 20

With Former Basketball Stars in Lineup, the Losers Put up Game Battle—Winners Excel at Team Work.

Playing for the second time this season, the North Plainfield High School and Alumni basketball teams met on the Saengerbund Hall court last night and the High School five was again returned the winner. Although the graduates were greatly strengthened they were no match for their opponents, especially during the closing period and the game ended 39-20.

In the first half the contest had progressed less than thirty seconds when Carlton Smith dropped a pretty shot from the middle of the floor. The ball was put into play again and Duclos VanMater tied the score with a tally. Burner then dropped in a foul shot and from then on the borough lads were ahead in the scoring. William Taylor made a good teammate for Smith and between them they scored eleven points, while "Count" Townley at guard made two points, making the score at the end of the first half 18 to 13.

In the second session the High School's lineup was shaken up, and Conroy and Dunning were retired. Their places were filled by Warren Townley and Addison Newkirk, VanMater going in at centre. For the first ten minutes of play the Alumni did not score, but "Bill" Taylor broke the "jinx" by making a clean shot from a difficult position. The school boys piled up the score and obtained a big lead, making the final score 39 to 20. In this half P. Bailey replaced "Ed." Bodin.

TWENTY-THREE PLAYERS BATTLED FOR PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

With a record of three victories, six defeats and one tie game to their credit, the Plainfield High School football warriors have laid aside their armor for another season and have already turned their attention to basketball. Under the leadership of Captain William Peacock the team has experienced an uphill fight for laurels and this sturdy leader has been the main cog in a machine that has fought against seemingly impossible odds in a majority of the battles waged. Coach Ralph Patch started the season with a squad of approximately thirty men, half of whom were green as far as football was concerned, and out of this double score twenty-three men have fought at least one battle for the red and blue.

All of the candidates have stuck to the team through thick and thin and those who failed to win their insignia this season are prepared to turn out to help form a nucleus for a 1914 squad. The team this year, while not a failure, has not come up to the high standard established by the elevens of previous years, and has fallen far below the remarkable record set by the 1911 and 1912 teams. Peacock has been a member of the P. H. S. backfield for three years and is eligible for another season of gridiron work under the Plainfield High School's colors.

Out of the twenty-three members of the team fifteen have earned their insignia and the following are now entitled to sport the "P. H. S." monogram: Mann, Butler, Gavett, Herrman, Green, Snyder, Smith, Rosenson, Berrien, MacKenzie, Peacock, Wheelan, White, Sminck and DuBois. A majority of this honor roll has already been awarded the letters in some one line of sport or another but there are several who are entitled to wear it for the first time. Out of the twenty-three men, four took part in every game and another quartet missed but one of the struggles. Mann, Butler, Gavett and Herrman served in every fight, while Green, Snyder, Smith and Rosenson missed one apiece. Captain Peacock was injured in the Somerville High School game November 19 and as a consequence had to view his warriors perform from the side lines during the Westfield and Alumni scraps.

Thirty-four points form the margin between the total number of points rung up by the Queen City warriors and those of their opponents, Plainfield having scored 117 and opposing teams having earned 151. Plainfield has scored seventeen touchdowns against twenty-three made by opponents but the local kickers have far outdone their rivals in the art of booting pointers from touchdowns, Peacock and Butler having annexed eleven and four one-point scores apiece against their rivals' total of eight. All of the field goals attempted by Captain Peacock this year were failures while but one team has worked this stunt against the locals, Roselle High School having won the game with P. H. S. by means of a neat three-point kick in the last quarter. Rosenson has been the leader in scoring touchdowns, having chalked up four during the season, one in each of the following games, New Brunswick, Perth Amboy, Somerville and Westfield. Peacock and Green take the runner-up role in this department with a trio apiece, both of the latter having scored two each in the Perth Amboy contest. Snyder, Schenck, Sminck, Herrman and Mann have also scored touchdowns for the local schoolboys. Sminck was one of the leading ground-gainers during the first half of the schedule but scholarship deficiencies kept him out of the latter half and his services were greatly missed by the P. H. S. clan.

Rahway High School administered the most severe beating to the locals, trouncing the red and blue to the tune of 47 to 0 in their scheduled game. Plainfield has a score nearly as large to its credit, however, having trimmed the Perth Amboy students by a count of 42 to whitewash. A complete record of the season's games together with individual statistics is compiled below:

EVERY STREET IN PLAINFIELD

Has Its Share of the Proof That Kidney Sufferers Seek.

Backache? Kidneys weak?

Distressed with urinary ills?

Want a reliable kidney remedy?

Don't have to look far. Use what Plainfield people recommend. Every street in Plainfield has its cases.

Here's one Plainfield man's experience.

Let C. L. Treat, paperhanger, of 411 East Third street, tell it.

Says Mr. Treat: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years could not get relief. My back ached constantly and there was pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, I was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they made me feel like a different man. I got this remedy at Randolph's drug store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement of it too strong. I simply would not be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

FORMER LOCAL PASTOR LECTURED ON EUROPE

The Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, former pastor of the First M. E. church, who is at present located in Paterson, gave an interesting discourse at the West Front street church last night, telling of his recent trip to England and other parts of Europe. He described the many land marks to be seen on the continent and gave an entertaining account of the habits and general customs of the natives of the various countries through which he passed.

"WAY DOWN EAST" IS SHOW PUBLIC NEVER TIRES OF

That good old fashioned New England play, "Way Down East," is holding the boards at the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and will be repeated tonight.

In these days of musical comedies and questionable "problem plays," this popular show, which has been heard by millions of Americans, jars a certain theory concerning the tired business man of whom we hear so much. There are no topical choruses, French heels or like remedies for masculine brain-fag, and by the time the first scene is well on its way there is no tired man. The brain-fags plays are for John as he sees himself, and as the playwrights see him. "Way Down East" is for John as he really is.

COUNCILMANIC NOMINEES WERE TIED AT ELECTION

Justice James J. Bergen today decided the dispute regarding the election of Hugh Getty, Republican; William Whetmore, Democrat, and William Lass, Progressive, to the Roselle Borough Council, by rejecting three ballots submitted to him for consideration. His action makes the vote a tie between Getty and Whetmore. If the former has a certificate of election, he may be seated according to precedent, but if not a vacancy is likely to exist.

Getty was declared the successful candidate by a majority of one. When the Union County Board of Elections canvassed the vote it was found to be a tie between the two candidates, and three ballots were held out to be presented to Justice Bergen.

GEN. MADISON DRAKE GOES TO HIS REWARD

Elizabeth, Nov. 29.——Gen. J. Madison Drake, a widely known Civil War veteran and for many years historian of the Medal of Honor Legion, died last night at his home in Jefferson avenue after an illness of several months. He was born in Washington Valley, in 1837. He came to Elizabeth with his father when he was 10 years old and learned the printing trade. Later he went to Trenton, where he was in the printing business. He responded to Lincoln's first call for volunteers and later enlisted in the Ninth New Jersey Regiment. He was captured and held in the Confederate prison at Charlestown and Savannah. He escaped from Libby Prison in Richmond by jumping on top of a passing freight train.

Gen. Drake was Colonel of the old Third New Jersey Regiment and organizer of the Veteran Zouaves. For years he published the Elizabeth Daily Leader. He is survived by two sons and three daughters.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Guinn and Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Guinn, of Newark, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Guinn, of Watchung avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Cleef and children, Mary and Chester, spent Thnaksgiving with their daughter, Mrs. S. E. Waldron, of Elizabeth.

Miss Skillings and Miss Breads of Watchung avenue, are spending their vacation in New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Sweeny, of the New Madison, have returned home after spending Thanksgiving with the former's mother, Mrs. Margaret Sweeny, of Bridgeport, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Linden, of "The Lindens," Oak Tree, are the parents of a baby daughter, born to them this week. Mr. Linden is the widely known bridge designer.

George M. Anderson, steward at the Park Golf Club, was taken suddenly ill with acute indigestion yesterday and removed to the hospital, where he is under the care of Dr. Albert Pittis.

The meeting of the W. C. T. U., announced for 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, will be omitted this week on account of the mass meeting at the First Baptist church at that hour.

CANAL DOOMS A CITY OF ROMANCE

Historic Cruces In Panama Goes Off the Map.

GOVERNMENT STATION NOW

Town Said to Have Been Gate of Transit For Spanish Gold—Visited by Pizarro, the Conqueror of Peru, and Morgan, the Buccaneer.

The Panama canal commission has issued an order for the depopulation of Cruces, one of the historic towns of the isthmus of Panama, and the abandonment of the little town, which in the olden days was known as Venta Cruz, has already begun. Cruces is situated on the south bank of the Chagres river, a little above the site where will be located the official administration city of Gamboa. Most of the buildings in Cruces are of the native type, with bamboo walls and thatched roofs, the number of houses in the village numbering sixty, exclusive of the church and the schoolhouse.

"Cruces," the bulletin of the canal commission says, "is one of the oldest settlements on the isthmus and in early times was known as Venta Cruz. The origin of the town has been described as follows:

"The first transit route across the isthmus, for the transportation of gold, silver and merchandise from the various Spanish colonies on the Pacific to Spain, ran from the city of Panama to Nombre de Dios, on the shores of the Caribbean. It was cut through the forest and jungle, over mountain tops and across mountain streams and was roughly paved with stones. It ran from Panama in a northeasterly direction for about twenty miles to a point on the Chagres river, which was given the name of Venta Cruz, afterward changed to Cruces. Thence it extended northward to Nombre de Dios.

"A line of posts was established along the route. It was put in use in 1519 and was the sole route between the two oceans until about 1535, when the Chagres between Venta Cruz and the Atlantic, a distance of about thirty-six miles, was made navigable for boats of light draft, and a water route was established between Venta Cruz and Nombre de Dios. The land route between these points was not abandoned, however, but continued to be used in connection with the water route.

"So well was the paving laid that parts of it remain in position today, and the entire trail from Panama city to Cruces is open and is used by the natives as a highway for pack mules and ponies."

The paving of the road referred to is said to have been the work of Francisco Pizarro, the conqueror of Peru. A tollgate is said to have been set up in the village in the latter half of the eighteenth century, and all traffic between the two oceans passed through and paid tribute to Cruces.

"According to the report made by Bancroft," the Panama Canal Record states, "on the fiscal regulations and commercial decline of the Spanish colonies, goods to the amount of 1,466,346 pesos de oro were registered as passing through the Casa at Cruces, while more than 7,500,000 were smuggled across.

"In their march from Fort San Lorenzo, at the mouth of the Chagres river, to attack old Panama, Henry Morgan and his men ascended the river to Cruces. Esquemeling speaks of it as follows:

"Thus they proceeded on their journey till noon, at which time they arrived at a village called Cruz. * * * This village is seated in the latitude of 9 degrees and 2 minutes north, being distant from the Fort of Chagre twenty-six Spanish leagues and eight from Panama. Moreover, it is the last place to which boats or canoes can come, for which reason they built here storehouses wherein to keep all kinds of merchandise, which hence to and from Panama are transported upon the backs of mules.

"Messrs. Sosa and Arce, local historians, note that the Chagres river was first explored from its mouth to the interior, probably to about where Cruces now is, by Captain Hernando de la Serna and the pilot Pablo Corzo between April 3 and 10, 1527.

"Following the construction of the Panama railroad Cruces entered upon a period of decadence which has existed until this day.

"Prior to 1911 the village had a historic curiosity in the shape of two wrought iron anchors. According to tradition, these anchors were brought up the Chagres river in boats for transport overland to Panama, but the plan was abandoned at Cruces. One of these anchors stood in the village about 300 yards from the river and the other alongside the trail about 400 yards from the river. Each anchor has a fourteen foot shank. The idea was conceived by Lieutenant Walter D. Smith, formerly constructing quartermaster of the canal commission, to send these anchors to West Point. The anchors were placed on a raft, which subsequently broke loose from its moorings and, after floating down the river a short distance, collided with a log, breaking in two and allowing the anchors to go to the bottom of the stream. They were recovered later, but before they could be placed on board a vessel a cable message was received by the chairman from the secretary of war disapproving of the plan. The anchors are now in the yards of the general storehouse at Mount Hope."

"EDDIE" HART, PRINCETON BACK, WEDS YOUNG WOMAN OF PRINCETON

Mr. Edward J. Hart, of Exeter, N. H., captain of Princeton's 1911 football team, and Miss Honoré C. Dennen, of Princeton, were married recently in Princeton, N. J.

The football eleven of Princeton and the coaches were among the guests at the wedding.

After a honeymoon trip through New England Mr. and Mrs. Hart will reside in Chicago.

Mr. Hart —"Eddie," as he is familiarly known—one of Princeton's most famous backs, came from Seattle, Wash., two weeks before the football game between Princeton and Harvard and spent his time coaching the backs for that encounter.

LITTLE CHILD BURNED WHILE IN MOTHER'S ARMS

Ellen Flynn, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Winn, of Manning avenue, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital last night, suffering from burns about the forehead, the result of an accident. In the kitchen, Mrs. Winn was carrying the child and also a pan of water when she stumbled over a cat, causing her to partly lose her hold on the child. The little one fell forward striking her head on the stove, receiving a severe burn. Dr. Norman W. Currie was called and after giving "first aid" treatment, had the child removed to the hospital. The burns are not considered serious.

"YOUNG MEN FOR YOUNG MEN."

Rev. Dr. Robert F. Y. Pierce, of this city, who is pastor of the Second Avenue Baptist church, New York, will give an illustrated chalk talk at the Temple Baptist church, Tuesday evening, December 2, on the subject of "Young Men For Young Men." There will be good music and all men are invited.

FROM POLICE BLOTTER.

Samuel Hunt, colored, of West Third street, who was recently arrested while in the vicinity of a neighbor's chicken coop in the small hours of the morning was arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza charged with discharging firearms within the city limits. Hunt said he was hunting. David H. Hand was the complainant. Pleading ignorance of the law, Hunt was released on a suspended sentence.

SPECIAL ARMY SERVICES.

There will be reminiscences of General Booth's addresses at the local barracks of the Salvation Army on East Second street, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. A feature will be the enrollment of several soldiers. The street meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

VEHICLE DAMAGED.

A horse attached to the bakery wagon belonging to L. Kornfield longed for its stall while the driver, Harry Gould, was delivering an order early this morning, and started on a run for the stable in West Second street. At Liberty and West Second streets, the wagon skidded and crashed into a pole damaging the vehicle. The horse was captured by Gould who followed in pursuit.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.—Adv.
